- Big Cove Rep. Teresa McCoy on the news that Wal-Mart will not

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P. ONE FEATHER STAFF

> fter almost five years in the works, a deal between the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and the Wal-Mart Corporation to locate a store on the Qualla Boundary has come to an end.

Bill Wertz, Wal-Mart spokesperson, told the Asheville Citizen-Times last Friday, "Nothing really happened other than our determination that it wasn't the right thing for us to do at this time. There is nothing negative in the Tribe to continue that decision toward any community. Projects rise and fall on our priority list for a variety of reasons."

Tribal Council approved a ground lease with the company in May 2009. According to figures presented at the time, the Wal-Mart Supercenter was slated to be 120,000 square feet costing the Tribe $25 million to construct and was projected to bring in close to $214 million in increased Tribal levy over a 25year period. The lease was to be for 20 years with six five-year renewals for a total of 50 years possible.

Wal-Mart would have also been responsible for yearly lease payments, averaging $564,000 - $720,000, regardless of their decision to close or relocate.

"I think that the Tribe right now can't really afford anything on a Wal-Mart," said EBCI tribal member Kathy "Rock" Burgess. "We don't really want to end up like the Pequots. They had a lot of money and now they have nothing. So, that's how we're going to end up if we don't watch out how we're spending our money and what we're doing. And, right now we're building too much anyway. We need to pay off the debts that we have."

Big Cove Rep. Teresa McCoy commented, "It's not the right time for the Tribe to continue spending money. The Tribe would be better to spend its money on health care and on housing, and I'd like to know how much money has actually been spent on the project (Wal-Mart) so far. It's probably in the millions."

She continued, "The building needs to stop for awhile and the Tribe needs to use more caution when it comes to the Tribe's resources and its assets."

Painttown Rep. Terri Henry related, "Now that Wal-Mart has finally made its decision, we can focus on the needs that our people have and if our hospital is saying that they need a new location, let's look at the Wal-Mart site. That's what came out of the Painttown Community meeting we recently had and I think we should be taking a look at that location."

The site chosen for the Wal-Mart was Cherokee Community Parcel No. 60A which is approximately 22 acres located adjacent to the current Cherokee Indian Hospital.

A request for comment from John Dowd III, of the Goodman Company – the firm hired by the Tribe in December 2008 to finalize the Wal-Mart negotiations, went unanswered by press time.

Cherokee hosts Special Olympics

SCOTT MCKIE B.P./One Feather

Will Poolaw, Qualla Boundary Special Olympics team member, helps open the Far West Spring Games held in Cherokee on Friday, April 30 by reciting the Special Olympics Athlete Oath.

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P. ONE FEATHER STAFF

"Let me win. But, if I cannot win, let me brave in the attempt." Those words echoed throughout Ray Kinsland Stadium on Friday, April 30 as Will Poolaw, Qualla Boundary Special Olympics team member, recited the Special Olympics Athlete Oath to officially start the Far West Spring Games. The games, part of the Special Olympics of North Carolina (SONC) program, are the first to be hosted on the Cherokee Indian Reservation.

Two hundred and eighty athletes converged for various track and field events on a beautiful spring day. Robert Kanott, Qualla Boundary Special Olympics team member, gave the opening invocation which was followed by the lighting of torches representing each program present.

A torch run, consisting of members of various area law enforcement agencies along with volunteers and athletes, began on US441 earlier in the morning and winded through the streets of Cherokee culminating in the stadium.

"We love you and we want everybody to have good sportsmanship out today and have a great time and hopefully make a new friend," said Principal Chief Michell Hicks as he welcomed everyone at the opening ceremonies. "We are so glad to have you and have each of the counties of western North Carolina represented here today."

Keith L. Fishburne is the president/ceo of SONC and was present at Friday's event. "It is such a pleasure to be here in this beautiful setting. This is probably one of the best Spring Games opening ceremonies I have been a part of."

Fishburne continued, "I'm very proud of what goes on here on the Qualla Boundary because it wasn't too long ago that we didn't have much in the Special Olympics world happening." He said that much has been accomplished in Cherokee over the past ten years with the Special Olympics program.

Tony Wolfe, Qualla Boundary Special Olympics team member, commented, "I feel like the Special Olympics for the Qualla Boundary is a special step for people with special disabilities. It gives us more opportunities to do things that we never thought we could ever do and I'm just proud to be a part of it."

Lana Lambert, Qualla Boundary Special Olympics coordinator, organized Friday's event. "We're excited to have the Far West Spring Games here in Cherokee today. It's the first time we've had them here and we have around 300 athletes and lots of volunteers and spectators having a wonderful day."

She continued, "We wanted to invite everybody out to our community to see how we do things and to experience some of our life..."

SUBMITTED By ROSE GARRETT SOUTHWESTERN COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Castanna "Cassie" Miles has a busy calendar this May. She is preparing for two graduation ceremonies this month. Cassie is among the first class to graduate from the brand new state-of-theart Cherokee High School. She also joins an elite group of young people who have earned an associate degree concurrent with high school graduation.

Cassie has worked hard throughout her high school years and has saved thousands of dollars in college expenses. She did it by enrolling in Southwestern Community College's current enrollment program through which she earned a free two-year college degree while still in high school.

SCC president Cecil Groves remarked how participation in this unique program for high school students has helped students and their families save anywhere from $10,000 to $40,000 on college tuition and fees. "It is a remarkable accomplishment to enroll at Southwestern Community College and complete a degree while still in high school. Cassie can be very proud of what she has achieved and the money she has saved," Groves said.

