NCGOP holds Convention in Cherokee

The North Carolina Republican Party (NCGOP – “Grand Ol’ Party”) held its Convention at Harrah’s Cherokee Casino Resort this past weekend. Hundreds of delegates filled the floor of the Event Center to cast their votes for various Republican candidates including Thom Tillis, NC Speaker of the House, who is challenging Sen. Kay Hagan for a Senate seat this fall.

Principal Chief Michell Hicks hosted a Welcome Reception on Friday, June 6 that featured a performance by the Warriors of Anikituwah, and he spoke on the Convention floor during a business meeting on Saturday, June 7.

“Thank you for being here in Cherokee, NC,” he said on Saturday. “One thing that we’re very proud of and have become very good at is our customer service.”

“Tourism has been a big part of who we are for many, many years. This facility has expanded on that.”

Chief Hicks said he is encouraged by the year ahead. “I am encouraged by the folks who are running for office...this is a year that we set a new foundation for ourselves.”

“As a sovereign nation, we have a responsibility to our people,” he related, “but, we feel that we also have a responsibility to the people of North Carolina and that truly we are the 101st county in North Carolina. But, we also have a responsibility to the region. We currently have 4,600 employees that we employ within our tribal structure...and we’re getting ready to add another 1,000 in the next 12 months.”

Chief Hicks also offered support for Tillis and thanked him for his support of the Tribe. “I think there is an opportunity here to get someone who, once in office, you get to see them again.”

“We need people to represent the entire state of North Carolina.”

Following Chief Hicks on Saturday was Gov. Pat McCrory who spoke about job creation, taxes, unemployment, teacher pay and other issues. “We’re going to fight for jobs. Every week we’re announcing new jobs for North Car-

Gov. McCrory related that last year North Carolina was number five in unemployment. “Two weeks ago, we’re not even in the top 35! For the first time in eight years, North Carolina’s unemployment rate is below the national average.”

He said they are focusing on agricultural, industrial and manufacturing job creation. “This is what made our state great. This is what made our nation great. We’ve never given up on these industries.”

Gov. McCrory concluded by commenting, “We’re preparing this state for the next generation in a positive way. Carolina is moving.”

Later in the evening, Tillis accepted the Republican nomination for the Senate race. “We’re Tarheels. We stick in. We stick our ground. I have great optimism that if we win this election, we can begin to improve things immediately.”

Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal and former Arkansas Gov. Mike Huckabee spoke at a special dinner on Saturday night. Both issued their support for Tillis in the fall.

Tribal member is a finalist for prestigious book prize

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

Herman Melville, author of Moby Dick, once said, “To produce a mighty book, you must choose a mighty theme.” That is exactly what one EBCI tribal member has done, and it has paid off.

Annette Saunooke Clapsaddle, whose day job is as the executive director of the Cherokee Preservation Foundation, has penned a 270-page novel entitled Going to Water whose main character is loosely based on her grandfather, the late former Principal Chief Osley Saunooke.

For that novel, she has been named a finalist for the prestigious PEN/Belwether Prize for Socially Engaged Fiction. A prize of $25,000, funded solely by prize-winning novelist Barbara Kingsolver, and a publishing contract will go to the winner.

Clapsaddle related this is one of the largest prizes for an unpublished work of fiction, and that the prize is for fiction that addresses social and cultural issues.

“It is a national prize and the process takes several months, lots of waiting,” she said.

There were a total of 170 entries this year, and Clapsaddle’s novel was chosen as a top ten finalist. The winners will be announced on June 17 at an event in New York City.

“Kingsolver has said the prize is career-launching,” said Clapsaddle.

On her novel, Clapsaddle related, “It is a fictional account that began as a character inspired by my grandfather, Osley Saunooke, who was a former Chief. But, I was really interested in his character and his identity as a professional wrestler, a Cherokee politician, a businessman, and a family man.”

“So, I used that as a basis for the main character, who is also named Osley, but I changed the last name. He is born on the Qualla Boundary, and in an effort to find his own identity and to see what options he has, goes to Chicago for a while and gets some experience outside of Cherokee, but then comes back and still tries to balance an authentic identity with the changing world and economy of North Carolina and the nation at the time.”

Clapsaddle began working on the novel over ten years ago, “It was a lot of stop and go. The final draft was completed within the last year.”

She is now working on a new project. “I prefer novel length. It just comes more naturally to me than short stories or poetry.”

Laughing, she added, “Hopefully, it won’t take ten years.”

Cultural Streetscape Project nearing completion

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

The final stage of the Cultural District Streetscape Project in Cherokee is nearing completion. Stage III includes construction of sidewalks, upgrades to drainage areas, streetlights, and repaving of parking lots and roadways on US441.

"We started a couple of years ago on US441," said Damon Lambert, Tribal Building Construction manager. "We started at the Island Bridge and worked our way up to the Fairgrounds and Museum. This is continuing that same project from there on up to where we consider the end of the Cultural District."

