FRANKLIN – The Qualla Boundary Special Olympics team traveled to Macon Middle School on Friday, May 3 to participate in the annual Far West Special Olympics Spring Games. The Qualla contingent consisted of 21 athletes and 25 volunteers as well as family, friends and supporters.

“The Qualla Boundary is excited to have so many athletes, volunteer and community supporters out today in Macon County,” said Lana Lambert, Qualla Boundary Special Olympics coordinator. “We wish all of the athletes good luck, and we are excited that our program continues to grow each year and we can offer more individual sports and more sports for the athletes.”

Tony Wolfe has been a member of the Qualla team for many years and competed in the walk/run and softball throw on Friday.

“It’s an honor to be here,” he said. “There are so many people that support special needs people, and we have a really good turn-out from Qualla Boundary. It seems that we’re continuing to grow every year. It’s just a big honor.”

Wolfe said the Special Olympics means a lot to him, "Just fitting in and being a part of people like who we are and having a chance to show what we can do."

Friday's event began with a Parade of Athletes which was led by the running of the torch by Macon County law enforcement officers and followed by the individual groups including: Cherokee County, Graham County, Macon County, Clay County, and the Qualla Boundary.

Macon County Commissioner Ronnie Beale took a moment to recognize the caregivers. "If not for them, we would not be here. The caregivers are folks who do this day in and day out. They make these kids and young adults who they are today. So, caregivers, we cannot thank you enough. You do this with very little thanks."

Boy Scout Troop 235, along with several members from the Knights of Columbus, presented the colors and led everyone in the Pledge of Allegiance. They were followed by a group called Singing Angels who led the National Anthem.

Event coordinator Jennifer Garrett gave a brief welcome, "We're very excited that you're here and we're very excited that the weather held out."

Leanne Webb, of the Macon County program, officially opened the games by leading the athletes in the Special Olympics Oath, "Let me win. But, if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt."

Tim Smith has been involved in the Qualla Boundary Special Olympics program for many years as a volunteer and as a father to athlete Jacee Smith. "It's meant a lot to us. I've got two older cousins, Charlene Jackson Otter and Keith Wolfe, who were Special Olympics athletes...I've got a cousin here, Robert Kanott, he participates. It's really been a big part of us."

"We've been involved in this for years, and we're just glad that she (Jacee) gets to participate and all of these kids get to get out and participate, and that's what we really like about it. Everybody wins, and everybody has a good time. We just like to see the smiles on everyone's faces."

Congressman Mark Meadows (R-NC) shakes hands with Qualla Boundary athlete Jacee Smith after presenting her with a gold medal for the girls 400M run.

Qualla Boundary athlete Sunshine Rauch smiles as she gets ready to throw in the girls softball throw.

Cherokee hosts 1A West Regionals

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P.

Cherokee High School played host to the 1A West Regional meet on Saturday, May 4, and will be represented in four events at the state meet set for Friday, May 10 in Greensboro.

Cherokee's girls 4x800M relay team consisting of Le Le Lossiah, Jordyn Thompson, Avery Mintz and Kendall Toineeta took first place and advanced to state. Also advancing are: Stevi Sutton who took fourth place in the girls discus and second place in the girls shot put, Justice Littlejohn who took fourth place in the boys shot put; and Toineeta who took second place in the girls 800M.

Including the ones above, the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians will be represented in a total of six events as Swain's Greg Tisho took first place in the boys shot put and Robbinsville's Dillion Bird took first place in the boys discus.

CHS coach Eddie Swimmer was elated at his team's performance, "It just goes to show that our kids can do anything they want. They just have all the talent, and to host it here just proves that we can compete with anybody. That's what I tell the kids. We can compete with anybody that comes up. I'm just proud of the kids."

"The teammates that are here, they've worked hard," he commented. "The weather hasn't really been that good to us this year.

They've run in rain, the snow, and the heat, but they perform well and now we're going on to state."

Sutton was happy with placing in both of her events on Saturday and commented, "It feels pretty good. It makes me feel that I'm successful in what I do. I put God first, and he's the one who helps me pull through."