According to Linda Dyke, SCC concurrent enrollment director, there are more than 600 students from Jackson, Macon and Swain counties and the Qualla Boundary participating in the college-credit programs at the college. Most eligible students take a college-level course or two as an elective part of their high school program. Still others will dual-enroll at SCC, taking classes after school, in the evening, on weekends or online.

"Most of our concurrent enrollment students take college/university transfer courses they can carry with them to the 16 UNC system universities and many private colleges within the state," Dyke said. "Most see this as a way to complement their achievements while in high school and get a head start on their college work. Additionally, we have students who take courses in cosmetology, carpentry, automotive, computer and information systems, outdoor leadership and other programs here at SCC. There's really something for everyone if the stu-

Letters to the Editor Property Owner gives Thoughts on Parcel 90

I recently read the 3-25-10 edition of the One Feather and there were many article that could have far-reaching effects on the members of the EBCI.

I appreciate the commentary that Rep. Terri Henry had in the paper. One rule of thought is, "to apologize is a sign of weakness." Another states, "It takes a strong person to admit a mistake."

Dad told me one time, "Don't be a crook. You aren't smart enough to keep your lies straight." I have found this admonition to have held me in good stead over the years. Perhaps other people should heed it too?

The past few weeks many people have stopped at the motel and asked questions. When I give them my version of the past ten years of goings ons, they are surprised. What I'm telling them is not what they have been told. A lot of people in powerful positions have been saying many things about me. Most of them are wrong. Things such as that have a tendency to catch up with people.

Council should be leary of any entity that forces a closed session to present their agenda. As to my position in the Parcel 90 situation, I had a "handshake agreement" as to the division of Parcel 90. I would agree to a contiguous 60/40 split of Parcel 90, if, as was proposed to me, an acceptable lease for my part of Parcel 90 would be submitted. This would allow TCGE to use the whole of Parcel 90, and give all parties time to come to an agreeable sale price. The performance as stated to me failed to be produced. The division of Parcel 90 went through Council against my protests as to this failed performance and my understanding of accepted BIA Realty practices. It left a bad taste in me as to how much a person's word actually means.

We should also be open minded enough to seed the reason the casino is named Harrah's and not for the EBCI. It is Harrah's casino. They tolerate us to keep their place on the Boundary. As for my connection with them, I asked to see the appraisals. They showed me one. I was allowed to talk to the appraiser. Yet, my questions on how the valuation was arrived at have never been answered by , the appraiser, TCGE, or Legal. Why? Would you accept a value that apparently was pulled out of thin air, with no logical explanation?

If you will allow me one final point – a rhetorical question if you will. Remember back in November 2009 when all pertinent parties were all in a tizzy that I hadn't signed the DOT R/W papers? The papers had to be signed right that second or the Eminent Domain power of the EBCI was going to land on my head.

So, I signed them. Yet, four months and counting later how much work has been done toward any type of road? The adjoining property is being used as a storage area with a fence around it. As for payment, I haven't seen any money.

It is actions such as these by the various "powers" that makes the rank and file feel the way they do.

Signed,

Steve Beck

Letters Policy

The Cherokee One Feather is available as a forum for any opinion or point of view concerning issues of general interest. Letters should be typed, exclusive to the One Feather. Letters must be signed and should include a name, address and phone number. Only the name and town (if writer resides outside of Cherokee) will be printed. Letters critical of specifically-named minor children will not be published. Unsigned letters will not be considered for publication at all. The One Feather will not accept poetry submissions as a letter or requests for pen pals.

Disclaimer: the opinions expressed on the Opinions pages do not necessarily reflect the views of the Cherokee One Feather, the Principal Chief, the Vice Chief or Tribal Council of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. EOC exams, we are taking steps toward providing more opportunities for our students to earn college credit.

For several years, students at CHS have been able to take college courses through programs like Learn and Earn, dual enrollment, and i-schools. This summer, in order to continue promoting our school as a place of higher education, we will be offering college courses to our students. They will earn both college credits and high school elective credits for taking and passing these classes.

Classes will run from mid-May through July, and we have approximately 20 students taking advantage of this wonderful opportunity in higher education.

Special Olympics president thanks Cherokee

Letter to the Editor:

I want to congratulate the Cherokee community on hosting a successful Spring Games for nearly 300 Special Olympics athletes who competed in the Special Olympics North Carolina Far West Spring Games last Friday. Special Olympics athletes from surrounding counties including Clay, Cherokee, Graham, Jackson, Macon, and Swain in addition to the Special Olympics local program based in Qualla Boundary benefited from the hard work and dedication of volunteers who put their heart and soul into making sure these games, hosted by Special Olympics Qualla Boundary, were the best!

I also want to give a special thanks to the sponsors who helped to make the event possible in particular the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. The turnout by the community led by Principal Chief Michell Hicks was a testament to the importance Special Olympics has in the lives of people with intellectual disabilities. The event's organizing committee, led by Lana Lambert, who also is the coordinator for Special Olympics Qualla Boundary, did an excellent job.

Special Olympics embraces community spirit and becomes an outlet for everyone to come together for the benefit of children and adults with intellectual disabilities. Those who witnessed these Games were shown the best in how caring and supportive your community is.

> With best regards, Keith L. Fishburne President/CEO Special Olympics North Carolina

Thank you

I would like to thank Harrah's Entertainment for sticking to their word that if they got the management agreement that they would be culturally minded when doing business as Harrah's Cherokee. Darold Londo, the present Manager of the Casino, was great in how he addressed the issue of allowing the Cherokee employees who wanted to wear their names in syllabary on their badges happen.

I would like to thank Chief Hicks, Patrick Lambert, the Native American International Caucus of the United Methodist Church, Myrtle Driver and everyone else that knew the issue I had at HCC with my badge and for their support in prayers for patience and their belief that Harrah's Entertainment would make the right decision.

