On Tuesday, April 6, six students from Cherokee High School and their chaperones spent an exhausting day traveling to Phoenix, Arizona to attend the 2010 Heard Museum Guild American Indian Student Art Show & Sale. All students had submitted examples of basketry or beadwork to be exhibited. The group spent two days of sightseeing, including Phoenix's best Native American Art Gallery and the Federal Indian Hospital, and some fun. On Friday the group spent almost the entire day at the Heard Museum, which has one of the most extensive collections of Native American Art, and then returned for the awards ceremony and reception in the evening.

Winners from Cherokee this year attending the reception were Abby Long, who won a White Ribbon for her beadwork and Cheyenne Smith, who won a Green Ribbon for her river cane double woven basket. A big winner was Whitney Hornbuckle, who won Blue and Red Ribbons for her beadwork. She also received a Judge's Choice Award for beadwork and an all expense paid Scholarship to attend a one week art workshop at the Arizona State University in Tempe this June.

Tagan Crowe, a student of Reba Elders at Cherokee High School, while not on the trip, also won a White Ribbon for the painting "Spiritually Serene."

Students were able to see the artwork and meet many of their peers who attended the reception. They also talked to prospective customers since many collectors attend this event to learn about new and upcoming Native American artists.

On behalf of my students I would like to thank the School Board for believing in our kids and for Joyce Dugan for her support. I would also like to thank everyone who helped send the students on their trip: the Chief and Vice Chief, Council Members, Michael Davis from the National Basketry Organization, Pat Lambert of Tribal Gambling Commission and Beth Johnson from RTCAR. Thank you for all your help not just on this trip but always helping with things in every way. I would also like to thank Dave Stamper for going on the trip, driving us everywhere and helping take care of our students. Thank you for everything you do. Lucille Lossiah, who has been working in the school with basketry, also went on the trip. Thank you Lucille. The airport is not the same. The moving sidewalk has a new name: Escalator Lossiah. I'm very proud of my students and I know their parents and grandparents are proud of them also. They represented our, tribe, our school and most of all, themselves. We had a wonderful trip, great weather, great company, and thank God for our safe return.

RTCAR joins Cherokee Cooperative Extension

SUBMITTED By RTCAR

RTCAR- the Revitalization of Traditional Cherokee Artisan Resources has joined EBCI Cooperative Extension in the hope of providing better services to the artistic community of Cherokee.

RTCAR is an initiative of the Cherokee Preservation Foundation and was originally initiated run through the Cherokee Studies program at Western Carolina University in 2004. Our goal is to ensure that Cherokee artisans have access to materials for years to come and that Cherokee craft traditions will be carried on into the next generation. The staff helps develop projects for grant funding that address these issues and find ways to support existing projects and programs.

Some of the projects that have been funded by RTCAR grants have been the "Spaghetti Farm" at Kituwah which is attempting to grow quantities of basket quality white oak, projects that help locate and preserve river cane and dye plants, learning projects in Cherokee Central Schools and at OICA, and educational projects in the region that explain the Cherokee relationship to the resources, as well as their role in environmental preservation.

Dr. David Cozzo is an ethnobotanist and started with RTCAR in 2004. His interests include the ethnobotany and wild foods of the Southern Appalachian Mountains. David works with environmental groups, community groups, and universities to locate and preserve needed resources, as well as being involved in cultural and natural resource preservation projects in and around Cherokee.

Beth Ross Johnson joined RTCAR in 2008 and has a background in the arts including an MFA in textiles. She is interested in the education of the next generation of Cherokee artisans and in traditional materials for weaving. Beth is working on a clearinghouse to connect artisans with sources of materials and looks for new ways to encourage artisans in Cherokee.

To contact RTCAR to discuss a project idea or a concern of artisans please call David at 554-6856 or Beth at 554-6925.

Park to receive more Stimulus Funds

Smokies approved for Additional American Recovery and Reinvestment Projects

SUBMITTED By BOB MILLER NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

reat Smoky Mountains National Park is starting four American Recovery and Reinvestment Act projects to improve hiker parking areas and resurface two roads in the Park. The $12.2 million for these projects brings total Recovery Act funding for the Smokies to $77.5 million.

The projects are: re-paving the Foothills Parkway-East, the Smokemont Campground and the Heintooga Ridge Road. In addition the Park will create new hiker parking areas and repave the roads leading to the popular Little River and Jakes Creek Trails in the Elkmont Area.

"All the roads to be resurfaced suffer from substantial pavement failure and cracking which allows moisture to seep into the base material where it freezes and thaws, causing the base material to crumble," said Kevin FitzGerald, the park's Deputy Superintendent. "Resurfacing these roads now will prevent us having to make much more expensive repairs a few years down the line as well as providing a safer more enjoyable ride for our over 9 million annual visitors."

The Recovery Act appropriated $3 billion to the Department of the Interior. Of that amount, $750 million in funding goes to the National Park Service. An additional $170 million of Recovery Act funding will be spent in National Park Service roads through the U.S. Department of Transportation, Federal Highway Administration.