Cherokee's Kendall Toineeta (left) pulls ahead of Hannah Martin, Lincoln Charter, in the final stretch of the girls 4x800M relay which was won by the Cherokee team of Toineeta, Le Le Lossiah, Jordyn Thompson and Avery Mintz.

The girls 4x800M relay was one of the most exciting races of the day with Toineeta taking the lead over Hannah Martin, Lincoln Charter, in the last 100 meters to bring home the regional championship for Cherokee. When asked, following the race, how it feels to win the regional championship, Cherokee's team exclaimed in unison, "Excited!" They each related they are ready for the state meet this Friday.

Murphy won the boys team regional title with 108.50 points followed by Mitchell 105, Hendersonville 87 and Robbinsville 86. Cherokee took 14th place with 8 points.

Robbinsville won the girls team regional title with 107.50 points followed by Murphy 90, Andrews 88 and Swain 76. Cherokee took eighth place with 31 points.

Tribal members sign to play college sports

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

Four Swain County High School athletes signed letters of intent on Wednesday, May 1 to play sports at the next level. EBCI tribal members Will Ferguson and Cody Dills joined fellow Maroon Devils Sean Webb and Tyler Wike at the signing.

Ferguson signed to play football for Southern Virginia, a Division III school located in Buena Vista, Va. "It just feels great to be able to play at the next level," he said. "I just love the game. It's all I want is just to play in college."

Swain head football coach Neil Blankenship commented, "Will was a three-year starter for us on offensive line. He played two years at center and another year at guard. He was just a great solid football player for us. He was always consistent. He was committed at practice every day."

Blankenship said Ferguson will be a great asset to Southern Virginia's football team. "They are getting a great player, and I think he'll do well up there."

Ferguson's mother, Juliet Ferguson, noted, "He didn't think he'd get to play football anywhere and Southern Virginia wanted him. He has an intense workout he has to do this summer. He's ready to go. He wanted to play football and go to college so this is the best of both worlds for him."

His father, Neil Ferguson, said, "I'm very proud and excited. It's what's going to help keep him in college. It's his driving force. We are just very excited that he has this opportunity. It's a real blessing."

Dills signed to play baseball for Belmont Abbey, a Division II school located in Belmont. "It feels really good," he said. "All of my hard work has paid off, and I'm just happy to be able to play at the next level. That's all I've really ever wanted to do."

His mother, Kelly Dills, commented, "He's made us very proud. He's worked very hard with all of the extra hours and time and just the dedication that he's put into baseball over the years has paid off. We're very proud."

Tommy Dills, Cody's father and one of his baseball coaches, added, "It's just been a life-long pursuit of his. He has always wanted to do this, and I'm just glad he's getting the opportunity. He's worked hard."

Wrestling stand-out Sean Webb signed with Belmont Abbey and Tyler Wike will continue his cross country career at Mars Hill.

Court denies petition seeking election for Chief, Vice Chief

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

The 2013 election for the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians will go on as planned, and it will not include an election for Principal Chief and Vice Chief. A clerical error in the EBCI Election Ordinance called for such an election this year.

The Cherokee Supreme Court issued its response on April 24 to a Petition for Writ of Mandamus filed March 26 by Patrick Lambert who was seeking a literal following of the law. The Election Ordinance was amended in 2012 and, due to a clerical error, stated that a primary election would be held for the offices of Principal Chief and Vice Chief in 2013 instead of the originally intended 2015.

Lambert filed to run for the office of Principal Chief, but was denied by the EBCI Board of Elections (BOE). After being denied, he filed a protest to which the BOE replied, "The Board cannot give effect to the clerical error

'2013' instead of '2015' because it is in conflict with the Tribal Charter...the 2012 Amendment's provision referencing a primary election for Vice Chief 'in June, 2013, and each four years thereafter,' instead of 2015 is in direct conflict with section 5 of the Tribal Charter..."