As of now, I think I am the only EBCI member with their name in syllabary on their badge. Again, I thank all of you EBCI members that supported my effort to work with Harrah's Entertainment to make this a successful mission.

Painttown Rep. travels to Okla. and NM

Note: The following is a travel report submitted by Painttown Rep. Terri Henry.

Cherokee Code § 117.21 mandates that Tribal officials submit a written report following official travel. With this report, I am submitting my official report on the recent travel in which I have been privileged to participate. This report covers 2 trips as indicated above.

Painttown Rep. Terri Henry

On April 14 through 16, 2010, the Cherokee Nation hosted us with tremendous hospitality throughout our visit. At the request of Ms. Pam Iron, Co-Chair of the National VAWA Research Taskforce and Executive Director of the National Indian Women's Health Resource Center, a meeting was organized on Wednesday the 14th to introduce and brief the Cherokee Nation's women's advocates on the national organizing efforts to address violence against native women.

Ms. Jacqueline Agtuca, Public Policy Director for Clan Star and NCAI VAWA Taskforce member, provided the briefing for the advocates representing various organizations providing direct services to native women in Oklahoma, including an Associate Justice of the Cherokee Nation Supreme Court and the Institute for Native Justice. Big Cove Rep. McCoy and myself participated in this meeting where we shared the frustrations of crime and violence in Indian Country with our Cherokee Nation relatives. In the exchange of conversation and ideas, we learned of the Oklahoma Sovereignty Symposium that is established to provide a forum in which ideas concerning common legal issues can be exchanged in a scholarly, non-adversarial environment. We shared our activities in organizing with the Qualla Women's Justice Alliance and national native women's organizations on an amicus brief submitted to the US Supreme Court on the Plains Commerce Bank Case in 2008 and an amicus brief submitted to the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights in the Jessica Gonzales case in 2009.

As I had submitted a resolution to the Joint Council Session seeking "Support for the Reauthorization of the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA), the Family Violence Prevention Services Act (FVPSA), and Nation-to-Nation Consultation with the US Dept. of Justice in 2010", I asked for and received their gracious support of this legislation.

On the 15th, we all got a charter bus and headed out toward Tahlequah for an all day tour of the Cherokee Nation, including the Tribal Hospital, Tribal enterprises, schools, governmental offices, museum, etc. For instance, the services that the Tribal hospital provides are remarkable. The Cherokee Nation Industries operates as a government contractor in the aerospace and defense sector of manufacturing and distribution industries. We visited many of their programs and operations that provided a wealth of information and insight into their tribal success. As this was my first "official" visit, I was impressed with their development, ideas and business model concepts. As the success of any venture starts with a vision, the same is true for the success of a government. In this vein, I had the opportunity to begin discussing the tribe's organizational model with Principal Chief Chad Smith at the formal dinner on Thursday evening.

On Friday the 16th, I was proud and humbled to participate in the Joint Tribal Council Session of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and the Cherokee Nation. After the opening of the Joint Council session by Speaker Frailey, we were a part of moving presentations to the families of former Principal Chief Wilma Mankiller and former Deputy Chief Hastings Shade honoring their lives and commitment to their People. We watched several presentations on various issues facing our People, including, update on the Freedman issue by Chief Smith, Kituwah Mound Update by Russ Townsend (EBCI), Status of Tribal Recognition Issues / Tribal Sovereignty Identify Theft video by Cherokee Nation Councilor Cara Cowan Watts, Kituwah Preservation & Education Program MOA Overview & Report by Renissa Walker (EBCI), and Moravian Archives by author/researcher Daniel Crews.

Joint Tribal Council session discussed and voted on nine resolutions: 7 were passed, 2 were tabled. I submitted a Resolution Supporting to Increase the Safety of Native Women Through Reauthorization of the Violence Against Women Act of 2005 and Technical Amendments; Reauthorization of the Family Violence Prevention Services Act, and Nation-to-Nation Consultation on VAWA with the United States Department of Justice in 2010 that passed. At the request of Paint Town community member Ned Stamper and the Brothers in the Wind motorcycle group, a Resolution to Support the "Brothers in the Wind Remembrance Removal Tour" co-sponsored by Vice Chair B Ensley and myself was submitted and passed.

I offer my congratulations to the Cherokee Nation on its successes, and, heartfelt gratitude for their tremendous hospitality. We were well fed and the food was fantastic. I also offer my gratitude to our hosts, Speaker Meredith Frailey and the Cherokee Nation Tribal Council, Principal Chief Chad Smith and Deputy Chief Joe Grayson, and especially Gail Miller and Robbie Tate of Cherokee Nation Legislative Branch, our guide Diane Kelly of Career Services who made our visit so memorable.

This visit could not have been a success on our end without the support of our Tribal Operations Program staff that coordinated logistics with Cherokee Nation. With gratitude to Rosie McCoy, Kelly Long, Kelly Dills, Althea Lossie Cruz, and Denise Walkingstick who traveled with us. Cherokee Royalty participation was a delight; thank you to Kele Crisp, Kassie Lossiah, Emma Stamper, and their parents for supporting these beautiful girls. A special thank you to Jacqueline Agtuca of Clan Star, Inc., and the NCAI VAWA Taskforce.

It was great to see our People from home that was participating in the Cherokee Speakers Gatherings: Ella Bird, Mary Brown, Arnold Wachacha, Tom Belt, Marie Junaluska, Cynthia Grant, and the others who made our visit feel like home.

