Vice Chief sends a message about economy and ecology with a used Tesla

ROBERT JUMPER
ONE FEATHER EDITOR

When Vice Chief Rich Sneed was offered the opportunity to select a “new” vehicle, he considered three of his passions—technology, ecology and economy. He is an automotive hobbyist and has spent a considerable amount of his life working on vehicles and teaching others to work on them. He is also a nature lover concerned about the upswing in air, water and land pollution. Now, as a tribal government leader, he also is looking for opportunities to effect savings to benefit the Cherokee community.

So, early in the selection process, he focused on Tesla vehicles. Tesla is an American automotive and energy storage company. The acronym “EV” is used for electric vehicles. In addition to making EV’s, Tesla Motors, Inc. is on the cutting edge of lithium battery research/development, and creation of innovative ways to produce useable energy that is eco-friendly and economically advantageous. Tesla incorporated in America in 2003. Tesla also makes automotive lithium battery packs for Toyota hybrids.

With his father’s advice to “never buy a new vehicle” in the back of his mind, Vice Chief Sneed set out to locate a used Tesla, and found a 2013 Model S $63,000—lower than many typical governmental use SUVs that may range as high as $80,000. In fact, the economic benefits are very impressive for the owner and, in this case, the tribe.

A total of $6,500 is allocated in the Vice Chief’s budget for expenses related to the operation and upkeep of the office’s vehicle. When the Vice Chief is not on travel, he has plenty of “energy” to get around to his various duties on a single charge. The range on the fully-charged Tesla is approximately 270 miles. At the end of the day, he parks it at home, plugs it into a 240V outlet that he and his son installed and by the next morning, the vehicle is charged and ready for another day of activities. Since the car uses the energy of deceleration (Kinetic Recapture Technology) to recharge the batteries, use of the brakes is minimized. With no gas powered engine, there is no oil to change, belts or brake pads to replace.

Vice Chief Sneed stated that the tires would be the only thing that might wear enough to replace. Since the operating cost of the vehicle is minimal, he said that the majority of that maintenance allocation can be put to work for the tribe in programs.

In a recent email from the EBCI Purchasing Department, the calculated comparative cost of a Cadillac Escalade to the Model S used in a similar fashion as would be in service to the Vice Chief’s office is as follows: the Escalade initial cost is $75,600; fuel cost estimated over four years equals $20,000; maintenance and repair cost—$3,000—for a total of $97,600. The Tesla Model S initial cost is $63,000; incurs no fuel cost and, maintenance is $2,800 for a total of $65,800. The Department estimates that “savings could be more than $30,000 over the four year period in addition to a low environmental impact”.

ROBERT JUMPER/One Feather

Vice Chief Rich Sneed is shown with the used 2013 Tesla Model S that he recently purchased.
Gas mileage of Tesla vehicles are impressive. A November 2015 article (www.investopedia.com), states, “First, the biggest savings: no more expensive gas. With 100 miles us 34kWh (about 100 MPG) and electricity costing an average of $0.12/kWh, the yearly cost to drive a Tesla Model S 85 D 15,000 miles is $612. Compare that to Toyota Camry’s 30 MPG and an average cost of $2.40 per gallon. At 15,000 miles per year, the Camry will cost $1200-almost double what the Tesla costs. What more, the Model S will likely cost less than a $1,000 for a long time, whereas oil prices change daily and could return to $4+ at any time”.

Of course, terrain and weather can have a sizeable impact on mileage for both electric and gas powered vehicles. Mountain driving won’t produce 100 MPG equivalents, but the Tesla will still outperform its gas counterparts concerning mileage.

Tesla Motors were the first to invent a battery that would have a life over the 200 mile limit. In addition to that economy, the Model S is a performance marvel. Driver controls are high tech, with a console at the center of the dashboard that looks and acts like a giant IPad. All of the functions except steering, accelerating and braking may be controlled from that center. Acceleration in the vehicle is impressive and without the typical hesitation of a gasoline or diesel powered car, allowing the Model S to move from standing to 60 mph in just 5.2 seconds. That is not bad for a sedan.

Vice Chief Sneed expressed that the biggest factor or selling point for him, other than the economy and cost savings to the tribe, was the obvious and significant ecologic advantages. The electric car will produce no fluorocarbons. As more of our buildings are retrofitted with alternative sources of energy, like wind and solar, which will provide fuel for electric cars, the impact on environment will continue to decrease. He envisions a future that includes our tribal fleet shifting to less environmentally damaging transportation.

In discussion with Tesla concerning the purchase, the company has agreed to install three new charging stations on the Qualla Boundary. This will enable more electric and hybrid car users, local and tourist, to “fill up” while in Cherokee.

CALIFORNIA
DEHESA – A new cultural center and museum is slated to be built where a tennis court now sits by the Sycuan Band of Kumeyaay Indians. The 12 courts, which sit on the grounds of the Sycuan Resort & Casino, was closed on Tuesday, Feb. 2 and construction on the museum has started with a grand opening scheduled for the spring. Cody Martinez, Sycuan tribal chairman, told the San Diego Union-Tribune that the museum will house the tribe’s cultural resource department and will include educational facilities, classrooms and storage areas. Not everyone was happy about the announcement. “I’m super disappointed,” Fred Stutz, member of the tennis club for 30 years told the paper. “This is a huge loss for the East County tennis community.” The cost to renovate the tennis center for the museum is around $350,000.

