Energy Tip of the Week

Presented by Cameron Cooper,
Energy Program Coordinator
828-554-6713
ccooper@nc-chokeee.com

SPRING IS HERE...

With temperatures on the rise heat pumps are constantly working. When you are leaving your home set the thermostat between 75° and 78°. Cooling the house when you return costs less than keeping it cool all the time. Taking these steps can save 10% or more on your spring and summer cooling costs. This will help your heat pump run more efficiently and keep that power bill lower.

Do you find buying a new or used vehicle a hard shot to make??

What is a pap test?

It is a test for women that can determine the health of the cervix. It can find cervical cancer or those early changes that can lead to cervical cancer. This can lead to treatments that can PREVENT cervical cancer.

What is an Adult Women's Health Exam (Yearly exam)?

It is an exam that can include a pap test, breast exam, and general physical. It may include screening labs or labs to monitor existing health problems. It may include scheduling a mammogram or other X-ray tests. It often is when medications for birth control, diabetes, high blood pressure or other health issues are renewed.

When should I start these exams?

Pap tests should be started at age 21. A yearly exam is often started when a woman desires birth control or just wants a physical completed.

How often should I have these exams?

How often you have a pap test is determined by the results of your previous pap tests. That will be determined by you and your health care provider. The yearly exam should be every year around the same time each year.

What if I have had a hysterectomy?

You may or may not need a pap test. That depends on the reason for the hysterectomy and will be determined by you and your health care provider. You still need to have the yearly exam every year so other health issues can be addressed.

Please call your health care provider today and make an appointment for your yearly exam today.

News Briefs

Rhinehart promoted at Sequoyah National

Billy Rhinehart has been promoted to environmental technician at Sequoyah National Golf Club.

Sequoyah National promoted Billy Rhinehart to environmental technician recently. He began working at Sequoyah National in April 2013 as a greens keeper. In less than one year, Rhinehart, an EBCI tribal member from the Birdtown Community, has moved up to environmental technician, bypassing two levels of employment. He received his Pesticide License from the State of North Carolina in January. His new positions include all greens keeper duties and equipment operator. He applies all fertilizers and chemical used on the golf course making sure they are safe and adequate.

Rhinehart plans to attend college this fall to study Turf Management and is currently applying to different colleges. He enjoys going to the gym, all sports and riding motorcycles.

STUDENTS RETURN TO SCHOOL

Students from Cherokee Central Schools enjoyed Spring Break last week but have returned back to class! Please be aware of the School Buses on their morning and afternoon routes. As the weather warms, children are anxious to get home to play outdoors and may not have their minds on safety. Watch for the students to load and unload the buses safely.

DISTRACTED DRIVING AWARENESS

April 2014 is Distracted Driving Awareness Month. According to the National Safety Council, thousands die needlessly each year because people continue to use their cell phones while driving, handheld or hands-free. Join the National Safety Council this month in urging those you care about to: stop using their cell phones while driving; recognize that hands-free devices offer no safety benefit; understand the dangers of the cognitive distraction to the brain; and tell others about the dangers of cell phone distracted driving.

The National Safety Council estimates 25 percent of crashes involve cell phones (21 percent due to phone conversations and 4 percent due to text messaging). Drivers using handheld or hands-free cell phones are four times as likely to crash. The number one cause of workplace death is car crashes followed by assaults, incidents involving objects or equipment and falls. Think of your safety and the safety of those around you – be responsible.

CHILDREN'S HOME CONSTRUCTION PROGRESS REPORT

Construction has begun on the new Children's Home in Birdtown; however, the wet weather has impeded the progress somewhat. Pictures are posted on the Boys Club's Facebook page as changes take place. If you would like to assist the Children's Home with construction costs through donations or payroll deduction, please contact Cris Weatherford or Tigger Lambert 497-5009.

