have to look for a place to meet - where the speakers come to have the speakers gathering and have a consortium meeting with the United Keetoowah Band and the Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma. This new structure will enhance second language speakers and benefit our community. It will represent the community values of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians," said Roger Smoker, chairperson of the Cherokee Speakers Council.

The building looks to be completed within 18-24 months once the final details are set. Travis Sneed, director of EBCI (Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians) support services, said that there are still ongoing negotiations for pricing and contracting. As soon those are finalized, construction can begin.

It will be a place to generate materials, meet, study, and teach. Beloved Woman Myrtle Driver Johnson spoke to the importance of having a single location for all these functions.

"I think about the teachers who had no place to work to generate materials for the children to use. But now, we will have our own building. Lord willing I'm still here. But we will now finally have our own building. The buildings I think of where materials were generated were the women's shelter, the TOP building, Ginger Lynn, the Academy, and of course, the speakers building above there. Tribal Council, Chief, and Vice Chief, to me this is a dream come true. To have one place where we can develop these materials," said the Beloved Women.

Bo Lossiah, Speakers Council administrator, took time to thank many of the people that have been involved in making this building a reality. He also wanted to explain why this building and the Speakers Council are so important to the culture and the future of the language.

“The Cherokee Speakers Council is the culture and language resource assembly. They’re yours, they’re ours. And as I’ve said many times, a nonrenewable resource. I can’t replace you. I can spend time with you, I can record it, I keep it, and we can all hold it in our hearts forever,” said Lossiah.

“Many of the speakers are scholars and researchers of the culture and language. Some go all over the place. They go to the American Philosophical Society up in Philadelphia. They collect materials that people have collected long since and identify what they are. Is it medicine, is it something that everyone should see?

Is it something the general public would understand? They can bring back words for some things that have been lost in time.”

Lossiah ran through the future functions of the building and how the design came to be.

“[The speakers] bring it back and they share. They give us full meaning and context for what they is. So, they’ve asked for a resource room. In this building, there will be a speaker resource room. They asked for a place to record close by. A lot of times they’re on a subject and they start talking it’s just a great conversation. Now, we have a recording studio in place,” said Lossiah.

He closed with words of encouragement and a Cherokee word to hold onto as the project moves forward – hidiyelisesdigwu, ‘let us all keep on keeping on.’

Last to speak was Principal Chief Richard G. Sneed, who wanted to emphasize the magnitude of this project.

“Today’s a historic day. It’s historic because we break ground for a building that is quite possibly one of the most important buildings we’ve ever erected as the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians on tribal land. I say this not because of the design of the building, as beautiful as it is. Or the size of the building. But for what this building represents,” Chief Sneed.

“To lose the language is to lose the very essence of our identity as native people. This building, as beautiful as it is, represents so much more than the brick and mortar that will construct it. This building represents the past. The past resilience and strength of our ancestors who refused to stop speaking the language. It represents the presence. The present courage, strength, and tenacity of our own people who have held fast and continue to speak and teach our language. It represents a promise. The promise to further generations and Cherokees who will use this space to teach and learn our sacred gift for generations to come.”

Chief Sneed finished by doubling down on the promise for language support. He said that they are looking to make the Cherokee Adult Language Learners (CALL) program a full-time position that would increase pay and maintain EBCI employee status.

CCS School Board welcomes friendly faces in latest meeting

By JONAH LOSSIAH

One Feather Staff

The Cherokee Central Schools (CCS) Board of Education hosted several guests to their meeting on Monday, Aug. 15. Among those guests was Consie Girty, director of the Hope Center and Pre-K with CCS. She said that their program just received a big boost for material development.

“Our brand-new phase program was selected as one of eleven of the 53 phase sites across the nation, to be able to receive $62,160 to combine with Unite For Literacy to develop our own books. We will get to produce Cherokee books with Cherokee faces and Cherokee places and Cherokee language. And we’re getting the money to do it. When I got that, I was just thrilled,” said Girty.

“We just got that grant for like $289,000 to fund that phase program last year. And we were selected in our prime year. Our girls, I’m not going to lie, they worked their tails off.”

Howard Wahnetah attended the meeting to give a general update on finances for the Board. It was the last monthly financial report for School Year 2021-22. He said that everything was in order and the last pieces were falling in place.

Superintendent Michael Murray followed this report discussing his meeting with Tribal Council to discuss the CCS budget for SY 2022-23. He said along with the general discussion, he made sure to offer some details on the water damage issues that are continuing to hinder construction on campus.

“I thought it would be unfair not to mention the water intrusion stuff. I updated them with where we’re at with that. It’ll probably be Christmas before we finally have everything identified and a fix in place. Then we’ll come to [Tribal Council] with a dollar figure. I have absolutely no idea or else I would’ve told them that it was going to cost ‘x’ amount,” said Dr. Murray.

The plan at the moment is to get the full report from Terracon on the damages and to progress with the necessary repairs. Superintendent Murray did say that the legal issue is still on the table, but that fixing the buildings must be handled first. This was something that was expanded upon by CCS Attorney John Henning.

“Regardless of whether you can win a lawsuit or not, you’ll have an obligation to mitigate damages. You can’t know something has gone wrong and sit there and let it get worse and not do your best to try to fix it. There comes a point where you have to go on and fix it in whatever condition it’s in. Get it back to where it needs to be, and then pursue relief for that. Just because there might be a lawsuit, there’s never going to be a good reason to not go on and apply the fix now.”

