A Closer Look at Tribal Debt

Value of Debt Service Sinking Fund

$134 Million

Debt Service Sinking Fund (DSSF)

The Debt Service Sinking Fund (DSSF) is essentially a savings account established by Tribal Law (Section 16C-14) to "accumulate and grow capital for the retirement of the Tribe's debt." The DSSF is funded by a portion of the Tribal Government's share of gaming dollars. The purpose is to secure, minimize, reduce and/or payoff Tribal debts.

Cherokee Central Schools Construction Loan

Balance Due: $57.2 Million Payoff Date: 2014 Paying From: DSSF

Is the Casino Debt considered Tribal Debt?

No. The Tribe does not guarantee TCGE debt. The casino is an entity of the Tribe that operates separate from the Tribal Government. Debt of the casino is not considered a long-term liability of the Tribal Government, but is the responsibility of the Tribal Casino Gaming Enterprise (TCGE).

Sequoyah National Golf Course

Balance Due: $10.8 Million Payoff Date: 2012 Paying From: DSSF

If the Casino failed to pay back its loan, would Tribal assets be at risk?

No. The TCGE is responsible for the payback of the loan. TCGE has a financing agreement with Wells Fargo authorized by Tribal Council Resolution No. 859. The limit is $650 Million and the current amount owed is $494.3 Million.

Are funds, like the Minors Trust, at risk as a result of debt?

No. The Tribe does not guarantee TCGE debt. Assets of the Tribe, including the Minors Trust are protected by provisions within the loan agreement.

Cherokee Home Center opens

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P. ONE FEATHER STAFF

ntil this past week, residents of Cherokee needing home improvement supplies had to drive to Sylva or Franklin. Now, they only have to go to Acquoni Road.

The Cherokee Home Center held a grand opening on Friday, Aug. 26. The 12,000 square foot facility employs four people and carries a large assortment of materials, supplies and appliances.

"We've very proud to have the opportunity to create Cherokee Home Center for the Cooper family," said Allen Newland of Haywood Builders Supply who helped create the store. "With today's economic downfalls, it's a great feeling to be a part of a new start-up business. We feel it is a muchneeded service that will help the whole community of Cherokee in many ways for many years to come."

The Home Center will be open Monday – Friday from 7:30am – 4:30pm and on Saturdays from 8am – 3pm.

Patrick Lambert: For Lumbee Recognition?

With the promises of more Per Capita, housing, economic development, education services and for better Health Care Services we seemed to have forgotten the Lumbee Recognition Act. Some have argued that the cost of providing BIA and Indian Health Services to the Lumbee will be too high, and that Lumbee recognition will draw down funds that are currently going to other tribes (Including the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians).

Thank you Patrick for answering my question at the Birdtown meet the candidates, however you forgot to mention you serve on the North Carolina Commission of Indian Affairs. You somehow forgot the following ...

In August of 2007, Becky Johnson, a staff writer for the Smoky Mountain News, covered the debate between Chief Michell Hicks and Challenger Patrick Lambert. In her article, she provided the following Q&A:

If the Lumbee achieve federal recognition as an Indian tribe, how should the Cherokee respond? (The Lumbee are a group of people in Eastern North Carolina with Native American ancestry that have long sought official tribal status. Cherokee has opposed Lumbee recognition.)

Lambert-"if they are recognized, we would have to move very quickly to establish relationships with that tribe. To continue a division, if they were recognized, would be detrimental to the future of our tribe."

Hicks-"Until they prove themselves as a tribe, we will still treat them as a group. I have fought hard on this issue. As a tribe we need to continue to educate legislators about how controversial it is. They need to prove themselves if they want to be federally recognized.

Chief Hicks has clearly stated his opposition to the bill, and in his testimony: (July 12, 2006 before the Senate Indian Affairs Committee, April 18, 2007 Hearing Before The House Natural Resources Committee) Hicks raised the funding issue and said Lumbee recognition would draw funds away from other tribes.

Under Chief Michell Hicks Leadership over the past eight years, the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians have increased their lobbying efforts and have scored several legislative coups. Chief Hicks built a good relationship with the Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma and the United Keetoowah band of Cherokee Indians, who are also fighting Lumbee recognition.

SAY NO TO THE LUMBEE RECOGNITION ACT – VOTE FOR MICHELL HICKS!

Paid for by The Committee to Re-Elect Michell Hicks.

