Remember the Removal riders gathered with their family and friends for a moment of prayer and reflection at the Kituwah Mound on Saturday, June 2.

Cherokee cyclists retracing Trail of Tears on Remember the Removal Ride

What better place to start a journey than the beginning? That's exactly what the participants in the 2012 Remember the Removal ride did on Saturday, June 2.

The 23 cyclists, including seven from the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians, gathered at Kituwah with their friends, family and community for a kick-off celebration for the 900+ mile ride to Tahlequah, Okla.

Before departing, everyone present gathered at the Kituwah Mound and held hands in a show of unity and fellowship. Tom Belt, a citizen of the Cherokee Nation and teacher of Cherokee Language at WCU, said a few words of encouragement and said a prayer for the safety and harmony of the riders.

dave, Chi Shipman, Judy Castorena, Jeremy Wilson, Logan "Tatsi" Nelson and Jeremy Hyatt.

Littledave said meeting the riders from the Cherokee Nation was a great experience. "We're just looking forward to the journey and looking forward to the experiences that we're going to have and the educational stops along the way."

Hyatt commented, "I am just incredibly excited. It's been a long time coming - months and months of preparation. Our bodies are right. Our hearts are right and God willing, we're going to have a safe and fantastic journey and it's going to be a big adventure"

Brandon Stephens served as the emcee for Saturday's event and said, "Something that was iconically a dark chapter in our history is now an icon of strength for the young people of today.

Principal Chief Michell Hicks welcomed everyone and spoke of unity between all Cherokee people at Kituwah, "This is a place of tranquility. This is a place to settle your mind, and you always know when you're in a special place."

"We're excited for the bike riders and we're excited for each one of you because it's remembering and not forgetting, and I know our ancestors are looking down on us today proud as they could be about what we have accomplished as a people. We are survivors, strong people, proud people."

Chief Hicks concluded by saying that he has great respect for the riders and that it'll be a tough ride, but nothing they can't handle. "Your Creator will pick you up. There will be prayers throughout the day, from this group and many others, as you make your journey."

Dr. Anne Rogers, president of the North Carolina Trail of Tears Association, spoke briefly about the Trail and her organization, "We try to promote the fact that this is Cherokee homeland. This is the place where Cherokee started their lives and their history."

Dr. Barbara Duncan, Museum of the Cherokee Indian, gave a brief history of the Trail of Tears and sang a song she composed entitled "They turned the Trail of Tears into a circle".

McCoy makes history as a freshman

Tribal member named Most Valuable Male Athlete at RHS

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

Spencer McCoy has made history...as a freshman. He was named Most Valuable Male Athlete for 2011-12 at Robbinsville High School, and according to school officials is the first freshman to ever be named All-Conference in football in Smoky Mountain Conference history. "This is a great honor and a privilege to receive an award of this caliber," said McCoy. "Hard work and dedication anchored by the faith in my personal Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, along with the support of my coaches, family and friends, have made this possible."

As a linebacker for the Black Knights, he led the team with 121 tackles.

He also wrestles and won the SMC championship at 195lb and was named Most Outstanding Wrestler at the SMC Tournament. McCoy went on to take 4th place at the both the regional and state wrestling tournaments and became the first freshman in RHS history to place at the state tournament.

And, McCoy isn't just a jock...he can crack a book too. This past school year, he received an EBCI Tribal Merit Award and a RHS Academic Excellence Award.

"We cannot begin to tell you how proud we are of Spencer as a family," said his father, Skooter McCoy. "He has displayed strength in all areas of life starting with his faith in the Lord, caring for his family and friends and a tough work ethic that promotes excellence in academics as well as athletics. Spencer has a desire to be successful at whatever challenges he endeavors. We have truly been blessed as a family."

Fundraiser events planned for Blanton Scholarship

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P.

The late Trooper Shawn Blanton is a hero. The first EBCI tribal member to become a North Carolina Highway State Trooper, he was killed in the line of duty four years ago on June 17, 2008. The Trooper Shawn Blanton Scholarship Fund was set up in his honor and memory.

Next weekend, two events are being held to raise money for the Fund which provides scholarships to high school senior girls playing softball at one of the following high schools: Swain County, Cherokee, Blue Ridge, Smokey Mountain, Pisgah or Tuscola.

"The Memorial Ride and the Golf Tournament are the only sources of income for the scholarship," said David Blanton, Shawn's father. "Support has grown over the last three years, and this year we are giving seven $1,000 scholarships."