Lambert related that the projects have been funded with a 50 percent cost-share with the Cherokee Preservation Foundation. Phase II, which was completed in June 2012, cost $500,000 and Phase III, which is set to be completed on June 30, cost $1.3 million.

Graham County Land Company is the contractor on Phase III.

"I think it's been going well," said Lambert of the overall Phase III project. "We've tried to meet with all of the business owners and property owners, and we've made a lot of design changes. We've tried to give them what they want for their piece of property or in front of their business. There's been a lot of adjustments, but the project is going well."

Lambert added, "The ultimate goal of the project is two-fold. The first one is to increase pedestrian safety. This area had no sidewalks before, and so it was very dangerous for pedestrians walking and coming in and out of the parking lots. The second is to make the corridor look a lot better. The new sidewalks, parking areas and streetlights will look better for the tourists, and hopefully, that will help the businesses."

Lambert said this will complete the Cultural District Streetscape project.

"We consider the Cultural District to end just past the First Citizens Bank so this goes a little beyond the Cultural District. I think, in the future, we will try to get sidewalks from where we are stopping this project up to about where the Dairy Queen is which is where the sidewalks stop coming from that end of US441."

Housing Fair brings vendors, customers together

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

The EBCI Housing and Community Development Division hosted its annual Housing Fair at the Cherokee Indian Fairgrounds exhibit hall on Friday, June 6. With the theme “Building Tomorrow’s Communities Today”, the Fair featured many tribal programs and area businesses offering information to the public.

“It puts our name out there more,” said Matt Taylor, with MBH Surveyors PC who does surveying work for the Bureau of Indian Affairs. “We don’t really advertise over here other than what’s on our company truck or on the side of our shirt. So, it just gets people more familiar with us.”

He said the interaction with the customers at the Fair will help their business, “And, in turn, it will allow us to create more jobs for our company.”

In addition to MBH, the following programs/businesses were in attendance at Friday’s Fair: Sam’s Club, First Citizens Bank of Cherokee, Soco Creek Village Apartments, Justin Wright Builders, Sound of Music, Cherokee Frybread, Cherokee Fire Dept., Cherokee Police Dept., Abode Custom Builders, Amerind Insurance, EBCI Housing, Smoky Mountain Hot Tub, Pioneer Supply, and TLC Building Solutions.

Rachel Sneed, Soco Creek Village Apartments manager, related, “Being here at the Fair has really helped us to reach people who don’t know where we are located and what we’re about. Knowing that housing is needed here on the reservation, we also serve non-Natives. We have multi-families (units) and singles in our 60-unit complex. Being here just helps us meet different people and knowing what their needs are.”

Todd Duvall, with OnTrack Financial Education & Counseling, commented on his company’s experience at the Fair, “It’s been really good. We’ve made a lot of nice contacts with the people looking around. We have a lot of services for people who want to buy a home, trying to keep their home or having problems with debt.”

“There are just all kinds of people that have come through here, and it seems like we’re well-received here. It’s been a great experience so far.”

EBCI tribal member Tim Catolster said he was enjoying the Fair. “It has been nice to see all of the people and get the information.”

Cherokee Nation citizen confirmed as U.S. Ambassador

Cherokee Nation citizen Keith Harper made history on Tuesday, June 3 when the U.S. Senate confirmed him to serve as the U.S. Representative to the United Nations Human Rights Council, making him the first Native American to serve as an Ambassador.

"Keith Harper has had an exemplary career as a lawyer and a judge," said Sen. Jon Tester (D-MT), chairman of the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs. "I'm pleased that my colleagues have voted to appoint another historic first in Indian Country. As a longtime advocate for the civil rights of Native Americans, Keith will be a great Ambassador for our country."

On Dec. 18, 2013, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved Harper's nomination. Harper served as counsel on the historic Cobell v. Salazar case, which resulted in a $3.4 billion land settlement for Indian Country. He is currently a partner in the law firm, Kilpatrick Townsend, and was previously a litigator at the Native American Rights Fund (NARF).

Congressman Meadows announces email dedicated to assisting veterans

WASHINGTON - In light of recent revelations showing improper care and mismanagement at numerous Veterans Affairs hospitals across the country, Congressman Mark Meadows (R-NC) announced that his office established an email account dedicated specifically to assisting constituents with issues they may encounter with the VA.

The address VAHelp@mail.house.gov is live and will be regularly checked by Rep. Meadows' staff to assist constituents and help expedite cases if necessary.

"I've worked with the VA hospital in Asheville for some time. They have demonstrated a willingness to work with my office and do whatever is necessary to provide the best quality of care to our veterans in Western North Carolina," Rep. Meadows said.

Rep. Meadows is working in partnership with Mrs. Cynthia Breyfogle, director of the Charles George VA Medical Center in Asheville.

Earlier this week, the NC Division of Veterans Affairs also announced the establishment of a hot-line for all veterans living in NC. The Vet Tip Hotline is 844-NC4-Vets or VetTips@doa.nc.gov.

"Thank you to both the Charles George VA and the entire NC VA Division for taking these steps to ensure our veterans have access to the resources they need," Rep. Meadows said.

