Ric Bird opens third Smoke Shop in Cherokee

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

Ric Bird, an EBCI tribal member, opened his first Smoke Shop in Cherokee on Oct. 1, 2010. Since that time, his stores have contributed over $636,000 to tribal levy, and this past year alone, his two stores contributed over $225,000. He opened his third store, this one located in the Saunooke Village off of Big Cove Road, on Friday, May 2.

“The motto for our store is to create income, create jobs, increase tribal levy, and raise the grandkids,” said Bird. “We saw this as a new market.”

“We saw it as an opportunity to create more jobs and hopefully increase tribal levy and our sales.”

The three shops currently employ a total of 18 people, 14 of which are EBCI tribal members.

On his success, Bird related, “We took a chance. Everyone was a critic when I first told them I was going into the tobacco business.

They said there was no money in tobacco because the profits are very low... .but, we worked hard and we worked to give a nice, fair price to our people.”

Principal Chief Michell Hicks cut the ribbon to officially open the new shop on Friday. In speaking at the event, he commented to Bird, “We do appreciate what you're doing and what you're doing for our community. To think about the amount of tribal levy you have generated is really commendable. Continue your good work.”

Bertie Saunooke, owner of the building the new shop is located in, was also at Friday's event. “I wish you all the luck with your grand opening. It's something we've been talking about since last year...I think it's going to be a great addition to this area right here.”

Descendants of Civil War soldiers remember William Holland Thomas

ROBERT JUMPER
ONE FEATHER EDITOR

WAYNESVILLE - On Saturday, May 3, in Waynesville at Green Hill Cemetery, members and guests of the Colonel William Holland Thomas SCV Camp 2231 remembered the life and service of Colonel Thomas. William Holland Thomas served as Chief of the North Carolina or Qualla Town Cherokee (today's Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians) in 1839.

At 1pm, family and descendants of the original members of Thomas's Highland/Cherokee Legion joined members of Camp 2231 in the remembrance ceremony. Cherokee warriors were members of the Legion under the leadership of Colonel Thomas.

A color guard-John Myers, Kim Myers and Harold Franklin-posted colors and the gathering was lead in prayer by Adjutant Doug Knight to open the ceremony. Opening remarks were made by Commander Ron Green. Other camp members in attendance were Anthony Messer and Billy Messer. The organization's historian, Billy Messer, read excerpts from Bushwhackers:

The Civil War in North Carolina-The Mountains by William Trotter (1991, John F. Blair Publishing, Winston-Salem, NC). He summarized the life of Thomas; his life influenced by the Cherokee people and his adopted father, Chief Yonaguska. His description included Thomas's devotion to the culture and people. He studied Cherokee history, stories, and traditions and learned the Cherokee language.

Messer stated that William Thomas "had a love of the Cherokee tribe and fought for their right to remain in their homeland". He also noted that at one time, all of the land in Western North Carolina belonged to the Cherokee.

The ceremony concluded as the color guard placed a wreath at the grave of Colonel Thomas.

This is an annual ceremony observed by the Sons of Confederate Veterans organization on or near the anniversary of the passing of Thomas. William Holland Thomas died on May 10, 1893.

Stamper Dry Cleaners holds ribbon cutting

Chelsea Saunooke, an EBCI tribal member from the Wolfetown community, held a small ribbon cutting on Monday, May 5 to officially open Stamper Dry Cleaners, a full-service dry cleaner with services done on location.

"I came up with the name Stamper Dry Cleaners to honor my late grandmother Roxie Stamper," she said. "The family and I loved her dearly. She was a woman who did great and creative things. I aspire to be like her and feel that serving my community is a great way to start."

Saunooke is the latest in a series of EBCI entrepreneurs taking strides to build their own businesses in Cherokee. The idea came during a conversation with a friend about entrepreneur opportunities enrolled members should seek. Within a week of discussing the idea, local networking afforded her the opportunity to purchase equipment from a local business and built the foundation to set up Stamper Dry Cleaners.

"Stamper Dry Cleaners is a business that I want the community to be proud of and encourage members to take advantage of local services provided by enrolled members in Cherokee," explained Saunooke.

In Loving Memory of Leema Hornbuckle

Thank You Momma

*I look back on my childhood, each and every night
Remembering the one who held us so tight
You took on a task no none made you do
Bringing to everyone, saying we belong to you
Not too long after you took the 3 of us in The Lord came and blessed you with Molly and Will Now with 5 little children all screaming "Mom"
You never gave up, you gave it your all
But time passed so quickly, soon we were grown
The Lord came and blessed us, with children of our own
But as life would have it, your heart soon gave away
I love you My Children, was all you could say
We didn't wanna lose you. We were all scared
So we ask the Lord to help you. Here's what he said
My child she has pleased me, Let her take comfort and rest
When you needed a mother, I gave you the best
Now it is finished, her work here is done
I'm taking her with me, to her heavenly home
We all wanna say "Thank you Momma" for all you have done
You're our angel in heaven, with a crown you have won
Rest easy now "momma" we just wanna say
We love you and miss you "Happy Mother's Day"*

TRACK & FIELD

Three from Cherokee advance to state

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

ASHEVILLE - Three Cherokee High School athletes have advanced to this week's 1A State Track Championship in Greensboro. They earned their spots by placing in the top four at the 1A West Regional Track Championships held at A.C. Reynolds High School on Saturday, May 3.