"We started this year giving away half of what we take in the previous year. We are trying to build a base to sustain the scholarship for the long term. One hundred percent of the money goes to the scholarship, and no one receives any pay or incentives from the scholarship."

The 5th Annual Trooper Shawn Blanton - G540 Scholarship Golf Tournament will be held on Friday, June 15 at the Sequoyah National Golf Club. Registration will begin at 8am with a shotgun start at 9am. Prizes include: top two teams in each flight, closest to the pin, 50/50 putting contest, longest drive and hole-in-one. The cost per team is $400 and includes golf, prizes, a gift bag and lunch.

The 4th Annual Trooper Shawn Blanton Memorial Ride will take place on Saturday, June 16. The ride will leave from three locations including the Jackson County Justice Center in Sylva, Lowe's in Asheville and the Waynesville Cycle Center in Waynesville. All vehicles are welcome to participate in this rain-or-shine event. A $25 donation per person includes the ride, t-shirt, meal, and a ticket for door prizes. All of the riders will join together and ride over Soco Mountain as a group ending at the Acquoni Event Center in Cherokee.

For more information on the tournament, contact Tony Belcher (269) 569-1100 or David Blanton (828) 507-4606, and for more information on the ride, contact Jan Fitzgerald (828) 293-9394 or Sylvafitz@aol.com. For more information on the Scholarship Fund, visit www.troopershawnblantonscholarship.com.

Elders remember the Indian Fair

Four months from the 100th Anniversary of the Cherokee Indian Fair, several Cherokee elders remember past Fairs

TEXT and PHOTOS By SCOTT MCKIE B.P./One Feather

Bessie Wallace

"The Indian Fair, or Fall Festival, is for bringing families together and reuniting your acquaintances," said Birdtown elder Bessie Wallace. "To me, the most important thing is entering the craft contest or the baking contest."

She said she is amazed each year at the Fair to see what crafts people make or what type of baked goods have been entered.

Wallace said she is hoping to get back to archery and shooting a blowgun, two activities she enjoyed as a youth and young adult.

She recalls her days going to the Birdtown Day School. "That's where I first got my start with the Indian Fair. We all had to take our favorite canned food, and the teachers would enter it for us at the Fair."

Wallace said they would win a small prize of around 50 cents, "But, it was challenging to compete with other students in the class."

She said many things have changed at the Fair since she was younger. "The stickball games were more interesting because we had them right there at the grounds."

Jokingly, she commented, "And, the food used to taste much better."

Wallace said today's busy lifestyles have had an impact on the Fair. "It seems people were more settled down then. They weren't rushing and running. They had more time to spend at the Fair."

"We didn't have the luxuries that we have today, and a lot of people didn't even have transportation. A lot of them walked."

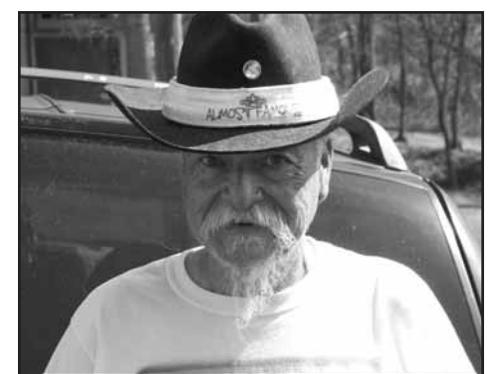

Wallace commented that the Fair used to be a place where the different communities would come together and fellowship with one another in a laid back environment. "It's not a calm place anymore. It's like everybody is pulling against each other to have a good Fair."

She said the rides used to extend all the way to the where the First Citizens Bank is now. "That's how big the grounds were. Now we're confined to a smaller area. It's just not what I grew up with as the Cherokee Fair."

"Things have changed and we just need to work with what we have now," she said. "It'd be really hard to go back to the old days. But, I really enjoy it and I look forward to it."

Wallace said family and friends will come visit at the Fair each year from out of town. "It's a gathering place."

Bill Wolfe

Bill Wolfe has been going to the Cherokee Indian Fair for many years. "I like to go to the Indian ball games and watch them. I like the old announcer. He'll probably never be able to be replaced."

The announcer he's speaking of is the late Clifford Hornbuckle. Wolfe related that Hornbuckle would announce the Fair with a booming voice and would frequently point people out in the midway and speak about them to make sure everyone felt included.

Wolfe also likes to visit the crafts exhibit hall each year. "They also used to have livestock back in the early Fairs."

He is an avid collector and has many of the old Fair programs. But his favorite part of the Fair, "I just like visiting with all of the Indian people."