CHILDREN'S HOME

RECEIVES LSAC SUPPORT

On Wednesday May 28, Cris Weatherford, Director of the Cherokee Children's Home attended the National Conference of the Law School Admission Council (LSAC) at the Grove Park Inn in Asheville. The LSAC chose the Children's Home as a charity to support during their conference. A silent auction was held for beadwork that the staff and children of the Children's Home had made. The Grove Park Inn graciously donated five two-night packages to be raffled off as well.

Nearly $5,000 was raised as a result of these efforts and others. The President of the LSAC, Dan Bernstine and LSAC Board Chair, Athornia Steele, made the decision to match the funds raised to push the total amount donated to roughly $10,000.

This was a very well planned and fun event to attend that would not have been possible without the coordination of Vivian Bowden, Director of Education of Prelaw Programs and Member Support Services.

A sincere and profound thank you to all of those who attended and gave to our cause is expressed. The Children's Home is actively involved in a capital campaign to raise money for a new Children's Home facility that is currently under construction. There is still a need to raise $400,000 to reach our final goal of $2 million.

THOUGHTS AND PRAYERS

Our sincere sympathy to the friends and family of Jaxsun

Bradley Lane, infant son of Tony and Kristin Bradley Lane, who passed away on Tuesday, June 3. Our condolences also go to the friends and family of Ralph Cooper, 95, of Whittier, who also passed away on Tuesday, June 3.

Please keep these families in your thoughts and prayers during this difficult time.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Summer School began Tuesday, June 10 and will run through Monday, June 23. Bus routes will be posted on the Boys Club's Facebook page and on-line in the One Feather. If you have any questions regarding the bus routes, please call the Bus Department at the Boys Club 497-9101.

SUMMER YOUTH PROGRAM

Each summer, the Boys Club offers employment opportunities for high school and college youth. Some of these students (approximately 10) work for the Club through an agreement with Cherokee Historical Association (Unto These Hills) as parkers and traffic directors and some apply for OJT (On-the-Job Training) positions. Students for the OJT jobs have to provide a letter of reference from a principal, counselor, teacher, etc. as well as other information, to be considered for employment. This year the Boys Club received 40 applications; seventeen students were selected and will be placed in all Club Departments except for the Bus and Truck Department.

These students begin their summer training on Monday, June 9 and will work through Friday, Aug. 1.

FISCAL YEAR COMING TO A CLOSE

Monday, June 30 will mark the close of the Boys Club's 2013-2014 Fiscal Year. All Club department managers have been busy working on budgets for the new fiscal year that will begin on July 1, 2014. These budgets will be presented to the Board of Directors for approval at the June 18 meeting.

The Administration Department will also be working very hard to close out the end of the month and end of the year. Preparations are being made for the annual audit which will begin June 16. Auditors will be on site at the Club several weeks through September.

THANK YOU

Thanks from the family of Brock Squirrel

The family of Brock Squirrel would like to thank everyone who offered prayers, kind words, flowers, and brought food during our recent loss.

The family would like to give special thanks to our ministers: Bo Parris and Eddie Sherrill, and all the singers that came to comfort the family during our time of grief. Pastor Sherrill you gave us comfort with all the words and kindness. We so appreciated all the extra things that you did for us during this time of loss.

Thank You to Curtis Cochran, Pokey Hornbuckle, State Trooper Aaron Ammons, Swain County EMS, and volunteers that responded to the needs of our loved one.

Thank You to Aunts and Uncles for all your love and support to us. A Special Thank You to his Second Momma Aunt Bea. A Special Thank You to Bobby Owle and Nat Taylor for providing the food after the service.

Thank You to tribal Construction for digging and covering the grave. Your labor of love will be not forgotten by the family.

Finally, thank you to Melton Funeral home for assisting with the service.

Mother Vicki Owle, Father Fred Squirrel, Brother Robbie Squirrel, and Grandfather Bob Owle

THANK YOU

Thank you from the Owle family

Our hearts are full of gratitude when we say many thanks to family members, sisters, brothers, cousins, Davey's co-workers from the park, Mt. Meditation, court staff, singers, pall bearers, friends and neighbors for all acts of kindness and sympathy including: food, flowers, cards, visits and kind words spoken to our family regarding the recent passing of a wonderful son and brother, Davy Owle.

We want to express special appreciation to Ray Kinsland and Rev. Forman Bradley for their many words of comfort and to the Long House Funeral Home for their professional arrangements and caring service.

Davy was a caring, loving son, brother and friend and our loss is too great. The kindness shown to us will help us in the difficult time ahead. But, knowing that Davy touched so many lives will help us to accept his untimely death.

Leadership programs calling for nominations

The Cherokee Right Path, "Du-yu dv-i" Adult Leadership Program and the Coulter Regional Leadership Program are both accepting nominations for their 2014-15 programs.

Right Path is a 12-month leadership program for EBCI tribal members to learn Cherokee history and culture and to develop leadership competencies.