From Oklahoma I traveled to the Mescalero Apache Tribe in Mescalero, New Mexico, to attend the 34th Annual National Indian Timber Symposium: Thinking Beyond the Mill, April 19 through 23, 2010. From the Albuquerque Airport it's a 3-hour drive south through the desert and mountains to Mescalero. One of my Council Committee assignments is the Timber & Natural Resource Committee. As the Tribe is currently in development of its Integrated Natural Resource Management Plan (IRMP), I felt it timely and important to attend this meeting to learn about the current issues related to IRMP implementation, timber and natural resources.

On the 19th, I attended the PreSymposium Workshop: "Tools Necessary for Implementation and Monitoring of Integrated Resource Management". This pre-symposium workshop session provided information on how to implement and monitor the IRMP utilizing some tools that are available for use on Indian lands. Most of the tools presented are used in mapping and monitoring trends in burn severity (MTBS) of forest fires using data access and reporting tools via the internet and satellite technology; continuous forest inventory (CFI) plot inventory system and the forest inventory database online (FIDO). All of these tools are available to monitor the health and condition of the forest resources and determining large-scale forest trends, either in conjunction with the CFI or as a stand-alone inventory. Finally, the Census Bureau has tools available online that can assist in analyzing the social and economic data for our reservation.

On the 20th, the Timber Symposium began. After the opening ceremonies and various addresses by invited dignitaries, the workshop session were framed to provide information on integrating all the possible natural resource components and ecologies into a bigger picture that enables tribes to effectively and efficiently manage all its natural resources with an eye toward utilizing them for marketing and branding products for sale in the market-place. After several tribes shared information of their successful projects, information was presented about marketing and branding of tribal forest products with examples of tribes engaged in these kinds of activities.

I attended a portion of the "Tribal Enterprise Structures and Business Financing Options" workshop session. This workshop provided ideas and options for tribes to consider seeking, optimizing and finalizing financing opportunities for wood utilization projects and tribal enterprises. Discussed were thoughts on various tribal business structures in light of various tax credits and financing incentives; business financing options including joint ventures and partnerships; and, recommendations for tribal enterprises seeking effective investment capital.

The Southern Ute Indian Tribe's Growth Fund, which operates and manages the Southern Ute Indian Tribe's businesses and business investments, was presented as an example of a tribal success story in aggressive engagement of a business model. In this role, the Growth Fund oversees a significant portfolio of companies and investments in energy, real estate, construction, materials, and private equity. In the nine years of operation, the Growth Fund has broadened its holding and committed capital to the broadening range of businesses and investments. Operations and assets are spread out over fourteen states and the Gulf of Mexico.

I also received a handbook on "Renewable Energy Development in Indian Country" that was distributed in the "Aligning Financial Options with Tribal Goals and Objectives".

In the Global Warming workshop sessions, information was presented on Carbon Sequestration, which reduces carbon in greenhouse gases. Potentially a minimal source of revenue for possessory holders with land parcels that are limited due to geographic location, i.e., slope, comma, aspect, land locked, etc. This is a technical issue that I have requested the Tribe's Forest Resource Specialist, Tommy Cabe, to invite a consulting firm to talk with us about an "Improved Forest Management Carbon Project" for the Tribe as soon as it can be scheduled.

I had the opportunity to meet Mr. Fred Clark, Director, Office of Tribal Relations, US Forest Service – Farm Bill 2008 updates that impact Tribal interests on Forest Service lands. Mr. Clark is scheduled to present this information to the Tribe at the May 17th Timber Committee Meeting.

Finally, Mr. Clark gave me the "National Arbor Day Initiative for Children" packet. This packet contains information on how to use trees in the classroom setting, encouraging environmental mindedness in education.

Respectfully submitted.

Snowbird Road Sign Project rolling

Larry Hembree (left), Graham County Emergency Management, Mollie Grant (center), EBCI Emergency Management, and Cherokee County – Snowbird Rep. Diamond Brown Jr. pose next to one of thirty one signs which were installed last month in the Snowbird Community as part of the Snowbird Road Sign Project which will highlight the Cherokee language and culture along the roads. EBCI linguist Garfield Long translated the street names from English to Cherokee. The N.C. Department of Corrections made the signs using a special computer program provided by the EBCI Emergency Management Program. The project originally started as a request from Rep. Brown and the Snowbird Community Club. The EBCI Emergency Management/911 Program coordinated with Graham County Emergency Management/911 Program who is responsible for the 911 addressing for the Snowbird Community. EBCI Emergency Management/911 Program officials related, "We would like to extend a special thanks to the people who also worked on this project: Garfield Long, Brian Johnson, Polly Castorena, Josh Istvan, Junior Jackson, David Wachacha, Glenn Welch and the CDOT staff who worked so diligently in the Snowbird Community."

dent has the desire."

According to Gene Couch, vice president for instructional and student services at Southwestern, what's most impressive is when students like Miles are not only completing their requirements for their high school diploma, but have earned enough credits to actually complete associate degrees at the same time. "These are extremely talented and motivated individuals," said Couch. "They have really dedicated themselves to their coursework."

Miles, a senior at Cherokee High School, intends to complete a degree in the medical field. She's thinking about becoming a nurse or doctor after continuing her education at UNC-Chapel Hill, where she's earned a full scholarship for the fall. Cassie plans to earn a master's degree immediately after completing her bachelor's degree. "Because I'm completing my associate's degree now, I'll likely finish my bachelor's at age 20," said Miles.

"I'd say that's not too horrible of a problem to have," Dyke said, laughing. "I advise students to take some college courses now. They will not only benefit from the quality college education available in their hometown environment, they will also build in flexibility for later on down the road. A current enrollment student like Cassie who continues to a four-year college or university will have the flexibility to take a lighter load some semester if needed, take time off for other pursuits, or complete a master's degree at an earlier age."

"I liked the idea of completing high school and my first two years of college at the same time," Miles said. "And it sure doesn't hurt that those first two years of college were free."