Blake Smith, an intern with Northwestern Mutual, was another guest to the Board meeting. Smith is a former CCS student and

“They do wealth management, retirement planning, and some basic insurance planning. I really see the value in coming and giving talks to the kids and showing them the opportunity that they’re given with the money they get. Just working with people outside of Cherokee, you never really realize how much opportunity you’re given until you see how they built their lives. I feel so much ahead, and I’d love to get the opportunity to show the kids to show how ahead they really are if they took advantage of it,” said Smith.

The Board applauded Smith for thinking of his community and offered names for him to contact at the school. They said they would be happy to facilitate his efforts at CCS. Chairperson Jennifer Thompson said that to have Smith talk to CCS students could be a wonderful chance to have a peer that they respect come back to educate and help, especially considering Smith graduated from Cherokee High School in 2019.

Henning also spoke with the Board about an update to Policy 4353, which addresses long term suspensions at CCS. The Board had previously held conversation on the subject so that they could work on the issue with Henning and Tribal Council Rep. T.W. Saunooke. Rep. Saunooke said that Council would be happy to work with the Board to implement the amendment to policy, which adjusts it to match that of the state. Henning said that he would be submitting his work soon in order to get it to Tribal Council as soon as possible.

The consent agenda was passed with one amendment. The Board withheld one resolution, to approve Margaret Robinson as a substitute teacher, for discussion in closed session. That item was also passed following the closed session. The approval of the consent agenda put forth the following:

- Mary Bryson is approved as the 8-hour food service worker for Cherokee Central Schools.
- Sally Bryson is approved as the 6-hour food service worker for Cherokee Central Schools.
- Charlene Rodriguez is approved as the 4-hour food service worker for Cherokee Central Schools.
- Cheryl Maney is approved as the 4-hour food service worker for Cherokee Central Schools.
- Joshua Driver is approved as the 4-hour food service worker for Cherokee Central Schools.
- Stephen Blankenship is approved as a high school auto mechanics teacher for Cherokee High School.
- Ashley Teesateskie is approved as a Cherokee Language instructor for the Cherokee Cultural Department.
- Mariah Crow is approved an increase to Level 5 at her current step for School Year 2022/2023.

- Randall Saunooke is approved as part-time security for Cherokee Central School.
- Heather Saunooke is approved as the Elementary Social Emotional Learning consultant for Cherokee Elementary School.
- Kimmemelah Perkins is approved as a substitute teacher for Cherokee Central School.

The Monday, Aug. 15 meeting of the CCS Board of Education was called to order at 4:45 p.m. with Chairperson Jennifer Thompson; Co-Vice Chairs Tara Reed-Cooper and Melanie Lambert; Secretary Kristina Hyatt; Board members Berdie Toineeta and Regina Ledford Rosario; Tribal Council Rep. T.W. Saunooke; Superintendent Michael Murray; Assistant Superintendent Beverley Payne; HR Director Heather Driver; CCS Attorney John Henning of Campbell Shatley, PLLC; and Administrative Assistant Diane Driver all in attendance.

The next meeting of the CCS Board of Education is set for Monday, Sept. 5 at 4:45 p.m. Meetings are being held in the Administrative Offices at Cherokee Central Schools. These meetings are open to the public unless there is a call for an executive session.

The Garden Bug

These plants display great beauty in the garden during late summer and early fall when not much else is blooming. Ginger lilies are not true lilies, but instead are a distant cousin of gingerroot that’s used in cooking. They are beloved for their graceful, orchid-like blossoms that remind some of butterfly wings. In fact, butterflies love slurping their nectar, so a ginger lily is a great choice for a pollinator garden with some shade. It can grow up to 6 feet tall and spread out almost as wide.

FRANKLIN - After a forensic investigation of the bone fragments recovered in May from a residence off Mulberry Road in Macon County, the victim has been identified as 42-year-old Tina Walkingstick Frizsell, a member of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. Frizsell was residing in Mountain City, Ga., when her brother, Gregory Justus, contacted local law enforcement reporting her missing in late May.

“Her family was instrumental in helping us identify her by providing DNA samples,” Macon County Sheriff Holland said. “Her family lives out of state and made trips back to Macon County to work with our staff.”

Frizsell, formerly of Cherokee, was thought to be murdered on May 16, one day prior to her 43rd birthday. Frizsell left behind two children.

“Based on credible information, two locations were considered to be possible crime scenes and meticulous searches would be conducted by our team,” Sheriff Robert Holland said in May. “The first crime scene was a location where the missing person was last seen alive and the second is where the missing person may currently be located.” It is believed that Frizsell was shot in a shed on South Tryphosa Road near the border of Rabun County and then her body moved to an encampment off Mulberry Road where it was burned.

Christopher Shields, of Otto, was identified by Macon County Sheriff’s detectives as a person of interest early on and after initial investigation was initially arrested and charged with kidnapping. Three other individuals, Derek McCrackin, Jessica Smith, and Lenore Wilson were also arrested in connection with the disappearance of Frizsell and were charged with desecration of a corpse.

McCrackin and Smith were initially held at the Rabun County Detention Center after arrest while Shields was transported to Raleigh for safekeeping pending a positive identification of the remains. After the remains found at the crime scene were identified as Frizsell, a Macon County Grand Jury heard evidence in the case and issued additional indictments for Shields, McCrackin, Wilson, and Smith related to the murder of Frizsell. As of press time, the indictments had not yet been served.

