SCOTT MCKIE B.P./One Feather

You can't even see the parking lot at the Cherokee Indian Fairgrounds due to the snow in this photo taken on Tuesday, Jan. 11. Schools, tribal offices, and many businesses in Cherokee were closed this week because of the snowfall (more than a foot in some areas) that has fallen in the last five days.

In Loving Memory of Zachery Ben Carter

Born: January 30, 1993

Died: January 12, 2010

What really happens when someone you love goes away and dies;

*Do they really go away and leave you behind?
Or do they come back and check on you from time to time;
Making sure that you're still doing fine.*

*When you're sad and blue, and all you want to do is cry;
Cause your heart so empty, and you know the reason why.
Do you feel sometimes like someone's watching over you?
Wishing you weren't so sad, not knowing what to do.*

*All the hopes and plans we made, are in the past;
They'll never come true, now that you have passed.
There'll never any little babies to cuddle and hold;
That have your brown hair, blue eyes and beautiful smile;
To snuggle and hold, and remind me of you, when you were little.*

They'll be no more talks of what could have been;

There's only empty dreams of what should have been.

All my hopes and dreams are dead and gone.

Part of me died when you did, now they're all gone.

I miss you so much, all the time; I wish you were here to tell me why.

*You left me here all alone, after you promised you wouldn't.
The last thing you said to me was that you wasn't stupid.*

*I know what happened, wasn't your fault;
You didn't think that someone you trusted; would do what they did!*

Knowing it would take you away, from everything you loved and knew.

*Leaving me here so empty and sad, without you.
I wish I had stayed like you asked me to; maybe this wouldn't have happened to you.*

I blame myself not being there, when you needed me the most.

Please don't think I didn't care; I need you to know I was always there!

And I'll never give up until Justice is done!!!

*When you were little, I worried so much about you.
Cause you didn't know how to call and tell me how to come get you.*

When you were bigger and almost grown, I thought you'd be, OK.

*You knew how to use the phone, to call me to come get you,
and bring you home.*

*I never thought that God would take you away from me;
We had so little time, I wanted you to stay.
I wasn't ready for you to go; it's still so hard to believe that it's so.*

*If I could just see you and hold you for 5 minutes;
I would gladly give up everything I own!
I'd live in a box for the rest of my life, for those 5 minutes;
Just to hold you and know you're alright.*

Happy Birthday Zack,
I Love and Miss You So Very Much,
Nanny

Snow blankets area

Schools, businesses, and government offices ground to a halt this week as over a foot of snow fell in the Cherokee area. SCOTT MCKIE B.P./One Feather photos

Rooftop high

Snow is shown on Tuesday, Jan. 11 piled to the rooftops after being cleared from one of the parking lots at the Cherokee Boys Club. The Cherokee Central Schools and Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians were both closed Monday - Wednesday due to the snow and ice.

Downtown...

The downtown area of Cherokee was barren on Tuesday as low temperatures and piled snow kept most area residents inside or near their homes. Some areas of Cherokee got more than one foot of snow.

Hydrant Hat

The parking lot of the Cherokee Fire Dept. was covered on Tuesday afternoon as evidenced by the snow hat on the hydrant out front.

Lumbee Bill introduced...again

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

Have you ever watched the movie Groundhog Day with Bill Murray? If so, you'll sort of get the feeling. On the first full day of the 112th Congress, Rep. Mike McIntyre (D-NC) introduced legislation that would grant the Lumbee Tribe full federal acknowledgment.

Identical bills passed the House in 2007 and 2009, but both bills stalled in the Senate.

"The fight for Lumbee recognition will continue, and we have to hit the ground running," Rep. McIntyre (D-NC) said. "It is time for discrimination to end and recognition to begin! For over 100 years, the Lumbee people have been seeking the dignity and respect they deserve from the federal recognition."

The Lumbees themselves might not be as pleased with the introduction of the bill as you might think. "While I am appreciative of the Congressman's dedication to...correcting a grave injustice done to the Lumbee people, I was not aware nor consulted about reintroducing this bill," Lumbee chairman Purnell Swett told The Fayetteville Observer. "Furthermore, I had not contacted the Congressman and requested that this previous bill done by another administration be reintroduced."

"I remain committed in our efforts to ensure that the federal recognition process takes precedence over political pandering in the new congress."