In its decision on the Writ of Mandamus, the Supreme Court Justices wrote, "This Court has reviewed the record upon which the BOE made its final determination and notes that nowhere in any part of the record was there any indication that the Tribal Council ever intended to change the date of the primary election for Chief and Vice Chief to 2013. Here, we have unequivocal evidence of mistake, unequivocal evidence of the law's true object and design and evidence of an absurd result if not corrected."

Neither Lambert nor the EBCI Board of Elections returned a request for comment by press time.

War Eagles fight hard at home

The Western Carolina War Eagles (2-3) hosted the Tennessee Crusaders (4-1) at the Aqouni Expo Center on Saturday, May 4 with the Crusaders taking the win 26-14.

In the opening quarter, the War Eagles struggled to get the offense going, losing their first possession on a Crusader interception. The Crusaders would capitalize on the turnover by scoring a quick rushing touchdown from the War Eagles 16 yard line. The two point conversion was successful and that would be all of the offense for the Crusaders for the first half of the game.

The War Eagles would respond in the second quarter by using their newly altered offensive line, adding two defensive starters to the mix. Offensively, the War Eagles were able to rip two big runs that were capped off by a 29 rushing touchdown by Josue Otero. The two point conversion failed in a rushing attempt. Jeremy Watkins added multiple runs to continue War Eagles' drives and Demakus Staton was used in short yardage plays to power the ball for fresh sets of downs.

The War Eagles' defense was able to add 8 points on the board in the second quarter to assist the offense. A botched snap from a Crusaders' punt attempt, forced the punter to kick the ball out of the back of the end zone for the quick two points. Later in the second half, the defense had the Crusaders pinned on their own 1 yard line and a fumble recovery by Brett Robertson in the end zone gave the War Eagles the edge 14-8 going into the halftime break.

The halftime momentum for the War Eagles diminished going into the third quarter. The War Eagles offense was not able to convert on third and fourth downs throughout the second half. Missed tackles from the War Eagles defensive side of the ball hurt as well. Although the War Eagles never gave up and continued to fight hard all throughout the game, the upgraded Crusaders were able to pick up one safety, two scores and convert on their two point conversion to give them the deciding points needed to finish the contest 26-14.

War Eagles offensive leaders: Rushing – Josue Otero: 1 TD, 130 yards rushing. Jeremy Watkins – 50 rushing yards. Demakus Staton – 40 rushing yards. Passing – Kenny Dawkins: 60 passing yards.

War Eagles defensive leaders: Kris Quinn – 7 tackles 1 sack. Brett Robertson – 7 tackles 1 fumble recovery (TD). Haile Gibson – 6 tackles 1 forced fumble. Micah Swimmer – 4 tackles, 1 INT. Antonio Johnson – 4 tackles, 2 tackles for loss. Austin Curtice had 1 INT and Michael Brunson had 3 pass deflections to help with passing defense.

"The War Eagles would like to thank all that participated this weekend with the event, all the supporters, fans, sponsors and Lady War Eagle cheerleaders," said War Eagles officials. "Thank you to our score board staff, film crew and the voice of the War Eagles, Mr. Ray Kinsland."

The War Eagles will travel to the Appalachian Wolves (4-1) this weekend (May 11), and they will continue home play on May 18 hosting their rivals the Tri-State Wildcats (4-3).

Crowe named top

cookie seller

The Girl Scout Cookie Program is the largest girl-led business in the country and has taught Girl Scouts for decades the importance of goal setting, decision making, money management, people skills and business ethics.

This year, the top cookie seller for Region 1/Service unit 111 and a member of Girl Scouts Carolinas Peaks to Piedmont was Kaia Natalie Crowe, of Cherokee, who is a member of Girl Scout Daisy Troop 1811.

She was honored locally at her Girl

Scout Meeting at the Cherokee Youth Center on Thursday, May 2.

Crowe worked with her family to come up with a marketing plan and made it a point to reach out to the public during cookie season to sell cookies. She also participated in booth sales and had tremendous support from her school, friends, family members and parents. She gave up her Saturdays to go to work with her mother at Crowe's Barber Shop where she had a table set up.