The Cherokee JV Braves started their 2022 season off with a commanding 46-6 win over the Rosman JV Tigers at Ray Kinsland Stadium on the evening of Thursday, Aug. 18. Javon Garcia, Cherokee running back, got into the end zone twice on the night with runs of 10 yards and 4 yards. Jack Jack Teesateskie, Cherokee quarterback, ran for one score and threw for another.

Cherokee dominated throughout with Rosman's only score coming on the last play of the game.

Javon Garcia got the Braves on the board first with a 10-yard run at the 5:42 mark of the first quarter. Emiliano Garcia ran in for the two-point conversion, and the Braves led 8-0.

Four minutes later, Teesateskie kept the ball on a quarterback keeper and ran in from the 1-yard line for Cherokee's second touchdown. Charlie Swayney ran in for the two-point conversion, and Cherokee led 16-0.

Early in the second quarter, Teesateskie connected with Jonathan Saylor on a 36-yard touchdown pass. Swayney ran in for another two-point conversion, and the Braves extended their lead to 24-0.

With 4:43 left in the half, Rosman's Kaeden Castillo intercepted a Cherokee pass at the Tigers 17-yard-line. Three plays later,

After picking up a Rosman fumble, Cherokee's Johnathan Rivera runs out of an attempted tackle by Rosman's Dereck Friend (#34) en route to a 59-yard touchdown scoop-and-score. (SCOTT MCKIE B.P./One Feather photos)

Cherokee got the ball back as Zach Seay recovered a Rosman fumble at the Tigers 17-yard line.

With 1:39 left in the half, Javon Garcia ran four yards for his second score of the evening. He then ran for the two-point conversion to give Cherokee a 32-0 lead. Rosman got the ball and had a couple of nice runs making it down to the Cherokee 6-yard-line, but the Braves held and the half ended.

Midway through the third quarter, Emiliano Garcia ran 12 yards for a touchdown. Then, Teesateskie threw to Emiliano for the two-point conversion giving the Braves a 40-0 lead.

On the next possession by Rosman, Cherokee's Johnathan Rivera picked up a Tigers fumble and ran 59 yards for a scoop-and-score touchdown. The two-point conversion failed – the only one on the night the Braves didn't make – and Cherokee led 46-0.

Emiliano Garcia (#35), Cherokee running back, blasts in for a two-point conversion.

At this juncture, the NCHSAA mercy rule went into effect and the clock ran for the remainder of the game.

Rosman drove down late in the fourth quarter and scored on the last play of the game as Mason Bell ran it in from 5 yards out. The two-point conversion failed, and Cherokee won the game 46-6.

The JV Braves travel to Avery Co. High School in Newland on Thursday, Aug. 25 at 6 p.m.

Javon Garcia (#11), Cherokee running back, evades a Rosman defender and runs behind a block by teammate Landon Seay (#23). On the night, Garcia scored twice on runs of 10 yards and 4 yards.

Cherokee's Zaynon Taylor (#57) tackles Rosman's QB Kaeden Castillo causing a fumble that was scooped up by Cherokee's Jonathan Rivera and returned for a touchdown.

STAGGERED TERMS TERM LIMITS!

On the September 2023 Tribal Election Ballot, you, Eastern Band Cherokee Indian citizen, will be asked to change the course of your tribe’s history and set a course of new life for generations to come. The changes provide a new accountability among our elected officials and among the members of our community.

4-YEAR TERMS will seat our elected officials long enough to learn the duties of their seat and to oversee the projects and actions that they initiate without being in perpetual campaign mode. The reality is that most Tribal Council representatives are seated for much longer than four years, so this would ratify a minimum stay in the seat that rationally allows follow-through on legislative decisions.

STAGGERED TERMS will help maintain an ongoing expertise in a community’s representative seats while allowing for fresh, new, and innovative candidates an opportunity at service on Tribal Council.

TERM LIMITS return the power of the representative seats back to the entire community. It will lessen the effect of personal popularity, allowing voters to focus more on education, experience, and passion for the communities in which the candidates wish to serve. Simply voting a candidate in or out is not true term limiting. It must be a codified mandate by the voters to limit the terms regardless of the star power of the candidate.

IT IS UP TO YOU, CITIZEN OF THE EASTERN CHEROKEE NATION, WHO AND HOW REPRESENTATIVES WILL SERVE IN YOUR SEATS OF POWER!

Madison Hornbuckle Foundation is back and ready to help families

By SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
One Feather Staff

After a four-year hiatus, the Madison Hornbuckle Children's Cancer Foundation is back and ready to fulfill its mission of helping western North Carolinas families affected by childhood cancer.

"It's for families who have a sick child that needs their house payment made, a car payment or groceries, or travel expenses," said Norma Swayney, Foundation board member and Madison's grandmother. "We're here to take that spot so they don't have to worry about anyone but their child. That's something that's off their shoulders."

Madison, a member of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians (EBCI), passed away in 2010 at the age of 11 from cancer. Information from the Foundation's website states, "Madison saw the devastation brought about on families that have children with cancer and wanted to find a way to improve their lives. This Foundation is working towards that goal in Madison's honor."

The Foundation provides assistance to families in five western North Carolina counties including: Swain, Jackson, Graham, Cherokee, and Haywood.