Judy Smith

Judy Smith is a traditional Cherokee woman who longs for the old days, and the Fair has brought her much joy over the years. "It was a gathering of relatives and friends. It was a meeting place. Everybody came. That was the coming home time."

"What I remember most though was the agriculture," she said relating that the area where the Council House is currently located was an exhibit area for carvings and many handmade crafts including furniture.

"Where the Legal Division is at, that was canned goods," said Smith. "And, the big gym that is no longer there, that was agricultural. It was huge! You exhibited what you grew and it was just a good time."

She said the activities have changed as well. "We really didn't have a lot of commercialized things. We had the Indian ball and Indian dancing. It's nothing like it is today."

Smith remembers fondly a time when Indian ball might literally mean the shirt off your back. "The ladies would wear layers of clothing because they would bet. They were betting on their team to win and they bartered, 'I'll bet my shirt for your shirt.'"

She said that community involvement was really big at the Fair. "Every township had their archers. They had their ball players, and a lot of people don't like to hear this, but they all had their medicine people."

Smith said the Fair used to have a real homecoming feel. "People used to pull in from all over. That's how it used to be, and it isn't any more. I would just like to see for one time that it go back to the old way - to let the little ones see what it was like."

In talking about the evolution of the Fair from her childhood to today, she summed it up in one word - commercialization. "It's taken the heart and the meaning of the Fair. But, it just took the heart out of it."

She said it's sad that some today are only entering the traditional contests for the money. "It's all about the money; it's not about the artistry. I hate to say it, but I think that's the way the world is going."

Smith did commend Qualla Arts and Crafts Mutual, Inc. for helping encourage the continuation of Cherokee arts and crafts. "All we have left of what used to be are the Indian dinners and the exhibits from Qualla Arts and Crafts, and the Extension tries to extend an agricultural aspect, but when you look at it, we've lost it."

"We have a book cover, but we don't have a book."

A few years ago, Smith was crowned Sr. Miss Cherokee, a title she was and still is very proud of. She jokes though that she still is Sr. Miss Cherokee because they discontinued the pageant and a new Sr. Miss has yet to be crowned.

Hope Pheasant

Hope Pheasant has memories of the Cherokee Indian Fair back to when she was six years old. "My dad drove a taxi and they'd drop us off at the Fair," she said. "And, we always had a good time."

She fondly remembers the food booths that were at the Fair during her childhood. "They'd line up two deep going down the fairground right in front of the ballfield. This was when the fields were huge. It went all the way back to where the Pageant Motel was."

Her church set up one of the food booths and Pheasant remembers her grandmother helping out. "As kids, we got to eat there."

The exhibits were always a highlight of the Fair for her, and she used to go out and pick wildflowers as a child to put into the exhibit. Pheasant said the children would decorate mayonnaise jars with tin foil and use that as their vase for the wildflowers.

She remembers one part of the

EBCI Transit wins state event

EBCI Transit was the Overall System winner in the Van Category at the 2012 NCDOT/NCPTA ROADEO held in Wilmington on May 19-20. They were honored in Tribal Council on Thursday, May 31. Shown (left-right) in the photo are Dennis Junaluska, Christine Goings, EBCI Transit manager Kathi Littlejohn and Wilson Oocumma. Goings also took 2nd place in the Individual Van Category.

Fair that makes some laugh and some blush. "They had hoochee-cooch dancers there. It wasn't really bad, they were just belly dancers, but they called them hoochee-cooch dancers."

Pheasant said kids weren't allowed in the show, but that didn't stop her curiosity. She remembers sneaking into the tent with several friends to see what the fuss was about. "We would peek under the tent. You couldn't see much but legs because it was a crowded little tent. You could get in for a quarter, but as kids they wouldn't let you in. So, we were curious. We wanted to know what was going on in that tent that we couldn't see."

She said she still enjoys the exhibit hall each year, "I like looking at all of the crafts and seeing who won."

Fair as a child. "It was just a lot of fun, but that was when they had the chickens and the pigs and the horses, and then we got to see the different beadwork."

She said the Indian dancing has always been one of her favorite activities at the Fair. "One of the highlights of the whole fair was when they did the Friendship Dance and all that. It's one of those things that you really remember about the Fair."

"Then, as you got older, it was the rides and the concessions and then being able to eat a hamburger which you didn't get to do back then."

She said in high school it was a lot of fun "because we got to be in the parade."

Sneed remembers fondly her father being a "referee" for the Indian ballgames and also the blowgun and archery contests.