Stevi Sutton took third place in girls discus and first place in girls shot put. Kendall Toineeta took third place in girls 800M, and Anthony Toineeta took third place in boys pole vault.

Sutton was elated after winning the regional championship with a personal best throw of 36' 11.50", "It's great. It's exciting. I'm just ready for state."

Even though she threw her personal best at the regional meet, she hasn't met her goal yet, "I want to get close to 38' at state."

Sutton plans to walk-on the track and field team at Wingate University next year.

Miranda Long Stamper, CHS field coach, commented on Sutton's performance on Saturday, "It's her best ever. She couldn't have done it at a better place or a better time. We're pumped and ready to go to state."

Of Sutton's work ethic, Stamper related, "She's a very hard worker. She's there as long as I'm there and throws until she can't move that arm anymore. We throw hard every single day."

The Smoky Mountain Conference had a very good showing at the meet winning a total of 18 events. Murphy swept the team championships with the girls ending up with 103pts and the boys winning with 127.5pts.

Full meet results are as follows:

Team Girls

Bree Smith, a member of the Cherokee Lady Braves softball team for four years, signed a letter of intent on Monday, April 28 to play softball next season at Haskell Indian Nations University.

“It feels amazing,” she said. “I have dreamt about this since I was a little girl. I never gave up. I just had faith and hope, and my dream is finally coming true. I get to go pitch at Haskell in the fall, and I can’t wait to see where this goes.”

At Haskell, Smith plans to study elementary education, and then she plans to attend Western Carolina University to pursue a master’s degree in Cherokee language.

She was named to the Smoky Mountain All-Conference softball team her junior and senior years.

“I’m very proud of her,” said Bree’s mother, Frances Smith. “I see that it’s a perfect opportunity for her. I know that she will do well, and she’s going to excel out there.”

SAPPHIRE - The second round of the 36-hole Smoky Mountain Conference Tournament was played at the par-70, 6,009yd Sapphire National Golf Club in Sapphire on Monday, April 28. Tagan Crowe and Christian Ensley led the charge for the Cherokee Braves to hold off the challenging Robbinsville Black Knights en route to a NCHSAA Regionals berth.

The team finished fifth with 755 behind first place Hayesville 692, second place Swain 693, third place Murphy 722, and fourth place Highlands 747. The remainder of the field included sixth place Robbinsville 805 and seventh place Blue Ridge 886. Hiwassee Dam, Rosman, and Nantahala also competed but did not qualify due to a lack of players. As one of the top five teams, the Braves advance to the NCHSAA Regional tournament at Linville Golf Club in Linville on Tuesday, May 6.

“I am really proud of our guys for making Regionals this year as a team,” said CHS golf coach Andrew Maney at the conclusion of the tournament. “We had the same lead on Robbinsville last year after the first day and we lost it on the second day to knock ourselves out of regionals. This year was a different story and we put them away on the second day.”

Mars Hill recruit Tagan Crowe shot a 174 at the 36-hole event, finishing off his illustrious Smoky Mountain Conference play fifth overall in the individual category at the tournament. After the match, he was awarded All-Conference for the second consecutive year.

“Tagan played well and earned All-Conference for the second straight year,” said coach Maney. “His game wasn’t where it has been this season but he is a mentally strong kid, which helped him finish in the top five. He’ll get back to the grind and be ready for Regionals next Tuesday.” Christian Ensley, a 2014 All-Conference Honorable Mention, tied for 10th place in the individual category by carding a 185 on the two day event. In regards to Ensley after the match, Coach Maney said, “Christian earned Honorable Mention All-Conference. This was well deserved honor for Christian as he has worked on his game this season.”

Logan Teesateskie was able to get back to form and rebounded strong from Thursday’s performance to

The Braves wrapped up the first round of the SMC tournament in a bit of a slump by finishing fifth with a slight edge over Robbinsville on April 24. However, the team was eager to hit the links on Monday when they traveled back to Sapphire National Golf Club where they placed their lowest scores of the season less than a week prior.

"We didn't play as well as we had hoped to. However, it's the first day and we still had Monday to go," said Coach Andrew Maney after the first round at Chatuge Shores.

The first round of the SMC Tournament included: Swain 341, Hayesville 358, Murphy 362, Highlands 375, Cherokee 385, Robbinsville 396, and Blue Ridge 434. The top four individuals to card on the team's cumulative total were Tagan Crowe, Christian Ensley, Logan Teesateskie, and Steven Straughan.

Christian Ensley took 10th place overall and earned an Honorable Mention All-Conference award.

Island Art Market under new management

The Island Art Market will now be managed by the Cherokee Historical Association (CHA). The Cherokee Historical Association has reviewed the suggestions and complaints of the past few years and made some changes for the booths.