Jones-Bowman Leadership Award Program receives $16K donation

he Graham Foundation, a family foundation in Greenville, SC, has made a $16,000 donation to the Jones-Bowman Leadership Award Program, its third donation to the program in 18 months.

Stephen Lambert, Program Director of the Graham Foundation, presented a check at an August 22 meeting at Cherokee Preservation Foundation, where he met with the Cherokee Preservation Foundation's staff, Jessica Munson (a Jones-Bowman Fellow), and Kevin Jackson (a former Fellow who is now a Jones-Bowman Mentor).

The Jones-Bowman Leadership Award Program helps college undergraduates who are members of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians develop leadership skills. The program was established by Cherokee Preservation Foundation in 2007 to honor the late Principal Chief Leon Jones and Mr. James Bowman, founding members of the Foundation's Board of Directors. Since the program's start, 17 young people have received cash awards to apply to development activities such as special academic enrichment programs, travel, leadership training, and sponsored volunteer service. For more information about the Jones-Bowman program, contact Alicia Jacobs at 497-5550 or visit www.cpfdn.org/jonesbowman.html.

Lambert, an EBCI tribal member, says that the family foundation is pleased to support the development of future leaders of the Tribe. The new Graham Foundation gift will support annual awards for four Jones-Bowman Fellows.

WCU receives gift from Harrah's for health lecture series

CULLOWHEE – A recent gift from Harrah's Cherokee Casino and Hotel to Western Carolina University will help sponsor a public lecture series on Native American health issues offered through the university's Culturally Based Native Health Program.

The gift of $3,000 will enable the program to bring two nationally known speakers to campus in 2011 and 2012.

Established in 2006, the Culturally Based Native Health Program, or CBNHP, provides health professionals with an opportunity to acquire knowledge about Cherokee culture and other Native American cultures that might help them in treating patients.

A collaborative effort involving WCU, the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and Wake Forest University, the program has two components: a graduate and undergraduate Native health certificate offered through WCU; and a Native youth health careers summer camp at Wake Forest.

Nearly 20 high school students and five health sciences teachers from Cherokee High School and from Cherokee, Graham, Jackson and Swain counties participated in the summer program last year.

The program's lecture series is designed to help inform the public of issues that affect the health and well-being of Native peoples and to be of interest to those who work in rural communities in Southern Appalachia with other underserved populations.

Since the series began in 2010, hundreds of participants have attended the lectures. Past speakers include Dr. Ann Bullock, chief clinical consultant for family medicine for the Indian Health Service with the EBCI, and Dr. Eduardo Duran, a psychologist working in Indian country and author of several books including "Healing the Soul Wound: Counseling with American Indians and Other Native Peoples."

For more information about the CBNHP or the lecture series, contact Lisa Lefler, a professor of medical anthropology and director of WCU's component of the program, at 828-227-2164 or llefler@wcu.edu.

Healthy tricks

6 tricks to add flavor and cut fat and calories

SUBMITTED By KEAHANA LAMBERT-SLUDER EBCI HEALTH & MEDICAL DIV.

Trick 1:

Enjoy your sandwich open-faced. You'll automatically cut bread calories in half and barely notice. An average regularsize piece of bread is about 100 calories.

Trick 2:

Team up low-fat creamy ingredients. Try replacing full-fat sour cream and mayonnaise in creamy dips and salad dressings with a combination of reduced-fat cream cheese, cottage cheese and/or nonfat plain yogurt. You'll cut calories and the layers of flavors will still taste rich.

Trick 3:

Use low-fat mayonnaise in place of the full-fat version. It has which has just 15 calories and 1 gram of fat per tablespoon compared with 90 calories and 10 grams of fat in the traditional kind.

Trick 4:

Oven-fry to save calories from fat. If you crave fried foods, don't deny yourself. A typical serving of fried fish sticks packs 16 grams of fat. Oven-frying replicates that special taste and texture for only 3 grams of fat per serving.

Trick 5:

Use spices to add calorie-free flavor to food. Your spices should be fresh to get maximum impact, so buy them in small amounts, label with a date, and discard and replace after one year.

Trick 6:

Keep lemons around. They zest up almost any dish, without any calories. Stock up when they're on sale and freeze the zest and juice for up to 6 months: pare the rind and freeze in strips, and freeze the juice in ice cube trays.