Swayney said, "There's an application that they will fill out and a doctor says, 'yes, this child has this...'. Then we look and see what they need and come up with a plan to help them."

She added, "We've got enough money right now to start helping because it's been in there. But, we're getting there. There's money right now that they (families) could go on there and get the application, get it filled out, processed, and get help."

The Foundation is currently planning fundraising events. "We're just working on stuff right now to try to get things built back up because we used to have the walk the day of the parade for the Fall Festival. That was called the Chief's Challenge. Michell Hicks (former EBCI Principal Chief) was a big part of that and if it wasn't for him we wouldn't have a foundation - between him and Turner Construction. But, we're trying to work back up and get that started back, getting a float put back in the parade, and coming up with ideas for getting fundraisers started again."

Swayney said community involvement and support has been there from the start of the Foundation and is very much appreciated. "It's very important. You never know when your child is going to be diagnosed with cancer. Madison was full of life. She was a cheerleader, played basketball, gymnastics. Then one day she just got down in the dumps, complained of a headache and it went to brain cancer. Then it just went downhill from there. Just because you've got a healthy child out here and they're active and happy, you just don't know what's going on in their body."

Swayney says she thinks of her granddaughter when working to help others. "When we were in St. Jude, Madison didn't look at herself as being sick. She looked at the other ones. She looked at herself as being very fortunate of being an enrolled member and she wanted to help them. She saw parents down there crying...that was her dream of helping other people. She looked at herself as being very fortunate."

Swayney concluded by commenting, "If there's anything that can keep a burden off of a family, that's what she would want. It's just really hard for people."

N.C. Trail of Tears Assoc. hosting 25th Annual Conference & Symposium

The North Carolina Chapter of the Trail of Tears Association will host the 25th Annual Trail of Tears Association Conference & Symposium from Monday, Sept. 19 through Wednesday, Sept. 21 in Cherokee at Harrah's Cherokee Casino & Resort Convention Center. The symposium commemorates 184 years since the infamous Trail of Tears, which removed the majority of Cherokees in 1838-39 to Indian Territory in present-day Oklahoma. North Carolina's history is unique in that, though 3,000 Cherokees were removed from the state, some remained in the mountains or returned home to become the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians (EBCI).

Registration for the conference begins at 9 a.m. on Monday, Sept. 19. An opening ceremony will take place at 2 p.m. followed by a welcome address by EBCI Principal Chief Richard Sneed and the National Park Service's Annual Report. A special Community Night event will begin at 6 p.m. at the Chief Joyce Dugan Cultural Arts Center at Cherokee Central Schools. This event, which is free to the public, will feature cultural performances, book signings, and a conference keynote address by Dr. Brett Riggs.

On Tuesday, Sept. 20, the Cherokee Cultural and Heritage Corridor Pilgrimage will feature a day-long field trip to the mounds at Nikwasi and Cowee, which are located adjacent to the original Trail of Tears. Conference attendees will gather at Kituwah at 5:30 p.m. for cultural performances and a traditional dinner.

Wednesday, Sept. 21 will feature concurrent lectures beginning at 8:30 a.m. Eleven guest speakers will present throughout the day, including featured speakers Dr. Claudio Saunt and Dale Stewart. Cherokee Nation Principal Chief Chuck Hoskin, Jr. will provide an address at 4:00 pm, followed by closing remarks. After the conference, a sign dedication will take place at the Museum of the Cherokee Indian at 5:30 pm.

The Trail of Tears Association (TOTA) is a non-profit organization founded to support the creation, development, and interpretation of the Trail of Tears National Historic Trail. Its mission is to identify, protect, and preserve Trail resources and to commemorate the forced removal of the Cherokee people. The TOTA promotes awareness of the Trail's legacy, including the effects of the US Government's Indian Removal Policy on the Cherokee, Chickasaw, Choctaw, Muscogee Creek, and Seminole people, and perpetuates management and development techniques that are consistent with the National Park Service's trail plan.

The Community Night event on Monday, Sept. 19 is free and open to the public. Conference pre-registration is recommended: <https://nationaltota.com/25th-annual-trail-of-tears-conference-symposium>. The cost is $125 for members and $175 for non-members (includes 2023 membership). Attendees will receive 3 meals and bus transportation to sites on Tuesday, along with breakfast and lunch on Wednesday. For more information, visit www.nationaltota.com, call 918-464-2258, or email nationaltota@gmail.com. This program is sponsored in part by the Cherokee Preservation Foundation.

NATIONAL PARK BRIEFS

Park announces 2023 fee program changes

Great Smoky Mountains National Park leadership has announced the decision to adopt the Park it Forward parking tag program and to increase camping fees beginning next year. Parking tags will be required to be displayed on any motor vehicle parked within the park boundary beginning March 1, 2023. Approved parking rates are $5 for a daily parking tag, $15 for a parking tag for up to seven days, and $40 for an annual parking tag. All revenue will stay in the park to provide sustainable, year-round support focusing on improving the visitor experience, protecting resources, and maintaining trails, roads, historic structures, and facilities.

"Today marks a significant milestone in the history of Great Smoky Mountains National Park and I'm honored to be a part of it," said Superintendent Cassius Cash. "I have been incredibly encouraged by all the support, from across the country, and especially here in East Tennessee and Western North Carolina, for the opportunity to invest in the future care of this treasured park. We take great pride in being the country's most visited national park, but that distinction comes with tremendous strain on our infrastructure. Now we will have sustained resources to ensure this sacred place is protected for visitors to enjoy for generations to come."