"I love selling cookies because I could help earn money for our troop which would help us be able to do things," Crowe said. She is very thankful and would like to let all her customers know that she appreciates their support and help.

And it is not just selling the cookies Crowe enjoys. She also likes eating them. "My favorite cookie is the Peanut Butter Patties." I even had a customer buy me a package. Thanks PJ!

Every penny earned through the Girl Scout Cookie Program stays within the council to help support Girl Scouting in the 40 central and western North Carolina counties GSCP2P serves.

Park to release beetles to combat Hemlock pest

Great Smoky Mountains National Park resource managers plan to release two new predatory beetle species to aid in control efforts to stop the spread of Hemlock Woolly Adelgid (HWA), an invasive insect pest that has devastated hemlock forests throughout the eastern United States.

The park began releasing predatory beetles, which feed exclusively on adelgids, as a biocontrol in 2002. Park managers are hopeful that the addition of these two new beetle species will further enhance our bicontrol treatment program. Both beetles, Laricobius osakensis and Scymnus coniferarum, will be released at biocontrol sites throughout the park. L. osakensis beetles come from Osaka Japan where the Smokies strain of HWA originated. S. coniferarum beetles come from Washington where a similar HWA species occurs and has been kept in check by natural beetle predation.

Park managers currently utilize two other beetle species for HWA control including Laricobius nigrinus from Washington and Sasajiscymnus tsugae from Northern Japan. Both of these species are established in the Park and are increasing in numbers and in their ability to control HWA. In the long term, Park managers expect beetles to control HWA as populations reach a natural balance as they have in Washington, British Columbia, and Japan.

The park employs a three-prong approach in managing HWA that includes foliar applications of horticultural oil in developed areas, stem and soil injections of systemic insecticides (imidacloprid or dinotefuran), and the release of predatory beetles. All of the chemical and biological control techniques are showing positive effects. Currently about 600 acres are being sprayed annually, over 250,000 hemlock trees have been hand-treated with systemic pesticides spread across 11,000 acres, and over 545,000 predatory beetles have been released.

Each of these species of HWA predatory beetles are very small black lady beetles and should not be confused with the larger red and black spotted lady beetle that is typically found overwintering in large numbers throughout the area. All introduced biological controls such as the HWA predatory beetles are first quarantined and researched in depth before given approval by the USDA for release.

HAYESVILLE - Western Carolina University students participated in a workshop held at the Cherokee Homestead Exhibit recently. Instruction was provided by Davy Arch, EBCI artist and historian; Clay County Communities Revitalization Association (CCCRA) and Far Western Gourd Patch member Sandy Nicolette; and Dr. Jane Eastman, WCU Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Arch demonstrated flint knapping and mask making techniques. Under Arch's supervision, the WCU students enjoyed practicing their flint knapping skills, after viewing Paleolithic tools donated to CCCRA by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kappelmann and projectile points and stone tools donated by Doyce Waters.

Arch, an accomplished EBCI artisan and culturalist, has served on the boards of the North Carolina Arts Council and the Qualla Arts and Crafts Mutual, and works at the Oconaluftee Indian Village in Cherokee. He served as a primary consultant on the Cherokee Homestead Exhibit and assisted in artistic design for the public art at the exhibit.

Under Nicolette's direction, the students made a dipper out of a gourd they cut, cleaned and decorated. The students learned the various ways the Cherokee and other indigenous people used gourds, dating back thousands of years. Even with modern day tools, the students discovered how challenging it was to make a simple gourd dipper.

After studying the characteristics of Qualla Phase pottery, the students watched as Eastman fired their coiled pottery at the Exhibit site. Much to the

With love and patience, discipline and tears,
Then bit by bit stepped back to set

With dreams enough of what I was to

Hopes that would be sculpted by the Bit by bit stepped back to set me free.

Relinquishing your powers gradually to

Before I was myself, you made me, me.

