KITUWAH MOUND – A total of 19 Cherokee riders are going on this year's Remember the Removal Bike Ride – a 950-mile trek retracing the Trail of Tears. The ride started in New Echota, Ga. on Sunday, June 7, and the riders are scheduled to pull into Tahlequah, Okla. on June 25.

The Eastern Band of Cherokee

Indians is represented by seven riders including: Kelly Murphy, Jake Stephens, Corlee Thomas-Hill, Kevin Tafoya, Darius Thompson, Savannah Hicks and Matt Martens. The Cherokee Nation will be represented by Charles "Billy" Flint, Tristan Trumbla, Kayla Davis, Haylee Caviness, Tanner Crow, Shawna Harter, Maggie McKinnis, Wrighter Weavel, Caleb Cox, Alexis Watt, Tennessee Loy and Hailey Seago.

The riders were honored and given a send-off during an event held at the Kituwah Mound on Friday, June 5. Photos were taken, speeches were made, everyone shared a dinner, and the riders from the two tribes had a nice time to meet with each other before their journey began.

"We're so ready," said Savannah Hicks, one of the EBCI riders. "We've been training since January, and now it's finally here. As a team, I feel like we're ready, and I'm just ready to see how this experience changes me as a person."

Fellow team member Darius Thompson commented, "I'm very excited. We're ready, but once we get on the ride, the whole mindset changes in just thinking about what people went through. We're on a bike. They were walking. It's a humbling experience."

Patricia Watkins, who completed the Remember the Removal Ride last year, gave some encouragement to this year's riders. "Remember, you're one team on this ride. You're not Eastern Band. You're not Western Band. You're one Band on this trip. Remember why you've been chosen to do this bike ride."

The riders pose with Miss Cherokee Taylor Wilnoty (center) following Friday night's dinner.

Principal Chief Michell Hicks, whose daughter Savannah is one of the EBCI riders this year, also encouraged the group at Friday's event. "It's always exciting to see you guys and recognize these riders...I know how hard the Eastern Band riders have worked, and I'm sure, equally, the Cherokee Nation has worked hard also. This continues to be an historical event. Anytime we can retrace our history, to learn, and more importantly, to understand the spirituality of that trip and how it has affected our lives."

Sue Abram, North Carolina Trail of Tears Association, presented a $1,000 donation from her organization to be used to help fund this year's trip. "I really salute you for what you're about to do. I know it's going to be a powerful experience for you."

Cherokee language app unveiled

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.

Those interested in becoming Cherokee second-language learners now have a way to learn new words while on the go. Shi-yo – a Cherokee language app – was officially released during an event at the Chief Joyce Dugan Cultural Arts Center on Thursday, June 4.

“This is a level one app,” said Laura Pinnix, Cherokee Central Schools director of culture. “This is a beginner.”

Pinnix, who helped develop the app, said the idea was hatched after brainstorming ideas of how to reach the younger generation of Cherokees. “We keep saying that we’re losing our language, but we don’t need to lose our language.”

She commented that she thought of all of the young people who own smartphones these days and are active throughout the day texting and messaging their friends. “We must do this,” Pinnix said of developing the app. “We’ve got to do this now.”

The app itself currently has a database of 250 words which are given in English, Cherokee syllabary, and phonetics. The words are broken down into 23 different categories including: family, wild animals, colors, numbers, months, days of the week, etc.

Each word also has a spoken pronunciation. Four EBCI tribal members were recorded for the pronunciations including: Garfield Long Jr., Bo Lossiah, Dre Crowe, and Micah Swimmer.

“This was a tedious process,” Heather Driver, who worked with Pinnix on the development of the app, said of the voice recording sessions. “But, it’s worth it. With this being a mobile app, you can take your language lessons with you. It’s a good product for our second language learners.”

The app is now available for download at the App Store for free. An Android app will be coming soon.

The app was funded through a grant from the Cherokee Preservation Foundation. Sasha Watty, CPF program associate, was at Thursday’s event and commented, “We’re very excited. It’s been a long work in progress.”

THANK YOU!
 THANK YOU!
 THANK YOU!