"It's a milestone for SCC current enrollment and Cherokee High School," Dyke said. "Although this is our first dual graduate from Cherokee High School, I'm meeting more and more students who are interested in following in Cassie's footsteps. With the continued support of the teachers and administrators at Cherokee High School, we hope to see more and more dual graduates in the very near future."

For more information about SCC Concurrent Enrollment, phone 828.586.4091, ext. 394 or 800.447.4091 or visit the SCC website at www.southwest-erncc.edu/collegeaccess/index.htm.

Ham & Cheese Breakfast Casserole

This healthy update of a traditionally rich ham-and-cheese breakfast strata is made lighter primarily by losing a few egg yolks and using nonfat milk. Gruyère cheese has a delicious, nutty aroma and flavor, which means that with the relatively small amount in this recipe you still get a big impact. To finish the makeover use nutritious, fiber-rich, whole-grain bread. To wilt spinach, rinse thoroughly with cool water. Transfer to a large microwave-safe bowl. Cover with plastic wrap and punch several holes in it. Microwave on High until wilted, 2 to 3 minutes. Squeeze out excess moisture before adding the spinach to the recipe. The results: plenty of flavor, half the calories and one-third the fat of the original. Serves 6 Ingredients

- 4 large eggs
- 4 large egg whites
- 1 cup nonfat milk
- 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
- 1 teaspoon minced fresh rosemary
- 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper

5 cups chopped spinach, wilted (see Tip)
4 cups whole-grain bread, crusts removed if desired, cut into 1-inch cubes (about 1/2 pound, 4-6 slices)

• 1 cup diced ham steak, (5 ounces)

• 1/2 cup chopped jarred roasted red peppers

• 3/4 cup shredded Gruyère, or Swiss cheese

Preparation

1. Preheat oven to 375°F. Coat a 7-by-11inch glass baking dish or a 2-quart casserole with cooking spray.

2. Whisk eggs, egg whites and milk in a medium bowl. Add mustard, rosemary and pepper; whisk to combine. Toss spinach, bread, ham and roasted red peppers in a large bowl. Add the egg mixture and toss well to coat. Transfer to the prepared baking dish and push down to compact. Cover with foil.

3. Bake until the custard has set, 40 to 45 minutes. Uncover, sprinkle with cheese and continue baking until the pudding is puffed and golden on top, 15 to 20 minutes more. Transfer to a wire rack and cool for 15 to 20 minutes before serving.

Strawberry Cream

This chilled strawberry dessert gets creaminess and a touch of tanginess from reduced-fat sour cream. Topped with some ruby-red diced strawberries, it makes a delightful ending to any meal. Serves 4

Ingredients

- Cream
- 3 tablespoons cold water
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 4 cups hulled strawberries
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 3/4 cup reduced-fat sour cream Topping
- 1 cup hulled strawberries, cut into 1/4-

inch dice

• 2 teaspoons sugar

Preparation

1. To prepare cream: Stir together water and gelatin in a small heatproof cup or bowl. Microwave, uncovered, on High until the gelatin has completely dissolved but the liquid is not boiling, 20 to 30 seconds. (Alternatively, bring 1/2 inch water to a gentle simmer in a small skillet. Set the bowl with the gelatin mixture in the simmering water until the gelatin has dissolved completely.) Stir the mixture until smooth.

2. Place strawberries, sugar and vanilla in a food processor and puree. Add sour cream; pulse to combine. With the motor running, slowly add the dissolved gelatin. Pour the cream into four 8-ounce bowls or wineglasses. Cover and refrigerate until set, about 3 hours.

3. To prepare topping & amp; serve: Toss diced strawberries and sugar in a small bowl; let stand until slightly juicy, about 2 minutes. Divide among the creams.

Cherokee to host Operation Medicine Drop Event

Operation Medicine Drop disposes of Unused,Expired Prescriptions

Poisonings from prescription medications are on the rise in North Carolina. Since 1999, more than 75 percent of all unintentional poisonings were caused by prescription or over-thecounter medications (source N.C. Division of Public Health). Operation Medicine Drop is a program aimed at providing the public a safe and secure method for disposing of their prescription and over-the-counter medications.

Operation Medicine Drop will host take-back events on the Cherokee Indian Reservation on May 22 where the public can drop off prescriptions or over-the-counter products that may have expired or are unused. The Operation Medicine Drop events will have a law enforcement partner that will dispose of the medications in a safe and secure way.

Children ages 1-5 account for 23 percent of all emergency department visits related to poisoning and these types of injuries result in a high death rate of infants younger than 1 year old due to their smaller size (source World Health Organization 2008 Childhood Injury Report).

While most parents and caregivers are familiar with other poisoning culprits such as cleaning supplies and poisonous plants, most childhood poisonings occur from medications. Whether a person is injured or dies is determined by many factors such as dosing, size of child, condition of child's health, and means of ingestion. The best form of prevention is to remove any risk from a child's environment.

Operation Medicine Drop is sponsored across North Carolina by Safe Kids North Carolina, the N.C. Department of Insurance, State Bureau of Investigation and Drug Enforcement Administration. For more information about Operation Medicine Drop or for a schedule of statewide take-back events, visit www.ncsafekids.org and click on the Operation Medicine Drop logo.

HEALTH TALK

Cherokee Runners News

The Cherokee Runners had a busy week. It started with a speed workout presented by Eddie & Stephan Swimmer. The session included a timed mile for each runner to get their "fastest" mile. Then the group did interval training for a mile. The day was very cold and cloudy, but we were able to complete the workout just as the clouds burst and heavy freezing rain came down.

Later in the week, several club members volunteered to help with the Special Olympics. It was a great day for athletes, volunteers and spectators alike. The weather was perfect and each volunteer had different stories to tell of their encounters with the athletes and their coaches and families.