Portobello & Beef Patty Melt

This diner classic gets a makeover by replacing some of the ground beef with finely chopped portobello mushrooms, which add moisture and flavor. Make it a Meal: Round out the plate with Oven Sweet Potato Fries and Balsamic & Parmesan Roasted Cauliflower.

- 2 cups finely chopped portobello mushroom caps, (about 2), gills removed
- 3 tablespoons plain dry breadcrumbs
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh thyme, or 1/2 teaspoon dried
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- 4 slices rye bread
- 1 clove garlic, peeled
- 8 teaspoons pickle relish
- 4 slices Swiss cheese, (2 ounces)

Preparation

1. Position rack in upper third of oven; preheat broiler. Line a broiler pan with foil.

2. Gently mix beef, mushrooms, breadcrumbs, Worcestershire, thyme, salt and pepper in a medium bowl until combined. Shape into 4 patties and place on the prepared pan. Broil until cooked through, 4 to 6 minutes per side.

3. Meanwhile, toast bread. Rub each slice of toast with garlic.

4. Place 1 patty on each piece of toast, top each with 2 teaspoons relish and cover with a slice of cheese. Remove foil and place the sandwiches on the pan; broil until the cheese is just melted, 30 to 60 seconds.

VETERANS SUPPORTING VETERANS

When you think about your freedom, who do thank? Of course, you thank all Veterans, men and women, who fought and even died to protect our freedom. We have a candidate for Principal Chief that has fought to protect our freedom. His name is Patrick Lambert and he is a Veteran of the U.S. Army. He sacrificed time away from home and from his family to defend every one of us. We need to stand behind this Veteran and show him that we are grateful for his sacrifice and that we are proud of our Cherokee men and women who join the military to fight for us. I am urging all Veterans and Soldiers to vote for one of our own for Chief of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. He wasn't afraid to fight for his country and his nation and he won't be afraid to fight for the people of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. It's time that Veterans of the EBCI are truly recognized for the sacrifices that they made. VOTE FOR A TRUE LEADER, VOTE PATRICK LAMBERT FOR PRINCIPAL CHIEF.

Tai Chi now offered at Cherokee Life Center

Tai chi is a slow motion and low impact exercise that promotes health, mind, body and mental relaxation. It is practiced as an effective exercise for health through a series of flowing, graceful and gentle postures and movements.

Classes are now being offered at the Cherokee Life Center on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:05-10:45am. The class is taught by Kimsey Taylor, a certified Arthritis Foundation Tai Chi instructor, who is assisted by Skye Littledave and Lynn Taylor.

The gentle flowing movements contain inner power that can strengthen the body, improve mental relaxation and mobilize joints and muscles. It is especially suitable as a therapy for arthritis because of the slow and gentle movements. Tai chi improves balance, strength, flexibility and lowers the risk of falls. It also reduces pain, stiffness, stress and improves sleep quality.

Other benefits of Tai Chi are: relieves knee osteoarthritis, improve physical function, self-efficacy, depression, overall health status, high blood pressure and tension headaches. Tai Chi is a safe & gentle class without pain for those who carry extra weight to get moving. If you have any medical conditions or medications that can cause dizziness, talk with your doctor before starting Tai Chi. As with any new exercise program, contact your provider for their advice.

The importance of athletic mouthguards

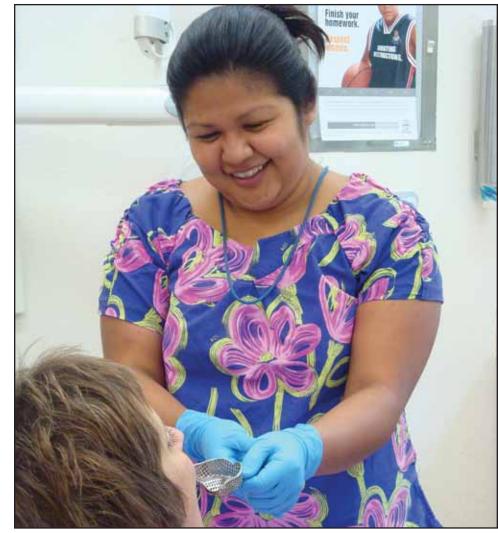

By DR. MICHAEL J. STROKECKER, DMD CHEROKEE INDIAN HOSPITAL

he importance of Athletic Mouthguards, also called sports mouthguards cannot be over stated. It is not uncommon throughout the year to see athletes of all ages present to the dental clinic with facial trauma due to athletic injuries. These injuries include but are not limited to lacerated tongues, fat lips, fractured teeth, pieces of broken teeth embedded in lips, gravel and rocks embedded in lips, broken jaws, loose teeth, and even teeth that are totally knocked out. Many of these injuries could have been avoided by simply wearing a mouth guard.