The Smokies has received more than $33 million of this funding to continue construction of the uncompleted Foothills Parkway.

Work is already underway to repave the Smokemont Campground under a $2,176,300 contract to ES & H based in Knoxville, Tenn. That campground is closed but is scheduled to reopen after the work is finished on May 27.

A $1.301,847 contract was awarded on April 6 to Lexington Contracting, LLC of Lexington, KY to pave three parking areas and to repave all the connecting roads between the Little River

Trailhead and the Elkmont Historic District. During the early phases of construction visitor access to Jakes Creek and Little River Trails will be provided, but the area will be closed between July 6 and August 31 when safe passage can no longer be possible through the construction zone. Contracts are for the repaving of the Heintooga Ridge Road and the Foothills Parkway East in Cocke County, Tenn. are presently in the solicitation phase.

Details on all of the park's Recovery Act and other facility and road construction projects are available at the Park's website at: www.nps.gov/grsm/planyourvisit.

"The Recovery Act funds are part of a stimulus package that is an important component of the President's plan to jumpstart the economy and put a down payment on addressing existing challenges so the country can thrive in the 21st century. Under the Recovery Act, Interior is making an investment in conserving America's timeless treasures - our stunning natural landscapes, our monuments to liberty, the icons of our culture and heritage - while helping American families and their communities prosper again. Interior is also focusing on renewable energy projects, the needs of American Indians, employing youth and promoting community service. "With its investments of Recovery Act funds, the Department of the Interior and its bureaus are putting people to work today to make improvements that will benefit the environment and the region for many years to come," Secretary of the Interior Ken Salazar said.

Secretary Salazar has pledged unprecedented levels of transparency and accountability in the implementation of the Department's economic recovery projects.

The public will be able to follow the progress of each project on www.recovery.gov and on www.interior.gov/recovery. Secretary Salazar has appointed a Senior Advisor for Economic Recovery, Chris Henderson, and an Interior Economic Recovery Task Force to work closely with Interior's Inspector General and ensure the recovery program is meeting the high standards for accountability, responsibility, and transparency set by President Obama.

NEWS ka-no-he-da

Earth Day 2010 is here! Yes, it is the 40th anniversary of Earth Day. I would like to share with you a little bit of history about the first Earth Day holiday. Earth Day founder, Gaylord Nelson, then a U.S. Senator from Wisconsin, proposed the first nationwide environmental protest, "to shake up the political establishment and force this issue onto the national agenda". "It was a gamble, but it worked," he recalled.

At the time, Americans were slurping leaded gas through massive V8 sedans. Industry belched out smoke and sludge with little fear of legal consequences or bad press. Air pollution was commonly accepted as the smell of prosperity. Environment was a word that appeared more often in spelling bees than on the evening news. Earth Day 1970 turned that around.

On April 22, 20 million Americans took to the streets, parks and auditoriums to demonstrate for a healthy, sustainable environment. Denis hays, the national coordinator and his youthful staff organized massive coast-to-coast rallies. Thousands of colleges and universities organized protests against the deterioration of the environment. Groups that had been fighting against oil spills, polluting factories and power plants, raw sewage, toxic dumps, pesticides, freeways, the loss of wilderness, and the extinction of wildlife suddenly realized they shared common values.

Now, the fight for a clean environment continues. Be a part of the history of Earth Day. Don't sit and wait for someone else to take the lead, being green doesn't have to mean just buying a hybrid. You can do your part to help just by changing simple things inside your own home. Educate yourself on what is happening to the Earth. There are endless websites, television shows, dvd's, books and magazines all around us that offer insight on the subject and ways to change for the better.

Use Earth Day 2010 like an awakening anniversary. Pledge to the planet that from now on, you will be conscious of the Earth for every decision that you make. Remember that you vote with your dollars, Buy Earth friendly items and clean, uncontaminated food when you shop. The higher the demand, the lower the price!

Whether you like it or not, it's the only home we have and it's up to us to preserve it.

Letters to the Editor Support for Sheriff Ashe

Last night at WCU, there was a forum of Criminal Justice students at which the Sheriff was asked to speak on a career in law enforcement. He brought with him four of his officers who are alumni of WCU and let each speak of his career and explain his current job within the Sheriffs Department. Then the Sheriff took over and immediately gave most of the credit for his sucesses to those officers and the rest of his department. He outlined his career in law enforcement, which is extensive, and told the students what it takes to get a job in law enforcement - a good record with the law. This is why he spends drug money on youth sports, to keep them too busy to get in trouble. I was very impressed with his presentation and am proud to be on his reelection campaign committee, because I think he is far and away the best candidate for the iob

Supports Shelton for Re-Election

When an election nears and I'm confronted with a number of candidates to consider, I look for five qualities in the people I'll support: intelligence, integrity, initiative, experience, and the courage to address challenging and sometimes unpopular issues. Fortunately, this year we have people who already exhibit these standards. To me, none exemplifies them better than William Shelton.