I want to take a minute and give a sincere thanks to my wife and all our family and to each of the Communities! And especially to all who shared ideas, volunteered to make calls, give rides, cooked and served food at our rallies, organized and scheduled events, shot photos and created videos, consulted on ad creations, helped set up tables and chairs, put signs throughout the boundary and in their yards, called their friends, family and neighbors to support us and shared our message of positive change! This has taken so many people I don't dare mention names but you each know who you are! Thank you from the bottom of my heart! We could not have done it without you and your support, your prayers and help from God.

Now going forward we will not relent! This Primary win is only the first step and now we begin the race for the General Election to be held on September 3rd. We will give it all we got to get the job done for you! Join us and call your friends and family to join us! Remember this campaign has been about putting our people and Cherokee Families First, and that will continue to be our message.

Thank You and God Bless you and your family!

Island Park Restoration Project gets underway

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

If you've wondered why construction crews are putting large boulders into the Oconaluftee River, it is all part of the Island Park Restoration Project. The project, which will be done in two parts, has the goal of improving the shoreline of the Oconaluftee River Park to prevent further erosion in that area.

"They're going to build actual rock veins and weirs in the river to help channel the water flow," said Damon Lambert, EBCI Building Construction manager, who related that the other part of the project will involve "shoeing" the Island by putting smaller rocks on the banks, doing various landscaping on the Island, installing fencing and other projects.

"The Island gets a lot of use," he said. "It's got a lot of erosion. So, we're trying to fix that, minimize that and make the Island a lot better for visitors and the users."

Lambert related that the entire project will last until the end of 2015. The cost of the project is $400,000, and it is being funded entirely by the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. "Tribal Construction is doing all of the rock placement. W.K. Dickson is the engineering firm for the project, and they're on-site during the construction."

Construction is being planned to minimize impact this summer.

"We're going to work until the 4th of July and shut down the 4th of July weekend so the Island is totally usable," said Lambert. "We'll work until the 1st of August and shut down that weekend for the Trout Derby so the Island will be totally usable. We won't do any of the on-Island work until after the Trout Derby in August. All of the work between now and then will be in-stream work."

Thank You Yellowhill Community for your support in the Primary Election. I respectfully ask for your continued support and vote in the General Election on Thursday, September 3, 2015. As your Yellowhill Council Member, I will serve with Respect to You, Honor to our Community and Tribe and Protect our Sovereignty as a Tribal Nation.

UNC-CH archaeologist appointed WCU's Sequoyah Professor of Cherokee Studies

CULLOWHEE – Brett H. Riggs, a research archaeologist at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill who has worked with the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians on various projects since the early 1990s, will become the new Sequoyah Distinguished Professor of Cherokee Studies at Western Carolina University.

Riggs' appointment to the endowed professorship, which is effective Aug. 15, follows a national search. He will move into a multi-year, fixed term faculty position held previously by Robert Conley, a noted Native American scholar and prolific author who died last February.

The appointment was approved by the WCU Board of Trustees as part of its quarterly meeting Friday, June 5.

Riggs will build upon existing partnerships between tribal and university leaders and will play an important role in developing and implementing future projects involving WCU, the Eastern Band and other Native American constituents, said Richard Starnes, dean of WCU's College of Arts and Sciences.

"Brett Riggs is an accomplished archeologist with deep ties with the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. He approaches his work with a rare sensitivity that has impressed academics and tribal members alike," Starnes said. "His arrival at WCU marks a renewed institutional commitment to honoring, preserving and understanding the history and culture of our region's native people."

Riggs specializes in Cherokee studies and has worked in Western North Carolina for more than 20 years studying the lives of Cherokee families during the removal era of the 1830s. In his position with the Research Laboratories of Archaeology at UNC-CH, he is helping to establish the National Historic Trail of Tears Long-Distance Trail in the southwestern corner of WNC.

Riggs used the words "honored and humbled" to describe the opportunity of joining the faculty at WCU and serving in the Sequoyah Professorship.