Athletic mouthguards are plastic appliances that cover your teeth and gums and protect them from being damaged while playing sports. Not only do they protect your teeth and gums, but also make it difficult to bite your tongue if hit unexpectedly. It is not uncommon to see athletes who play full contact sports, such as football, wearing such appliances. However, did you know that we often see athletes who play other sports such as softball, baseball, and karate, who have experienced facial injuries that could have been avoided had they been wearing a mouthguard? These injuries are not limited to organized teams. Actually, these injuries are often less associated with organized sports, where mouthguards are required, then they are with "Pick-up" games played in local fields and playgrounds. Skateboarding and trick biking can also be an unexpected source of preventable injuries.

Mouthguards come in a variety of shapes, sizes, and colors. Some can be purchased as a take home kit in the dental isle of local convenience stores and pharmacies. They often work by heating the plastic "C" shaped piece of rubber in hot water or a microwave and then using your fingers to press it around your teeth and gums. Others are custom made by a dentist. Molds of your mouth are taken and a mouthguard custom fabricated in a lab to meet your needs.

If you play competitive sports, you should have a mouthguard made. If you eligible for care at Cherokee Indian Hospital and play organized sports, you are welcomed to schedule an appointment with the C.I.H.A. dental clinic to have a mouthguard custom made just for you. You can even choose from a variety of colors. Info: 497-9163 X 6478.

Turnovers cost Braves against Mitchell

herokee (0-2) had more total offense (328yds to 232yds) than the Mitchell Mountaineers (2-0), but three lost fumbles (four total) and two interceptions proved costly for the Braves once again as they fell 38-2 on Friday, Aug. 26.

Justin Hughes had a big night for the Mountaineers carrying the ball 11 times for 100 yards and three touchdowns. He averaged 9.1 yards a carry on the night. With the exception of two interceptions, Braves QB Ray Smith had a wonderful night completing 14 of 18 passes for 187 yards (13.4avg). Greg Tisho caught seven of those passes for 105 yards bringing his season totals to 12 catches for 165 yards.

The Mountaineers got out in front early with two first quarter touchdown runs by Hughes (4 yards and 70 yards).

Isaac Edwards kicked a 32 yard field goal midway through the second quarter and Ryan Sparks caught a 25 yard touchdown from Hughes to give Mitchell a 24-0 lead.

Cherokee got a safety on the Mountaineers with just over a minute left before the half to bring it to 24-2, but that was all the points Cherokee would put up on the night.

Michael Styles ran for a 10 yard touchdown in the third quarter and Hughes got his third touchdown of the night on a 31 yard run in the fourth quarter to round out the scoring for Mitchell.

Both teams were penalized a lot in the game with Cherokee receiving eight for 102 yards and Mitchell getting seven for 81 yards.

The Braves play host to the Towns

IV Football

The Cherokee JV Braves (1-0) fared better in their season opener besting Hayesville 22-0 on Thursday, Aug. 25.

The first half was scoreless for both teams, and it wasn't until 1:12 left in the third quarter before Cherokee got on the board as Kobe Toineeta ran for a 12 yard touchdown for the first score of the game. Brandon Buchanan ran for the two-point conversion and the Braves led 8-0 going into the fourth quarter.