During the past four years, Shelton, a fifth gen-

Disclaimer: the opinions expressed on the Opinions pages do not necessarily reflect the views of the Cherokee One Feather, the Principal Chief, the Vice Chief or Tribal Council of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. eration Jackson County farmer, faced some of the toughest issues our county has seen in decades. He came into office at a time when the rapid growth the county had been facing for a number of years had been essentially put on the back burner. He and others on the county commission strove to set the stage for sustainable growth and protection of the natural resources of our mountains. One fine example of his and their success can be seen in the steep slope and subdivision ordinances they passed.

Shelton also participated in the development of the Mountain Landscape Initiative, a "toolbox" for the seven county region to use when addressing growth-related problems. Using the Initiative, we can insure that the environment, beauty, and landscape of our mountains will be considered in development so that we can have a growing and thriving economy and maintain the integrity of our mountains.

Shelton's interest and strong support for historical preservation bore fruit through the historic preservation and farmland ordinances. The first provides a means for our county to maintain our history and a sense of our past as we continue to grow. The farmland ordinance affords farmland owners the opportunity and incentive to voluntarily put their land in preservation so that we can keep the dwindling farmland we do have left in farming.

Combining a dedication to historic preservation, education and a much needed capital project, Shelton took the lead in opting to locate our new library beside our old courthouse, a national landmark. He had the foresight to recognize that the combined facility would draw strong interest for fundraising and give us more "bang for the buck". And he has been proven right; funds raised through the efforts of the Friends of the Library are very near their $1.6 million goal in large part because of the unique nature of the facility.

Making a concerted effort toward fiscal responsibility and to provide tax relief for us, Shelton and his colleagues advocated the state to reconsider the Machinery Act. Although Jackson County has the third lowest tax rate in the state, he stated he believes that the mandated state system the county has to use in determining property values is unfair to mountain counties.

In addition, Shelton and the other commissioners have taken fiscally responsible actions that have given us a county budget that is sound, in spite of a weak worldwide economy.

Of course, I'm aware that there have been two issues that have been controversial with some in our county, perhaps because of misinformation.

One of these involves recent raises for some county employees. What may not be understood is that Shelton and his colleagues sought to put in place a career ladder comparable to other counties. A consultant was hired to conduct a study; and using the information from the study, Shelton and the commissioners implemented a pay scale for the 400 county employees that is commensurate with a person's education, experience and years of service. Controversy arose when the salaries of individual employees were compared with their counterparts in other counties. However these comparisons did not take into account years of experience. For example, the new salary of one of our county's employees with 28 years of experience was compared with the salary of his counterpart in another county with zero years of experience. The comparisons were far from equal.

Another controversy involved the Dillsboro Dam. While some called for the commissioners to take Duke Power's offer, others were aware that Duke had offered much greater deals in other locations under similar circumstances. Many, myself included, believed Duke should have paid the county $300,000 a year for the life of the license as opposed to one $350,000 payment spread out over several years. This was what Shelton and others were fighting for. We lost but that doesn't mean the battle should not have been fought. Shelton and his colleagues fought for our rights against a big, well-endowed corporation, unfortunately without all the support they deserved.

So when primary day comes in May and when the election comes in November, I know for whom I'll be voting. I'll be voting for the man who stood up for my county and its citizens, who has proven that he has experience, knowledge, commitment, and the integrity to do the right thing, even in the face of controversy. I'll vote for William Shelton.

> Signed, Sara Day Hatton Sylva, NC

Ashe does not sling mud

In the current race for sheriff of Jackson county, I find it refreshing at least in the case of Jimmy Ashe that he has refused to do battle with the mud slingers. After all, "He who slings mud, looses ground!"

I for one want Jimmy Ashe to stay in office as sheriff because of his professionalism. He refuses to wallow in the mud or stoop to negativity.

Instead of mud slinging, he goes about his work with dignity while focusing on the positives of his office. That's class.

In my humble opinion, he is the only choice for sheriff of Jackson County.

Sincerely, Eddie Lee Sylva

Big Cove Rep. travels to Oklahoma

By BIG COVE REP. TERESA McCOY

(Note: The following is a travel report submitted by Rep. McCoy)

Tribal Code, which is Tribal Law, states that we have to submit a report to our constituents when we go on Tribal travel. I attended Joint Council from the 13th through the 17th in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Tuesday and Saturday were actual travel days.

On Wednesday the 14th, I attended my first meeting at the Hard Rock Hotel where we were staying, with Painttown Rep. Terri Henry and Jackie Artuga. We met with the staff for the Institute for Native Justice. We discussed and shared important information pertaining to violence against women and other various crimes in Indian Country. The meeting started at six and ended a little after eight. One of the Western Nation's Supreme Court Justices joined us and informed us about upcoming symposiums such as the Sovereignty Symposium. All Indian Tribes have basically the same jurisdictional issues in their courts and law enforcement agencies that we do. We need to band together and get changes made the Congressional way. We then joined the rest of our group upstairs for a wonderful dinner and social.