Opinions and Letters

WORD LIMIT FOR LETTERS IS 250 WORDS

We miss you Charles Edwin Lossiah

It's been 16 years since we lost you, but we have never forgotten you. Not a day goes by that we don't think of you, your voice, and smile at the memories we shared. You left us sooner than any of us imagined – grandchildren and even great-grandchildren you never got to meet. You left behind five beautiful daughters and a loving wife. We love you and miss you. You may be gone, but you will never be forgotten.

Your loving family

Some voters wield a greater power

The filing period has closed, the battle lines have been drawn, and each party has begun selecting its champion for November. While November is many months away, much will be decided in the next few weeks in the primary election. Rather than a selection of the best candidate for the job, many cynics view primary elections as more akin to mobs clawing over one another for the opportunity to tear down the opposition in November.

It is no surprise that we have arrived at this destination. The last election cycle saw one of the longest, negative and most expensive presidential primaries in history. A new generation of voters soured on the entire process, and 2012 saw a huge decline in participation from the 18-24 age group.

In North Carolina, 2014 seems much like 2012. Eight Republicans vie for a Senate nomination to pair off against presumed nominee, and incumbent, Kay Hagan. Several sides have already exchanged blows as each competes for what will likely be the deciding seat in whether or not Democrats maintain a majority next year. On May 6th, voters will decide the face of the Republican Party for the remainder of this election.

The NCGOP may be represented a seasoned politician, like Thom Tillis, James Snyder Jr, or Ted Alexander. The nominee could be retired physician Edward Kryn, former army nurse Heather Grant, or practicing OBGYN Greg Brannon. They could be represented by evangelical Mark Harris, or Icard resident Alex Bradshaw. While many of these names are unknown to most readers, it is worth pointing out that recently Kay Hagan has been polling behind all of the above. At the time of this writing, it is more likely than not that one of the above candidates will be North Carolina's next Senator.

Voters wield a great power, still. But May 6, at least in North Carolina, it is the Republicans and the unaffiliated voters in the Republican Primary that wield the greater power.

Signed,

Aaron Littlefield

Thank you

I would like to express my thanks to all who came to my aid during a recent illness/accident. First, I want to thank my Lord who is always watching over me. Thank you to my family, who is always there. Thank you to the EMS, Big Cove Fire Station, The Cherokee Hospital, and all the people who cared for me. May God bless you all.

Thank you,

Margaret French

Peter's Pancakes is Autism-friendly

Ever since we have been eating at Peter's Pancakes, they have treated my son like a so-called normal kid. They joke with him and call him "honey" and "darling". They are all-around nice, and they check on him to see if he needs anything else. I don't think they know my son is autistic. Even if they did know, they would not treat him any different. My son likes to be treated equally, and Peter's Pancakes treats him equally.

Thank you,

Tracy Crowe

APRIL IS CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION MONTH

What is a Child Advocacy Center?

A Child Advocacy Center (CAC) is a child-focused, facility-based program in which representatives from many disciplines meet to discuss and make decisions about investigation, treatment and prosecution of child abuse cases. They also work to prevent further victimization of children.

This multidisciplinary team approach brings together under one umbrella all the professionals and agencies needed to offer comprehensive services: law enforcement, child protective services, prosecution, mental health and the medical community. The Heart-to-Heart Child Advocacy Center is a Tribally-based program designed by professional to meet the unique needs of the community.

Communities that have developed a CAC experience many benefits: more immediate follow-up to child abuse reports; more efficient medical and mental health referrals; reduction in the number of child victim interviews; increased successful prosecution, and consistent support for child victims and supportive adults.

This comprehensive approach, with follow-up services provided by the CAC, ensures that children receive child-focused services in a child-friendly environment – one in which the child's needs come first.

"We are guilty of many errors and many faults, but the worst crime is abandoning our children – neglecting the foundation of life," said Gabriela Mistral, a Chilean poet. "Many of the things we need can wait. But, the children cannot. Right now is the time his bones are being formed, his blood is being made, and his senses are being developed. To him, we cannot answer tomorrow. His name is 'Today'."