Candidates must be age 18 and over, have a high school diploma or GED and have some college experience. Knowledge of Cherokee culture and/or experience in a professional environment is a plus. Persons wishing to nominate a candidate can go to wnclead.wcu.edu and download the nomination form. The Right Path Adult Leadership Program is part of the WNC Leadership Initiative, funded by the Cherokee Preservation Foundation, and administered locally through WCU.

The Coulter Program is a 12-month leadership program for adults ages 25-55 who have some involvement in community activities and have the potential to become dynamic leaders. Monique, Congratulations on graduating High School Top 5 of your class, with all your academic awards earned this year and all the years before this. Congratulations on being Band Drum Major and Cherokee High School 2014 Prom Queen. You accomplished all this while holding down a job. It warms our heart to watch you grow into such a strong, beautiful and amazing young woman. We are extremely proud of you and we love you so much.

Young scientists and volunteers needed to help in Park

Great Smoky Mountains National Park is offering special programs for youth to participate in science and service activities this summer.

Salamander Scientists

Did you know that Great Smoky Mountains National Park is known as the "Salamander Capital of the World"? Join a park ranger to explore the damp, dark world of the park's most popular amphibian. Be prepared to get a little wet and even a little dirty as we search for this slimy creature. Closed-toed shoes that can get wet are recommended. Registration is not required.

Program dates: June 12 and July 17, 10:00am-11:30am

Meeting location: In front of Sugarlands Visitor Center

*Ages 3-18 recommended

Info: Guss (865) 436-1713

Student Volunteer Days

Middle and high school students, recent graduates, and their families can spend time in the field with a park ranger conducting scientific projects such as salamander monitoring, tree identification and mapping, and water quality assessments. These hands-on projects provide participants with a specialized field experience that will help park researchers perform important studies. This experience also provides young people an opportunity to get involved in science and in their national park in a fun and interesting way. North Carolina Location: June 19 and August 1

Info: 497-1907 to RSVP and for logistics

If middle school, high school, and college students are interested in these kinds of activities or are interested in other opportunities such as science and service projects, job shadowing, volunteering, and summer internships, contact Emily Guss (865) 436-1713.

SMES students learn as they grow

JOLENE M. SNEED
SMES SOCIAL WORKER

Have you ever wondered why potatoes have eyes? Or, why does corn have ears? These are the kinds of observations that kindergarteners at Smokey Mountain Elementary found intriguing when working in the school's teaching gardens this year. Luckily, these questions are a great way to capture the imagination of beginning gardeners.

Smokey Mountain Elementary school began working on a teaching garden in the spring of 2012. They have been collaborating with locally agencies, writing grants, and recruiting volunteers. All the hard work is starting to pay off in a big way. Students are beginning to enjoy the fruits and vegetables of their labor.

Kindergarten students have been learning about vegetables that grow on top of the soil and underneath the soil. After reading the book Tops and Bottoms by Janet Stevens, students have also been learning to shop, weigh and purchase fruits and veggies at the playground's "pretend farmers market".

The second grade students grew butter lettuce and learned how to make lettuce wraps. Students picked and learned to wash the lettuce before eating it. Many students were surprised that they could make a sandwich without using bread. Opportunities for learning healthy eating habits abound with the teaching gardens. Students learn lessons that can help them make healthy choices and take that lesson home to share with loved ones.

Fourth grade students have been working on enriching the soil using compost and coconut fiber. They have composed essays on how to compost using food scraps from the cafeteria and dried leaves from the playground. They have learned it takes patience to wait on nature to do her part to decompose the materials and that compost mixed with coconut fiber makes some of the best soil for crops.

The fifth grade's "Very Berry Garden" has been a sweet addition to our school. Students have harvested several gallons of organic strawberries. They have been surprised by the amount of berries harvested from a small garden. They enjoy taste testing the berries and have been quoted saying "The garden teaches us responsibility and patience because we have to wait, weed, and then pick."

The middle school Service Club has been working to grow a "Tater Patch". They are attempting to grow potatoes in a 4x 12 foot raised bed to see how many potatoes a limited ground space can produce. The Service Club has also been constructing and painting garden benches for their peers and staff to enjoy. "Smokey Mountain Elementary is very proud of all the hard work everyone has contributed to make our teaching gardens a success," said school officials.

Yogi Crowe Scholarship Fund deadline approaching

July 1 is the deadline for requesting financial assistance from the Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund for fall semester. Applications must be postmarked by the deadline date and mailed on or before the deadline. Applications not postmarked or received electronically by the deadline will not be considered.

The Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund provides financial assistance to members of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians working on graduate and post-graduate degrees. Applications and eligibility guidelines can be downloaded from the Fund's Website at www.yogicrowescholarship.org or obtained from any of the board members or Tribal Education.

Hard copies of applications must be postmarked by the deadline date and mailed on or before the deadline. Applications not postmarked by the deadline will not be considered. Electronic applications must be electronically received by same deadlines and sent to jans_28719@yahoo.com.

The Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund is pleased to announce that an offer of free tuition from the University of Tennessee Graduate School at Knoxville is available to one student per academic year working on a Master's degree. Applicants must make a request in writing to the Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund Board of Directors, P. O. Box 892, Cherokee, NC 28719 by July 1 each year to be considered for this waiver. If more than one application is received, the Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund Board of Directors will make a recommendation to UT Graduate School as to who should receive the tuition waiver based upon need.

Info: Scholarship Fund board members: Dr. Reva Ballew, president, 631-1350; Anita Lossiah, vice president, 736-2698; Mary Herr, secretary, 497-9498; Sis Fourkiller, treasurer, 497-7034; Dr. Carmaleta Monteith 497-2717, Jan Smith 507-1519 or Dr. Jennifer Thompson 507-5997.

If you are one of these students and your name is not listed, please contact Roseanna Belt, WCU Cherokee Center, 497-7920, to correct the error. No one is intentionally left off of this list. Additionally, all Native American students who are enrolled at WCU, we would appreciate hearing from you as we need your ideas and concerns so we can provide better service and introduce you to the Native student organization, Digali i. Our list includes: Region Scott Ball, Elle Bradley, Tashina Carroll, Sheila Conner, Alicia Jacobs, Billie Jo Rich, Selena Salazar, Adrian Smoker, Paige Tester, Shalana Wachacha, and Kaitlyn Wright.

Sixth Annual Fishing Weir Workshop planned for youth

There will be a hands-on, in-the-creek experience designed to explore the ancient stone fishing weir located in Webster (Jackson County). A weir is a shallow dam in the form of a "V" designed to capture fish. The Watershed Association of the Tuckasegee River (WATR) will offer this workshop for youth age 8 to 13. The workshop will be held Monday, June 23 from 9am – 2:30pm. The workshop and the weir are located at the home of Jim Allman at 3096 North River Road.

The workshop will consist of a series of learning stations. In some stations, kids will examine the aquatic bugs and fish collected from the Tuckasegee River. At another station, the kids will imagine the Cherokee village located near the weir and dependent on it for food. In mid-morning, the participants will re-enact an ancient fish harvest by assembling upstream from the weir and thrashing the water to move fish downstream and in to a fish trap located at the funnel point of the weir. Before leaving, kids will be challenged to understand the 21st century message that these weirs and the ancient Cherokee who built them offer to us. Beyond that, what must be done to preserve these ancient structures, and who should do it?

WATR is inviting youth groups to register with us soon. Every child must be pre-registered and have a signed permission slip to participate. The role will be limited to 35 children. Kids should dress to get wet and wear closed-toe water shoes. Chaperones may want to join them in the river. WATR will provide a free lunch, and contributions will be appreciated.

Info: Malia Crowe, WATR program coordinator, ml-crowe2@catamount.wcu.edu. In case of high water, the event will be postponed to Monday, June 30.

Autism Cultural Summer Program comes to Cherokee

Cherokee Central Schools will be participating in the first autism cultural summer program in Western North Carolina. The Cherokee Central Student Assistance Program is hosting the Autism Cultural Summer Program at Cherokee High School June 24-July 3 with extended school July 7-18. Hours are 8 a.m. – 3 p.m. Contact director Reba Elders for more information at 554-5030 or email relders@cherokeecentral.gaggle.net.

Autism is the fastest growing developmental disorder in the U.S. More children will be diagnosed this year with autism than AIDS, diabetes and cancer combined. Autism affects 1 in 68 children and 1 in 42 boys. The average cost for families in care of an autistic child is $60,000 a year.

Autism is a complex neurological disorder that is characterized by a triad of deficits in thinking rigidity, communication and social skills. Kids of autism are most often misunderstood and appear to have behavior problems rather than a neurological disorder. It is important to be educated about the disorder to meet the needs of children on the autism spectrum.

According to the slogan from Facebook, "Kids with autism are DIFFERENT, NOT LESS!"

The Cherokee Student Assistance Program, Qualla Housing, and Principal Chief Michell Hicks support the growing concern for children of autism and continue to advocate for programs to fulfill the needs of these special children.

Tuckasegee Baptist Association, with the support of Jean Frady and Nancy Sherrill, are excited about planning a special needs vacation Bible school program this summer. More details will be coming soon.

"Children with autism are capable of amazing things when given the loving support of family, friends, and the community," Autism teacher Jennifer Hunt said.

She challenges the community to find ways to continue to bring awareness to autism and support local programs that meet the needs of our children.

Cherokee Indian Hospital earns recognition for Patient-Centered Care

WASHINGTON —The National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA) announced on Tuesday, June 2 that Cherokee Indian Hospital has received NCQA Patient-Centered Medical Home (PCMH) Recognition for using evidence-based, patient-centered processes that focus on highly coordinated care and long-term, participative relationships.

The NCQA Patient-Centered Medical Home is a model of primary care that combines teamwork and information technology to improve care, improve patients' experience of care and reduce costs. Medical homes foster ongoing partnerships between patients and their personal clinicians, instead of approaching care as independent office visits. Each patient's care is overseen by clinician-led care teams that coordinate treatment across the health care system. Research shows that medical homes can lead to higher quality and lower costs, and can improve patient and provider reported experiences of care.