The Park it Forward and camping fee proposal was initially announced in April, and the public was encouraged to formally submit its comments. This invitation generated 3,677 correspondences, and a total of 15,512 independent comments were identified, categorized, and assessed as part of the review process. Correspondences were received from all 50 states. Overall, 85 percent of correspondences expressed either strong support or included constructive ideas to improve the program. None of these correspondences voiced opposition to the fee itself. About 41 percent and 16 percent of all correspondences were from Tennessee and North Carolina residents, respectively. Support from the six counties bordering the park varied with 82 percent of Blount County (TN), 73 percent of Sevier County (TN), 90 percent of Cocke County (TN), 60 percent of Graham County (NC), 60 percent of Swain County (NC), and 85 percent of Haywood County (NC) residents who submitted feedback expressing either support or neutrality for the new parking fee.

The most prevalent comment regarding tag duration was support for an annual tag. In response, the Director of the National Park Service has authorized permission for the park to offer an annual tag, which will allow parking throughout the park from the date of purchase. While any visitor may purchase an annual parking tag, the approval for this option was sought by park leadership specifically for local residents who are more likely to visit multiple times throughout the year. Park managers will continue to incorporate substantive feedback into the Park it Forward implementation plan. Operational details, including where to purchase Park it Forward tags, will be posted on the park's website at <https://www.nps.gov/grsm/planyourvisit/2023-fees>.htm.

Use of all park roads will remain toll free. Parking tags will not be required for motorists who pass through the area or who park vehicles for less than fifteen minutes. The tags will not guarantee a parking spot at a specific location. Parking will continue to be available on a first-come, first-serve basis throughout the park. Unsafe roadside parking will be eliminated at specific areas across the park to enhance the visitor experience by improving motorist and pedestrian safety, increasing traffic flow, and protecting roadside resources.

Of the correspondences related to camping, 78 percent expressed support for backcountry fee increases and 82 percent expressed support for frontcountry fee increases. Backcountry camping fees will be $8 per night, with a maximum of $40 per camper. Frontcountry family campsite fees will be $30 per night for primitive sites and $36 per night for sites with electrical hookups. Group camps, horse camps, and picnic pavilions fees will primarily increase by between 20 and 30 percent depending on group size and location. Rates for daily rental of the Appalachian Clubhouse and Spence Cabin in Elkmont will be $300 and $200, respectively. For a complete listing of all frontcountry facility rates, please visit the park website at <https://www.nps.gov/grsm/planyourvisit/2023-fees.htm>.

Year after year, Great Smoky Mountains National Park is the most visited national park. Over the last decade, visitation increased by 57 percent to a record 14.1 million visits in 2021. With rising costs and more visitation, additional revenue is critical to support upkeep of the park. The new fee changes will provide an opportunity for park users to directly contribute towards protecting the park.

The authority to charge these fees is provided in the Federal Lands and Recreation Enhancement Act (FLREA). All funds generated through these recreation fees will remain in the Smokies to directly support costs for managing and improving services for visitors such as trail maintenance, custodial services, trash removal, and supporting more law enforcement staffing across the park. For more information about the public comment process, please visit the park website at [\[www.nps.gov/grsm/planyourvisit/2023-fees.htm\]\(https://www.nps.gov/grsm/planyourvisit/2023-fees.htm\).](https://<div data-bbox=)

Park announces upcoming morning closures of Clingmans Dome and Cades Cove Loop Roads

Great Smoky Mountains National Park officials announced two morning closures of Clingmans Dome Road on Friday, Aug. 26 and Wednesday, Sept. 7 until 1 p.m. each day. The seven-mile roadway will be closed on both mornings to facilitate a special curriculum-based education program. On Thursday, Sept. 8, Cades Cove Loop Road will be closed until 3:30 p.m. to accommodate an additional education program. These closures will go into effect the night before each program day.

During these periods, the roadways are fully closed to all pedestrians, cyclists, and motorists. Visitors should consider alternative destinations during these temporary closures. Look Rock Observation Tower along Foothills Parkway West offers a 360-degree view of the surrounding mountains and valleys in Tennessee. Similarly, in North Carolina the Blue Ridge Parkway hosts many opportunities for scenic vistas, including viewing the entire Smokies mountain range from Waterrock Knob. For historic landscape experiences, visitors should consider Roaring Fork Motor Nature Trail, Cataloochee Valley, or Oconaluftee Mountain Farm Museum.

For more information about road closures, please follow SmokiesRoadsNPS on Twitter or visit the park website at www.nps.gov/grsm

The Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation and the National Park Service will host a ribbon cutting ceremony at 11 a.m., Thursday, Aug. 25, celebrating exhibit enhancements that educate visitors about the fragility of the high-elevation ecosystem and a lithium battery donation that allows for more efficient storage and use of solar energy at Waterrock Knob Visitor Center at milepost 451.2 on the Blue Ridge Parkway.

“This is a very special place, both for natural and scenic value, but also for its incredibly rich cultural history as the ancestral homeland of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians for generations,” said Blue Ridge Parkway Superintendent Tracy Swartout. “Investing in these special places is critical to make sure they can be preserved for many more generations to come.”