FCS hosts Frank Goldsmith

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Cherokee High School hosted Coach Frank Goldsmith for a special meeting on Friday, May 3. Coach Goldsmith is one of the regional leaders for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) and coached football for forty-five years at schools including Duke University, Rice University, and Franklin as well as some other colleges.

He attended Western Carolina University where he played football before meeting his wife in Franklin. He has retired from professional coaching and moved back to his home in Franklin. Now he spends his time coaching young men and women in God's game plan and character development.

The FCA was started in the 1950s and has grown steadily since then. It started with professional athletes giving testimonials in Colorado, and since then it has spread like wildfire across the country. Currently almost every college and high school in America has an FCA organization. Every summer, the FCA hosts camps all over the country for high school and college athletes. They help them improve not only in athletic skill, but more importantly in character. It is the character and relationships that will build that have lasting value, and athletics is a means to teach these values. Matthew Maney, the huddle leader for the FCA at Cherokee High School, along with Cherokee athletic director Craig Barker organized the special meeting and introduced the guest speakers to the student athletes. Ray Kinsland opened the meeting and delivered a powerful and motivating message to the students.

He was followed up by Coach Goldsmith, who spoke to the students about God's game plan. "It is not to be used only on the field, but also in life."

To close the meeting, these role models of character personally shook the hand of each athlete and gave them a special gift. Over 100 of God's Game Plan Bibles, which is a Bible for student athletes from the FCA, were distributed to varsity and junior varsity players. This gift was made possible by an anonymous donor. The cost of each Bible runs approximately $6.

Students were very appreciative of the gift received and the opportunity to meet Coach Goldsmith. One student said, "We should listen to what they have to say because they know what they are talking about both on the field and off."

The FCA has been active here at Cherokee High School for two years. Coach Maney organizes meetings and directs kids in activities. The organization is open to all students and meets in the ISS room of Cherokee High School every Wednesday at 7:30 a.m.

Opinions and Letters

WORD LIMIT FOR LETTERS IS 250 WORDS

Just a minute

Dear Dr. Per Cap: I have been shopping a lot lately and have run up all of my credit cards. I love to shop but I can't afford all these bills. What should I do?

~ Signed, Shopaholic

Dear Shopaholic:

Ask yourself this question: Do you control your money or does it control you? There are a lot of reasons why people shop. Feeling down? How about some retail therapy, as they call it – shop 'till ya drop. You might feel better for a while, but the party's over when you get that credit card bill. And then all of a sudden your money is controlling you – you are working overtime just to pay your bills.

But, there is a solution – think about other ways to get that shopping fix without dropping a lot of money at a store. Me, I never met a yard sale or flea market I didn't like. But there are other things you can do too.

Ever go shopping without money? I do it all the time and it's one of the best ways I know to avoid those impulse purchases that cause people to dip into savings and add to those pesky credit card balances.

Here's how: next time you go to the mall, leave the billfold at home. That's right – no cash, no debit cards, and definitely no credit cards. Now shop till you drop! Try on clothes, test out the latest electronics, take a stroll through the food court, do anything you like, just don't spend any money. You'll probably come across a few items you think you really want and be disappointed that you don't have the money to buy them, but that's the whole point. Just promise yourself that you'll wait at least two days before you come back and buy anything. This will give you time to think about just how important those purchases really are to you. If after two days you find that you still want them, go ahead and make the purchases. But on the other hand, if you discover after two days that you don't feel that strongly, hold off for another two days before asking yourself again how important they are. Who knows? You might wind up forgetting about the stuff all together and be really glad you saved your money. Either way, even if you do go back to the mall, you'll still avoid a few impulse purchases for those items that you realize you never truly wanted in the first place. And that means a larger balance in your bank account, fewer charges on your credit card, and more dollars in your pocket. What's not to love about shopping without money?

So, next time you are heading out to the mall, stop and think – is there another way to pursue your love of shopping without letting your money control you?