Heart-to-Heart Child Advocacy Center to participate in Pinwheels for Prevention

The pinwheel is the symbol of child abuse and neglect prevention, symbolizing the stable, healthy childhood all children deserve. Pinwheels and pinwheel gardens help us create awareness of the role all adults have in children's healthy development and growth.

Pinwheels and pinwheel gardens help draw attention to the needs of all children and families, highlight resources available, share best practices for prevention and explore what individuals can do to help. The following talking points will help you talk about pinwheels and answer any questions that may come up when you give someone a pinwheel or they ask about your pinwheel garden or pinwheel pin or sticker.

Pinwheels symbolize:

- ...our commitment to ensuring all children thrive in loving, nurturing environments.
- ...our commitment to ending child abuse, neglect and maltreatment.
- ...our efforts to change the way people think about child abuse and neglect prevention.

Pinwheels are:

- ...an uplifting reminder of childhood and the bright futures all children deserve.
- ...a reflection of hope, health and safety – what PCANC and our partners, desire for children throughout North Carolina and everywhere.

Talking points for Child Abuse Prevention Month

- Child and youth development is the foundation of community and economic development.
- Child abuse, neglect, and other adverse experiences that are not addressed damage the architecture of the developing brain, resulting in poor outcomes for children and communities, from academic failure to violence to chronic health issues.
- Preventing child abuse and neglect means helping all parents have the knowledge, skills, resources, and support they need to provide the safe, stable, nurturing, and healthy environments all children need to thrive.

Prevent Child Abuse North Carolina offers tools to help you create awareness of child abuse and neglect prevention strategies.

Cherokee Weaving Talk and Workshop to be held at Museum

The Museum of the Cherokee Indian is beginning its revitalization project on Cherokee weaving Friday, April 11 and Saturday, April 12 with a talk and workshop. Both are sponsored by the North Carolina Arts Council and the Museum of the Cherokee Indian. "The traditions of Cherokee spinning and weaving with plant fibers go back more than 11,000 years," said Barbara R. Duncan, Ph.D., education director at the Museum.

The public is invited to a talk and presentation on "Cherokee Weaving" on Friday, April 11 at 7 pm in the Ken Blankenship Education and Research Center at the Museum. Karen George, Davy Arch, Deborah Harding, and Barbara Duncan will talk about and show examples of Cherokee weaving. Davy Arch has been gathering dogbane and other plants traditionally used in weaving, and Karen has been experimenting with spinning and weaving with these plants.

Also on Friday evening, Kara Martin will model a Cherokee skirt and feather cape that she will be wearing in the Miss Indian World competition at the end of April. The skirt is woven from hemp and is a recreation of a Cherokee women's skirt found in a cave in east Tennessee, originally woven from nettle fibers. This skirt has been reproduced by Deborah Harding, collections manager at the Carnegie Museum of Natural History in Pittsburgh.

On Saturday, April 12 from 10am - 4pm, Harding will lead a workshop on weaving techniques used to recreate the skirt. Using hemp fibers, participants will make a bag like the one originally found

Obituaries

Mamie Lois (Rogers) Gwaltney Parrish

Mamie Lois (Rogers) Gwaltney Parrish, 87, of the Cherokee community, passed away unexpectedly at the Mission Campus of Mission Hospitals in Asheville on Monday, March 31, 2014.

She was the daughter of the late Oscar Rogers and Edna (Warren) Rogers of the Vengeance

Creek community of Marble. Lois was the widow of Albin Gwaltney (1984) and also Robert Parrish (2003), each of eastern Virginia. She was a member of the Cherokee Baptist Church and had worked as an accountant for the Pepsi Company. Although Lois is a native of the Cherokee community and lived her final days among family in Cherokee, she spent a better part of her life in Virginia and leaves behind family there as well.