On the 15th, we all were on a big bus headed to Tahlequah for an all-day tour. The Cherokee Nation has grown substantially. They have over 8,000 employees, a new hospital (compacted) that works. They can do root canals, deliver babies, surgeries, eye care, mental health and the list goes on. They bill insurance for employees and use the most current Indian Health Service laws to meet the needs of the Tribal members scattered throughout 14 counties in northeastern Oklahoma. I want to learn more about their health care capabilities because I believe we could use them here and upgrade health care for our people. They have eight scattered health care facilities.

We went to many of their tribal programs including Sequoyah High School, administration offices, a factory that employs 200 Cherokee who make the harness wiring systems for helicopters, and Northeastern University. Tribal member Deana Kelly was our guide and she did a phenomenal job.

We then met up at lunch time with the Cherokee Speakers for a Hog Fry and stickball game. Chief Smith played, the men won. It was so wonderful to see Ella Bird, Lil, Janie and Mary Brown, Arnold, Tom, Sally, Marie and so many more of our speakers there. It felt like a reunion and it felt like home. I am so impressed with all of them.

After lunch, we attended the 15-year dedication of the Wilma P. Mankiller Health Care Center. Her daughters were there and it was humbling to be asked to be there. Wilma opened the doors in Washington for all Indian Nations to get their foot in and be recognized and heard. She was their Chief when I first got elected in 1987 and she told me one time that my heart was in the right place. I was not surprised to see how much she was loved and how much she will be missed by her Nation. That evening, we had a dinner with the Cherokee Nation at the Hotel and Cherokee Nation member and former Interior Secretary Ross Swimmer was the keynote speaker.

On the 16th, we had our Joint Council Session. We discussed and voted on nearly a dozen resolutions, most of which were submitted by the Eastern Band. Several were tabled, the rest were passed. I can proudly say that all of us were in attendance and all of us very respectfully and professionally participated. Wilma and Deputy Chief Hasting Shade were honored and their families recognized by both Tribes. Myrtle did the presentation of the flag with their color guard to Wilma's daughters and Hasting Shade received the "Friends of Sequoyah" award.

We watched several presentations and got to see how far the language programs have become technically advanced. We all need to be more supportive and proud of what the speakers group and the Immersion Programs are doing. I was impressed! The Council Session ended around 2pm and we had a joint lunch. Some of our Council had to leave for travel home and some stayed until Saturday.

Our Cherokee Royalty was also there with us every step of the way. They were beautiful and they participated with us in every event. It is good for them to travel and it is also educational. All of us should be proud of them. Keep up the good public relations ladies; you are doing great. Their families were with them and all of us had a good time.

I know I have probably forgotten to mention much of what we saw, what we learned and who we met, but I can tell all of you this, this travel was productive, educational, and historical. I can also say that Council went there to work and we did. I appreciate Denise and our TOP staff for their hard work; the Tribal members from here who participated in the Speakers group; our Royalty; all of the Tribal employees who went to learn, help or present; the Cherokee Nation for their hospitality; my friend Merritt; and the good Lord for protecting all of us on this journey. Sgi.

Making Cultural Connections in the Social Studies Classroom at CMS

By BETTE FITZGERALD CHEROKEE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Seventh grade students at Cherokee Middle School take a break from the textbooks to apply the concepts they are learning about world geography to Cherokee culture. Coach Sam Lambert takes a creative and engaging approach to the social studies curriculum by incorporating art in the classroom.

With the artistic guidance of Susan Lanier, Gear Up coordinator, and Frosti Adams, teacher assistant, students sculpted clan masks and beaded pencil holders. Students compared the Cherokee masks to the African masks and the Cherokee beadwork to Asian artwork. Students also researched their family heritage to create family trees to supplement their study of Cherokee culture. Coach Lambert based these unique classroom experiences on the North Carolina standard course of study.

"I am thrilled to see the miniclan mask projects continuing and expanding to beadwork this year. It is so important to have creativity in the classroom to meet the needs of our diverse learners," said Mrs. Bette Fitzgerald, who developed the clan mask project with Coach Lambert through support of a Learning Links grant from the Community Foundation of Western North Carolina in 2009.

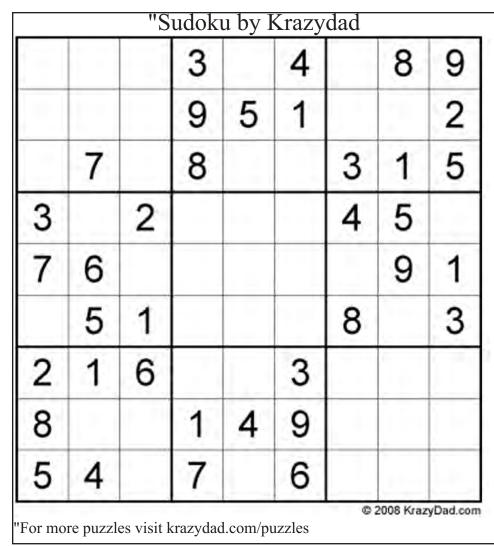

Coach Lambert commented, "Applying classroom studies to our local Native American history helps students to value their heritage and make meaningful connections and comparisons to the world in which we live," He said he is very proud of the student effort on the projects and the wonderful support from Lanier and Adams.