"NCQA Patient-Centered Medical Home Recognition raises the bar in defining high-quality care by emphasizing access, health information technology and coordinated care focused on patients," said NCQA President Margaret E. O'Kane. "Recognition shows that Cherokee Indian Hospital has the tools, systems and resources to provide its patients with the right care, at the right time."

To earn recognition, which is valid for three years, Cherokee Indian Hospital demonstrated the ability to meet the program's key elements, embodying characteristics of the medical home. NCQA standards aligned with the joint principles of the Patient-Centered Medical Home established with the American College of Physicians, the American Academy of Family Physicians, the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Osteopathic Association.

Cherokee Elementary School's Read Bravely Summer Challenge

To encourage your child to keep reading over the summer, Cherokee Elementary related they would like to invite him/her to participate in the summer reading challenge. The goal is for the students at CES to collectively read 100,000 minutes over the summer.

Students can read one day or all seven days of the week. They can read from five minutes to as many minutes a day as they wish. Every minute counts.

But, whenever your child reads, have them write the number of minutes he/she read and initial it on the calendar you were provided. Then, simply return the calendar with the recorded minutes to your child's new teacher by Friday, Aug. 15.

The Qualla Boundary Public Library is open on the following hours: Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 8am – 7pm; Wednesday from 8am – 5pm; and Friday from 7:45 – 4:30pm.

CES also wants to highlight the number of minutes read so email Mrs.

Taylor (etaylor@cherokee-central.gaggle.net a photo of your child reading in their favorite or unique spot.

Barnes and Noble Reading Program: Read any eight books and record them in the "Imagination's Destination Journal". For each book, write whom you would recommend each book for and why. Bring the complete journal to Barnes & Noble to choose a free book that is listed on the back of the journal.

SHADING...

Internal Shading. When properly installed, window shades are one of the most simple and effective ways to save energy. To create an effective sealed air space, mount shades as close to the glass as possible, with the sides of the shades fitting the surrounding wall. Dual shades with light and dark sides offer greater efficiency. To maximize the effectiveness in summer, keep all window shades closed while the cooling system is operating.

Happy Fathers Day MICHAEL YOUNGDEER!

Family isn't always blood. It's the people in your life who want you in theirs. The ones who accept you for who you are. The ones who would do anything to see you smile, and who love you no matter what. Thank you for accepting us as your own and sharing your love with us to create our family.

LOVE, TRENT, TREVOR, AND MELANIE

THANK YOU

Ephesians 5:20 In everything give thanks:

It is with these words from our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ that the family of, Jayda Elizabeth Dugan Toineeta, can thank God for helping us through one of the most difficult times of our lives. God blessed us with twelve years of time with Jayda. Although she battled the disease, Cystic Fibrosis (CF), Jayda created many fond memories for us to remember her by. Her faith in God blessed us and helped us through the darkest hours we had to face. Her favorite songs, "I Call It Home" and "Thank You Lord" tell us where her heart was, and where on April 21, 2014 Jayda would finally come to find healing, rest, and peace in the arms of her Lord and Savior.

When anyone did something for Jayda, she always had a "thank you" and "I love you" for that person. With that, we want to thank God for the many wonderful people and organizations that helped to make a heavy load easier to bear. Words cannot express our appreciation and gratitude for the helping hands and the love shown to Jayda and her family as she made her journey to be with the Lord.

God knows who you all are and will bless you for making our little angel so happy. Jayda was HIS child then and is in HIS care now.

Our prayer for all is that God will bless you abundantly and always surround you with His love and care.

From the family of Jayda Dugan Toineeta

A poem in Remembrance of My Grandmother (as Her Birthday Approaches)

My grandmother was more than a grandmother she was my best friend. My grandmother and I always loved spending time together just experiencing all that life has to offer. We had our own special television shows that we watched everyday – Charmed, Supernatural, and others that captured our fancy. My Grandmother was more than a mother to me-she was the only mother I had ever known and the only mother I want to know. Every day before we left for school, my cousins and I always told her we loved her as she reminded us to look out for each other, stick together, and put family first. My grandmother was a Godly woman who relied on faith, love, and divine wisdom to navigate the storms and trials of life. She always said that if we fell into trouble, we should pray to find comfort and guidance. She is the reason that I got saved and joined the church. Indeed, I always wanted to make her proud of me. She is the one to whom I promised that I would go to college and succeed. My grandmother basically raised me since I was four years old. Her legacy lives on in me and my family because she always gave us the best of herself to keep as our own.

Written in loving memory by Taylor Niccum.

What is a pap test?

It is a test for women that can determine the health of the cervix. It can find cervical cancer or those early changes that can lead to cervical cancer. This can lead to treatments that can PREVENT cervical cancer.

What is an Adult Women's Health Exam (Yearly exam)?

It is an exam that can include a pap test, breast exam, and general physical. It may include screening labs or labs to monitor existing health problems. It may include scheduling a mammogram or other X-ray tests. It often is when medications for birth control, diabetes, high blood pressure or other health issues are renewed.