- Principal Chief Michell Hicks

The Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians has historically been against the Lumbee Tribe seeking recognition through Congressional means. "Congressman McIntyre re-introduced the Lumbee recognition bill in Congress in what I believe is an inability of members of our congressional delegation to understand the underlying issues of tribal federal recognition," Principal Chief Michell Hicks said on Friday, Jan. 7. "I remain committed in our efforts to ensure that the federal recognition process takes precedence over political pandering in the new congress."

The bill is now in the hands of the House Natural Resources Committee.

OICA Students' Work exhibited in Raleigh

RALEIGH - Artwork from three Southwestern Community College students has been selected for display at the North Carolina Community College System Office in Raleigh.

Included is a sculpture by Deana Burchett of Robbinsville titled Brothers Three, a sculpture by Amelia Haynes of Whittier titled Shape Shifter and a print by Darrin Bark of Cherokee titled Don't Say It So Loud. Each of these students is enrolled in SCC's Fine Arts program at the Oconaluftee Institute for Cultural Arts in Cherokee.

"We are very proud of our students' accomplishments," said Jeff Marley, OICA program coordinator. "Darrin Bark's print has the distinction of being the first Cherokee story printed on our letter press."

Marley added, "The work our

OICA to offer Continuing Ed Classes

Three short continuing education courses will be held at Southwestern Community College's Oconaluftee Institute for Cultural Art in Cherokee.

The first course, Mixed Media Drawing, invites students to be experimental with a variety of materials by drawing on paper, then adding collage materials to create layers and two-dimensional depth.

The course will be held Tuesdays Jan. 25-Feb. 1 from 6-8:30 p.m. with Jada Hansen as instructor. Participants will learn how to build a multilayered drawing and collage composition using a variety of drawing and scrap materials on sturdy paper primed with gesso. Participants will be encouraged to expand on a few initial drawings made from sight, and then alter it through abstraction. There will also be information given on how to best display mixed media drawings. There is opportunity to complete two or three projects. Participants are invited to bring any extra flat collage and scrap materials, old photographs and drawings that can be glued on paper and drawn over. The cost is $32.

Oil Painting Basics will be Thursdays Feb. 17-24 from 6-8:30 p.m. at OICA. Instructor Jeff Marley will give participants an opportunity to explore the basic methods and theories of oil painting. Participants will learn how to select paint, brushes, mediums and surfaces to paint on.

They will experiment with various brush techniques and the palette knife, culminating with a painting assignment that will span the two sessions of the class. Participants should provide their own materials, which include a basic paint set, selection of brushes, linseed oil, turpentine, and a surface to paint on, such as stretched canvas or canvas board. The cost is $44.

The third course, Bookbinding, will introduce bookbinding and provide materials and instruction to create a case-bound blank book of 60 or more pages. It will be taught by Phyllis Jarvinen from 6-9 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 9. Participants will learn the basic techniques and skills of bookbinding, enabling them to create their own hardbound journals or sketchbooks.

With the increasing use of electronic media to communicate and to share published and public information, the physical format of the book becomes an artistic tool for expressing visual ideas in a physically interactive format. If participants are interested, there are opportunities to set up future courses to help them express their ideas in the format of the artist's book, as well as to study other structures that may best express their ideas. The cost is $34.

For more information, or to register, call Michael Rich at 339-4497. For more information about OICA, contact Jeff Marley at 497-3945.

Students produce is a tribute to the legacy of Cherokee artisans and the rich artistic heritage of western North Carolina."

Since 1998, the North Carolina Community College System has sponsored a statewide exhibition of artwork by the faculty, staff, students and alumni of North Carolina's community colleges. Named by the State Board of Community Colleges in 2008 in honor of H. Martin Lancaster upon his retirement from the presidency of the System, the exhibition is housed on the six floors of the Caswell Building, headquarters for the System Office, located at 200 West Jones Street in downtown Raleigh. The exhibition runs from March through December.

The Caswell Building is a working office building, so people who wish to see the artwork should call Barbara Currier at 919-807-7101 to arrange a tour. The Caswell Building is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. and closed on North Carolina state holidays and weekends.

Thank You

Psalms 116:15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His Saints.