There will be an employee from CHA stationed at the Market to answer questions for the Cultural District and regulate the Market area. The booth prices have changed to $10 per day, $50 per week, or $150/month. If a booth is rented for an extended amount of time, then the vendor will be assigned a booth and it will be reserved for them throughout the duration of the rental. Info: Philenia Walkingstick 736-5348 or philenia@cherokeeadventure.com.

Native fishing rights advocate passes away

Billy Frank, Jr., a member of the Nisqually Tribe, passed away on Monday, May 5. According to information from NCAI, "Billy spent his life fighting for our right to fish and protect our own waters and fiercely advocated for the complete fulfillment of treaty commitments by the federal government."

President Obama said in a statement, "I was saddened to learn of the passing of Billy Frank, Jr. – chairman of the Northwest Indian Fisheries Commission and a member of the Nisqually Indian Tribe. Billy fought for treaty rights to fish the waters of the Pacific Northwest, a battle he finally won in 1974 after being arrested many times during tribal 'fish-ins'. Today, thanks to his courage and determined effort, our resources are better protected, and more tribes are able to enjoy the rights preserved for them more than a century ago. Billy never stopped fighting to make sure future generations would be able to enjoy the outdoors as he did, and his passion on the issue of climate change should serve as an inspiration to us all. I extend my deepest sympathies to the Nisqually Indian Tribe, and to Billy's family, and to his many friends who so greatly admired him."

NCAI president Brian

Cladoosby commented, "Indian Country has lost one of the greatest leaders who fought to protect salmon, water, and quality of life for our people. The loss of a Billy as our teacher, mentor, and elder is immeasurable. Our very way of life is only possible because of the battles Billy fought – without his personal sacrifices, tribes in the Northwest would look very different. My own life would be very different if I had not had been blessed by Billy's teachings, example, and love. My prayers go out to his family and the many, many others whose lives he touched."

Secretary of the Interior Sally Jewell said, "Indian Country and the nation lost a true giant as Chairman Billy Frank has walked on. His lasting legacy will be felt for generations in the hearts and minds of those he touched over an entire life dedicated to serving others. Two weeks ago, the entire room fell silent at a tribal summit held at the Suquamish reservation in Washington to listen as Billy spoke forcefully and passionately about the need to tackle the growing threat of climate change. Billy shared a great sense of urgency that we come together as one people to work toward practical solutions to address its impacts."

Mother's Day Tea Cakes

SHEENA BRINGS PLENTY

I'm baaaaaack!! HaHa! It has been quite a while since my last article for the One Feather, and I'm happy to be back to writing them!! I am going to try to do themed articles based on the holidays or seasons and I hope you all enjoy them as much as I do!

Now that Spring has sprung (supposedly!), that means that Mother's Day is just around the corner! So, with that in mind, I decided to come up with a sweet treat in honor of all moms, aunts, and grandmas. This week's concoction is a golden cake, frosted with homemade simple buttercream, and enrobed in beautiful, decadent, dark chocolate ganache. It is a perfect treat to present to your loved one to let them know how much you love them!

(Yield: About 6 cakes, 2 inches wide and 3 inches tall.)

Yellow Cake

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - ½ teaspoon salt
 - ½ cup unsalted butter, at room temperature (1 stick)
 - 1 ½ cups sugar
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
 - 4 large eggs, plus 2 large egg yolks, at room temperature
 - 1 cup milk
1. In a medium bowl, sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, and salt. Set aside
 2. In the bowl of an electric mixer, beat the butter until light on medium speed. Add the sugar and beat until well-blended. Beat in the vanilla. Add the eggs and yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stop and scrape the sides and bottom of the bowl with a rubber spatula to ensure even mixing. Mix for about 5 seconds more.
 3. Reduce the speed to low and, dividing the flour mixture into 3 batches, beat the flour mixture

SCOTT MCKIE B.P./One Feather

These tea cakes will be the highlight of your Mother's Day brunch.

into the butter mixture alternately with the milk, beginning and ending with the flour mixture.

4. Spray a large sheet pan (9x15x1) with a light layer of pan spray. Then line the pan with a sheet of parchment paper, cut to fit the bottom of the pan. Lightly spray the parchment with the pan spray.

5. Pour the cake batter into the prepared sheet pan. Spread it evenly in the pan and smooth the top with the rubber spatula. Bake at 350 degrees for about 20-25 minutes, or until the top springs back when touched. Cool completely on a wire rack. (Wrap the cooled cake completely in plastic wrap if not using it right away.)

Simple Buttercream

- ½ pound (2 sticks) unsalted butter, at room temperature
- About 2 cups powdered sugar (or more or less depending on your tastes)
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract

1 Tablespoon milk

1. Beat together the butter and powdered sugar in a mixer bowl until blended. Add the vanilla and milk and beat until fluffy and easily spreadable. (Add more powdered sugar if the mixture is too loose, and more milk if the mixture is too stiff. It needs to be able to be spread easily.)