She is survived by her children, William Douglas Gwaltney of Ashland, Ky., Sandra Wilson and husband Grady of Conway, SC, and Albin Rex Gwaltney of Cherokee; one brother, Harold Rogers; two sisters, Elise Kimsey and Ruth Garrett; chosen sister - Katie Peeler; five grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Lois is also preceded in death by brothers, Clarence Rogers and Charles Rogers; sisters, Alice Rogers and Shirley Arch and one special friend - Angie Brock.

A funeral service was held on Thursday, April 3 in the Chapel of Long House Funeral Home with the Rev. Percy Cunningham officiating. Lois was placed in the chapel one hour ahead of the service for a short viewing. An immediate burial followed the service in Swain Memorial Park in Bryson City. Pall bearers included the grandsons Steven Voyles, Jamie Paugh and others that reach the service.

Long House Funeral Home assisted the family with the service arrangements.

Mary Ann Widenhouse

Mary Ann Widenhouse, 80, a native of Cherokee died peacefully at her home on April 5, 2014. The daughter of Wayne and Nell Tahquette, she was preceded in death by her brothers, Frank and Howard. She is survived by her sister, Peggy. She leaves to cherish her memory her husband, Ernest, her daughter, Marian, her son, Ernie, four grandchildren, two step grandchildren, and four great grandchildren with another on the way.

A three-time breast cancer survivor over a period of 25 years, Mary Ann lived virtually all of those years with zest and vitality. Thanks to those who support the sciences and those who provided her with kind and competent health care.

Mary Ann received her bachelor of arts degree with honors from Western Carolina University, did graduate work at Duke University, where she met her husband, and earned a master of arts degree from John Hopkins University.

She taught and developed curriculum in the Baltimore City Schools for 14 years, returned to Cherokee where she became Head of the History Department at Cherokee High School, the Principal of the Cherokee Elementary School, and then Superintendent of the Cherokee Schools. She concluded her professional career by working in the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Washington, D.C. as Assistant Superintendent of Indian Education.

A memorial service was held on Friday, April 11 at 5pm at the Crisp Funeral Home Chapel in Bryson City.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to Four Seasons, 571 South Allen Road, Flat Rock NC, 28731. See on-line.

Jones-Bowman Leadership Program seeks nominations

The Jones-Bowman Leadership Award Program is currently recruiting EBCI tribal members who are undergraduate college students to participate in its 2014-15 program. Students may only be nominated by a community member and the deadline for nominations is Tuesday, May 6 by 5p.m.

The program gives students opportunities to develop strong leadership abilities and serve successfully in leadership roles. With the help of mentors, participants develop individual leadership plans, volunteer in their communities, and complete a group service project during a year-long fellowship.

To obtain a nomination form, visit www.cpfnd.org/jonesbowman.html or stop by the Cherokee Preservation Foundation office at 71 John Crowe Hill Rd.

The Jones-Bowman Leadership Award was established in 2007 to honor the memories and leadership of Principal Chief Leon Jones and Mr. James Bowman, founding members of the Board of Directors of the Cherokee Preservation Foundation. The Cherokee Preservation Foundation and other contributors fund individual learning plans of the Fellows.

Jones-Bowman Fellows enjoy the following benefits by participating in the program:

- They participate in unique opportunities that will help them develop their leadership skills.
- They become involved in their community and culture.
- They meet other students interested in becoming leaders within the Cherokee community.
- They receive funding to take advantage of leadership opportunities.
- They receive guidance from outstanding mentors.

Braves don't bully week

The Cherokee Youth Council and the Cherokee Central Schools are raising awareness of bullying with the Braves Don't Bully campaign May 5-9.

The campaign aims to combat bullying in the schools and provide students with the tools, knowledge and support to be pro-active in confronting and stopping bullying. The Braves Don't Bully campaign will provide activities and resources for students to make a positive difference in their schools. Bullying is unwanted, aggressive behavior among school-aged children that is repeated, or has the potential to be repeated, over time. Bullying includes actions such as making threats, spreading rumors, attacking someone physically or verbally, and excluding someone from a group on purpose.