"My colleagues at Western have undertaken exciting initiatives in native health, Cherokee language, history, archeology and public heritage, and I look forward to joining their efforts and building on the foundational work of my predecessors, Robert Conley and Tom Hatley," he said.

"It is particularly important that we reinforce existing collaborations and partnerships between WCU and the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and that we explore new ways of working together to build stronger ties between the tribe and the university," Riggs said. "I see building that relationship as the core mission for the Sequoyah Professor, and I'm eager to work with the Cherokee Studies Program at WCU to grow and deepen the links with the tribe through engaged and applied scholarship."

A research archaeologist at UNC-CH since 2001, he worked previously as deputy tribal historical preservation officer for the Eastern Band.

Riggs has an extensive list of publications and reports credits and has presented at numerous professional meetings and conferences. A board member for Friends of Junaluska and the Junaluska Museum, he also serves as executive board member for the National Trail of Tears Association in Little Rock, Arkansas, and was Native Affairs Liaison Committee chair for the southeastern Archaeological Conference.

Riggs earned his doctorate and master's degree in anthropology from the University of Tennessee and his bachelor's degree in anthropology from Wake Forest University.

The $1 million Sequoyah Distinguished Professorship in Cherokee Studies at WCU was fully funded in 1998. Funds to match a state grant for the position came from a number of sources over the course of several years, including the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians, National Endowment for the Humanities, the Friends of Sequoyah organization, Cherokee businessman James A. "Jimmy" Cooper and Harrah's Entertainment.

My top eight sports movies list

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

High school sports are finished for the school year and football is still about 80 days away, so what's left? Well, summer is a great time to watch movies. So, in this week's column, I'm going to list my top eight sports movies of all time. Why only eight? Well, a top 10 list is just too cliché' for me.

My list, in no particular order because I love them all, is as follows:

1. The Natural (1986) stars Robert Redford as Roy Hobbs, the greatest baseball player ever. Together with his homemade bat named Wonderboy, Hobbs attacks the league as an aging player with a tragic backstory. Even people who say they absolutely hate America's game will love this movie.

2. Hoosiers (1984) stars Gene Hackman as Coach Norman Dale, an aging basketball coach who is the given the assignment to turn around a team in nowhere Hickory, Indiana. If you've ever been to a basketball game in the state of Indiana, you'll see just how accurate this movie is. If you don't shed a tear at some point in this one, check your pulse.

3. Rocky (1976) stars Sylvester Stallone as Rocky Balboa, an aging (is there a trend here?) boxer who just needs a break. And, he gets it! The training scenes alone in this classic make it worth a view, but the fighting scenes are better. The score is unreal. The acting is real. Plus, if you watch it, you might find out why us sports guys always yet, "Adrian!"

4. Field of Dreams (1989) stars Kevin Costner as Ray Kinsella, a father looking for life and himself on his farm in Iowa. The movie has more than its fair share of goose-bump moments, but it also has some really nice baseball moments. If you watch it, you will like.

5. Breaking Away (1979) stars Dennis Quaid, Dennis Christopher, Daniel Stern and Jackie Earl Haley as four friends trying to make it in an Indian suburb. A bicycle race, the Little 500 at Indiana University, gives the friends a chance to show the people of the town and their rivals that they aren't quitters.

6. American Flyers (1985) stars

Kevin Costner and David Marshall Grant as the Sommers brothers. Ok, this one is quite different (cheesier) than the rest, but I like it. This movie, centered around cycling, is really the story of family turmoil and strength. In training for a big race, the Hell of the West, the brothers must conquer mountains and their fears.

7. Seabiscuit (2003) stars Tobey Maguire as Red Pollard, a Depression-era horse jockey looking for a fresh start and a break. Seabiscuit, the little horse, was a huge underdog in many races, and that is the perfect backdrop for a good sports movie.

8. Bull Durham (1988) stars Kevin Costner as "Crash" Davis, an aging minor-league baseball star who doesn't want to be known as a minor-league baseball star. It is his job to get rookie sensation "Nuke" LaLoosh, played by a young Tim Robbins, ready for the show (the big leagues). Along the way, Davis searches for himself and a game that he loves.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

"I feel that whatever they ask me to do, I can do," said Peyton Manning, Broncos quarterback, told ESPN. "I love being coached. I get angry when I'm not coached. I ask a lot of questions and certainly appreciate any insights and feedback."