Dark Chocolate Ganache

- 1 6oz high-quality dark chocolate (Such as Ghirardelli or Lindt), chopped or broken into pieces
 - 1 6oz heavy whipping cream
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1. Place the chocolate pieces into a medium glass bowl. Bring a pan of water to a low simmer and place the chocolate on top. Gently melt the chocolate, being sure not to scorch it.
 2. In a medium saucepan, slowly heat the cream over medium-low until steamy. (Be careful not to scorch the bottom.) Once it is steaming, pour the cream over the chocolate and whisk the two together until they have come together as one mixture. Whisk in the vanilla. Allow the mixture to cool. (Test the temperature by placing a small dab of the mixture onto your wrist. It needs to feel cool, meaning it is lower than your body temperature.)

Royal Icing

1 egg white, beaten
About 1 ¾ cups (or more, depending on the humidity) powdered sugar

1. Whisk the powdered sugar, a little at a time, into the egg white until it is smooth and pipeable, but not too runny as that will cause your designs to not be crisp.

Assembly

1. Make the cake, cool it completely and level the top, if needed. Then, make the simple buttercream and set aside.

2. Using a round biscuit cutter, cut out an even number of rounds from the sheet cake. (You can freeze the leftover cake scraps to use later in a parfait or trifle!) Place half of the rounds on cake boards cut to fit the bottom of the round (these will be the “bottoms” of your tea cakes. You may need to put a dab of frosting on the board to make the cake stay put.)

3. Spread a small amount of the simple buttercream onto the top of each of the “bottoms” and top with the remaining cake rounds. Frost each tea cake with the simple buttercream on the tops and sides in a thin, even layer so no cake shows through.

4. Place the frosted tea cakes on a wire rack over a clean sheet tray with raised sides. (Make sure no cake crumbs drop into the sheet pan.) Set aside. Make the ganache, and cool it according the instructions above.

5. Using a ladle or large spoon, gently spoon the ganache over the tea cakes, one at a time, making sure to cover the sides completely. (If you run out, scrape the ganache out of the sheet pan back into your bowl, and gently heat it over a simmering pan of water until it is thin enough to pour and not too hot.)

6. Allow the ganache to set up some. Then, using a flat spatula, lift each tea cake off the rack individually, and set them onto flattened cupcake liners, individually, and onto a sheet pan. Chill.

7. Make the royal icing and several small parchment cones. (You can find directions online. They are very easy to make.) Remove the sheet pan of tea cakes from the refrigerator. Pipe desired designs onto the top of each one, serve, and enjoy!

Cherokee Preservation Foundation's Community Celebration set for May 9

The Cherokee Preservation Foundation (CPF) will host its annual Community Celebration on Friday, May 9 at the Yellowhill Activity Center from 11:30am – 2pm. The Community Celebration is an event for members of the Cherokee community to see the various projects funded by the CPF throughout the year. It also gives grantees the opportunity to showcase what they have been and are doing with granted funds and to see what other grantees are doing in their communities.

The celebration will feature a complimentary Indian dinner at noon prepared by the North American Indian Women's Association (NAIWA). This year, all the cutlery, plates, cups, table decorations and table coverings are made from biodegradable products and natural materials to reinforce environmental sustainability, one of the core values of the Foundation. There will also be a composter for viewing located outside the center.

At 11:30 am, grantees will be at exhibit booths to talk with visitors about their projects and programs. The celebration will recognize the 10-year anniversary of the Revitalization of Traditional Cherokee Artisan Resources (RTCAR). After lunch, three representatives from this organization who have received preservation grants from the CPF will make short presentations about the results they have achieved so far. Other grantees also celebrating their 10-year anniversary include the New Kituwah Academy and Cherokee Day of Caring.

RTCAR presenters are:

* Dennis Desmond is the Land and Easement Stewardship Coordinator for the Land Trust for the Little Tennessee and has been a grantee of RTCAR since its inception. He will give an overview of the resources managed on LTLT lands.

* Joe-Ann McCoy is the director of the North Carolina Arboretum Germplasm Repository. She will be speaking about several wild foods projects she has undertaken as an RTCAR grantee concerning ramps, sochan, and waneget.

* Alyne Stamper is the art teacher at the Cherokee High School. She will speak about RTCAR's support for the basketry classes.

Over twenty grantees will have exhibits at the event and will share information about their programs and projects. They include:

- Qualla Arts & Crafts
- Museum of the Cherokee Indian
- Junaluska Museum
- Cherokee Historical Association
- Big Cove Community Club
- Cherokee Day of Caring (10 year Anniversary)
- Cherokee Youth Council
- Costa Rica Eco-Study Tour

Mountain Heritage Day arts and crafts show accepting vendor applications

CULLOWHEE - Artists and craftspeople are being sought to participate in the 40th annual Mountain Heritage Day, Western Carolina University's annual fall festival of traditional Appalachian culture.

Mountain Heritage Day will be held Saturday, Sept. 27, on the WCU campus in Cullowhee - always the last Saturday of the month.

The festival arts and crafts are judged for quality of workmanship, booth display and design. Cash awards will be presented to the vendors with the best works. All applicants are juried except the previous year's winners of the arts and crafts awards.

