The Cherokee community honored those who have served in the United State military during a special event held on Saturday, Nov. 11 at the Yellowhill Activity Center. Hosted by the Steve Youngdeer American Legion Post 143, the event honored veterans of each branch of the military.

"The fact that you are here today acknowledges your appreciation of their service and their sacrifice," Lew Harding, Post 143 commander, told the crowd during opening remarks.

"Our nation has come full circle," he said. "Today, we are engaged again in a seemingly endless war with an unknown outcome. Again, we are asking our brave young men and women to fight and die, and again they will sacrifice their lives so that we might be free. Let us always cherish the freedom with which we have been blessed and that they paid such a high price."

Commander Harding went on to say, "We cannot change our world without changing ourselves; any veteran will tell you that. The real message today, on Veteran's Day, is tolerance, compassion, forgiveness, and love. There is no one way to the mountaintop. There are many."

One special feature of Saturday's event was the honoring of eight living World War II veterans from the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians including: Virginia Sneed-Dixon, U.S. Army Nurse Corps; Fred Lunsford, U.S. Army; Beloved Man Jerry Wolfe, U.S. Navy; Cade Cody Lambert, U.S. Army; Reuben Taylor, U.S. Army; Frank Taylor, U.S. Army; former Principal Chief FINEST GENERATION: Reuben Taylor, a World War II veteran who participated in the Battle of the Bulge, is presented with a Quilt of Honor during a Veteran's Day event held Saturday, Nov. 11 at the Yellowhill Activity Center. Taylor, who served in the 504th Parachute Infantry Regiment, 82nd Airborne Division, was honored along with seven other surviving World War II veterans.

Robert S. Youngdeer, U.S. Marine Corps; and Wayne Bear Carver who was unable to attend.

Each was presented with a special plaque and a Quilt of Honor specially made by Victoria Harlan.

“It isn’t often that someone has the privilege of standing in front of a room full of heroes,” Principal Chief Richard G. Sneed, a U.S. Marine Corps veteran, said during his keynote address.

During the week prior to Saturday’s event, Chief Sneed visited Camp Lejeune, a Marine Corps camp in Jacksonville, NC, to talk at a Native American Heritage Month event. “I had the privilege of speaking about the proud history of Cherokee people in serving our country. All the way back from the Revolutionary War, through the Civil War, countless skirmishes in between; World War I, at a time when our people were not even citizens, Cherokees fought to protect this country. World War II – I was able to speak of the heroes that you see sitting before you. I was able to speak of the gallantry of Principal Chief Robert S. Youngdeer who was at Guadalcanal and a Purple Heart recipient. Jerry Wolfe was present at D-Day and was also present at the signing of the surrender of the Japanese in World War II.”

He added, “We have a proud and storied history from our heroes who gave their lives in Vietnam and Korea and in Desert Storm and to the current war on terror that continues seemingly without end.”

Chief Sneed went on to say, “My grandfather died in World War II in Germany. My great uncle, my grandmother’s brother, died at sea in the U.S. Navy. There’s a price to pay for what we enjoy today. Let us never take it for granted.”

During the event, Warren

HONORED: David McQueen, a U.S. Army veteran of the Vietnam War, receives the Post 143 Legionnaire of the Year Award from Principal Chief Richard G. Sneed.

Dupree, Post 143 service officer, presented a bronze bust of PFC Charles George, Medal of Honor recipient, to Col. Bob Blankenship (Ret.) who serves as the board president of the Museum of the Cherokee Indian. The bust will be displayed in the front lobby of the Museum along with the original Medal of Honor award given to PFC George.

“It is a very strong tradition of the Cherokee to serve proudly in the uniform of their country,” said Col. Blankenship. “Charles George displayed the ultimate example of this tradition by being awarded the Medal of Honor for actions on Nov. 30, 1952 near Songnae-Dong, Korea which resulted in the loss of his life.”

Several awards were given by Post 143 during the event including the following:

- American Legion Distinguished Achievement Award to Clyde Harrison, U.S. Marine Corps Master Gunnery Sergeant, who served 30 years in the Marine Corps including two tours in the Vietnam War, three Purple Hearts, Silver Star recipient, currently the finance officer for Post 143
- American Legion Leadership Award – Lifetime Achievement to Col. Bob Blankenship (Ret.)
- Post 143 Legionnaires of the Year to David McQueen, U.S. Army;

Jimmy Arch, U.S. Army (unable to attend)

- American Legion Meritorious Service Award presented to the Steve Youngdeer American Legion Post 143 Women’s Auxiliary
- Certificate of Meritorious Service to Sage Dunston, administrative assistant to former Principal Chief Patrick Lambert

The event concluded with a musical presentation by Legionnaire Phyllis Shell, of the Big Cove Community, who sang “An Honor to Serve” which was followed by the benediction by Chaplain Charles McCullough.