In talking about the differences in the Fair, she related, "It's just all commercialized now. Back then, you had to have a project to put into the Fair before you got a free ticket. That way, everybody participated if they wanted to go for free. Of course, now everything is free."

She said she missed the dancing and the square dancing at the old Fairs. "We always had a clogging contest. We loved the music and the dancing. Things like that have changed completely from what we did when I was a kid."

Using art to re-frame history

If you have seen a small white sign in Cherokee and the surrounding area, proclaiming in the Cherokee syllabary and in English, "We are still here," then you have seen the latest work by artist Jeff Marley. The signs are part of a larger project that he hopes will create a new conversation about history and Native peoples. Marley has been working as an artist for almost 20 years. His latest work with the signs represents a dramatic shift away from the more traditional painting and drawing he is known for. "Art is a tool for change, it doesn't always have to hang on the wall or sit on a shelf."

"My goal for this project is to re-frame how we think about and question our history," said Marley. "Instead of seeing history as something static and inactive, history is something that is created each day; it is participatory by nature."

The signs are small at 12 x 18 inches, and very simple. "The signs themselves are meant to be small, a visual metaphor of marginalization," commented Marley.

In the Cherokee language, they proclaim, "Si otsedoha" and underneath the translation in English, "We are still here." "It is a statement not only for the Cherokee, but everyone in the community that calls western North Carolina home. We are still here, keeping our traditions and customs alive. We need to pass this on to future generations so they understand the importance of being aware of our neighbors and working together."

Marley received his Bachelors of Fine Art from Western Carolina University in 2005 and is currently pursuing his Masters in Fine Art at Vermont College of Fine Arts. More information about Jeff Marley and his work are available on the web at www.jeffmarley.com or by emailing jeff@jeffmarley.com.

One-day Cherokee language course

A one-day intensive course in the Cherokee language will be offered Thursday, June 14, by Western Carolina University's Office of Continuing Education. The course will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Room 143 of the Cordelia Camp Building. Cherokee language scholars, Tom Belt, WCU Cherokee language program coordinator and Dr. Hartwell Francis, director of the Western's Cherokee language program, will introduce the Cherokee syllabary, provide tools for learning it and review Cherokee syllabary literature. Students will move on to engaging in brief conversations in Cherokee. Participants will be provided with Cherokee language sound files on CD for review and further study, a syllabary chart and reference sheets. "Understanding verb stems is the key to learning the Cherokee language," said Francis. "We'll help participants become more familiar with this and also give them access to an extensive Cherokee language website where we post our work. This will allow them to continue their study after the course concludes." The course fee is $59 for those who register by Monday, June 11, and $79 thereafter. A lunch will be provided. To register, visit <http://learn.wcu.edu> and click on "Conferences and Community Classes" or call 828-227-7397. You may also contact the WCU-Cherokee Center for information at 497-7920,

WCU Student Participating in "Remember the Removal" Event

Jeremy Wilson, junior, majoring in sociology at WCU, is one of 7 tribal members of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians retracing a route of the Trail of Tears by bicycle. A community celebration was held Saturday at Kituwah, the Mother Town, for a send-off on the 1000 mile journey from New Echota former capital of the Cherokees to Tahlequah, Oklahoma. Some 14 riders from the Cherokee Nation joined the riders from the EBCCI. Jeremy reported on facebook that the first night was rough with rain, thunder and lightning. He said that it brought to mind the outrageous hardships endured on the original removal which this ride commemorates,

Mars Hill, Tribe continue relationship

NEWS BRIEF By SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

Mars Hill College and the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians officially acknowledged a continuing relationship with the presentation of formalized agreements on Monday, June 4. Mars Hill and the Tribe began their formal relationship in February 2011 which involves consultations by the Tribe on various events and presentations at the school as well as a scholarship for two EBCI students.

"It's a great program that we have," said Dr. Dan Lunsford, president of Mars Hill College. "We appreciate having the best relationship with the Tribe."

Per the agreement, Mars Hill will provide full tuition for two EBCI students yearly. The agreement, first signed on Feb. 16, 2011, will initially extend for three years.

"Our students have long benefited from guest lecturers, presenters and performers who were members of the Cherokee tribe," Dr. Lunsford said in a statement last year. "This agreement is a continuation of the relationship we have always enjoyed, and an affirmation that we will continue to work together for all our students, of all backgrounds."

The Cherokee Right Path seeking nominations

The Cherokee Right Path, “Du-yu Dv-i,” Adult Leadership Program (RP) is accepting nominations for participation in the 2012-2013 program. This 12-month leadership program is for EBCI tribal members to learn Cherokee history and culture, and to develop leadership competencies.