Chilogatee Stream Restoration project in Park completed

Great Smoky Mountains National Park officials announced on Wednesday, June 3 the completion of an enhancement and restoration project of a 4,613-foot section of Chilogatee Branch and four of its tributaries totaling 744 feet within the park. The streams had been degraded by clearing of riparian forest, channel relocations, and unrestricted livestock access prior to the property's inclusion in the park. The project was initiated to restore and improve a natural stream morphology, the streams' hydrology and connectivity with the floodplain, native riparian vegetation, and aquatic habitat as well as reduce sediment input.

"Park resource managers are very pleased with this collaborative effort to restore a unique stream and wetland complex," said Supervisory Forester Kristine Johnson. "The Chilogatee Branch site was transformed from a severely degraded cow pasture to a rich and diverse habitat for native plants and wildlife."

A collaborative team, led by the Tennessee Stream Mitigation Program (TSMP) accomplished this project by reconstructing major portions of the stream on a new alignment, and by significantly re-contouring other sections of the stream in its existing location. The National Park Service provided seeds and seedlings of native plants that naturally occur in riparian areas within the park. Eight hundred fifty tons of large boulders and seventy large logs were utilized in the reconstruction of the stream channel.

"We are especially pleased when we have an opportunity to implement a stream restoration project on public lands," TSMP's Director Joey Woodard said, "In a way, this amplifies the public benefits of a project."

The successful completion of this project is the result of collaboration between TSMP and the National Park Service, with oversight by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation, the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency, the U.S. Fish and wildlife Service, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Tennessee Valley Authority. The design for the stream restoration project was developed by Wolf Creek Engineering, a small firm specializing in natural channel design, and constructed by KCI Environmental Technologies and Construction.

OBITUARIES

William Kenneth Haigler

William Kenneth Haigler, the son of Thomas J. and Rosemarie Wilde Haigler, born Aug. 25, 1958, passed away on June 3, 2015, with friends and family present. Ken had lived the past 28 years in Swain County residing in Cherokee and Bryson City.

After attending Marion Military Institute in Marion, Ala., Ken proudly served in the United States Army as a medic. After his service, Ken worked in radiology in hospitals in northern Georgia and North Carolina primarily at Swain County Hospital in Bryson City.

Ken is survived by his parents, Tom and Rosemarie; his sister, Traci Haigler Lowe and her husband Tim, of Atlanta, Ga.; and two sons, Jason Haigler and Erik Haigler, of Bryson City. Ken loved his family and his dogs, and bird-watching.

Prior to problems with his back, Ken was an avid golfer and enjoyed playing softball. He was a fan of Alabama football, having graduated from high school in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

The service for Ken was held on Tuesday, June 9 at the Bryson City Methodist Church.

In lieu of flowers, a donation could be made to one of Ken's favorite charities, the Wounded Warrior Project or St. Jude's Hospital for Children. A Memorial Service will be held at a later date.

Winona "Winnie" Smith Cooper

Winona "Winnie" Smith Cooper, 78, of Cherokee, passed away Wednesday, June 3, 2015. She was born June 27, 1936 in Swain County to the late Dave Smith & Bessie Taylor Smith.

Winnie was a former employee of McDonalds and The Cherokees. She was a member of Cherokee Church of Christ in Cherokee.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by one son, David Leroy Cooper; one daughter, Donna Jean Smith; brother, James "Hogeye" Taylor; and sister, Ramona Jean Smith.

Surviving are a step-son, Terry Hooper of Whittier; step-daughter, Cynthia Ward of Sylva; and special friends, Diane Cathey and Mandy Boone.

A planned memorial service was scheduled for Saturday, June 6 at the Cherokee Church of Christ in Cherokee located across from the Cherokee Bingo Hall with minister Jim Sexton officiating.

Family is requesting in lieu of flowers that donations be in memory of Winnie for cancer care to Betty's Place at 40 Goose Creek Rd.,

Cherokee, NC 28719.