"The addition of new housing units to our community is a great stride forward in providing affordable housing for our community," said Principal Chief Richard G.

Sneed. "Every community has challenges in providing affordable housing and our community is no different, but it is my goal to provide more housing through each budget year based on the needs of our people."

The Housing & Community Development Division anticipates completion of the project in 2019 with occupancy expected soon thereafter.

Wildland Fire Safety

Every year, wildfires burn across the U.S., and more and more people are living where wildfires are a real risk. But by working together, residents can make their own property — and their neighborhood — much safer from wildfire.

Action steps for around your home:

- CLEAR leaves and other vegetative debris from roofs, gutters, porches and decks. This helps prevent embers from igniting your home.
- REMOVE dead vegetation and other items from under your deck or porch, and within 10 feet of the house.
- SCREEN in areas below patios and decks with wire mesh to prevent debris and combustible materials from accumulating.
- REMOVE flammable materials (wood piles, propane tanks) within 30 feet of your home's foundation and outbuildings, including garages and sheds. If it can catch fire, don't let it touch your house, deck or porch.
- Wildfire can spread to tree tops. PRUNE trees so the lowest branches are 6 to 10 feet from the ground.
- KEEP your lawn hydrated and maintained. If it is brown, cut it down to reduce fire intensity. Dry grass and shrubs are fuel for wildfire.
- Don't let debris and lawn cuttings linger. DISPOSE of these items quickly to reduce fuel for fire.
- INSPECT shingles or roof tiles. Replace or repair the shingles that are loose or missing to prevent ember penetration.
- COVER exterior attic vents with metal wire mesh no larger than 1/8 inch to prevent sparks from entering the home.
- ENCLOSE eaves and screen soffit vents using 1/8 mesh metal screening to prevent ember entry.

AND DON'T FORGET...

The more actions a community takes, the more fire adapted it becomes. Learn how you can make a difference in your community. Visit www.fireadapted.org and www.firewise.org for more information.

FACT

- ! There are more than 45 million homes near or in the wildland.
- ! More than 72,000 U.S. communities are now at risk from wildfire.

Facebook Weekly Question Responses

Note: The following comments were made on the Cherokee One Feather Facebook page to our weekly question:

How should the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians tribal government address the issue of not having a diversified revenue stream? Name and discuss examples of ideas that you have for businesses/ventures that the Tribe could enter into.

Driver Blythe: Five dollars says somebody pushes for marijuana. And, ten dollars somebody tries to come up with studies of "all pros and no cons".

Joshua Rory Welch: Adopt Section 17 to start with. Everything else will fall into place.

Joseph Holland: Just keep the liberal's hands out of it, and you'll do well.

Keri Brady: I think that we, the Tribe, need to create a shopping mall that they can lease out to stores for rental revenue and provide stores that not only visitors can shop at but tribal members can shop also instead of going all the way to Asheville or Sylva or Waynesville. I think a manufacturing plant would also be good for revenue; maybe a plant that makes auto parts or medical supplies. That's something that will always be in demand. I think that a stadium that can provide a venue for maybe hosting outdoor events in the summer for things like tractors pulls or national motor cross events, or a convention center (stadium) where we can host major events, sports and or otherwise including horse shows, dog shows, craft fairs, etc. There are alot of events that are looking for places to have their events. We need other revenue ventures that bring tourists and cash flow and shopping for everyone.

Tim Rattler: Legalize hemp on the Boundary...solar power for all households...start our youth on an environment-safe future.

Janis Owl: Invest in artificial intelligence. It's where everything is going next.

Evan Watty: Implementing alcohol is the easiest solution, but getting it passed is the difficult part for some reason.

Woodrow Welch: If we approve alcohol for a few, why not for the Tribe itself? Purchase the Sutton property on Soco - Park regulations apply there - and have our own supply stores to distribute. And, how about a gas station or two?