In 2021, the Blue Ridge Parkway welcomed 15.9 million visitors, and Waterrock Knob is among the most popular destinations for outdoor recreation and sightseeing in the park. This year, the Foundation is marking 25 years of support for the national park. One of the nonprofit’s first projects was the construction of the visitor center at Waterrock Knob.

“Through donor support, the site of a carport at Waterrock Knob became the location for a new Visitor Center,” said Carolyn Ward, CEO of the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation. “The commitment to this hub for travelers continues to this day with improvements that enrich visitors’ experiences and sustain the building’s operations.”

The interactive exhibits highlight many creatures that call the peak and surrounding acres home, from black bears to bugs and buds. Funded by donations to the Foundation, the engaging illustrated panels and displays also give viewers insights on how they can be good stewards of the rare flora and fauna found at this site.

A 12-foot mural illustrates a multi-seasonal look at the plants and wildlife found at this 6,293-foot peak, as well as the striking geological features of the brightly colored rock formations found on nearby cliffs. In both Cherokee syllabary and English, another panel tells the Cherokee story of “How the World was Made,” which describes the buzzard creating the peaks and valleys with its wings. An interactive element encourages visitors to peel back a layer of a fallen tree to see the many insects that make use of its nutrients.

The designs were a collaboration between National Park Service interpretive staff and David Williams of Wingin’ It Works, which specializes in exhibits, murals and scientific illustration. Joe Bistany of BistanyWorks provided fabrication and technical assistance.

The event will also celebrate a new corporate partnership between RELiON Battery and the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation. RELiON, a lithium battery manufacturer based in Charlotte, recently donated batteries for the solar power upgrades at the visitor center to be implemented this year. Through their global initiative, Limitless Blue, the company focuses on using business as a force for good and donates 1% of net revenue annually through its 1 percent for the Planet business membership.

“We are proud to support the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation and the work they do to preserve and protect the natural beauty of the Parkway. This partnership is a natural fit with our core values. We, along with our customers, live and breathe adventure and relish the opportunities that our planet provides,” said RELiON Founder Paul Hecimovich.

Waterrock Knob Visitor Center is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Oct. 30 and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. from Oct. 31 through Nov. 13.

Cherokee Council House

Cherokee council houses once stood atop ancestral mounds. American historian William Bartram once described the Cherokee town of Cowee, and included a description of the council house:

“The council or town-house is a large rotunda, capable of accommodating several hundred people: it stands on the top of an artificial mound of earth, of about twenty feet perpendicular, and the rotunda on the top of it being above third feet more, gives the whole fabric an elevation of about sixty feet from the common surface of the ground. But it may be proper to observe, that this mound, on which the rotunda stands, is of a much antienter date than the building, and perhaps was raised for another purpose.”

Rena leaves behind her brother, Tony Johnson with wife Kathy (Ge-di) of Robbinsville; brother, Jackie Johnson with wife Gail; and sister, Gaynell Bradley, all of Cherokee.

Tina "Teeter" Walkingstick Frizsell

NOTE: This obituary, which ran in the One Feather previously, has been updated by the funeral home with service and funeral details.

MOUNTAIN CITY, Ga. – Tina "Teeter" Walkingstick Frizsell, age 42, of Mountain City, Ga., and formerly of Cherokee, was senselessly taken from her family and friends on the morning of Monday, May 16, 2022, one day prior to her 43rd birthday. Born in Cherokee on May 17, 1979, she was the daughter of Norman J. Walkingstick of Cherokee and Deborah D. Cloer of New Orleans, Louisiana.

She was preceded in death by her paternal grandfather, Joe Mike Walkingstick "Papaw Joe"; paternal grandmother, Rosie Hornbuckle "Granny"; and maternal grandparents, Albert C. Cloer and Agnes Hastings Cloer "Mamaw".

Having spent most of her childhood in Cherokee and partly in Lyman, Wash., Tina moved back to North Carolina as a teenager and lived there into her adulthood. Along her journey, she became interested in nature and anything having to do with mountains and rivers, whether it was hiking, camping, or fishing. Teeter loved to just sit and take in the scenery around her. She also loved to capture the beauty of the outdoors by taking photos. It would do Tina's heart good to be in the company of her loved ones with laughter; she had a unique laugh and contagious smile. Hanging around a good fire, listening to music, was good for her soul.

Left to cherish her precious memories, in addition to her parents, are her two children who she loved and adored very much, Alden Walkingstick-Wike and Graci Frizsell; and five siblings, Gregory N. Justus, Misty Walkingstick Ramirez, Norman R. Walkingstick, Cory Walkingstick, and Patience "Bop" Walkingstick. Tina is also survived by numerous nieces, nephews, and many aunts, uncles, and cousins.

Her loved ones, from Florida to Washington (throughout the United States and Native Lands), will always love Tina and miss her dearly.

A celebration of Tina's life will be held on Saturday, Sept. 10 at 5 p.m. in the Chapel of Appalachian Funeral Services & Crematorium, 165 Skyland Drive, Sylva, North Carolina. A gathering of family and friends will immediately follow the service at the funeral home. A private graveside service will be held at Lloyd Sequoyah Cemetery in Cherokee.

Shuler Funeral Home, Hendersonville, North Carolina (www.shulerfuneralhome.com) is assisting the Walkingstick/Cloer family.