When should I start these exams?

Pap tests should be started at age 21. A yearly exam is often started when a woman desires birth control or just wants a physical completed.

How often should I have these exams?

How often you have a pap test is determined by the results of your previous pap tests. That will be determined by you and your health care provider. The yearly exam should be every year around the same time each year.

What if I have had a hysterectomy?

You may or may not need a pap test. That depends on the reason for the hysterectomy and will be determined by you and your health care provider. You still need to have the yearly exam every year so other health issues can be addressed.

Please call your health care provider today and make an appointment for your yearly exam today.

Youth Garden Summer program kicks off

On Thursday evening, May 22, 60 people gathered at Kituwah Mound for a kick-off event for the Cherokee Youth Garden Summer Program. The Cherokee Youth Garden is a program of Cherokee Choices Healthy Roots Project. The gardeners and their families met, shared a meal and toured the garden. All the gardeners that were chosen for the program were invited as well as their families. Little Harvey's Catering sponsored the event and cooked chicken, ramps and potatoes, and greens. Families contributed by bringing side dishes of corn, beans, or squash, representing the three sisters. Tribal Facilities Management provided tables and chairs for the event.

The 8-week gardening program aims to engage youth in growing, eating and preserving local and traditional foods. The youth will explore how food systems affect health, the economy, and environmental sustainability. The Cherokee Youth Garden also features a series of speakers and guests covering topics such as exploring the history of Kituwah, wild edible plants on the farm, yoga in the garden, public speaking, organic gardening practices, and how to develop a entrepreneurial outlet from growing food.

The program had over 40 applicants this year and through grant funding and Cherokee Choices, 15 youth were accepted into the program.

"We had 10 gardeners in 2013 and 5 in 2012. Youth filled out applications, submitted references and went through interviews in order to qualify. We wished we could have taken everyone who applied but we are limited by staff and funding", said Joey Owle, program coordinator.

Follow the Cherokee Youth Gardeners this summer, along with other Healthy Roots programming, on Facebook, <https://www.facebook.com/HealthyRootsProject>.

Grow Daddy

ROBERT JUMPER
ONE FEATHER EDITOR

As another Father's Day approaches, it is important to note the benefits of being a dad and having a committed relationship with his children. There are many social benefits society reaps from the institution of fatherhood. We know many of the personal advantages he enjoys, for example a loving family and stable home life. One benefit that we don't often consider is the health benefits that daddy-hood brings.

Men who care for others, especially children, seem to be in constant motion. Committed fathers are busy people. They work at providing for the family. When a father is doing what he should, he ensures that income is sufficient for a good life for his wife and children, even if it means giving up additional personal time. After work, the committed dad spends quality time with the family that is filled with play and education.

Fathers who commit to the daddy lifestyle also have more freedom. If you are focused on family, there is less time to become involved in accidents, crime or substance abuse. The focal point of a committed father is the well-being of his family.

Committed mothers and fathers are foundations for a healthy and sustainable family and society. In today's society, there are many family units that are fully functional and thrive without mother, father or neither. In those cases, single parents or guardians work to provide all the needs of their children. Hopefully, if you choose to be a father, you will realize the health benefits of good parenting and the importance of growing in your roll of daddy.

An open appeal to all drug abusers

This letter is an open appeal to all of those who, like me, are contributing to the utter destruction of a generation of young people who seem determined to self-destruct by shooting poison into their veins. They come to us feigning hardships, even hunger, and we are taken in by their pretense. All, at the same time, we know what they are really after.

They are persuasive and will not give up, but that does not excuse us. If the banks will not loan them money, there has to be a reason. If we do, we are no less guilty than the dealers who bring it in here for them to kill themselves. It does not seem possible that a well-equipped police force is powerless to curb drug activity on an Indian reservation.

Think about these fine, young people who have been born to wonderful, productive, God-fearing people, and we are simply going to lose them before they even begin to live. Those same God-fearing people, and I among them, have been too productive, apparently. Somewhere along the way, we have neglected our very purpose for being here. That purpose is to nurture the human spirits that have been entrusted to us.

Instead of letting them have the means to do themselves harm, we should be trying to get them busy learning how to live. Please think about this. Also, think about our own families. Should we take what is rightfully theirs? They have invested their entire lives in whatever we have. Another thing, one-tenth of what we have or receive belongs not to us, but to God. How can we be sure we are contributing what is actually ours? We older people need to stop and think. The life we save is somebody's child or grandchild, and definitely a child of God.

*Sincerely,
Sue Cooper Owles*

Stop fracking now

The NC Senate and House voted to lift the moratorium on fracking, and Governor Pat McCrory is signing the bill. The bill will not allow cities to ban/limit fracking and does not require the companies to disclose the chemical content of the fracking fluid.

I realize a lot of people do not know what fracking is. There have been reports on the news about earthquakes related to fracking, but that would be a blessing if that were the only side effect. "Fracking" is hydraulic fracturing, where natural gas is extracted from rocks beneath the surface by drilling into the ground and pumping a mixture of water and chemicals into the rocks to cause cracks, releasing the gases. The fluids released into the ground are some of the most harmful substances we can be exposed to, and since they are being put into the ground, it contaminates the drinking water.