Submit a one-page letter of nomination that describes your candidate. Candidates must be age 18 and over, has a high school diploma or GED and has some college experience. Knowledge of Cherokee culture and/or experience in a professional environment is a plus.

The deadline for submission is Friday, June 15. Letters of nomination will be accepted by fax, email, or in-person delivery, by 5 p.m., June 15, to the SCC/Cherokee Center, Acquoni Road, Cherokee, NC, Attention, Juanita Wilson, Program Manger:

- Fax: 828-497-7125
- Email: j_wilson@southwesterncc.edu
- Physical Location: Southwestern Community College, Cherokee Center, Acquoni Road, Cherokee, NC 28719

The Right Path Adult Leadership Program is funded by the Cherokee Preservation Program and administered locally through the Southwestern Community College/Cherokee Center. For more information, please contact Juanita Wilson, Program Manager, at 828-736-0922 or j_wilson@southwesterncc.edu.

Attention SSI recipients

This is a reminder to save all of your receipts. Social Security will be in Cherokee to pick them up on Wednesday, June 13 at the EBCI Health & Medical SHIP Office. If you still need to show receipts for December 2011 per capita, please bring those along with your June 2012 receipts. All receipts for June 2012 must be dated from June 1-15 to be counted toward your spend-down.

- Denise Bradley, EBCI SHIP Office

Important Social Security date

If you are an enrolled member of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and you received a per capita check, Wednesday, June 13 is the deadline for your per capita receipts to be turned in to the Franklin Social Security Office. This deadline has been set in order to avoid a lapse in benefits.

The EBCI SHIP office is currently available to accept your receipts at their office located at: 43 John Crowe Hill Rd. (across from Cherokee Cablevision). The office is open Monday – Friday 7:45am – 4:30pm.

On June 13, Regina Brooks, from the Social Security Office, and Denise Bradley, from the EBCI SHIP Office, will set-up from 8am – 4pm in the Large Conference Room in the EBCI Health & Medical Administration Building, across for Cherokee Cablevision, to receive your per capita spend-down receipts.

- Denise Bradley, EBCI SHIP Office

Bill Taylor Scholarship still taking applications

The Bill Taylor Scholarship is available and intended for students pursuing a degree in “Business Administration, or a Business related area”.

Applicants must be either enrolled members of the Eastern Band or members of their immediate families. Applications and a sheet of “guidelines” are available at the Tribal Education and Training Office and must be returned by June 1 to: Frela Beck, 854 Big Cove Road, Cherokee, NC, 28719.

Info: Frela Beck, Scholarship Committee chairperson, 497-3671 or Sue Lelievre 1-800-210-9532

The staff at EBCI Cooperative Extension is already preparing for this year’s 100th Anniversary of the Cherokee Indian Fair. If anyone has old pictures of events or family at previous years at the fair, they would like to be able to make copies and implement them in the Extension part of the fair. If you know the year, identities and/or event just list it down on paper. If you are not sure, bring them on by their office anyway. The EBCI Extension Center is located at 876 Acquoni Road next to the Ginger Lynn Welch Complex. Info: Valorie Welch 554-6939.

Cherokee Boys Club Report

CLUB SCHEDULE:

Wednesday, June 13 – Resolution Deadline – 8:30 a.m.
 Sunday, June 17 – Father’s Day
 Wednesday, June 20 – Board of Directors Meeting – 8:30 a.m.
 Thursday, June 21 – Safety Committee Meeting – 11:30 a.m.

ON-THE-JOB (OJT) WORKERS BEGIN SUMMER WORK/TRAINING

One of the Boys Club’s purposes is to provide employment and training opportunities for our community, especially our youth. This year the Boys Club received 31 applications for summer employment through the Club’s OJT program. Fourteen of these applicants were selected to work in various Club Departments. They began their summer employment this past Monday and will work through Friday, Aug. 3.

In order for the youth to be considered for this program, they had to supply a letter or letters of recommendation from their school, church or community leaders. The students had to be in good standing with the school and community to be hired.

CULTURAL SUMMER SCHOOL BEGINS

Cherokee Central Schools began their “Cultural” Summer School on Monday, June 4. This special session of summer school will run two weeks and will end on Friday, June 15. The Boys Club is running six buses to pick up summer school students. If you have questions about the bus routes, please call Allan Oocumma or Albert Arch at 497-9101.