Applications and instructions for arts and crafts vendors are available on the festival website, www.mountainheritageday.com. Arts and crafts applications must be post-marked by May 9; later applications are not advisable because of the expected response, and the entry fee is greater.

Bill Taylor Scholarship accepting applications

The Bill Taylor Scholarship is available and is intended for students pursuing a degree in business administration or a business-related area. Applicants must be either EBCI tribal members or members of their immediate family. The application is available on line at this address: www.nccommunityfoundation.org/scholarships - then Search for "Qualla Reservation". Applications must be returned by June 1 to: Frella Beck, 854 Big Cove Road, Cherokee, NC 28719

The Bill Taylor Scholarship was established by Harrah's Casino to pay tribute to William R. Taylor. Jerry Egelus, former Harrah's Cherokee Casino General Manager said, "It's an honor to establish a scholarship in Bill Taylor's name.

Bill played a pivotal role in bringing new revenues, new jobs and new opportunities for Tribal members through his work in establishing gaming on the reservation".

The Scholarship is administered as a permanent endowment of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Community Foundation, one of 60 affiliates of the statewide North Carolina Community Foundation. Currently, the local Foundation holds 11 endowment funds, four of which are scholarship or award programs for higher education.

Miss Cherokee Winter Report

MADISON CROWE
MISS CHEROKEE 2013

Siyoy, Nigada! Hello everyone! My reign thus far has been very busy and very exciting. This winter, I represented our Tribe at many local events, parades, state and federal events. I am very grateful for the opportunities that I have been given and feel very blessed!

November is the time that we focus on our veterans and giving thanks to our loved ones. Throughout the month, I attended several veterans ceremonies, joined our elders to celebrate Thanksgiving, and visited our local child care center to read to the children. Events included:

- Nov. 8, 2013 – Veteran’s Day Ceremony at Cherokee Central Schools and Junaluska Wreath Laying Ceremony in Robbinsville
 - Nov. 11, 2013 – Annual Veteran’s Day Ceremony in Cherokee
 - Nov. 13-15, 2013 – Reading at Dora Reed Children’s Center
 - Nov. 15, 2013 – Rock your Mocs day
 - Nov. 22, 2013 – Cherokee Heritage Day at Robbinsville High School
 - Nov. 26, 2013 – Thanksgiving with Tsali Manor
 - Nov. 27, 2013 – Thanksgiving with Tsali Care
- December was an exciting month for me! I attended several Christmas Parades, formally introduced myself to Tribal Council, and spoke at some local events. Events included:

- Dec. 1, 2013 - Franklin’s A Picture Perfect Christmas parade
- Dec. 5, 2013 – Introduction to Tribal Council, N.C. Commission of Indian Affairs meeting
- Dec. 6, 2013 – Honor Our Elders Ceremony at the Cherokee High School, Gatlinburg’s Fantasy of Lights parade
- Dec. 7, 2013 – Cherokee’s Music & Magic of Christmas parade
- Dec. 9, 2013 – Waynesville’s Shine the Light parade
- Dec. 14, 2013 – Rob-

binsville’s Winterfest parade

After a busy holiday season, I took a few weeks off in January to re-energize! I received one of the neatest packages ever. I mailed out Christmas Cards to various people, organizations, Tribes, including the President and First Lady of the United States of America. On Jan. 21, 2014, I received a package in the mail from The White House! It was a thank you note signed by the President and First Lady thanking me for the Christmas card and Christmas book. I also received thank you cards from Dan Lunsford, president of Mars Hill University, and the Wampanoag Tribe of Gay Head.

On Feb. 3-6, 2014, I traveled to Washington, DC to attend the United South and Eastern Tribes Impact Week meeting. I took some time to take in the sights, culture and rich heritage that our Nation’s Capital has to offer! I also spent time with students participating in the Close-up High School program, which is a program designed to give students an inside look at our democracy in action.

March is the month of the spring, a time for new beginnings, and the time of renewal. Throughout the month, I attended groundbreaking, grand openings, and celebrations of new growth! Events included:

- March 18, 2014 – Groundbreaking for the new Cherokee Indian Hos-

- March 25, 2014 – Youth in Radio interview, N.C. Emergency Management Conference
- March 28, 2014 – Dedication of the Cherokee Cultural Center at the Moss Memorial Library in Hayesville
- March 29, 2014 – Cherokee Rainbows & Ramps Celebration

I would like to thank the following: Miss Cherokee Royalty Board, Cherokee Central Schools, Jaylon Lossiah, Cherokee Central Schools Cultural Department, Junaluska Museum, Junaluska Leadership Council, Steve Youngdeer American Legion Post 143, Principal Chief Hicks and staff, Tribal Council, Vice Chief Blythe and staff, Dora Reed Children's Center staff and children, Robbinsville Indian Education Department, Tsali Manor, Tsali Care Center, Janice Barker, Bo Crowe, Museum of the Cherokee Indians, the USET Committee, the 26 USET Tribes, President of the USET Committee Brian Patterson, the Close Up Committee, the CHS Close Up students and sponsors (Cole Wildcatt, Priscilla Squirrel, Xan Sadongi, Hye Long, Lacey Arch, Jace Girty, Justin Buchanan, Olivia Lacombe, Heath Robertson, Debora Foerst), Candy Crowe, Cherokee Indian Hospital Authority staff, Cherokee Youth Center, Moss Memorial Library, Cherokee Fair Grounds, EBCI Emergency Management, Mollie Grant, Anikituwah Warriors, Bo Taylor, and Marvel Welch.