These are some of the chemicals commonly used and their health effects: Benzene and Ethyl benzene (carcinogens closely associated with leukemia), Toluene and Xylene (attacks the Central Nervous System), Lead compounds (causes neurological disorders, attacks the Central Nervous System and causes reproductive problems), Mercury compounds (attacks the Central Nervous System, Lungs and Kidneys), Formaldehyde (carcinogen), Radium (radioactive).

Watch "Fracking Hell" and "Gasland" on YouTube. These are documentaries of people in towns like ours who have been devastated by fracking. People cannot drink or bathe in their water, cancer is high and lives are destroyed. We need to stop this! It is a disgrace that the people we elected to represent North Carolina would allow this to happen. I've heard it could start in Topton. If the Governor signs this week, drilling could start as soon as March. Contact your officials this is not politics, it's our lives. We can make a difference!

Wildlife ranger, AT thru-hiker to sign their books in Park

A recently-retired Great Smoky Mountains National Park wildlife biologist and an Appalachian Trail thru-hiker, both of whom turned author following their experiences in and around the national park, will sign copies of their books at national park visitor centers in the coming weeks.

For Kim DeLozier, truth is stranger than fiction, especially when his job brought him into contact with “an extraordinary bear, hormonally-crazed elk, homicidal wild boars, hopelessly timid wolves, and 9 million tourists, some of whom are clueless.”

DeLozier will sign copies of “Bear in the Back Seat” and “Bear in the Back Seat II” Tuesday, June 17, from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. at Sugarlands Visitor Center, which is located closest to Gatlinburg, Tenn.

In DeLozier’s world when sedated wild black bears wake up unexpectedly in the back seat of a helicopter in mid-flight or in his car as he’s driving down the highway, or in his office while he’s talking on the phone, it’s just another day in the park.

AT thru-hiker Jeff Alt will sign his books from 10 a.m. until noon at Sugarlands Visitor Center and again from 1-3 p.m. Clingmans Dome Visitor Center Sunday, June 22. Alt penned “A Walk for Sunshine” following his 2,100+ walk from Georgia to Maine. His book and subsequent hilarious talks retell his inspiring adventure along the Appalachian Trail with bears, bugs, blisters, skunk bedmates and enormous food cravings; all for a noble cause. Alt’s Appalachian Trail journey was doubly inspired by a desire to raise awareness for a charitable organization and by a boyhood family adventure in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. When his family grew to include a wife and two children, Alt followed his original book with “Get Your Kids Hiking” to inspire hiking adventures for the whole family.

Why Suffering? Part 1

RICHIE SNEED

One of the many complex conundrums surrounding faith in God, is the issue of suffering. What many people have difficulty coming to terms with usually sounds something like this; "If God is a loving God, how can he allow so much suffering?" A loving God allowing suffering seems to be paradoxical at best, and hypocritical at worst. And yet, the fact remains: God is love. (1 John 4:16)

I certainly do not profess to be able to unravel the mystery of suffering within the context of the love of God. Nor do I believe that any human this side of eternity will ever be able to fully expound on the whys and wherefores of suffering. We can, however glean a great deal from the scriptures that will give us insight in to the purposes of God in allowing, permitting, or perhaps even causing suffering. This is no small subject, and will no doubt require a great deal more exploration than what is possible here, therefore I encourage you to do your own study in addition to this brief commentary.

The short, and perhaps even trite answer that many Christians will give in response to the suffering question is this; suffering exists because of sin. That is a factually correct answer. When the first man and woman disobeyed God, sin came in to the world and every one of their children born since then has a virus called sin. It's in us from birth. While all of that is true, it doesn't help to make sense of things when suffering is occurring in our own lives.

So how do we make sense of suffering? There is an important question we must each ask ourselves when suffering is present. And more important than just asking the question, we must answer honestly. The question is this: "Is the suffering that I am going through a direct result of a choice or decision that I have made?" You see, there is a spiritual principle at work in the earth that many people are either unaware of, or they simply chose to ignore. It is called sowing and reaping. We don't use these terms very often unless you are a farmer or gardener, so many people are unacquainted with their meaning.

Sowing and reaping are agricultural terms that refer to planting seeds (sowing) and bringing in the harvest. (reaping) The apostle Paul uses this metaphor in Galatians 6:7-8. Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, this he will also reap. 8For the one who sows to his own flesh will from the flesh reap corruption, but the one who sows to the Spirit will from the Spirit reap eternal life.

If the suffering that we are presently experiencing is simply the result of something we have sown through our words or actions, we must come to terms with this principle. We can not point the finger at others and shirk our responsibility for the current suffering we are enduring. It takes courage to admit we are responsible, but more importantly, it requires humility. The good news is, if we humble ourselves, and confess our sin, God says he will extend grace and mercy to us. If however, we remain prideful and blame others, He says that He will resist us. (James 4:6). You and I have a choice in the matter; choose wisely.