Long House Funeral Home assisted the family with arrangements.

Patricia Marie Hamilton

Patricia Marie Hamilton, 63, passed peacefully after a sudden illness on Friday, June 5, 2015 at Mission Hospital in Asheville. Patty was a long-time resident of Sylva, and a light in the lives of many individuals, having worked as a child-care professional for many years.

Patty's zest of life and joyous smile are remembered by all, including her family: husband, Victor; children, Claire, Chris (Molly), Heather (Russell) and Josh (Jill); grandchildren Ella, Hayden, Ava, Selah, Riya and Lyren; and her sister Maureen.

Service details will be released at a later date.

Hayesville students learn about Cherokee culture

HAYESVILLE - EBCI tribal member Diamond Brown gave a presentation to Hayesville fourth and sixth graders at the Clay County Schools amphitheater on Monday, June 1.

Brown, dressed in a style of clothing common after the Europeans arrived on this continent, described how traditions were passed down from the elders and knowledge was learned orally. The Cherokee learned to respect all natural things, as they relied on nature for their food, medicine, clothing, and shelter.

He pointed out the Cherokee were the only native people who had a written language. For the sixth graders, Brown described a time when Cherokee children were taken out of their homes, sent to boarding schools, made to wear European-style clothing and forbidden to speak their own language.

After questioning the sixth graders to determine what they knew about the Trail of Tears, Brown described briefly the process of removing the Cherokee from their homes after gold was discovered in the Dahlonega area of Georgia in 1828.

After choosing several students to act as assistants, Brown described the items selected by his assistants including a basket woven with natural and black walnut-dyed oak splints, a small bow-like object used to start fires, a medallion or gorjet made from a shell, and talons from an eagle.

Brown explained, "Only native people may be in possession of any part of an eagle, which would include their feathers or talons. This is a federal law. Eagle feathers are kept in a bank, with only native people having access."

Brown's presentation was organized by Clay County Communities Revitalization Association and funded by members of CCCRA. The public is invited to learn more about the Cherokee culture by visiting the five sites along the 2-mile Quanassee Path in Hayesville and attending the Cherokee Heritage Festival which will be at the Cherokee Homestead Exhibit on Saturday, September 19.

CHEROKEE HISTORY

Notes on Big George, or Roman Nose

TJ HOLLAND

JUNALUSKA MUSEUM

History describes the Cherokee Nation in 1838 as having one Principal Chief, namely John Ross. The truth is that much of the traditional system of governance remained in place, at least in North Carolina. Each town had its headmen that took care of the towns business, while Chief Ross handled the Nation's business with the U.S. government.

In Cheoah, present day Robbinsville, the headman was Big George. Under the terms of the Treaty of 1819, Roman Nose took a reservation claim near Kituwah. Before his claim could be surveyed, he was driven off of his property by white settlers in 1820.

Roman Nose moved to Cheoah where he performed double duty as headman and blacksmith. By the time of the 1835 Cherokee Census, he had changed his name to Big George. He is the only person listed on the 1835 Cherokee census as a headman.

His home was near a mound on the site of the former Stanley furniture plant just outside of Robbinsville. The mound itself was destroyed in the 1920s by the construction of the Graham County Railroad.

Even though he still retained state citizenship under the 1819 Treaty, he sought and received a permit to remain with his wife and son, The Key. In spite of having received permission to remain, he was removed, with around 300 people from Cheoah, leaving from Fort Montgomery on June 22, 1838.

Coulter Regional Leadership Program seeking nominations

The Coulter Regional Leadership Program is accepting nominations for participation in the 2015-16 program. This 12-month leadership program is for adult, ages 25 to 55 years of age, who have some involvement in community activities and have the potential to become dynamic leaders. Nominees must reside in the counties of Haywood, Macon, Jackson, Swain, Clay, Cherokee, Graham, or the Qualla Boundary.

Mission Statement: The Coulter Regional Program will connect people from the EBCI with their rural neighbors to together address challenges and pursue opportunities to benefit the region.