Lastly, I would like to congratulate my brother, Tagan Crowe, who is a senior at Cherokee High School, on making All-Conference in golf and the Cherokee High School golf team on advancing to Regionals. HAPPY ANNIVERSARY TO THE BOYS CLUB

May 4th marks the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of the Cherokee Boys Club. In 1932, the Cherokee Boys Farm Club was founded at the Cherokee Boarding School. In 1934, the Cherokee Motor Club was founded. When the Boarding School was closed in 1954, the two clubs were continued by the Cherokee Day School. In 1958 the clubs were combined and continued to grow.

On May 4, 1964, the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians incorporated the Cherokee Boys Club as a non-profit, self-supporting Tribal Enterprise. The Boys Club is happy to have had the opportunity to serve the School, Tribe and Community for 82 years.

CHILDREN’S HOME PAYROLL DEDUCTION DONATIONS

In Fiscal Year 2012 the Cherokee Boys Club established an employee payroll deduction campaign to raise funds for the construction of a new Children’s Home. The Boys Club enjoys employee participation that continues annually. We would like to extend this opportunity to all Tribal employees as well as Harrah’s employees to help us raise money through payroll deduction.

Your contributions are tax deductible; and you will receive a statement from the Children’s Home at the end of the calendar year showing your total contribution for the year. Payroll deduction has proven to be a very painless way to contribute to the construction of the new Children’s Home that is hardly noticed on payday but makes an impact in the lives of the children at the Cherokee Children’s Home. Please sign up today and help us build a new home for these awesome kids.

WEEK OF THE YOUNG CHILD

The Children’s Fair will be held on Thursday, May 8. The purpose of The Week of the Young Child is to focus public attention on the needs of young children and their families and to recognize the early childhood programs and services that meet those needs. For more information contact Amanda Bradley 554-6592.

THE CHEROKEE DAY OF CARING IS CELEBRATING 10 YEARS OF GIVING BACK!

The Cherokee Boys Club and many other programs will participate in the Annual Day of Caring again this year. This year’s event will take place on Thursday, May 15.

This annual event was created to help our neighbors by volunteering to paint, clean and make repairs for one homeowner in each of our Cherokee communities. The homeowners are nominated by their respective community clubs as being individuals who are in need of assistance.

The Day of Caring is a community service event jointly sponsored by the Cherokee Preservation Foundation, Harrah’s Cherokee Casino and the Office of the Principal Chief of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. If you are interested in becoming a volunteer, call Deb Mintz 497-5550.

The Right Path “Duyu dvi” Adult Leadership celebrated the coming of spring by learning about the wonders of plant life and the eco-system that sustains them. Ty Bushyhead-Boyd took the group on a field trip to the “Indian Gardens” at the Oconaluftee Indian Village.

He has a bachelor’s degree in horticulture and a master’s degree in forest ecology. He is owner and operator of “Native Roots,” a landscaping business.

At the Village, the group identified Solomon’s Seal, Red Bud and Hemlocks trees, and Fiddle-head ferns. At Mingus Mills in the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, Bushyhead-Boyd pointed out many plants which Marie Junaluska translated into the Cherokee Language including: ramps, uwasti; yellow-root, daloni; and sochan,sochani. These plants, given to us by our Creator, provide excellent sources of antioxidants and vitamins, are good for the immune system, lower blood pressure, and prevent a number of diseases and cancers. Their nutritional and toxic-fighting proper-

The group later heard from Tommy Cabe, forest resource specialist with the EBCI Department of Environmental and Natural Resources. He shared that respecting our forests and managing their health was critical to sustaining these plants.

Cabe shared ways that Cherokee ancestors were great stewards of the ecosystem that supported their survival. The group wrapped up with a fantastic traditional meal, which consisted of many of the plants found at the Village or at Mingus Mill. The meal was cooked and served by the local chapter of the North American Indian Women’s Association (NAIWA). Members explained the purpose of NAIWA and how it contributes to local needs.

The Right Path “Duyu dvi” Adult Leadership is funded by the Cherokee Preservation Foundation.

WCU Cherokee Center Report

Last week was the final week of classes for the Spring 2014 semester. That means exams are upon students at Western Carolina University. We hope everyone has studied diligently and will end this semester's course work with outstanding grades.

The WCU Cherokee Center, which also houses the Right Path adult leadership program, is a service provider for any student—past, present or future—who has questions or concerns, who is seeking advice about college, or just conversation. We welcome everyone.

PAT SWAYNEY LITERACY COORDINATOR

Center hosts storyteller

The Dora Reed Center welcomed Mary Jo Huff on Friday, April 25. Mrs. Huff is a storyteller, author, recording artist and Early Childhood Educator with 35 years of experience and passion for language development for young children.