The family of Emmaline Driver would like to express our deepest and heartfelt thanks to everyone who was there for our rather large family. We want to thank the Tsali Care Center staff, Cherokee Hospital, Cherokee EMS, Long House Funeral Home, Big Cove Free Labor, Bo Parris, Denny Crowe, and all the other individual churches and pastors that our families attend who came and sang at the nursing home and the visitation and brought food. We especially like to thank Big Cove Baptist Church and ladies for letting us bring Grandma's body there and for all the food and hospitality that was provided during the visitation and funeral. There were so many friends and family in attendance that we didn't get a chance to talk to everyone or recognize everyone who came.

Grandma had 13 children, 39 grandchildren, 64 great grandchildren, 29 great-great grandchildren, 1 great-great-great grandchild and had seen her 6th generation. We will all miss her. She was a second mom to us all and would give up all she had so that none of her grandchildren would have to do without. Growing up you could go to her house any weekend and she always had a house full of grandchildren. Her house will never be the same. We will miss her so much!

Submitted by four of her grandchildren;

Meeting being held to discuss ways to improve Farmers Market

By SARAH MCCLELLAN-WELCH
EBCI COOPERATIVE EXTENSION

If you have ideas on how to improve our Cherokee Farmers Market so that it will be successful, then attend the next Cherokee Local Foods Network meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 25 from 11am to 1pm at the EBCI Cooperative Extension Center. The purpose of the meeting to make a plan that will help our Market be successful in 2011.

Our Market's greatest need is to have Cherokee growers who will sell at the market! We have had as many as seven vendors, but last year we rarely had anyone set-up. This was frustrating for shoppers who never knew when the market was open.

Markets across the country have found that tailgate markets, like ours, need at least 5 dedicated growers to make it a success. The current rules allow only EBCI members and their family to sell. One question that will have to be discussed on Jan. 25 is, "Should we change the rules to allow non-Cherokee farmers to sell?"

Everyone wants to buy fresh, locally grown produce. Some have suggested Farmers Markets in every Cherokee community! There is a strong demand for locally grown produce, but how can we, as a community, make that happen?

Anyone who has an interest in this issue is encouraged to attend this meeting on January 25. Cherokee famers and gardeners are urged to participate. The Extension Center is at 876 Acquoni Road (formerly Women's Wellness). The Cherokee Local Foods Network is a group of individuals who want to improve our community's ability to provide healthy food. Meetings are the last Tuesday of every month. Info: Sarah 554-6935.

Sarah is an agriculture agent with the EBCI Cooperative Extension Office in Cherokee.

Weather Channel Driving Safety Checklist

According to the Weather Channel, be prepared for an emergency situation by carrying the following items in your vehicle:

First aid kit; fire extinguisher, matches, compass, jumper cables, properly inflated spare tire, wheel wrench and tripod-type jack, bottled water, local maps, critical prescription medicine, flares, blanket/sleeping bag, non-perishable high-energy foods, flashlights, cell phone, reflective tape. If you do break down, place a reflective triangle (or flare) at each end of the car a safe distance away to attract attention or hang a brightly colored cloth from your antenna.

For Winter Weather add the additional equipment to your trunk: shovel, tow and tire chains, bag of salt or cat litter, tool kit, ice scraper and snow brush and items to keep you warm such as heavy woolen mittens, socks, a cap and blankets. Be prepared if you become stranded: Do not leave your car unless you know exactly where you are, how far it is to possible help, and are certain you can get there. If you are sure the car's exhaust pipe is not blocked, run the engine and heater for about 10 minutes every hour and keep gas in the tank. Keep at least one window open slightly; heavy snow and ice can seal a car shut.

BOYS CLUB HOURS AND PHONE INFORMATION

Please note that there is someone available to answer the Boys Club phones Monday through Friday for normal business hours. The Club's number is 828-497-9101. Please use this number if you call the Club before or after business hours or during the weekend. The Club has implemented an automated phone system that goes into effect after hours. Listen to the recording options to determine which department number you need to choose and follow the instructions provided. Thanks for your cooperation.

JANUARY TRIVIA

Did you know?