COMMENTARY

Dear Tourist

By ROBERT JUMPER
One Feather Editor

I want to thank you for your visit to our Qualla Boundary. The Boundary is steeped in the history and culture of the people of the Cherokee nation, and more recently the members of the bloodline of Cherokee that remained after the forced removal to Oklahoma. These survivors used the mountains as a shield from an illegal action by the federal government and remained here until a legal remedy could be affected to secure land for a territorial holding, land in trust, similar but apart from being a true "reservation". The signs you see at the entrances to our land are indicators of our desire to play on the romantic image of Indians that you see in old movies and "western" television shows. Not all natives to this land wore large, feathered headdresses, or lived in tipis.

Hopefully, you are visiting to enjoy the true heritage of the Eastern Band of Cherokee nation. It is rich and beautiful. It is a history of perseverance and endurance. It is a history of innovation and incorporation, engaging with and appropriating the best of each culture that we encounter while retaining who and what we are. You will find a focus on bringing all things back to our culture when dealing with our people.

We are a matrilineal society. Respect runs high for the women of our Tribe. In ancient times, as is today, women serve in leadership roles in our community and in our government. Women are honored in our culture and there is an expectation that they will be honored by those who visit with us. Consider it a privilege if you are in the presence of our mothers and daughters and provide for them the respect they deserve.

And we have respect for the land, never so much as a prized possession, but as a gift of use by the Creator. It is the Creator's land, and we reside upon it at his discretion, not that of a government. Certainly, we respect the sovereignty of the federal government, but we also require the respect of any government for the sovereignty of the Eastern Band of Cherokee people. Please treat the land with respect and care. Did you know that something that seems as harmless as moving and stacking river rocks can destroy delicate ecosystems in our river and streams? Many forms of wildlife, both flora and fauna, take time in woodlands and waters to develop intricate life systems, or homes if you will, and in just a few moments of "playing" with rocks of disturbing plant life, you may destroy life cycles of creatures and plants that took many years to create.

By the same token, you must remove the civilization that you bring into our green areas. If it is not naturally there when you go in, don't leave it there. Do not carelessly throw your trash out. Don't flip your cigarette butts or empty vape cartridges out on our roadsides or in our woods or in our waters. Don't leave your hiking or camping trash in our forest lands or even in our downtown. And for whatever purpose you might be using a syringe on the Boundary, carry that away with you for proper disposal. Don't leave it on the ground for someone else to deal with and potentially be harmed.

Hopefully, your visit will be marked with mutual respect; us for you and you for us. We know that cultures not the same as our own may be difficult to understand. Our ways may not be your ways. In a multicultural environment on this continent that is confusing on its best days, we all will need to be more patient, understanding, and thoughtful when it comes to interactions with people who may not look like us, sound like us, or act like us. It is forgivable to be ignorant of cultural norms until educated. It becomes offensive to not be mindful of cultural norms when you are made aware of them. The adage of "when in Rome, do as the Romans do" applies here to a point. While a respectful spectator may be perfectly fine for some activities, it is rarely acceptable to mimic or wear certain clothing that makes fun of or demoralizes a culture. That would include our culture and, of course, it would include yours. While what you are saying, doing, or wearing might seem like a light amusement to some, to others it might be extremely hurtful and demeaning. Finding other ways to enjoy each other does not require that we make fun of each other.

For example, during public events, the Cherokee people will routinely sing and dance. Many of those dances will be freely shared by our people with you. It is totally fine and appropriate when asked if you care to join in when the song leaders invite you. You haven't lived until you participate in a Cherokee Friendship Dance. It is an experience I highly recommend to you as you visit us.

Take a moment before and during your visit to walk through our Welcome Center and Museum (Museum of the Cherokee Indian). Our Welcome Center is a great place to learn the dos and don'ts of interacting with our people and our lands. The Museum is a repository of our history. Why we are the way we are. It is always a good first or second stop into the land of the Principal People.

We are thankful that you have chosen our Qualla Boundary to be a stopping point in your journey. You help us in many ways with your visit to us. Our businesses benefit from your dollars spent in our accommodations and amenities. We learn from you as you tell us your life stories as we tell you ours. It is our great honor and privilege to share who we are with you. It is critically important to our nation, and indeed to all nations, that we learn from each other and learn to live with each other. Ask questions. And so, we too will ask you questions. It is how we all learn to live together.

SPEAKING OF FAITH

Life is good, for God is good

By REV. TIMOTHY L. MELTON, PASTOR

(Transcribed by Myra D. Colgate)

Cherokee Pentecostal Holiness Church

Continuation...

Read 2 Thessalonians 2:7-8,11; 2 Corinthians 9:10; 10:1-5; Matthew 24:37-47

All problems really begin when a church has let the 'world' intrude to where the world's thinking has infiltrated its own view of the Bible. "I'm tired of the fighting. I want to do this..." or they may even have said, "I'll be happy with 'whatever.'"

The only thing is, people must realize spiritual things concern each person's, spiritual beliefs they hold as sacred concerning his/her God. A 'whatever' just would not work. Spiritual beliefs concern what people have come to truly believe so they may firmly stand on those Promises and Principles which they have found in the Bible. Those Promises and Principles are declared in each wonderful, magnificent work of God and are displaying Him, His Majesty, and His dealings with all humankind as His Creation. He is a Rewarder of all who genuinely seek Him...

"I'm not backing down, or playing the game, and so am declaring the doing of all of what God has called me to do. One way or the other, I will serve the Lord. Amen. (Let it be so, Lord.) Amen," said Pastor.