Her topic for this training was "THE NATURE COLLECTION: Through A Child's Eye." Huff brought in her expertise of how to make stories come alive with puppets, props and playful tales.

Dora Reed officials related, "We hope to have more training that will energize our teaching staff and provide more to the children in our care."

Center gets new playground

The program is going to be getting new playground equipment for the Head Start playground, the Head Start structure play area and the two year old playground. The program is replacing the Head Start playground due to safety reasons - the wooden play structures attract bees and are splintering and this is hazardous to the children.

The program ordered equipment from Charlotte Playsets, and the playsets have side inserts that will contain tribal designs.

Dora Reed officials stated, "We realize that the old playground equipment was a community project, and we value that contribution, but to maintain the safety and well-being of our children, we are replacing it. The new equipment will represent the culture and bring that in to the design of the new playgrounds. We are very excited for our children to be able to begin using this new equipment for the summer months. Please bear with us as we undergo this transformation and all the construction that will come with the change."

PROGRAMMABLE THERMOSTAT...

Install a programmable thermostat for your comfort and convenience. It can adjust the heat or air conditioning for times you typically are away (when you go to work) and again for times you typically are home. You can also program it to turn the heat down when you go to sleep and turn it back up before you wake up in the morning. It can adjust automatically, so you do not have to remember to do it.

There are also wireless models that allow you to set your thermostat with your smart phone, tablet, or computer.

Shake off your “winter coat”

DEBORAH LOWERY

EBCI WIC

The earth has shaken off its winter coat. Now is the time for us to shake off our “winter coats”; our extra pounds. It’s easier said than done sometimes. Getting rid of extra pounds is not a “quick fix”. Some try fad diets, pills, fasting... to get weight off quick, but, unfortunately, it doesn’t stay gone long.

The best way to lose weight is changing your lifestyle. Change one thing at a time. Don’t “shock” your body by drastically changing your eating habits and or exercise habits all at once. This can lead you to fail to reach any goal. Take it slow and fit it in your daily routine.

Here are some good tips to help decrease “your winter coat”:

- Decrease your total calories daily by 500 to lose 1 pound a week. Eliminating two 20oz regular sodas per day equals to 500 calories!
- Increase water intake daily. Don’t like it plain? Add lemon, lime juice or fresh fruits to it to jazz up the flavor.
- Take stairs instead of elevators. Park at the end of parking lots to get extra exercise. Try walking after supper meals.
- Chocaholics- try chocolate syrup over fruit instead of candy bars.
- Fill up on veggies and fruits for snacks, instead of chips. Low-fat popcorn is also a good substitute.
- Keep moving. Love your T.V? Dance during the commercials or walk in place.
- Enjoy the spring and summer- get outside and play!

The EBCI WIC Program is a special supplemental nutrition program for women, infants and children. It is open to all eligible persons regardless of race, color, sex, national origin, age or disability.

What is a pap test?

It is a test for women that can determine the health of the cervix. It can find cervical cancer or those early changes that can lead to cervical cancer. This can lead to treatments that can PREVENT cervical cancer.

What is an Adult Women's Health Exam (Yearly exam)?

It is an exam that can include a pap test, breast exam, and general physical. It may include screening labs or labs to monitor existing health problems. It may include scheduling a mammogram or other X-ray tests. It often is when medications for birth control, diabetes, high blood pressure or other health issues are renewed.

When should I start these exams?

Pap tests should be started at age 21. A yearly exam is often started when a woman desires birth control or just wants a physical completed.

How often should I have these exams?

How often you have a pap test is determined by the results of your previous pap tests. That will be determined by you and your health care provider. The yearly exam should be every year around the same time each year.

What if I have had a hysterectomy?

You may or may not need a pap test. That depends on the reason for the hysterectomy and will be determined by you and your health care provider. You still need to have the yearly exam every year so other health issues can be addressed.

Please call your health care provider today and make an appointment for your yearly exam today.

Sponsored by the Cherokee Community Wellness Team, the event featured several exercise stations, including light weightlifting as shown above, and various health programs providing information to the community.

What are the signs a child may be a victim of child abuse?

Sudden and/or severe changes in behavior can often be indicators that something traumatic has occurred in a child's life.

These behavioral changes can be indicators that the child has been a victim of child abuse. For example, if a child suddenly becomes compulsively neat or extremely messy, if a child is suddenly overly passive or hostile, overly friendly or indifferent, overly polite or belligerent, or overly obedient or extremely disagreeable, when these are not the behaviors they typically exhibit, these could be indicators that something has occurred.