Little Miss inspired by Special Olympics

I had the opportunity to go to the Special Olympics on Friday, May 3. I really had a great time. I got to watch running/walking/wheelchair races, long jump, and softball/baseball throws. Everyone did a great job! I thought it was awesome that they all tried their best and never gave up while keeping a smile on their beautiful faces!

I want to thank God for blessing me with such a great experience! I also met two very special friends, Tony Wolfe and Robert Kanott. I had fun hanging out with them watching them during their races and softball throws. We talked about family, and it felt so good to see them get their medals! They taught me a big lesson...do my best and I will succeed at whatever I set my heart on!

Congratulations to all the Qualla Boundary Special Olympics Participants! You all are truly amazing and I loved being there to support everyone!

Cherokee Indian Hospital celebrates Earth Day

Cherokee Indian Hospital celebrated Earth Day on Monday, April 22 with a variety of activities. One of the most popular was the "Bring Your Own Plate to Lunch" Day. This was an effort by the Green Hospital Committee to get staff to stop using Styrofoam. This has been a goal of the Green Committee for several years now.

At their first plate event, 70 people brought their own plate. On Earth Day, 39 people brought their own plate. The Green Committee also introduced new recyclable plates and to-go containers. Their vision is someday in the near future to have all recyclable goods in the Dietary department.

Other activities in celebration of Earth Day included seed giveaways, balloons, lunch and learn, a door prize drawing for a larger "green" gift baskets filled with outdoor utensils, seeds, gloves, etc. Patients and staff had to take a "reduce your carbon footprint" quiz to be eligible for the drawing. Raised beds were set up for planting by staff. They now have 10 raised beds on campus and hope to start a Farmer's Market in a couple of weeks.

"We are ready for the Greening of Cherokee Indian Hospital," said CIH officials.

EBCI Health & Medical Division Report

Information from the EBCI SHIP program

Attention EBCI Members

What is Medicare Part A & B? (you know that red, white and blue card)

Medicare is a federal health insurance program for people 65 and older.

Medicare is:

Hospital Insurance (Part A)

This part helps pay for inpatient care in a hospital or skilled nursing facility (following a hospital stay), some home health care and hospice care. Certain conditions must be met. Most people pay for Part A through their payroll taxes when they are working.

Medical Insurance (Part B)

This part helps pay for doctors' services and many other medical services and supplies that are not covered by hospital insurance, only when they are medically necessary. Most people pay a monthly premium for Part B.

Who Is Eligible to Receive Medicare?

Most people age 65 or older, people who have been entitled to Social Security disability benefits for 24 months, people with End-Stage Renal Disease (permanent kidney failure requiring maintenance dialysis or a kidney transplant) or amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (Lou Gehrig's disease) may also qualify for the program.

What is the cost for this insurance?

Most people do not have to pay a monthly premium for Part A. This is because they or their spouse paid Medicare taxes while they were working.

In 2013, the Medicare Part B premium is $104.90 per month. This amount may change January 1, 2014. In some cases, your premium will be higher if you didn't sign up for Part B when you first became eligible. You will have to pay this penalty for as long as you have Part B.

How Can I Sign Up?

If you are already getting Social Security retirement or disability benefits, you will be contacted a few months before you become eligible for Medicare and sent the information you need. You will be enrolled in Medicare Parts A and B automatically. However, because you must pay a premium for Part B coverage, you have the option of turning it down.

If you are not already getting retirement benefits, you should contact the Social Security Administration three months before your 65th birthday to sign up for Medicare.

This information was taken from Social Security Pamphlets & Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services 2013 Handbook

Attention: Notification of Benefits to Enrolled Members of the EBCI

If you are age 65 and over or on Social Security Disability and you have or are eligible to receive Medicare, please contact EBCI SHIP office. They may be able to reimburse you the $104.90 that comes out of your Social Security check each month.

Guidelines for reimbursement are:

- You must be an enrolled member of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians w/ valid enrollment card.
- At least 18 years old
- You must be enrolled in Medicare Part B
- The premium has to be deducted from your Social Security check
- Or you are being billed by Centers for Medicare & Medicaid for premium payment

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

Teacher Assistant – Agelink Child Care
OJT Summer Youth Program – Various Boys Club Departments
The deadline to apply for these jobs is Thursday, May 9

MAY IS A BUSY TIME!