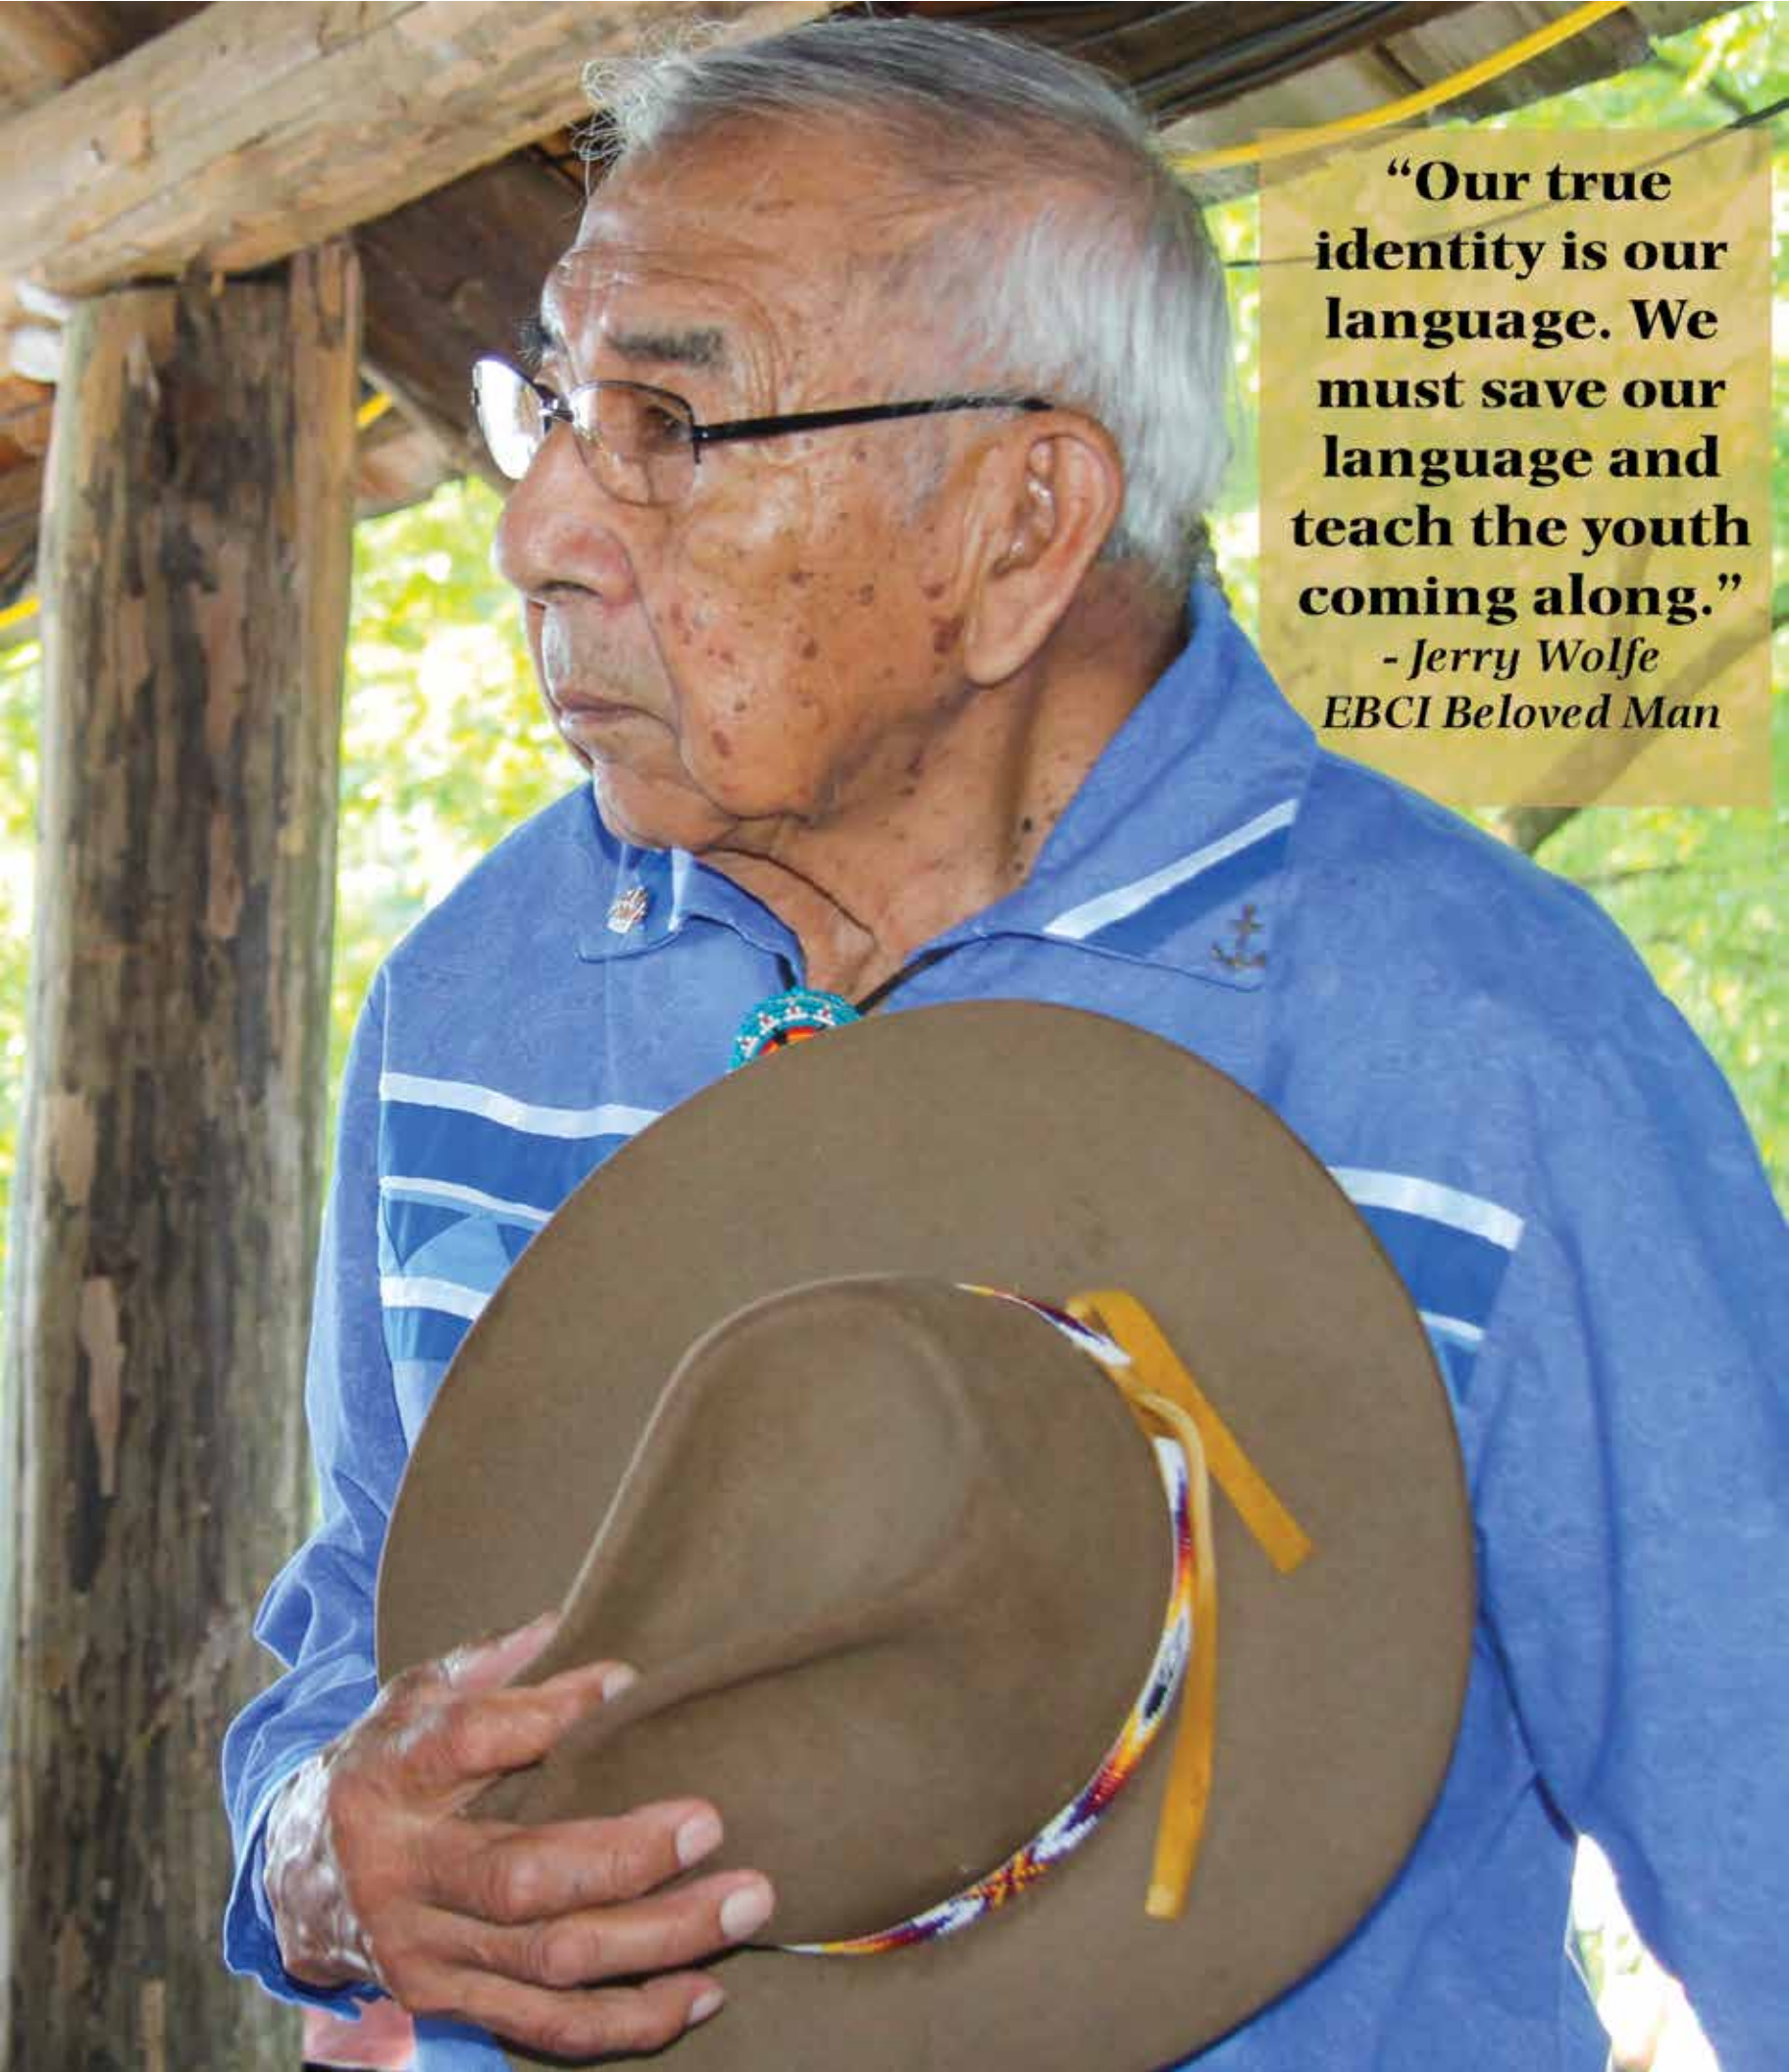

Tom Ottman: I am a long time and frequent visitor. There is a need for more, better, and diversified dining on the Qualla Boundary; more than just fast food joints. Allowing alcohol would attract better dining options. I like the idea of a stadium to host outdoor events such as concerts that bypass Cherokee now. A manufacturing plant for medical supplies, implements, and pharmaceuticals would provide opportunities that will always be in demand. How about a trade school? And, I miss the Pow Wow at the ceremonial grounds. It brought a vibe and pagentry to the center of town that has been missing since it was moved to the old High School. Now that the high school has been demolished, I hope it is moved back where it belongs.

Malia Crowe: Ecotourism

Kaitlin Wolfe Blaylock: Why can we not follow the example of the Seminole? Take what we've saved over the decade and outright buy an internationally-recognized company; perhaps an airline or retail and eventually Caesar's Entertainment.

Kate Whitefield: (I) don't know what your current situation is. Jane Jacobs wrote "The Life and Death of Great American Cities", primarily sociology but also economic principles such as Diversify directly by innovation from current economy.

Timbo Dunn: Here is my experience in Cherokee: Maggie valley gone, sky lift gone, Santa's land - nothing has changed in 40 years, gift shops same thing since 1970 and over marked in price. So? All these attractions are gone and/or wore out, and you're gonna want to build a company? Epic fail again...not every family wants to gamble. There isn't nothing there for the family man.