Cherokee Runners News

SUBMITTED By CHEROKEE RUNNERS

The Cherokee Runners had a busy week. On Saturday April 17, Angel Squirrell and Brian Driver ran in the Full Spectrum 5K at Western Carolina University. It was Brian's first official 5K - good job! Also Angel made it a family event with her son, Nick, and daughter, Priscilla, running too.

Also on Saturday, Club members worked together to sell donated items and baked goods at the BIA to raise money for their new tee-shirts. The sale went well and was manned by several club members. Even though it could be considered work, everyone had fun and enjoyed themselves.

On Sunday April 18, several club members ran the 8-mile round trip at Round Bottom in Big Cove. There were a couple of runners that ran the first long run. It started off with a chill in the air, but soon the runners were warmed up and moving out. Four runners finished close together: Jimmy Oocumma, Chad Bowman, and Robin & Steph Swimmer. Two runners, Gerri & Sean Grady, did a 5-mile run rather than the full 8. Everyone enjoyed bananas, cupcakes and water after the run. It was a great time!

Elnora Thompson ran the Conquer a Cove 5K race in Asheville on Sunday April 18. There were 266 runners in all age groups. Elnora came in first in hers. Congrats!

SCC honors Academic Achievement

SUBMITTED By ROSE GARRETT SOUTHWESTERN COMM. COLLEGE

Superior Court Judge Brad Letts urged students to keep their dreams alive, no matter what the obstacles. Letts, an EBCI tribal member and a resident of Sylva, was the featured speaker during Southwestern Community College's Academic Awards Ceremony Tuesday, April 6, on the Jackson Campus.

Letts talked about the Clint Eastwood movie Invictus based on the story of Nelson Mandela, who spent 26 years as a political prisoner. Mandela never gave up his dream of a united South Africa, Letts said, as he described how Mandela became president following his release from prison. To unite the apartheid-torn South Africa, Mandela enlisted the national rugby team on a mission to win the 1995 Rugby World Cup.

"Others may say your dreams are too fanciful or too hard to reach but they can't extinguish your hopes and dreams. The only person who can do that is you. And I urge you to keep your dreams alive. You can achieve them; I firmly believe that," said Letts, who assisted SCC President Cecil Groves in awarding certificates to the students honored for their academic performance.

In continuing with Letts' theme, SCC Vice President for Instruction and Student Services Gene Couch quoted Henry David Thoreau, "Go confidently in the direction of your dreams."

Titus Laney of Cullowhee received the N.C. Community College System Excellence award and went on to represent Southwestern at the statewide awards ceremony in Raleigh April 14.

A member of the National Technical Honor Society and Vice-president of Southwestern's Environmental Club, Laney was living in Wilmington where he suffered several severe injuries, was out of work for several months and depleted his savings. He sold his business, decided to pursue another direction and selected Southwestern.

"I knew right away that Southwestern was the school for me. Everyone there has an optimistic attitude that is contagious. Their sense of pride is heartwarming. The faculty and staff are extremely supportive and resourceful and follow my progress. My physical ailments were lessoned by instructors, financial aid, Student Support Services and the SCC clubs," said Laney, who received a Mensa scholarship.

"I feel prepared to succeed in whatever path I choose to follow. Southwestern opened the doors of success for me and it can for other students. They just have to take the initiative and walk through the door." Laney is pursuing an associate of arts degree in college transfer. NEWS ka-no-he-da

Re-Elect Swain County Sheriff Curtis Cochran

I am Curtis Cochran, Sheriff of Swain County. In 2006, the voters of Swain County did me the great honor of electing me as their Sheriff. Since that time, Swain County has faced many difficult tasks. But, with the help and support of the community, we have been able to successfully overcome many diversities. This includes adversities that have confronted the Sheriff's Office, where we have faced the effects of a recessionary economy and fought the use of drugs in our communities. During this time, we have always had you, the citizens of Swain County, utmost in our mind as we set out to protect and serve this community that we know and love.

The ultimate goal of the Swain County Sheriff's Office is to make Swain County a place where we can safely raise our families and enjoy the great splendor that the County has to offer.

On May 4th, I will again stand for election as Sheriff of Swain County and I ask for your support in this endeavor. I look forward to serving you as Sheriff of Swain County in the coming years. During that time, if you have any questions or comments on my administration, please do not hesitate to contact me. Either I, or a member of my staff, will be happy to help you.

FLAMES TIE HENDERSON 1

Jeremy Parker (#5), Cherokee Flames player, scores during a game on Saturday, April 17, as the Cherokee Flames soccer team faced off against the only team that beat them last season in Asheville. Flames player Russell Bigmeat led the offense from the right corner, drawing the goalie out and centering a beautiful pass for the easy score by Darius Thompson, to even out the score 1-1 by half time. In the second half, Henderson tried to apply offensive pressure, only to be shut down by Flames defender Chayton Thompson, who had five saves by himself. Jeremy "Scrappy" Parker managed to scrap his way through the Henderson 1 defense and took the Flames to a 2-1 lead. Unfortunately, Henderson 1 squeaked in another goal in the last minute to tie the game, and leave the final score, at 2-2.