May is an extremely busy time for Club, School Staff and Students. This is the time when the summer vacation is drawing near. There are many activities including athletic, academic and achievement award ceremonies, playoff games and regional meets, graduations and preparation for summer school. Many students are looking forward to taking college prep courses, going to summer school or working to earn some extra money with summer jobs.

The Club's Bus and Truck Department continues to be busy providing transportation to and from school each day. They are also busy with end of school and field trips for our local students and students from the surrounding counties. Jobs will also be provided for the summer through an agreement with Cherokee Historical Association to provide parking and shuttle service for Unto These Hills. The Truck Department's work load will increase with the summer tourism season.

The child care centers will see an increase in full-time students during the summer months in their after school programs. There will be summer trips and outdoor activities. The children and staff at the Children's Home will become involved with summer activities that will include the outdoors, caring for a garden and learning more about their culture.

The Club's Administration Department is in the process of preparing budgets for the new fiscal year as well as preparing to close out the current fiscal year that ends June 30.

And most Club departments will be providing jobs for high school and college students through the Club's On-the-Job-Training program that has been offered for many years.

As we approach this busy time, we keep in mind the Club's motto, "By Work and By Prayer" to keep us grounded and focused on the responsibility we are given each day. We are grateful to be able to provide the services we offer and it is our sincere hope that the Boys Club can continue to provide these services, employment opportunities and vocational and leadership training for the youth of our community.

The Intercultural Affairs Awards Banquet was held in the University Center Ballroom on April 23. The banquet is an annual event held to celebrate the excellence of WCU's undergraduate ALANA (African Americans, Latinos, Asian Pacific Americans, Native Americans, and Allies) students. It is to recognize work of individual student leaders, faculty/staff and student organizations at WCU.

Cara Forbes, EBCI tribal member and Freshman Honor's College student has excelled this year in academics and campus involvement. She was presented with the Outstanding Academic Excellence Award which is awarded to students who have earned a GPA of 3.5 or above. She was also presented with a Certificate of Appreciation for participating in the Social Justice Institute during Winter Break in January. The Social Justice Institute is an intensive diversity leadership experience which allows students the opportunity to collaborate with other students to create plans for effective social change focusing on inequality, oppression and privilege. The last day of the program was spent in Atlanta where the students were broken up into groups to visit different non-profit organizations which also seek social change. Finally, Forbes accepted a certificate which was awarded to the Native American student group, Digali i, in appreciation of its efforts this year as it showed improvement in one or more areas: membership, programs, visibility and productivity.

Additionally, a faculty/staff award was given to Robert J. Conley, Western's Sequoyah Distinguished Chair, in recognition for making a difference in the lives of students.

Congratulations! We are very proud of the accomplishments and recognition.

Success with growing grapes

By SARAH MCCLELLAN-WELCH

Grapes are hardy plants that produce delicious, nutritious fruits. Wild grapes are common in our mountains and juice grapes were historically grown here in Cherokee. Successfully growing grapes requires a little effort to keep them going.

Build a trellis before you plant: Your grape will need something to climb on. Install a trellis before you plant the grape to avoid damaging its roots. A single wire trellis is recommended to prevent leaf and fruit disease by promoting air flow around the plant. To build: Set 2, 8' posts 20' apart. Sink the posts 3' deep to give enough support to hold the vines up. String No. 9 gauge wire between the posts. Tie the vines to the wire as they grow.

Apply lime or wood ashes to the soil: Grapes are sensitive to the acidity of the soil. Our soils are slightly too acid for grapes to thrive. Apply lime or wood ashes to the planting soil and till it into the rooting soil to neutralize the pH and raise it to a level of pH 6.0 to 6.5.