On Sunday, the club did the weekly group run at Towstring at 7:30 a.m. This run will continue to occur each Sunday with the start of the run as early as possible. The locations of the run may change, but for the month of May, they will begin at the first parking area on Towstring (dirt road leading to Smokemont). Any runner is invited to run this course with the club. It is fast and mostly flat. For the coming weekend, several club members will participate in the Mother's Day 5K in Cherokee. Some will run in the race while others volunteer.

Anyone interested in joining the club may contact Stephan Swimmer, Elnora Thompson or Gerri Grady. Registration forms are available on our webpage: cherokeerunners.com. Additional information is available on the club's Facebook page.

CHS Seniors travel to the Big Apple

SUBMITTED By DEBORA FOERST CHEROKEE CENTRAL SCHOOLS

ost teenagers are out on a Saturday night, watching movies, hanging out with their friends, looking for something to do, but for a group of Cherokee High School seniors, they boarded a Cherokee Boys Club charter bus on Saturday, April 17 at 10pm to travel to New York City for their senior trip.

The itinerary included visits to Rockefeller Center, Ground Zero, Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Chinatown, Little Italy, Times Square, and Central Park (including Strawberry Fields). They watched a Mets game and a Broadway show ("The Lion King" at Minskoff Theatre). Of course the favored activity of the week was SHOPPING!

The students enjoyed the trip but were amazed at how much people walk in NYC, but after sitting in traffic every day just to get through the Lincoln tunnel, it all made sense! Some student comments include:

"You can stand in one spot for just a few minutes and hear people speaking several different languages."

"I loved Central Park. I was surprised there was such a pretty and peaceful place in New York."

"I didn't want to leave."

"I think I could live here."

"I can't wait to get back to the mountains."

"Gosh, there's always some smell, good and bad."

"I didn't realize how much I would like it."

The Class of 2010 related, "We would like to thank everyone who helped us as we raised money and prepared for the trip. Thanks to the CHS Booster Club for the Braves bag, to senior Alisha Long for donating a basket (made with her grandmother Lillian Crowe), and to Cherokee by Design for donating a clock for raffle fundraisers. Congratulations to Charlene Owle for winning the Alisha Long/Lillian Crowe basket and to David Cozzo for winning the Cherokee by Design clock."

They continued, "To everyone who purchased doughnuts, oranges, pizzas, and raffle tickets, we thank you. We especially want to thank our principal, Jason Ormbsy, for your support and for the cookout before we left Cherokee. Thanks to Ray Kinsland and the boys club; you don't even know how much you mean to us. "

CONGRATULATIONS TO NOAH WOLFE

Congratulations to Noah Wolfe who won first place at the Regional School Bus Roadeo on Tuesday, April 26 held in Asheville. This is the ninth year that Noah has won first place in the entire western region and advanced to the State Finals held in Raleigh each June.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to each student who was recognized at the Cherokee High School Academic/Athletic Annual Awards program Wednesday morning, May 5. These accomplishments were the result of many people working and studying diligently throughout the entire school year. Thanks to the students, their families and the school staff for a great job.

MORE CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to every student who is participating this week in the outstanding Annual Art Show at Cherokee High School. The artwork is open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and will be open Thursday night until 8:00 p.m. The display is in the Cultural Center (use Middle School main entrance). We urge everyone to visit one of the greatest art shows in the world right here in Cherokee!

STILL MORE CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to each student who is being recognized this Friday morning at the Council House by the Cherokee Tribal Council for their academic achievements. May each of us support and encourage each of our students and may we appreciate the Tribe for recognizing and encouraging our youth.

BAND CONCERT

We urge everyone to attend the Spring Band Concert in the Performing Arts Center (Auditorium) at Cherokee Central Schools at 7:00 p.m. Thursday night, May 6. Our band has worked very hard throughout the school year and we appreciate each of them.

TRIBAL CHILD SUPPORT OFFICE NOW OPEN

The Tribal Child Support Program opened Monday, May 3 in the Club's Acquoni Building. The Child Support Program is reached through the rear entrance of the Acquoni Building where the Hope Center was formerly located. They have an Interagency Use Agreement with the Club for this space. The phone numbers are 497-4317 or 497-4381.

Local Harrah's Cherokee Employees honored

Five Harrah's Cherokee Casino & Hotel employees – two from Sylva, two from Cherokee and one from Waynesville - recently were honored as the business' top performers for the 1st Quarter of 2010.

Janet Creason and Mike Prindiville of Sylva, Bobbie Holt and Sharon Owle of Cherokee, and Denise Morrison of Waynesville were inducted into the Yonah Club, a unique group of outstanding Harrah's Cherokee employees. "Yonah" is the Cherokee word for "bear," an animal of great strength, hard work and courage - fitting characteristics for top-performing employees. • Creason, who is a Gaming Host in the Operations Department, earned her Yonah Award for Guest Service;

• Prindiville, who works in the casino's Information Technology Department, earned his award for Internal Service; · Holt, a supervisor in the Operations Department, was honored for Leadership,

• Owle, an Employee Relations Counselor in the Human Resources Department, earned her Yonah for Community Service: and

• Morrison, a Supervisor in the Housekeeping Department, was honored for Innovation.

"These employees are truly the best of the best at Harrah's Cherokee," said General Manager Darold Londo. "They are outstanding employees; role models at work and in their communities; employees who our guests and their co-workers recognize for their hard work, dedication and contributions to our company. We are extremely proud of them and the contributions they make each and every day."

In addition to a check for $300 each, Yonah Club members get a certificate of recognition and an automatic nomination at year's end for a Chairman's Award, which is the highest award Harrah's gives to its employees. In addition, quarterly Yonah Club members are considered for Yonah of the Year Awards and a $1,000 prize.