The campaign begins with a Fence Line Introduction to Braves Don't Bully week. To get people talking, students will place cups in the fencing surrounding the Cherokee Central School campus to make out the words Braves Don't Bully Week. Other activities throughout the week include Show the Impact of Bullying Day, where select volunteers will paint their faces orange to raise awareness, a bulletin board competition, and an anti-bullying assembly for all middle and high school students from the Cherokee Central Schools and Swain County Middle School, with special guest speaker Fabian Ramirez and a performance by the 1491's. The concluding day is BE BRAVE DAY, and students are encouraged to wear orange to show their support for ending bullying and fighting against it.

Obey your fishing laws

Opening weekend of Trout Fishing Season always brings out tons of people to fish in the mountains. It's nice to see families' spending time together and enjoying the great outdoors. There is nothing like taking your kids fishing and teaching them to fish. I'm a firm believer that if children spend time outdoors they are less apt to get into trouble once they are older because they are bored and need something to do.

However teaching them to fish doesn't mean teaching them to disregard fishing regulations and possession limits. It might seem funny to keep a few extra trout and hide them in your waders or pockets in case you run into a Wildlife Officer, but in the long run you just taught your kids what not to do.

This was the case this past weekend on a Delayed Harvest river in neighboring county. We watched as an out of state car pulled up with two men and their little boys. The boys were posted by the car to stand lookout for any Wildlife Officers, while the dads hurried to the river using live bait and caught several trout and dropped them into their waders. The little boys watched with eagle eyes for any approaching signs of "danger" as the two men quickly caught several nice fish and ran back to the car and drove away. In the matter of a couple minutes they had poached out 5 nice sized trout. Several lessons were learned by that shenanigan. The positive lesson was that of the little boy in my boat who witnessed the whole thing. He was obeying the law by using a single hook artificial lure, and was releasing his trout back in the water for someone else to enjoy. He saw firsthand what not to do, and how those fish that were taken could have been caught and released several times by others. The two little boys on lookout were not so lucky, they were taught how to steal, a complete disregard for laws, and how to avoid getting caught.

Please remember fishing regulations are in place for a purpose. They are to protect the fish and game and help ensure plenty for future generations to enjoy. Teach your children to obey the fish and game regulations and they will enjoy taking their children fishing one day too.

The hottest fishing this week will be on Fontana Lake near the headwaters of river and creek mouths. Walleye and White bass are starting to run the rivers in search of spawning grounds. Anglers are beginning to line the banks in the late evenings in search of tasty Walleye. Boat anglers are starting to stack up late evening too just below the running water on many creek and river mouths. The fishing has been so good that anglers are catching Walleye on a wide array of live bait rigs and crankbaits. Smallmouth Bass are also starting to stage near the river and creek mouths. Anglers are catching them on spinner baits, soft plastic flukes worked slowly, and twisters. Largemouth bass are being caught by throwing rattle traps near long points next to drop offs.

Best flies for trout are: Blue Duns #14-18, Red Quill dries #14-16, Quill Gordon dries #12-14, Little Black Caddis in #14-16, Little Winter Stonefly nymphs in #14-18, Little Winter Stonefly dries in #14-18, Blue Winged Olives in #18-22, Quill Gordon nymphs #12-14, Pheasant Tail Nymphs #12-18, Hares Ear nymphs #12-16, egg patterns in #10-12, Rainbow Warriors in #14-20, and black midges in #22-26. For Streamer patterns try black and olive Woolly Buggers in sizes #6-8, dark brown Sculpins in #6-8, and black Rabbit Strip Zonkers in #6-10.

Please observe all fishing and hunting regulations, and especially if younger eyes are watching you. The example you set today will stick with them for years. Set a good example and follow the regulations, the sting from a fishing violation ticket linger much longer than the thrill of breaking the law.

See you on the water!