- The January Birthstone is the Garnet and the January Flower is the Carnation.
- January in the Northern Hemisphere is the seasonal equivalent to July in the Southern Hemisphere and vice versa.
- According to Facebook users, January is "Change Your Profile Picture To A Muppet" Month
- January 1st, 1776, the first American flag, the "Grand Union" was presented. Betsy Ross later added the stars in place of the Union Jack.
- Leap years exempted, January always begins on the same day as October.
- In leap years, January always begins on the same day as April and July.
- The Chinese floral emblem of January is the plum blossom.
- January is National Soup Month in the United States.
- The first Super Bowl was held at the Los Angeles Coliseum on January 15, 1967 with the Green Bay Packers defeating the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10.
- Jerry Rice has the most touchdowns in a Super Bowl (8).

January is National Stalking Awareness Month

January is National Stalking Awareness Month, a time to focus on a crime that affects 3.4 million victims a year.

Stalking is a crime in all 50 states, yet many victims and criminal justice professionals underestimate its seriousness and long term impact. In one of every five cases, stalkers use weapons to harm or threaten victims, and stalking is one of the significant risk factors for femicide (homicide of women) in abusive relationships. Victims suffer anxiety, social dysfunction, and severe depression at much higher rates than the general population and many lose time from work or have to move as a result of their victimization.

Unlike other crimes, stalking is not a single, easily identifiable crime but a series of acts, a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause that person fear. Stalking can take many different forms, such as assaults, constant monitoring, threats, vandalism, burglary, or animal abuse, as well as unwanted gifts, calls, or visits. One in four victims reports that their stalker uses technology, such as computers, GPS devices, or hidden cameras to track their daily activities.

Many stalkers follow their victims from one jurisdiction to another, making it difficult for authorities to investigate and prosecute their crimes. Communities that understand stalking, however, can support victims and combat the crime. If more people learn to recognize stalking we have a better chance to protect victims and prevent tragedies.

If you need assistance, have questions, or would like to talk to someone, please call 488-5572, 554-6830, or toll free 800-264-9611. Also, please check out the locations where we display information boards monthly. These locations include: Ginger Lynn Welch Complex, Tribal Courthouse, Cherokee Indian Hospital, and library located in Snowbird.

Snowy Sunrise

VITA NATIONS/One Feather Contributor
This shot was captured of the snow-capped mountain overlooking the old Cherokee High School on the morning of Thursday, Jan. 6. Most in Cherokee awoke to a slight dusting of snow on Thursday and then an even larger amount of accumulated snow on Friday morning which caused the closure of Cherokee Central Schools for the day.

Cherokee farmers invited to "The Business Side of Agritourism" Workshop

By TAMMARA COLE
EBCI COOPERATIVE EXTENSION

Agritourism is an exciting enterprise that many agricultural producers consider when expanding their farm business. Increasingly, consumers are interested in visiting farms, learning about farm life and purchasing products directly from the farm. The agritourism business has endless opportunities for you to connect with your customers, from hay rides and corn mazes to pick-your-own fruits, vegetables, flowers and Christmas trees to bird watching, fishing, hunting and camping. To help you, N.C. Cooperative Extension Agricultural Agents have developed a one-day workshop for farmers interested in learning more about The Business Side of Agritourism.

The Business Side of Agritourism workshop will take place on Jan. 27 at the Cattaloochee Guest Ranch located just outside of Waynesville, NC (www.cattaloocheeranch.com). The cost for the full-day workshop is $40 per person and includes lunch and resource materials.

The Business Side of Agritourism workshop is packed with experts from across the state, as well as local farmers that will share their experiences. Topics to be addressed include Farm Stays, Trail Development, High-

Adventure Agritourism, New Ideas for Pick-Your-Own, Incorporating a Commercial Kitchen, Using Social Networking and Websites to Market Your Agritourism Experience, Birding Trails, and more!

The Business Side of Agritourism workshop is first come-first served. If you are thinking of incorporating agritourism activities into your farm operation or looking to expand and improve your agritourism business, then this conference is for you. Come spend the day with us and learn what you need to know about The Business Side of Agritourism.

of the many things
We use to always say
But when tomorrow starts without me
Please try to understand
That an angel came and called my name
And took me by the hand
And said my mansion was read in Heaven far above and that I'd have to leave behind all those I dearly love
It seemed almost impossible
That I was leaving you
I thought of all the yesterdays
The good ones and the blue
I thought of all the love we shared
And especially all the fun we had
So when tomorrow starts without me
Don't think that we're far apart
For everytime you think of me
I'm right here in your heart!*