We're having our annual Community Celebration! Come join us.

Miss Cherokee Rachel Hicks, visited New Echota, Ga. on Saturday, May 1 to celebrate Spring. A trip to the Capital of the Cherokee Nation was educational in both the culture and history of the Cherokee. New Echota gives an idea of what a Cherokee town was like, with a council house, court house and the Cherokee Phoenix printing press. Miss Cherokee talked and visited with visitors to the site. Miss Cherokee related she would like to thank David Gomez, Donna Myers and all the Friends of New Echota for the great hospitality. After leaving New Echota, Miss Cherokee visited the historic site of the Chief Vann House which was the largest and most properous plantation in the Cherokee nation, located near Chatsworth, Georgia. Miss Cherokee would like to thank Jeff and Chad at the Vann house for a friendly visit and the invite to come back in July.

Trail of Tears remembered in Unaka

SUBMITTED By ALAN KEITH

UNAKA - May 1 saw the unveiling of a Trail of Tears Exhibit in Wacheesee Town. Unaka is a community of 1200 located fifteen miles north of Murphy in Cherokee County, North Carolina at the intersection of Joe Brown Highway and Beaverdam Road.

For centuries, the Unicoi Turnpike was the principle trade route that connected the eastern seaboard of the southern states to land west of the Appalachian Mountains. The events of 1838 resulted in a new name for the turnpike – the Trail of Tears. Much of modern Joe Brown Highway follows sections of the Trail of Tears. That part known as Wacheessee Town for the very prominent Wacheessee and his large family is now known as Unaka.

The Unaka Community Development Club recognizes the historical significance of Wacheessee Town and the Trail of Tears and has dedicated considerable time and effort to bring appropriate respect and increased awareness to them. Working with the North Carolina Chapter of the Trail of Tears Association and members of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians, the Unaka group assisted in the installation of the Wacheessee Town Trail of Tears exhibit in front of the Unaka Community Center.

The NC chapter of the Trail of Tears Association (TOTA) worked with the National Park Service to create and install the exhibit. Other key supporters that made the event possible include: Cherokee County Manager David Badger;

Phylis Blackmon, Director, Cherokee County Chamber; Cherokee Scout Staff Writer Lizz Harold; Cherokee One Feather; WKRK Party Line (along with a personal endorsement of Unaka's community interest); the Cherokee County Sheriff's Department provided a tent, Wells and West; the Tennessee Overhill Heritage Association and the Benton MacKaye Trail Association.

T.J. Holland, director of the Junaluska Museum in Robbinsville and an EBCI tribal member, spoke to attendees about early Cherokee life and Wacheessee in particular. Murphy resident Diane Wells and Dr. Anne Rogers, President of the NCTOTA explained TOTA's mission and why the Trail of Tears is so very significant.

About seventy folks stood in the rain for the unveiling, about 120 came to the open house, health fair (staffed by Unaka VFD) and for the smoked pork meal.

WCU Cherokee Language Program Hartwell Francis and Tom Belt

The W-line is the fourth line in Worcester's (1828) organization of the Cherokee syllabary. Each syllable of the line is an 'l' combined with one of the six Cherokee vowels (Ia, Ie, Ii, Io, Iu, Iv):

W S P G M A

Very few words in Cherokee begin with one of the W-line syllables. In his classic GWY-AAS JSHIDVJ 'Cherokee-English Dictionary' (1975, Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma), Durbin Feeling lists only GG 'locust, cicada'. In their manuscript, Cherokee-English Stem Lexicon, Nancy Blackfox Bigmeat, Robert Bushyhead, and Charles Huff (1977) list only WSPDY 'weeping willow' and \Im (or O \Im W) 'poison ivy' as words that start with a W-line syllable. Names have W-line syllables first - GD Rose and Mbh Luzene come to mind. Because there are so few words that begin with W-line syllables, we must look inside words for examples.

Our WCU Cherokee Language Program works closely with Kituwah Preservation and Education Program of the EBCI, and we join KPEP in celebrating the 6th anniversary of the Cherokee language immersion program, DV JSG dOV&IOJ. In celebration of DV JSG dOV&IOJ, we will take our examples of W-line syllables from KPEP's new book, ...Z& GWY E7 DOOJGOAT '...and in Tsalagi they dream'.

We find an excellent example of W, the first syllable of the line, in GWY. GWY and DhGWY are key words we keep in mind to remember the syllables, in the first word, three syllables and two more in the second word. We see the first two syllables of the line, W and &, in the phrase GWY DhOhOY DOV&IOY 'Cherokee speaking students.' In the text W occurs in $JW 'nine', ລົ$WF& 'Oklahoma', DV OOJWJOJ 'their new home' and T$SLW 'our responsibility'.

The second syllable of the line, δ , occurs in the frequent word $Z\delta$ 'and'. $Z\delta$ is another key word, a simple, easy-to-remember word that can remind you of the sound and shape of the syllables Z and δ . We see δ twice in the phrase $S \otimes \delta O Z\delta \otimes SWF\delta$, once in $S \otimes \delta O$ and again in the conjunction $Z\delta$. When we teach the syllabary, we suggest students think of δ as a ladle. δ occurs in $O \otimes \delta O$? 'they first began' or 'they first started it'. δ occurs in GWY DhOh \otimes Y D $\otimes V\delta$ I \otimes Y 'Cherokee language students' and in the related $\delta \otimes V\delta$ I $\otimes J$ 'school'. Note that D $\otimes V\delta$ I $\otimes Y$ 'students' and $\delta \otimes V\delta$ I $\otimes J$ 'school' occur without the ♂ in other dialects as DOSGIOJ and dOSGIOJ 'school'.