The purpose of the Coulter Regional Leadership Program is to create partnerships that work together to create the overall profile of the region, and explore how leaders working across disciplinary and physical boundaries can move the region forward.

Program Outcomes:

- Develop a deeper understanding and appreciation for regional diversity and dynamics
- Effectively apply skills in leadership and regional vision to your current leadership role
- Identify, practice, and align leadership skills with personal goals
- Evaluate decisions made by regional leaders (or leadership bodies) through multiple facets

- Assess how decisions made by regional leaders (or leadership bodies) affect the regional community
- Establish practices of sustainable, intentional, and lifelong leadership development that contribute meaningfully to the region

Participants will engage in case study work, classroom lectures, and experiential learning focused in the area of Tourism & Recreation.

Letters of nomination will be accepted until 5pm on Friday, July 10.

Wilnoty exhibit to open at Qualla Arts & Crafts

John Julius Wilnoty has been described as a “legendary” figure among Cherokee artisans. An EBCI tribal member, he was born in 1940 in the Bigwitch Community and later lived in Wolfstown.

An exhibition of Wilnoty’s work – with samples by his father, sons, and grandson – is titled “Solitude & Mystery: John Julius Wilnoty”. Opening at Qualla Arts and Crafts Mutual in Cherokee, a reception is planned for Saturday, June 13 from 3-5pm.

Although Wilnoty had only begun to carve in the 1960s, in 1964, he was recruited by the federal Indian Arts and Crafts Board to teach a workshop for the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians. By 1971, he was a member of the Qualla Arts and Crafts Mutual. Over the next decades, the Smithsonian and the Indian Arts and Crafts Board collected many of his works.

The exhibit will showcase never-before-seen work by Wilnoty selected from an extensive private collection. Sponsored by the North Carolina Arts Council and the Jackson County Arts Council, the exhibit will travel to the Native American Studies Center at the University of South Carolina in Lancaster in August and later to the Western Carolina University Fine Art Museum where it will be on view in 2016.

Saturday’s reception is free and open to the public.

THANK YOU LETTER Thank you from the Family of Edgarita Ensley

The children of Edgarita Ensley would like to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to everybody who brought food, visited, sent kind wishes, cards and beautiful flowers, to our Mother during her illness and funeral. Thank you to all our family and friends for the prayers and phone calls you made and sent during this very difficult time. Special thank you to the Cherokee Indian Hospital Emergency Room for the great job you all do and specifically for your kindness and genuine concern toward our Mother. No words can express how thankful and appreciative we are for the compassion shown toward our mother and our family. Please continue to keep us in your prayers.

Thank you,

Debbie, Denny, Eddie, Pam and B.

Making energy efficiency and solar affordable and easy for you!

The Canary Coalition

Solarize WNC Forum Comes to Cherokee,

Tuesday, July 7, 7:00 PM

Looking to decrease your utility bills and reduce your impact on the environment? Solarize WNC has the answer! Participants in the program will find reduced pricing, reputable contractors and equipment and free information sessions to make a clear path for solar and energy efficiency adoption.

Join the non-profit campaign, Solarize WNC, for the next informational forum at the Ken Blankenship Wing of the Museum of the Cherokee Indian, in Cherokee, NC.

This event is free and open to the public.

Attendees will learn about the technologies; meet installers; participate in a question-and-answer session; and get the details about tax credits, utility rebates, and financing. Residents, businesses, nonprofit organizations and local governments are all eligible.

*To enroll in the Solarize program and qualify for a free solar site evaluation, as well as a discounted complete energy audit, visit <http://www.cleanenergyfor.us/clean-energy-for-wnc/>
It is not necessary to enroll in order to attend the forum on July 7.

Planting dahlias

BY BRENDA WEAVER

Lay the dahlia tuber horizontally about 4 inches deep in a sunny spot, then cover loosely with soil. Do NOT water until sprouts have appeared above the ground. Use a low-nitrogen fertilizer, such as used for vegetables, 30 days after planting and repeat every 3 to 4 weeks after that through the growing season. Use supports for dahlias that grow 3 feet or taller. Watch for slugs and snails! They will eat the sprouts, leaves and stalks.