Recipes by Keahana...

Keahana Lambert-Sluder is the Administrative Program Coordinator for the EBCI Health and Medical Division.

Double-corn spoon bread

Tip: Spoon bread is made from cornmeal that is cooked on the stove top before folding in whipped eggs. It's then cooked again, in the oven, like a souffle. In this light version, only the egg whites are used. Serves 8

Ingredients

- 2 cups plain soy milk (soya milk) 2 cups chicken stock, vegetable stock or broth
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 tablespoon dark honey
- 1 cup cornmeal, preferably stone-ground 1 1/4 cups fresh corn kernels (cut from 2 or
- 3 ears corn)
- tablespoon mince
- tablespoon minced shallot
 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

4 egg whites

1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese

Directions

Preheat the oven to 375 F. Lightly coat a 3-quart souffle dish with olive oil cooking spray.

In a saucepan over medium heat, combine the soy milk, stock, olive oil and honey. Heat until very hot but not boiling. Reduce the heat to low so the mixture simmers. Add the cornmeal in a stream while whisking constantly. Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens, about 5 minutes. Transfer to a large bowl. Add the corn kernels, shallot, thyme, baking powder and salt and stir to combine.

In a large, spotlessly clean bowl, using an electric mixer on high speed, beat the egg whites until stiff peaks form. Gently whisk 1/3 of the whites into the cornmeal mixture to lighten it. Using a rubber spatula, gently fold the remaining egg whites into the batter, mixing just until incorporated.

Pour the batter into the prepared souffle dish and sprinkle with the cheese. Bake until puffed and lightly golden, about 35 minutes. Let stand in the dish for 5 minutes before serving. Serve hot.

Warm potato salad

Tip: A mixture of smooth and whole-grain mustards forms the base for vinaigrette much lighter than traditional mayonnaise dressings. This salad is most flavorful when served warm or at room temperature. Serves 6

Ingredients

1 pound small red or white new potatoes (about 1 1/2 inches in diameter)

- 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
- 1 tablespoon whole-grain mustard
- 2 tablespoons rice vinegar
- 2 teaspoons red wine vinegar or sherry vinegar
- 2 tablespoons minced shallot

4 teaspoons extra-virgin olive oil 2 tablespoons chopped fresh flat-leaf (Italian) parsley

- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Directions

Put the potatoes in a saucepan, add water to cover and bring to a boil over high heat. Reduce the heat to medium and cook, uncovered, until the potatoes are tender, 15 to 20 minutes. Drain and let stand until just cool enough to handle. Cut each potato in half (or quarters, if the potatoes are large) and place in a warmed serving dish.

In a small bowl, whisk together the mustards, the vinegars and the shallot until well blended. While whisking, slowly drizzle in the olive oil to make a thick dressing. Stir in the parsley, salt and pepper. Pour the dressing over the warm potatoes, mix gently and serve immediately.

Cherokee Retail and Business Update

SUBMITTED By Dr. MICKEY DUVALL

First quarter 2010 U.S. economic data shows a slight increase in consumer confidence evidenced by a small increase in sales data with the DOW gaining ground and hovering around the 11,000 mark. Commercial/retail expansion by small businesses and major franchises still remain relatively weak due to the "lock-up" of commercial lending by major U.S. banks coupled with an uncertainty of nearly three trillion dollars in commercial adjustable rate balloon mortgages up for refinancing, rate adjustments or payoff in the next three years.

These factors continue to prevent retail expansion efforts across the U.S. economy and consequently are having a negative influence on the overall national unemployment rate which now stands at nearly 10% (certain economists have projected the unemployment rate to be as high as 15% in some states such as Nevada, California and Michigan). Many economists feel lowering the national unemployment rate is key to turning the corner on the recession and must be accomplished by unlocking commercial credit for retail expansion of small and large businesses nationwide (this remains one of the key political issues of the day in Washington, DC).

~EBCI Tribal Job Fair

~Harry Gant Steak & Seafood Restaurant

Our office has been in touch with Mr. Bill Dukes, Long Horn Steak Houses, and (through an EBCI Tribal Member's connection) to Mr. Harry Gant (NASCAR race car driver celebrity) for a possible NASCAR Steak & Seafood Restaurant in Cherokee near Harrah's Cherokee Casino & Hotel. Other NASCAR celebrities identified to possibly partner with Harry Gant include; Kyle Petty, Dale Earnhardt, Jr., and Jimmy Johnson. A meeting is trying to be scheduled for mid to late summer 2010.

-Wal-Mart Corp., U.S.A.

Tribal Council hired "The Goodman Company" (Mr. John Dowd) as Wal-Mart Consultant and they are leading the effort to pressure Wal-Mart to finalize the "Main Lease Agreement" approved by Tribal Council. The agreement was sent to Wal-Mart's "Real Estate Managers" (Mr. Brian Hooper and Mr. Carl Mueller). Our consultants informed us in early 2010 that Wal-Mart's domestic focus had changed primarily to urban markets due to the recent recession, however they would continue to pressure Wal-Mart's upper management to get the Cherokee Deal approved and construction scheduled as soon as possible since lease negotiations with the Tribe had been on-going prior to the down-turn in the U.S. Economy. Mr. Dowd (Tribal Consultant) informed me that he had talked to Mr. Carl Mueller and we are in a "holding pattern" due to Wal-Mart's "strategic re-focusing for new store startups" and awaiting word from key Wal-Mart Officials as to projected lease approvals and possible construction timelines.