If anyone has heard something over and over again, it can and will affect the way one thinks. It has been called "brainwashing" for many years for good reason. The way one thinks always matters. One's spirit has to remain in charge in order to stand firm on God's Promises or Principles He has given us in His Word.

"I'm going to do what God has called me to do. Even talking back to a television broadcast may become necessary when I hear a nonsensical statement given. It can affect the way one thinks if one is not vigilant enough. Thoughts can be either proactive or negative concerning what one hears. If saved, one's spirit is perfect and rises up to refute nonsense."

"Opening up one's mouth and speaking out is one important step to being fully obedient, as the Lord has told us to speak His Words when addressing any spirit or spiritually-caused situation. Speaking words out loud is used to refute all negative thoughts or change a negative atmosphere into a positive one. Try it and see. What one sees or hears can affect our thinking if not careful. (After all, commercials can awaken many of our appetites.)

Read Luke 10:1-24.

These were Jesus' instructions to His disciples and to the 70, whom He later sent out. Look at the way they are told to speak. Examine what was spoken of all through the Book of Acts concerning the Apostles, Disciples and the Holy Spirit, too. It really isn't any game we consider playing with over time. Suggestions and thoughts are capable of dulling and diluting one's thinking down to where we no longer understand what the repetitions do to our thinking and understanding. Then, too, think how often just a smile can do something for us, but in a positive way, or through a kind word spoken to another at a troubled time. Or a gentle, or intense prayer...for others.

Jesus is coming back very soon, but it may not be the way we think. The world we know now will end. What was once a desert is now covered in trees and lakes—beautiful. What was once beautiful is now a desert. No, it's not "global warming." It may be true that things are changing around us, but it's not the end. What's really going on, is that the Lord has set this world all in motion. When the wind blows or flows, the weather patterns change. Have we not seen 90 degree weather before? How about cold winters? (There was so much snow the year I graduated high school, we never did get to take our finals for that semester, and yes, AOC, that was just north in Virginia! We foolishly thought we might all be going back to the Ice Ages, but it lasted only 11 days!)

Let's look at History. Everyone keeps telling us to follow the Science, too. We love to do so. All life begins at conception, a true Science. Ask anyone who has ever had an ultrasound made and happily shown others the pictures, after finding they were having a baby—one with tiny feet, waving hands and smiling!

Is politics actually driving our lives right now? If everyone else is talking about Life, the Church certainly must talk about it, too. It is not just a social club, where we gather together and make certain we sing songs. We're saints of the Most High God, adopted by Him. Why? We're the Joy of the Lord, granted Life by Him, our Father, our Creator. We love Him... and obey, speaking only Life.

VETERANS ★ POST ★

by Freddy Groves

Veterans Service Organizations

If you're a veteran, are you in a veterans service organization? There are four groups, and while they differ in their origins, they all have the same goal: to help veterans.

The largest organization is the American Legion. Across the country are more than 12,000 posts and approximately 2 million members. The Legion is to be thanked for the GI Bill of Rights, which has helped many veterans get a college or trade education and a home with a low mortgage rate. But the Legion has done much more: The organization has also donated $1 million to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund and sponsored a study on the effects of Agent Orange. If you want to explore the Legion, read more online at www.legion.org.

Like the name says, the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) steps up to help disabled veterans with nearly anything they need. Just last year, for example, they provided 163,000 rides for veterans to reach their medical appointments and helped file over 150,000 claims. They have 26 transition service offices, helping veterans make the change to civilian life by providing benefits counseling. For more information on the DAV, start with www.dav.org.

Paralyzed Veterans of America (PVA) changes lives. They push for better access to air travel, help veterans find employment and pay for adaptive housing and vehicles. So far they've invested over a half million dollars into spinal cord research. In one year alone, they helped veterans receive over $78 million in benefits. Learn more at pva.org.

Started in 1899 by a few veterans during the Spanish-American War, the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) has worked since then to get the rights and benefits that veterans deserve. They've assisted veterans with collecting $10 billion in disability compensation and pension benefits with the help of over 2,000 accredited VFW reps. Today membership stands at 1.5 million. To learn more about the VFW, check www.vfw.org.

To be considered: Many of the veterans groups are losing membership due to the age of their members. Your interest will be most welcomed.

How to Litter Train a New Kitten

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I'm getting a new kitten from my neighbor. His name is Striper, and he's 10 weeks old. But I'm worried that he won't know how to use the litter box. Once he moves in, how can I train him to use the litter box? — Kaley in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina

DEAR KALEY: Once kittens are able to move around and explore, their moms teach them right away where and how to go. This is a survival skill: Cats hide their waste so that it's harder for predators to find them and so their prey doesn't know they're around.

However, you'll need to make sure Striper knows where it's appropriate for him to go. So, before he comes home with you, prepare for his arrival.

— Have the litter box ready to go, filled with litter, and a scoop and bag nearby.

— As soon as Striper arrives, bring him to the litter box first before anything else. Let him sniff around and get familiar with the box.

What if Striper doesn't use the litter box? Here's what to do:

— If you catch him in the act, don't scold him; pick him up and place him in the litter box. Let him sniff around again and allow him to leave even if he doesn't go again.

— Get to know his behaviors. Once you recognize Striper is about to go, you can pick him up and get him to the litter box.

— Give him lots of praise when he uses the box and a little treat when he's done.

— If Striper still won't use the box, try shifting it to a new location and show him where it is.