EBCI Garden Contest to begin June 23

JANET OWLE

EBCI COOPERATIVE EXTENSION

The EBCI Garden Contest will begin on Tuesday, June 23 and run through Wednesday, July 1. Call EBCI Cooperative Extension 359-6939 or 359-6937 to sign-up. Judging for individual (adult) gardeners and family gardens will be judged by community on these dates:

June 23 – Wolfetown, Big Y, Birdtown and 3200 Acre Tract

June 25 – Big Cove, Towstring, Yellowhill, and Painttown

June 29 – Cherokee County and Snowbird

June 30 and July 1 – Youth Gardeners (up to age 18) and Community Gardens

Please provide clear driving directions to the garden when you call to sign-up.

Other questions that will be asked is the age of the gardener and if the garden is organic.

A team from the EBCI Cooperative Extension office will bring judges to visit the gardens. Judges are Master Gardeners from surrounding counties. They will score the gardens in the following areas: General appearance, planning for season-long food production, evidence of exceptional gardening practices such as soil preparation, plant selection, pest control and season-extending techniques, and creativity such as creative design, unique plants or other features.

Winners will be announced at the EBCI Cooperative Extension's Community Awards Program in September.

Right Path nominations due July 12

The Cherokee Right Path, "Du-yu dvi," Adult Leadership Program (RP) is accepting nominations for participation in the 2015-16 program. This program is for enrolled members of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians (EBCI), Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma (CN), and the United Kituwah Band (UKB). Participants will learn Cherokee history and culture and develop leadership competencies. Participants will meet two days per month, for 12 months, and will engage in case study work, classroom lectures, and experiential learning.

Candidates must be age 18 and over, have a high school diploma or GED and have some college experience. Knowledge of Cherokee culture and/or experience in a professional environment is a plus.

Letters of nomination will be accepted online, by fax, email, or in-person delivery, by 5pm on Sunday, July 12 to the Western Carolina University (WCU) Cherokee Center, Acquoni Road, Cherokee, NC, Attention, Juanita Wilson, Program Director: <https://docs.google.com/forms/d/1imh6SLWbvS7peH6i4kyYE3kq48nUkN9H1jxRlbtD-ZE/viewform>, Fax: 828-497-0469, jmwilson@wcu.edu or by mail to WCU/Cherokee Center, 1594 Acquoni Road, Cherokee, NC 28719.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A plan you've kept on hold for a long time finally could be greenlighted. But in typical Aries form, you'll need to be sure that everything is in place before you hit the "start" button.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Others might urge you to act more quickly on your ideas. But you'd be wise to follow your Bovine instincts and get more facts to bolster your position when you finally present it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You might be tempted to accept the well-meaning offer of a friend to act as an intermediary in a dispute. But you know best what it's about, and you can handle the challenge. Good luck.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Entertainment can play an important role this week. Enjoy some well-earned diversion with people you care about. Something especially wonderful might come from this well-spent time.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Catnaps and playtime are in order for Leos and Leonas who need to take some time off from their hectic schedules to restore their energies and rebuild their mental muscles. Have fun.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Virgos will need to keep an open mind this week about choices that seem improbable. A closer study might well reveal possibilities that might have been overlooked. Stay with it.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) A disappointing outcome of a well-intentioned effort should be seen as a lesson in how to do it right the next time. Note all your changes and have your new plan set up by week's end.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Travel plans might need readjusting because of changes in the costs previously agreed to. Deal with the problem as quickly as possible to minimize any delays that might result.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Your honest approach to an unsettling experience draws admiration from others. Use their positive feedback to build support for your program to introduce needed changes.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Travel is strong in your aspect this week, and so is nostalgia! You might want to consider planning a trip to a place that holds some very special meaning for you. Bon voyage.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A job-related situation could provide an opportunity you hadn't considered before. Look it over carefully and see where and how you can tailor it to fit your needs.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Showing strength as well as sympathy helps you deal with a difficult personal matter. It also helps you set an example for others when it's their turn to get involved in the situation.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a way of making people feel comfortable without losing one whit of your own dignity in the process.