CLUB’S PAINT AND BODY SHOP PAINTS SCHOOL BUSES

The Boys Club’s Paint and Body Shop, a division of the Club’s Garage, is in the process of painting five of its school buses. The state-of-the-art paint bay provides enough space to paint vehicles as large as buses and trucks but still offers service to privately owned and other fleet owned vehicles as well.

TEMPORARY AND PART-TIME BUS DRIVERS NEEDED

If you are interested in becoming a bus driver, the Club is looking for part-time and temporary bus driver applicants who either have their CDL or are willing to take the training to obtain the CDL. If you are interested, please call Allan Oocumma or Albert Arch of the Club’s Bus and Truck Department for more information – 497-9101.

UNTO THESE HILLS BEGINS 2012 SEASON

The Cherokee Historical Association opened their 2012 season of Unto These Hills on Friday, June 1. Through the Club’s agreement with the Historical Association, an additional 13 youth were hired to work as traffic directors and parkers for the drama for the summer months. The Club also provides shuttle bus service for the guests attending the nightly performances of the drama.

EBCI Garden Contest dates

The annual EBCI Garden Contest dates have been set. Competition judging for adults will occur on June 20-22 and youth and community vegetable gardens will be judged the following week on June 26-28. Vegetable gardens are the only type of garden that will be eligible for the competition this year.

Judging will be done by NC Cooperative Extension Master Gardeners and other volunteers from the surrounding area. Judges visit the gardens and score the following criteria: general appearance, planning for season-long food production, evidence of exceptional gardening practices such as soil preparation, plant selection, pest control and season-extending techniques. Judges also note the creativity that is evident in the vegetable garden such as unique plants or other features.

Winners will be announced at the EBCI Cooperative Extension's Community Awards Program in September. Call 554-6939 by Friday, June 15 at 12noon to sign-up for the adult vegetable garden category. The deadline to sign-up for the youth and community vegetable garden competition is Friday, June 22 at 12noon.

4-H District Activity Day

This year, the EBCI Cooperative Extension office is the lead coordinator on the yearly event that 4-H holds called District Activity Day. This is an event where youth age 9-18 prepares a public presentation on a topic of interest to them. This is an excellent opportunity for youth to work on public speaking skills in a friendly supportive environment.

Heather James will be holding a presentation workshop on Tuesday, May 29 from 10am -12pm at the EBCI Cooperative Extension office, for all youth interested in participating. During this time, she will review requirements for participation, assist youth in determining their topic, and share examples of prior presentations. Parents should attend with their child.

The district activity day is scheduled for Tuesday, June 19 at Cullowhee Valley School in Cullowhee.

If you have not been involved in 4-H before, it is not a problem. 4-H paperwork will be available on site. Info: Heather James, 4-H Agent, 554-6932 or heatjame@nc-chokeee.com.

Cherokee Voices Festival scheduled for June 9

The annual Cherokee Voices Festival will be held on Saturday, June 9 from 10am - 5pm at the Museum of the Cherokee Indian. The event, which is free and open to the public, is sponsored by the North Carolina Arts Council and the Museum of the Cherokee Indian.

"This festival is fun for all ages, and it's free. We hope people will come out to enjoy the day, meet Cherokee people, and learn a little more about our history and culture." Ken Blankenship, executive director, Museum of the Cherokee Indian.

This year's festival kicks off the 250th anniversary of the journeys of Timberlake and Ostenaco, described in "Emissaries of Peace; the 1762 Delegations." See the exhibit, meet Ostenaco and Timberlake in person, and enjoy the Warriors of AniKituwaha presenting the dance that greeted Timberlake. Experience traditional Cherokee dance, music, storytelling, food, 18th century arts and crafts, weapons, and living history.

Opinions & Letters

Thank you from Judo Club

Yellowhill Judo Club would like to thank the following businesses that have donated to our club: Cherokee Tribal Gaming Commission, Ken Wilson Ford, Cherokee Boy's Club, and Qualla Termite & Pest Control. We will continue to have fundraisers up until July 7. Please watch for flyers or information in the Cherokee One Feather.

Thank you

The family of Ernest "Bud" Sneed, Jr. would like to express our sincere appreciation to Dr. Marchuk and staff, Cherokee Indian Hospital and staff, Cherokee EMS, and thanks to everyone else who helped u during our loved one's illness.

Thank you for all the kind words, phone calls, lovely flowers, cards, generous donations, food, attending the services, time spent visiting with us, but most importantly the prayers during this difficult time.

We appreciate all singers and their beautiful singing.

Thanks to Danny Conseen and the Macedonia Church members for providing a beautiful service and meal. Thanks to Bo Parris for providing God's message during this difficult time and singing at the gravesite.