Other indicators could include, but are not limited to the following:

- Problems sleeping or excessive sleeping
- Eating disorders

- Poor self-esteem
- Depression
- Threatened or attempted suicide
- Substance abuse
- Aggressive behavior
- Decline in personal appearance and grooming
- Delinquent or runaway behavior
- Health complaints
- Excessive crying or excessive happiness
- Withdrawal from family and/or friends
- Sexual abuse of others
- Developmentally inappropriate sexual behavior
- Petty theft
- Return to earlier developmental behavior such as thumb sucking
- Decline in academic performance, truancy or dropping out of school

Signs aren't always obvious when a child is being abused, but they are there. You have to observe and know what to look for. The problem of child abuse is everyone's concern. If you suspect that a child is a victim of abuse, please make a report to the appropriate agency.

To report child abuse, please contact:

Motherhood

ROBERT JUMPER
ONE FEATHER EDITOR

According to government statistics and recent year reporting, approximately four million women give birth in the United States annually. Society typically refers to a woman who gives birth as a mother, but true motherhood is more than a biological function. Motherhood is a lifetime occupation. Mothers often call child-rearing a “labor of love”. Being a mother requires physical, mental and spiritual strength.

In 2008, First Lady Michelle Obama expressed her recognition and appreciation of the traits exhibited by her mother, Marian Shields Robinson. In her address at the National Democratic Convention she said, “My mother's love has always been a sustaining force for our family, and one of my greatest joys is seeing her integrity, her compassion, her intelligence reflected in my daughters.” Mothers are the highest of role models; setting the examples that the next generation will follow.

Those who choose to be mothers do so with an understanding that it is a 24/7 job and there is no retirement plan. They know that it will likely be thankless and even at times physically and emotionally painful. Mothers choose a life of sacrifice. They do so with joy and unconditional love. Mothers give too much to be celebrated in a single day. Mother's Day is every day.

NPS hosting Birds of Prey Program

Great Smoky Mountains National Park is teaming up with the Balsam Mountain Trust for a third year to present a special program, Birds of Prey, at the Oconaluftee Multipurpose Room on Friday, May 9.

Michael Skinner, executive director of the Balsam Mountain Trust, will conduct an hour-long Birds of Prey program beginning at 1p.m. This program will provide visitors with an up-close glimpse of some of the most recognized and revered birds such as the tiny eastern screech owl and northern bald eagle.

"We are delighted to continue our partnership with Balsam Mountain Trust for a third year," said Supervisory Park Ranger Lynda Doucette. "This program provides an opportunity for park visitors to see and learn about these beautiful birds first hand."

Balsam Mountain

Trust is a local non-profit whose mission is the stewardship of the natural and cultural resources on Balsam Mountain Preserve and the Blue Ridge Mountain region, through effective land management practices, scientific research, and environmental education. The Trust has earned special distinction as a place where non-releasable birds of prey are taken in, cared for, and then utilized as educational ambassadors.

The Oconaluftee Multipurpose Room is adjacent to the Oconaluftee Visitor Center on Newfound Gap Road, two miles north of Cherokee. For more information on the upcoming Birds of Prey program, please call the Oconaluftee Visitor Center 497-1904. Park information is also available from the park's website at www.nps.gov/grsm.

Park to host National Park Career Day on May 10

Great Smoky Mountains National Park invites students, recent graduates, and their families to participate in a National Park Career Day on Saturday, May 10 from 9:30a.m. - 2:30p.m. where students will receive a behind-the-scenes look into National Park Service careers.

Park employees will lead hands-on activities that best demonstrate their job duties, while also providing career planning advice. Participants will also have a special opportunity to connect with Grand Canyon National Park via Skype to learn about careers in other National Parks.

High School and college students are invited to participate individually or with their families. Middle school students are invited to participate, but parent participation is required. All participants should meet on the front porch of Park Headquarters at 9:30 a.m. which is located behind Sugarlands Visitor Center approximately two miles south of Gatlinburg, Tenn. on Newfound Gap Road. Participants should be prepared to be outside for the entire Career Day with long pants, sturdy shoes, layered clothing, rain gear, lunch, and a notebook. The event will be held rain or shine.

PROTECT YOURSELF AGAINST ENCEPHALITIS!!

What is Encephalitis? Encephalitis is inflammation (swelling and irritation) of the brain, usually caused by infection. In some cases encephalitis can let to severe trauma and life threatening conditions.

What are the Symptoms? When Encephalitis happens after a common illness like chickenpox, the signs and symptoms of that illness come before and inflammation in the brain. Symptoms such as high fever, severe headaches, sensitivity to light (called photophobia: light hurts your eyes) Nausea, vomiting, stiff neck, confusion, drowsiness, irritability or poor temper control.

Where does Encephalitis come from? Encephalitis comes from infected mosquitoes which are called Tree-Hole mosquitoes. Tree Hole mosquitoes lay there larva eggs in any object that holds water such as buckets, gutters, ponds, old tires, trash and any object that may hold standing water. Once the eggs are laid, it takes only 5 whole days for the larva to hatch. It is very important to empty any object that holds standing water especially after a good rain.

How do I protect myself? Protecting yourself from Tree Hole Mosquitoes is very important. One good way is to apply bug-repellant that contains "DEET" to any open bare-skin each time a person is outside. Apply bug-repellant as followed by directions. Another way to protect yourself by wearing long sleeves and pants during outdoor activities.

If you any questions about Encephalitis please contact