The ... Z& GWY EA DODYGDAT text is peppered with examples of the third syllable of the line, P. P occurs several times in the dates SPDJ DA WP TDSBP 4AW 'September 1, 2009' and ShhJ SPVYA 'October 7'. WP 'two' is a good key word to remember the sound and shape of the syllable. Overall, you will know a lot of syllables if you practice writing to twenty in Cherokee. SPVYA 'seventh' is not such a good key word because the vowel of P is silent. To show this, we will write SPVYA. We see nice examples of P in the phrase GWY EA DZ&P Z& DhAPB 'using Tsalagi they are writing and reading'.

The fourth syllable of the line, G, occurs in OOSGF4 DhSAC FR 'they found there were few'. Just before the DV YSG dOV&IDJ began, GWY OOLLDET 'the Cherokee tribe' surveyed the number of speakers in the community and OOSGF4 DhSAC FR. So JhWOY OhGDDLO' 'Tribal Council' passed a resolution to create DV YSG dOV&IDJ. DOYDA dSJBL OGRDJ 'it has been fifty years' since DhSBP 'elders' have heard GWY EJ DhOhDE Z& LhZYDE JhAC 'children speaking and singing Cherokee.'

The fifth syllable of the line, M, does not occur in the text. Despite being rare, and rare syllables will be the hardest to fully memorize, M does occur in the important word SMS 'she/he is arriving'. Cherokee verbs have complex structure, and the first thing to learn about any verb is the third person singular and the first person singular. If you know SMS and MMS 'I am arriving', you can predict all the other pronoun forms. Knowing the pronoun forms is one of the first steps to fluency in the language. &S TB L₃M^I/₇ 'When are you going to arrive?'

The sixth syllable of the line, ۹, occurs in some important words in the text. The text is about the community coming together to build the DV YSG dOV&IOA, and that's impossible without bLA9 'family'. We tell our family $\mathcal{OY}\mathcal{OS}\mathcal{A}$ 'you helped us'. And now JhAC $\mathcal{O}\mathcal{A}\mathcal{A}\mathcal{O}\mathcal{A}$ DV $\mathcal{O}\mathcal{O}\mathcal{A}\mathcal{W}\mathcal{A}\mathcal{O}\mathcal{A}$ 'the children love their new home'. A also occurs with some frequency due to the structure of the language. We see 9 used in the Perfective Past EZL hCA9 TEU TYOLBOA 'you made our language live'.

Recorded mp3 files for this text can be found at https://media.wcu.edu/groups/cherokeelanguage/wiki/31a7f/ha_line.html This project is supported in part by the Cherokee Preservation Foundation.

Business Opportunity Fair coming to Cherokee

SUBMITTED By HOPE HUSKEY

Looking for information on starting your own business? Wondering about marketing, financing and how other entrepreneurs have achieved success with their ventures? Want to find out how to grow your existing business?

Get ideas, information, resources and support at the Business Opportunity Fair on May 11, 2-6 p.m., at Birdtown Recreation Center in Cherokee, sponsored by the Sequoyah Fund, Cherokee Business Development Center, N.C. Cooperative Extension, and AdvantageWest Economic Development Group.

Free and open to the public, the event includes a lineup of speakers and numerous information booths to help aspiring or existing entrepreneurs discover potential business ideas, financing resources, and the critical steps in starting a business. Included will be special information on business ideas for youth. Educational sessions include panel discussion at 5 p.m. featuring local entrepreneurs sharing how they got started in their businesses and the obstacles they met and overcame.

The Business Opportunity Fair will have information centers on businesses involving agriculture, natural products, fabric arts and woodworking, cultural arts and entertainment, technology, and youth.

In addition, the following are among the participants that will provide information on financing and resources:

Cherokee Business Development Sequoyah Fund Small Business Administration (SBA) N.C. Industrial Extension Services Small Business & Technology Development Center (SBTDC) Tribal Employment Rights Office (TERO)

The day will also include a brief ceremony at 4 p.m. by AdvantageWest Senior Vice President Entrepreneurial Development Pam Lewis, who will present Cherokee with its official status as a Certified Entrepreneurial Community(SM). Achieving CEC certification recognizes the tribe's commitment to encourage and support entrepreneurship while improving the business climate for existing companies.

The CEC program was developed by AdvantageWest and requires communities to complete a rigorous, five-step process to become certified. Those steps included assessing the community's current entrepreneurial landscape, creating a comprehensive strategy for entrepreneurial growth, marshaling the community's entrepreneurial resources, and identifying and nurturing the community's most promising entrepreneurial talents.

Members of the Cherokee CEC Leadership Team that spearheaded the effort include: Gloria Rattler (Team Leader), Director of Cherokee Business Development; Nell Leatherwood , Executive Director of the Sequoyah Fund; Hope Huskey, Business Development Specialist with Cherokee Business Development; Wendy Cagle , Director of the Small Business & Technology Development Center (SBTDC); Perry Shell, EBCI Councilman; Mickey Duvall, Director of the Cherokee Office of Planning & Development; Charlene Toineeta, Housing Services Manager with Cherokee Community Development; Darlene Waycaster, former Director of the Cherokee Chamber of Commerce; Janet Arch, owner of ML&S Construction & Services; Ellison Rudd, President of First Citizens Bank; Don Rose of Whittier; and Russ Seagle, Senior Loan Officer & Manager of Client Development for the Sequoyah Fund.

The Tribe joins Haywood, Transylvania, Watauga, Burke, Mitchell and Polk Counties as certified communities. The CEC program, the first of its type in the country, has been presented twice before Congress and recognized at the National Consortium for Entrepreneurship Education.