Thanks to Longhouse Funeral Home for the service, you provided. We appreciate the Wolftown Free Labor Group and Tribal Construction for assisting with digging our loved one's grave.

Thanks to all the pallbearers.

To his buddies: Ray Stamper Sr., Mose Lossiah, Mitch Taylor, Jesse Winstead, Stancil Jumper, Johnny Wolfe, and Quincy Wildcatt he loved you guys. He loved talking to you on the phone and visiting with you. Thanks for being his friend.

To his brothers and sisters he cared and loved each of you.

"Death is at once the end of the body's old journey and the beginning of the soul's new journey" Author unknown.

As our dad would say, "Thank you—I appreciate you."

Chief's Challenge Run/Walk logo contest

Principal Chief Michell Hicks started the Chief's Challenge two years ago to encourage physical fitness on the Qualla Boundary. The Chief's Challenge is a Run/Walk that takes place just prior to the Cherokee Indian Fair Parade in October. A logo contest is being sponsored by the EBCI Principal Chief's Office, and the artwork selected to represent the Chief's Challenge will be included in any advertising and promotional materials prior to, during and after the Run/Walk.

A $200 cash prize will be awarded to the artist with the winning submission. Artist must be an enrolled member of the EBCI. All entries will be reviewed and selected by a panel of judges.

The deadline for entries is Friday, June 8 at 4:30 p.m.

Entries must be accompanied by your enrollment card, appropriate picture ID and contact information. Entries may be delivered to the Chief's Office or submitted via mail to:

Birdtown Community News

The Birdtown Community Club had their cemetery cleanup on May 24. They would like to thank Birdtown rep. Jim Owle, Travis Smith, Butch Goings, Eddie Goings and Denny Rodgers for arriving early and finishing early.

These men did an excellent job! They would also like to thank all of the families that arrived and took care of their families' gravesites. Special thanks to Bessie Wallace, Sarah Sneed, Jody Taylor and Jessie Howard for the food they prepared.

They request that the families who come, in the future, to remove debris, such as the dead flowers, faded artificial flowers, any or all debris that have served their purpose, to be disposed of properly in the green trash boxes.

Flowers are being tossed aside by the graves or over the embankments.

There were families that brought garbage bags and helped with the removal of such items during the cleanup. Let everybody work together to keep it looking good out of respect and remembrance of family members. Have a safe and happy month of June from the Birdtown Community Club to all residents of the Qualla Boundary.

Yogi Crowe Scholarship deadline approaching

The Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund has announced that an offer of free tuition from the University of Tennessee Graduate School at Knoxville is available to one student per academic year working on a Master's degree or doctorate. Applicants must make a request in writing to the Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund Board of Directors, P. O. Box 892, Cherokee, NC 28719 by Sunday, July 1 to be considered for this waiver. If more than one application is received, the Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund Board of Directors will make a recommendation to UT Graduate School as to who should receive the tuition waiver based upon need.

The Board of Directors of the Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund reminds graduate and post-graduate students that July 1 is also the deadline for requesting financial assistance from the Fund for fall semester. Applications and eligibility guidelines are available from any of the board members, from Tribal Education or from the Website www.yogicrowecherokeescholarship.org.

Big Cove Council Report

Compact Negotiations

Recently, I travelled to Raleigh along with an envoy of EBCI representatives to lobby for live table games as Harrahs' Cherokee Casino. Based on the latest vote in the House of Representatives we are almost there. With a house vote of 66-48, we have the votes to proceed with full scale gaming.

There is a one more hurdle that we must pass. It is procedure in the house to have three readings or votes on issues that come to the floor. We have two readings and by the time you read this we should have the third and final reading. That will allow the EBCI to proceed with full scale gaming. I want to let the Big Cove community to know that Big Cove Rep. Perry Shell and I have been involved in the negotiations from start to finish. I am encouraging enrolled members to take advantage of the opportunities and jobs that the new compact offers. Over 400 well paying jobs will be created and it is my hope that enrolled members will hold many of these positions. If you want more information please call me at 828-736-2947.

Western Carolina War Eagles bringing semi-pro football to Cherokee

The Western Carolina War Eagles played tough in their first two games of the year but came up just short. On the road for the first week, the War Eagles pitched a defensive shut out on the Tri-State Wildcats, which are expected to do very well this year after they made a late season run into the playoffs last year.