~Cherokee Indoor Water Park, Hotel & Convention Center

Under the direction of EBCI Tribal Planning Board, the Office of Planning & Development solicited RFP's in February – March 2010 (Request For Proposals) regarding the possible development and construction of an Indoor Water Park, Hotel & Convention Center to be located on the Qualla Boundary. Numerous proposals were received from some of the top water park developers/designers in the world, including Kalahari Resorts, Great Wolf Lodge, Atlantis/Paradise Island-Bahamas, Typhoon Lagoon, to name a few. These companies will be in Cherokee on April 22 to present proposals including design, pro forma, investor procurement, funding/grant procurement, and management/operations information to Chief Hicks, Tribal Council, Tribal Planning Board, and the Tribal Water Park Committee.

~Children's Discovery Center/Lift Area Cultural Renovation

Under the direction of Principal Chief Hicks and EBCI Tribal Planning Board, the Office of Planning & Development solicited RFP's in March regarding the possible development & best placement of a Children's Discovery Center and Cultural Renovations to the "Lift Area" across from the Tribal Festival Grounds. Proposals were due in by Friday, April 16.

~Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians

I had the opportunity to visit the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians Economic Development Corporation in late March 2010. I meet with officials from the MBCI Economic Development, Pearl River Resort, and various Tribal Enterprises to gain a better understanding of the Choctaw's great success in the area of Federal Contracting. I gained tremendous knowledge "first hand" from the Choctaw Nation that has numerous active U.S. Department of Defense contracts including the hydraulic "on-unit flight control systems" for state-of-the-art existing and next generation missile guidance systems. Also, the Choctaws are involved in producing several components for upgrades to the U.S. Bradley Tank Fleet and are involved in manufacturing the only DOD approved heating/cooling/air filtration system retrofits for the existing Hummer Fleet as well as new designs for the next generation replacement armored vehicles. Lastly, the Tribe is heavily involved in robotic land rover technology and is currently providing these units to the U.S. for use in Iraq and Afghanistan as land mine detection devices. In the upcoming month's our office will be soliciting help and guidance from the Choctaw's in developing as similar program for the EBCI. Federal contracting offers great opportunity to Tribes to create high tech top paying jobs for all Tribal Members.

~ACE Hardware Company

During the first quarter of 2010, the EBCI Office of Planning & Development and Principal Chief Hicks met with ACE Hardware Regional Managers including Mr. Joe Perz, Market Development Manager for the company, regarding possibilities of locating a store in Cherokee, NC. A Tribal Member has expressed interest and is now in the process of negotiating an independently owned and operated ACE Hardware Store on the Qualla Boundary.

~Target Corp., U.S.A.

Target Corporation was contacted in the first quarter of 2010. Target continues to remain focused primarily on developing in major urban population centers with high traffic counts and population density per square mile. Areas of current interest include locations near Raleigh, North Carolina and Memphis, TN.

~Magic Mart Corp., U.S.A.

Mr. Richard Ammar, CEO and Founder of Magic Mart Stores was contacted in April 2010. Mr. Ammar expressed great interest in trying to locate a store in Cherokee during the last quarter of 2010. Richard indicated Magic Mart was currently engaged in building two new stores per year and these had already gotten underway. Mr. Ammar is planning a trip to Cherokee in the near future to look at possible locations. *Magic Mart typically builds a store footprints over 100,000 sq. ft. and gives Wal-Mart some serious competition.

~Cherokee Outdoor World (Sporting Goods Center/comparable to Cabela's, Bass Pro Shops, and Gander Mountain)

The Office of Planning & Development and EBCI Tribal Planning Board hosted Mr. Orlando Wilson (Television Fishing Show Legend) and his business associate Mr. Chuck Shultz in the first quarter of 2010 to propose a possible celebrity brand regarding an outdoor sporting goods center in Cherokee. The EBCI Tribal Planning Board voted to send out RFP's (Requests For Proposals) pertaining to development of the store's specific pro forma, size/layout, project costs, possible investor procurement, financing, and management/operational costs. Potential sites identified in the Land Schematic Plan recently completed and commissioned by the Planning Board include the Cherokee Crossing site or the Old Elementary School site (this development would provide a catalyst for other "high-line" contiguous retail development). *Smokey Mountain Knife Works (Pigeon Forge, TN) has been approached, and are interested as a possible partner in this project.

Our office has contacted Olive Garden Restaurants. Olive Garden expressed interest in locating in or very near Harrah's Cherokee Casino & Hotel. We referred Olive Garden to Harrah's Cherokee Casino Officials in charge of restaurant expansion for further discussions and follow-up.

velopment Manager was in Cherokee earlier this month. Mr. Martin was given an extensive tour of Cherokee and possible locations for a Denny's Franchise. Mr. Martin indicated high interest and our office is now in the process of sending pertinent information regarding requested sites/locations.