Five minutes into the quarter,

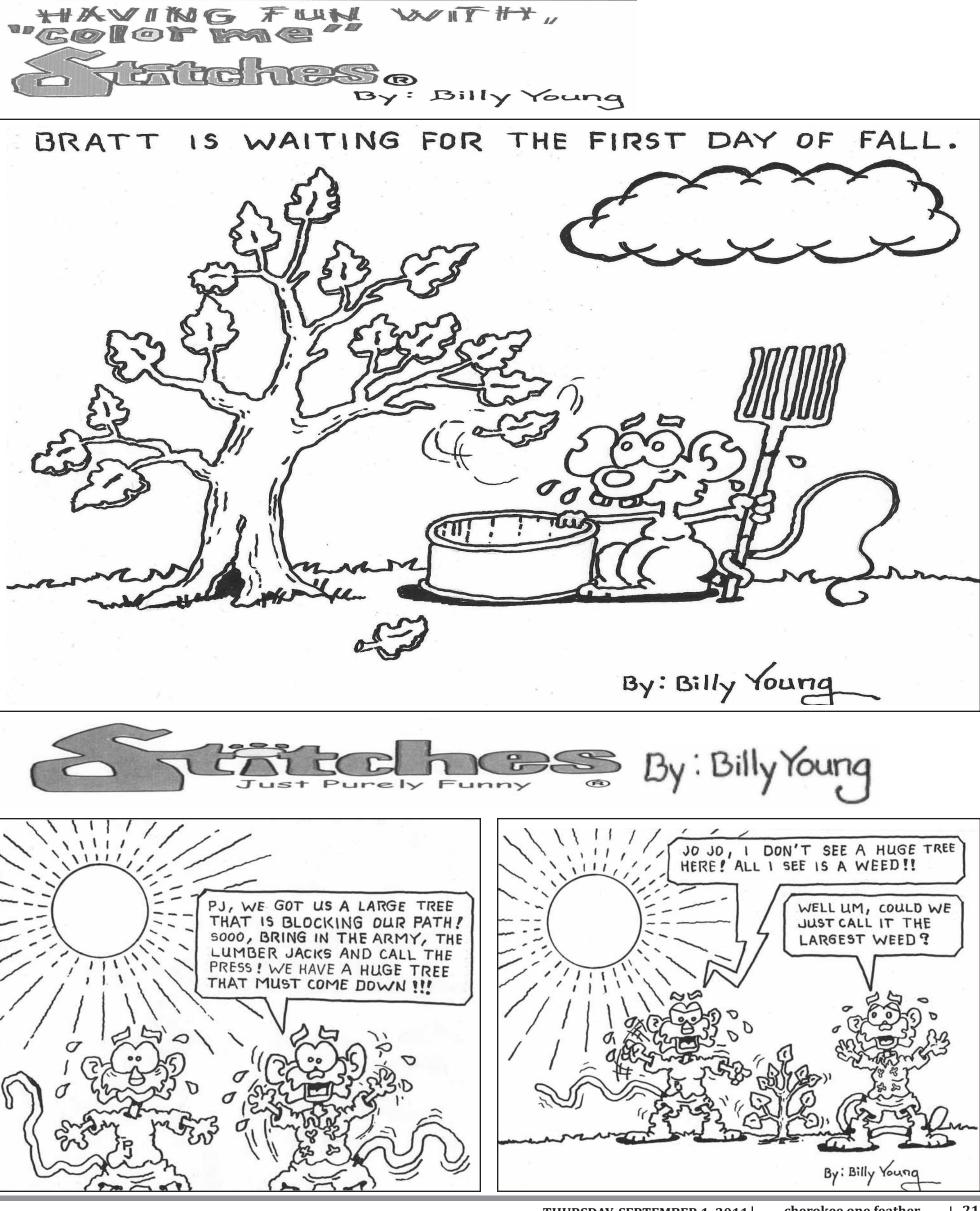

Cherokee's Jaylen Evans ran for a 3 yard score. The two-point try failed and Cherokee led 14-0 with just over seven minutes left in the game.