But, with a late arrival and a nearly brand new offense there wasn't much time to prepare which lead to an early safety that went on to be the deciding factor of the game. This past weekend, the War Eagles made their home debut and put on an early show of what this team is capable of taking a 14-0 lead but with a mid-game injury to quarterback Steve McCoy the team lost its steam and allowed two late defensive scores by the Letcher County Wolves. We would like to say thank you to all the fans that came out and especially those who jumped forward to help with on the field duties. Also, we would like to thank a few sponsors who made this possible: Tribal Gaming Commission, Chad Cooper and Trificient Technologies.

Food vendors

The Western Carolina War Eagles football team is seeking local food vendors who would like to come set up and sell during their home games played at the old Cherokee High School football field. For a small flat fee you may set up your own booth and keep all the profit. Info: 736-6259 or email westerncarolinawareagles@gmail.com or find us the team on Facebook.

Remaining War Eagles games

June 9 - home vs. Rampage

June 16 - bye

June 23 - at Rampage (Nashville, Tenn.)

June 30 - home vs. Wildcats

July 7 - at Wolves (Neon, KY)

July 14 - Open date (TBD)

July 21 - at Knights (Knoxville, Tenn.)

July 28 - bye

Aug. 4 - home vs. Knights

THE EBCI HOUSING & COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DIVISION

Is seeking proposals from qualified T.E.R.O. certified contractors to excavate three (3) Housing Improvement Program homes sites in the Hartness subdivision on McDonald Road, in Cherokee County NC. Contractor must provide all equipment to meet the following minimum sizes: Dozer 20K pound, Excavator 20K pound, Vibratory Roller 10K pound, Dump trucks and smaller equipment as needed, will be included in the proposal. The contractor shall install steel staked, wire backed silt fence under the fill slope of all disturbed areas. Ditch lines shall be Curlex lined with rip rap check dams every ten feet up to 10% slope and full rip rap on any ditches above 10%. All cut and fill slopes will be hay matted and seeded with seed mixtures specified in the erosion control plan. Driveways must be a minimum of 12 feet wide including a 2 foot ditch line where necessary with an ABC gravel base 10 feet wide and 8 inches deep. All CMP locations, size specifications and installation instructions will be according to the erosion control plan minimum size 18 inches. Contractor shall supply an Erosion Control Plan drawn and sealed by a Licensed and insured Engineer with the fees to be included in the proposal. The Erosion Control Plan must be approved by the Tribal Environmental Department. All brush, stumps and debris must be removed from the site and properly disposed of at the contractor's expense. Contractor shall supply all materials including matting, seeding, erosion control measures plus labor and equipment necessary to complete required work within 30 calendar days and maintain said erosion control measures for 90 days after completion of the project. Contractor must provide proof of insurance with the proposal to include: $1,000,000 of General Commercial liability insurance as well as State of North Carolina Requirements for Automobile and Workers Compensation insurance, Tribal business license and a W-9. This request for proposals will be awarded according to qualifications and price. The EBCI Housing & Community Development office, working with the Tribal Employment Rights Office (TERO), has the right to reject any and all submissions based on lack of required qualifications or the bids exceed the funding cap.

All bid documents must be received as sealed bids at the EBCI Housing Division office at 756 Acquoni Road, Cherokee NC 28719 by 4:30 p.m. on Friday, June 29th 2012. Selection will be made based on qualifications and price at a sealed bid opening in the small conference room of the Ginger Lynn Complex at 10 a.m. on Monday, July 2nd 2012. There will be a required site visit at 10 a.m. on Friday, June 15th 2012 at the end of McDonald Road off Ebenezer Road near Murphy NC. The work to be performed under this request is subject to Tribal Ordinance 280, Chapter 92 Tribal Business preference law. TERO certified and qualified vendors will be given preference.

Submit proposal to Housing & Community Development, 756 Acquoni Road, Cherokee NC 28719. For more information call: 828-557-4397 or Email: markkeph@nc-cherokee.com
Deadline is Friday, June 29th, 2011 by COB. 6/14

Locals Night

The hootenay scene is always a favorite of the outdoor drama Unto These Hills. The cast held a special "Locals Night" performance on Thursday, May 31. The drama officially opened for the 2012 season on Friday, June 1. For 72 photos of Thursday's event, visit the photo galleries at www.theonefeather.com.

Gourd Festival

There were many interesting finds at the 10th Annual Cherokee Gourd Artists Gathering held at the Cherokee Indian Fairgrounds on June 1-3. Ronna Wuttke, owner of Turtle Feather in Bryson City, holds a gourd she decorated with wood burning techniques in the likeness of the late Maggie Wachacha, EBCI Beloved Woman.