The general rule of thumb for our soils is to till-in 1 pound of lime or 2 pounds of wood ashes into the planting hole. After planting, evenly spread another 1 pound of lime or 2 pounds of wood ashes around the outside of the planting hole. Reapply this treatment every 2 years spreading it out further each year as the roots extend.

Prune the vines every spring: A grape plant grows out from a main trunk. The side-branches are called "arms". Spurs are the next set of branches off of the arms. These are where the leaves and fruits are formed. The spurs are pruned off every spring in March leaving only about 4" of growth. You want the spurs to be spaced at least 4" apart.

Prevent diseases & pests: Annual pruning will help reduce diseases on the leaves and the fruit. Copper spray is a common, organic, preventative treatment. In our area growers usually apply three treatments with a copper spray: #1 Just as the tiny clusters flowers begin to form, #2 Two weeks after bloom and, #3 Four weeks after bloom. Do not spray if the outside temperature outside is above 85 deg. F because it might burn the leaves. As the weather warms, watch for Japanese beetles. Traps, hand-picking and soapy water will deter the beetles.

Grape Growing Basics:

Sunshine requirement - Grapes need to grow in full sun.

Soil - If soil is compacted till in a small amount of compost to loosen it.

Water - Grape roots will easily rot if standing in water. They thrive in well-drained soil.

Fertilizer - Grapes in the home garden generally do not need additional fertilizer.

Spacing - Set plants 3-6' apart and rows 6-8' apart.

Miss Cherokee report for April

By KARYL FRANKIEWICZ
MISS CHEROKEE 2012

Si-yo! As I get ready for a busy summer I have been given the honor to travel to amazing events where I have meet wonderful people. I would highly recommend eligible young Cherokee women to run for Miss Cherokee. This experience of serving as an ambassador for the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians has been a blessing for me.

At the start of the month, April 5-6, I traveled out to NC State University to take part in the pow wow that was hosted by the Native American club. During grand entry, the head dancers were our very own EBCI members Dakota Brown and Josh Trejo. I also met Miss Indian North Carolina Olivia P. Richardson, Miss Lumbee Courtney Lewis, Junior Miss Lumbee Ciena Fedor, and Little Miss Lumbee Lilianna Locklear. Later in the day, we watched an exhibition stickball game by members from our Eastern Band ball players.

On April 24-28, I was honored to travel to the Gathering of Nations pow wow in Albuquerque, NM. This was an event like no other. We watched the Miss Indian World Pageant and supported the contestants as they showed their traditional talents. I was recognized during that time as the representative of the Eastern Band of the Cherokee Indians. I also took part in all of the grand entries during the powwow. During the Gathering, I met several people throughout the event including Native American women from various tribes like Navajo Royalty; Miss Choctaw, Shaye Mackinzie Scott; Miss Florida Seminole, Alexis Aguilar; and Miss Coushatta, Hannah Jane Nichols, and many more. I was blessed to meet Chester Nez, who is the last original Navajo Code Talker from WWII. Others included Native American Woman Warriors, Native American Women that come from different tribes and branches of the military. I also met Tito Ybarra, a Native American Comedian.

Thank you Kelsey Standingdeer and Joey Owle for inviting me to the pow wow at NC State. Also, thank you to Tosh Welch and Leslie Lossiah for arranging the stickball exhibition. A special thank you to my Royalty Board for letting me go on an amazing trip to the Gathering of Nations in Albuquerque, NM. There, I gained an experience of a lifetime where I had the privilege of meeting extraordinary people.

If you would like to invite me to an event please, contact my Royalty Board chairman Jean Bushyhead at hbradjean@gmail.com or 736-4022. Sgi.

Mother's Day Lena Y. Hornbuckle

A mother's love determines how we love ourselves and others. There is no sky we'll ever see not lit by that love.

The greatest gift – a love of life – lay laughing in your eyes.

Because of you, our world still has the soft grace of your smile!

We love and miss you so much. Thanks for all you could give and teach us.

Because of you, we are truly our mother's children.

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY in HEAVEN!

Love,

Molly, Will, Babe, Bootie, Poochie, grandkids and great-grandkids