~Johnny Rockets Restaurants

Mr. David Eberle, Senior Real Estate Developer for Johnny Rockets Restaurants visited Cherokee in July 2009. Our office contacted, initiated, and set the meeting with Harrah's Cherokee Casino Hotel Officials responsible for the current expansion development (restaurants). *Mr. Eberle indicated to me the meeting was successful and location of the Johnny Rockets Franchise in Cherokee was definitely a possibility.

~Lone Star Steakhouse

Mr. Bill Martens indicated that the Lone Star Steakhouse Franchise was "not considering new development opportunities at this time".

~Ruby Tuesdays Restaurants

The EBCI Office of Planning & Development contacted Ruby Tuesday's Restaurants and received the following response from Ms. Kimberly Kneier (Ruby Tuesdays Senior Development Director). "Mickey, I'd love to expand in your area. I am very familiar with it. However, we aren't expanding at all at this time and probably won't be expanding for the next 24 - 36 months".

~Cracker Barrel Old Country Store, Inc.

Our office has contacted Cracker Barrel yearly and I contacted them again on May 29th, 2010. The following is the response received from Mr. Joe Jaynes, Cracker Barrel Old Country Store, Inc. "Thanks for your interest in Cracker Barrel. Cherokee is a market we're aware of and considered adding a location there. However, at this time we have cut back the number of new store openings for the next few years. Regardless, I'll keep your information in my file and give you a call when we are ready to explore possibilities in Cherokee, NC.

~Mast General Store

Mast General Store was contacted by our office again in March, 2010. We received this response from Mr. John E. Cooper, Jr., President, Mast General Store, Inc. "Our company has determined that future growth be through revitalizing and emerging downtowns and have found that we require a pretty significant population base to make our business model work. Our last three stores have been established in the downtowns of Asheville, Greenville and Knoxville. All of these stores went in restored historic structures. I have a great deal of respect for the leaders of the Cherokee Tribe and wish them success with their new commercial venture. Thank you for your interest.

~C.V.S. Pharmacy

Our office is continuing to work with D & M Holdings (Mr. David Carson) in Greenville, SC regarding the possibility of a C.V.S. Pharmacy in Cherokee. We continue to provide information as requested and anticipate a follow-up meeting sometime in May or June 2010. As previously mentioned, the economic down turn has greatly affected commercial retail expansion efforts, especially in the area of new pharmacy start-ups.

~Entech Creative, Inc.

Our office has recruited Mr. George Moore (President, Entech Creative) to invest in a Disney Style Entertainment Complex developing a "high-end theme park" to Cherokee located at the existing Cherokee Fun Park location. The lease has been signed by the Chief as well as Entech and a projected late May early June 2010 Grand Opening Event is being planned. Entech is now on site beginning necessary improvements, planning, and park design. Entech Creative boasts an outstanding portfolio list of clients including: Universal Studios, Warner Brothers, Paramount Theme Parks, SeaWorld & Busch Gardens, The Smithsonian Institution, Mattel, Kennedy Space Center, Ford Motor Company, Nickelodeon, and Orlando Science Center to name a few.

~Walgreens Drug Stores

Our office continues ongoing discussions with Walgreens Drug Stores regarding a possible store location in Cherokee, but given the current economic downturn, our success has been limited. We are continuing to try to schedule a meeting with Walgreens sometime in May 2010.

~International House of Pancakes

I spoke with Mrs. Laura Tanaka on August 17. Mrs. Tanaka expressed great interest in Cherokee regarding possible location of an International House of Pancakes Franchise. Our office is currently submitting market/demographic information to Mrs. Tanaka/IHOP. An meeting in Cherokee in May-June 2010 is being planned with IHOP Franchisees.

~Casual Male Clothiers

Mr. Peter Schmitt was contacted again at the request of a Tribal Member regarding the possible location of a Casual

We hope you are not guilty of this. It's parking.

Male Clothing Store in Cherokee. Mr. Schmitt indicated via email letter that Casual Male expansions were on hold at this time due to the economy. He asked us to check back with him in six months as he is interested in opening a future store in Cherokee.

As evidenced in the first quarter 2010 retail report, retail recruitment in the current economic downturn has been tough, but can certainly be rewarding if persistence and pressure are continuously applied. I appreciate the continuous direction given from EBCI Principal Chief Michell Hicks, Tribal Council Members, Tribal Planning Board Members and the fine staff and all employees within the EBCI Office of Economic Development who have helped make these initiatives possible. The Planning and Development Department is continuing to work very hard even in a nationwide recession to recruit key businesses to the Qualla Boundary.

TRIBAL ELDERS PARKING: Tribal Elder's parking was established to give elders easier access to the hospital. It was well received by the elders but is abused by younger community members, many who disregard and disrespect elders who mention it to them. We don't have police coverage for this service. We have to trust community members and ask that they respect our elders and do not use this area.