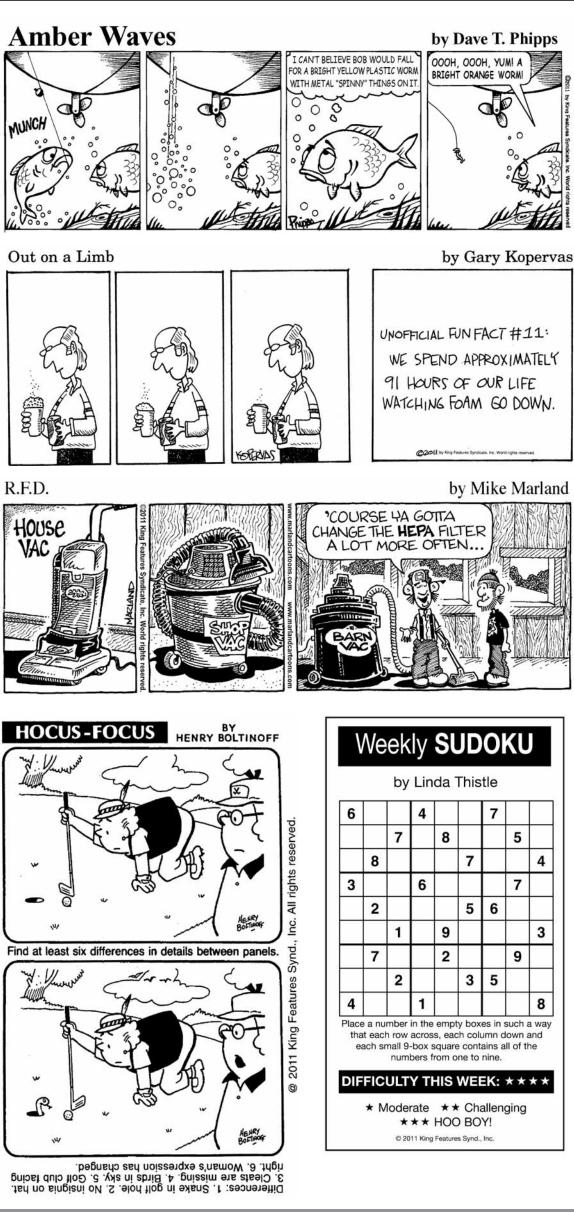

The Braves would add one more score to seal the game as Channing Lossiah caught a 19 yard touchdown pass from Buchanan with 1:52 left. Toineeta ran for the two-point conversion to make the final score 22-0 in favor of Cherokee.

The JV Braves travel to Thomas Jefferson on Thursday, Sept. 1 with a kickoff scheduled for 6pm.

Theophrastus (370-275 B.C.E.) was a student of Aristotle and Plato who arden eventually became the head of the public gardens at Athens. He classified plants into 4 groups (trees, shrubs, 198 undershrubs and herbs), and was first to recognize differences among annuals, perennials and biennials. His writings on plants were very famous; Alexander the Great is reputed to have sent him many plants from his travels. Source: www.biologie.uni-hamburg.de, www.wildflowerinformation.org

There IS a Positive Difference

It is clear that the only candidate for Principal Chief who is offering to make true, positive difference for you, our people, in our Tribal government is Write-In candidate: Susan Toineeta.

Fellow Tribal members and registered voters, I am confident that you share my vision of a strong, healthy, and prosperous Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians into the future, as well as today, and the understanding that it is important to meet the needs of today without compromising the ability of our future generations to meet their needs. I am confident that you want for a Principal Chief someone who is willing and able to lead our Tribe in a positive direction for the good of our people. I am confident that you want for a Principal Chief someone who is capable and determined to roll up her sleeves and do the hard work that is required. I am confident that you want for a Principal Chief someone who has a solid proven record of good, consistent leadership and courteous professional conduct even in the face of great adversity. I am confident that you want for a Principal Chief someone who will provide transparency in government (and in Tribal entities/enterprises) and who will work with you, tribal employees, and other elected officials to serve in the best interest of our people. I am confident that you want for a Principal Chief someone who is willing to let you have a say as to how much debt you want our Tribe exposed to and what types of economic development you would prefer to see in our own homelands and on our front porch. I am confident that you want for a Principal Chief someone who will provide the leadership required to get our Tribal government working for all of our people. I firmly believe that write-in candidate Susan Toineeta offers each of these things and more.

I urge you to embrace this opportunity to write in your vote for Principal Chief before it is too late to make a positive impact on our Tribe. Please do not penalize yourself, your family, our Tribe, and our future generations by any momentary stubbornness in thinking that since the other candidates spent the most money, campaigned the longest, has held the office, and/or ran for office the most number of times then one of them should be elected. Pause for just a moment and put things in perspective. None of those "things" makes a good leader. Don't forget that a momentary lapse in far-sighted thinking and a stubborn refusal to do positive action can reap harmful and long-lasting consequences that were never intended but that are very real and difficult, if not almost impossible, to reverse. We must remember that this election is not just about any of the candidates. This election is also about our people, our Tribe and doing all that we can do to help ensure a strong, healthy, prosperous Tribe today and into the future as our ancestors did for us. Together, this can happen. Together, we can do this. Your write-in vote can make a positive difference not only for yourself and your family, but also for our entire Tribe as a whole.

I have seen other candidate advertisements, brochures, and/or pamphlets claiming comprehensive plans. However, when read closely, they reveal spend, spend (without your input as to whether you want our Tribe to be exposed to such debt) while continuing to rely upon the same source (gaming) of income to buy all of these things. Remember, gaming is gaming whether it is in the form of expanded gaming or building gaming facilities in other areas of our Tribal lands. I believe that is so unwise to rely upon gaming as the main source of income. We must work to truly diversify our economy and invite things that will build us up and strengthen us as a Tribe of people. We bring industry here to help serve our Tribal interests and we must beware lest we become servant to special interest, special industry.

Fellow Tribal members, I pray that you will not allow yourself to be misled any longer. Let each of us do our part to help elect the person who has the best interest of our Tribe in mind, heart, and actions. We can be thankful that we have such a unique opportunity in front of us. Let us embrace this opportunity to do right, to do good for our people, our Tribe. One day, it could be too late to reclaim our Tribal government for our people and too late to get it working for all of our people. Right now, though, together this can happen. You are welcome to be a part of it.

Please be a part of helping to determine which people are elected to serve for the next years, please go vote. It is one of our responsibilities as registered voters to help elect the people who will serve with the best interest of our people, our Tribe in mind, heart, and actions at all times. This Tribe cannot afford to elect person(s) who are seeking personal financial gain at the expense of our Tribe/Tribal resources.

I urge you to take the time to read the article I wrote which appeared in last week's Cherokee One Feather and to reference the postcard that was mailed to you. In them, you will find pertinent information that will equip you with accurate information and help you to be more fully informed before you vote.

It will only take a small effort on your part to make a huge, positive impact on our Tribe today as well as on our future generations. However, in order to experience the positive results, you must first put forth the effort and write-in your vote for Principal Chief. There will be a blank space on the ballot for Principal Chief where you will need to print both first and last name of the write in candidate like this: Susan Toineeta.

Sgi ! Thank you.

The Right to Vote

Time is given to each of us. Our present Chief has had a fair amount of time to accomplish certain things. Firing someone over freedom of speech and fighting with our brothers (the Lumbee) is not fair. Casino experts say that casinos have a formula or procedure to keep increasing the size of the casinos. We need to stay away from the high spending on all projects. We need to stop spending money we do not have, and may never have. We need to listen to reason. We are a tribe of 14,000 people. We need to live like a tribe of 14,000. Taking one's property is completely unacceptable. The Chief has accomplished good things in the past, but not it's time for him to step down. I think Shakespeare said it best: "Greed cometh before a fall." It's been a long time since we've had a great Chief, and it's going to be a long time coming.

going to be a long time coming. Written by: Steve H. Smith (enrolled member)

Project Lazarus: Community Club meetings schedule

By JUANITA PLUMMER WILSON

NEWS ka-no-he-da

Project Lazarus is a communitybased program designed to reduce accidental deaths from abusing or misusing narcotics. Project Lazarus originated in Wilkes County, where narcotics use and accidental deaths from overdose were at an epidemic level. The iniative takes a public health approach by uniting efforts between many community sectors like the hospitals, law enforcement, recovery programs, youth programs, churches, etc. Project Lazarus is now spreading across the 50 counties within the state of North Carolina. A local team of community advocates and Tribal progrms have teamed up to bring Project Lazarus specifically to the Cheorkee Community, which is seeing its own epidemic of drug abuse.

At the July Council meeting, Fred Brason, of Project Lazrus, Dr. Mary Anne Farrell, of the Cherokee Indian Hospital, and Juanita Plummer Wilson, representing the Cherokee Healing & Wellness Coalition, gave a presentation on Project Lazarus and were asked to get the message out to the local communties. In response, presentations have been scheduled across all the Cherokee communities:

- * Snowbird, Sept. 6 at 6pm
- * Cherokee Co., Sept. 13 at 7pm
- * Painttown, Sept. 26 at 5:30pm
- * Yellowhill, Oct. 4 at 6pm
- * Birdtown, Oct. 11 at 6pm

One Heart Beat Away....

The Vice Chief of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians is charged with an enormous amount of responsibilities, none as important as the role of second in command to the Principal Chief. Should such unforeseen circumstances ever arise, the Vice Chief must be ready at a moment's notice to assume the highest elected office in Cherokee. The Vice Chief must be prepared to offer the people of Cherokee guidance and wisdom during the most challenging of times. He must remain firm in his convictions, reasonable in his judgment and steadfast in his leadership.

During unstable times, Cherokee needs a Vice Chief it can count on... Cherokee needs Vice Chief Larry Blythe.

Re-elect Vice Chief Larry Blythe