MAINE
PRINCETON – Dennis L. Brown, 32, has been sentenced to 10 days in jail after pleading guilty in Maine District Court to a criminal violation of environmental laws. Brown, who previously served as the certified operator for the Passamaquoddy Tribal Government’s wastewater treatment plant, was sentenced the same day he pleaded, Wednesday, Jan. 27. He pleaded guilty to dumping around 96,000 gallons of raw sewage from the plant into a residential neighborhood. Brown also agreed to surrender his operator’s certification.

SOUTH DAKOTA
PINE RIDGE – Hundreds of Oglala Sioux tribal members marched in a “Justice for Emily” walk on Wednesday, Jan. 27 in honor and memory of Emily Bluebird, 24 mother of two, whose body was found a week ago. Marchers went from the Sioux Funeral Home to Billy Mills Hall in Pine Ridge Village and called for an end to violence and justice for Bluebird. Ann LeBeau, 23, has been charged with first degree murder in an indictment that alleges she strangled Bluebird sometime between Jan. 1-21. Fred Quiver, 29, has been charged with accessory to first degree murder.

WASHINGTON
PUYALLUP – The Puyallup Tribe of Indians is planning to open a marijuana testing laboratory at its cancer-treatment center. The tribe worked out a deal with Washington Governor Jay Inslee and the state’s Liquor and Cannabis Board in what John Weymer, Puyallup tribal spokesman, called “Phase I” of their plans. “Our tribe feels that the medical aspect of cannabis is very important and as we grow we want to incorporate that into our health system, possibly,” Weymer said in a statement to the Tacoma News-Tribune. The tribe said the lab will also offer safety and potency tests to state marijuana license holders.
We started out this month in the New Year with a five-day weekend! I happily granted administrative leave for our employees to spend time with family and friends to get recharged for the beginning of a new and fresh start.

The 5th and 7th were the monthly Budget and Tribal Council sessions.

On the evening of the 7th, immediately after Tribal Council ended for the day, Cyndi and I traveled to Orlando, Fla. to join our children as I prepared to run a full 26.2-mile marathon on Sunday, Jan. 10. The day before the marathon, my daughter and daughter-in-law (Gina and Kim) ran the half marathon 13.1 miles. I am very proud of them. It was a first for both of them.

I can’t tell you how blessed I feel to be able to complete such a race. It took every ounce of determination and stamina I had to complete the 26.2 miles but I did, barely. Cyndi filmed a 30 second video of me about ½ mile from the finish line. I laughed when I watched it because my legs were barely moving. But, I survived and was greatly relieved after the race. My goal was to finish in less than 6 hours, and I made it with a few minutes to spare. I averaged about a 13-minute mile. The course we ran took us thru all four parks at Disney including Epcot, Magic Kingdom, Animal Kingdom, and Hollywood Studios plus the Wide World of Sports complex. It was tough, but fun. I enjoyed spending time with my family and was able to share the experience with my son, Nelson, who ran alongside me in the marathon.

I signed the Title IV-E Grant in the council chambers along with Rafael López, Commissioner Administration on Children, Youth and Families, US Department of Health and Human Services from Washington DC; Council members; children and the PHHS staff. It was a very important milestone in the history of our Tribe. Our Tribe became only the seventh all across the United States to have direct access to a Title IV-E plan. This speaks highly of our staff and their abilities as well as the sovereignty of our Tribe. It was a very proud moment for our children and families and I was very happy to be a part of it.

The Big Cove community honored volunteers and other contributors to their community with an Appreciation Dinner. I appreciated the invitation and Cyndi attended on our behalf. The Big Cove community has always been very special to us and we always enjoy their company and the food. Thank you Big Cove for recognizing all your volunteers.

Sunday, Jan. 21

In one day, we lost five tribal members. This had to have been one of the saddest days for so many of our families. My heart was heavy with sadness and sorrow for all of the families that... went through the loss of a loved one. There were so many deaths in just that one day that the vast majority of our Tribe felt the pain of losing many of our beloved enrolled members. Grimly enough, that was just the start to a stretch of a week to 10 days where we had 13 deaths of Tribal members. On Friday, Jan. 29, there were four funeral services in one day. I have never seen it like this before. Words cannot express how we all felt because it was shocking and very sad. I personally want to extend my prayers and condolences to each of these families.

Several of those deaths had some drug abuse involvement, and I am so angry about that and heartbroken for the senselessness of it all. I am bringing emergency legislation into the February Council to meet this drug epidemic head-on! Treatment centers alone is not going to be enough, so I am going to propose abolishing the Drug Court and instead send the drug dealers and users when they commit crimes into Criminal Court and get tough on crime! I will propose stringent sentencing requirements and to stop treating this like a sickness and treat it as a crime! I am angry about the drugs in our communities, and I know we have to have treatment and recovery centers, but we also have to protect our Cherokee families and if that means throwing their butts in jail then that is what needs to happen. Enough misery has gripped our Tribe and we must pull out all the stops to end this madness! Talk to your Council member to support the legislation I bring forward to help our Tribe and to make the changes we all want to see.

Wednesday, Jan. 20 – Friday, Jan. 22

I issued Administrative Leave due to the severe weather with ice and snow. We were hit with several inches of snow and the Tribe, schools and businesses had to shut down for a few days due to the dangerous road conditions. I am very proud of our emergency crews such as the Fire, EMS, Police, DOT etc. for being on standby and taking charge to make sure our elders, children, and families were safe and taken care of. Our preparations really paid off, and I am proud of the work all our departments did. I have recently approved expenditures for several more pieces of equipment to handle additional snow falls and we will be able to do an even better job if it hits again.

Jan. 25-29

This entire week I attended on average two or more funerals every day for all of the people we lost in the previous week. Again, it has been so heartbreaking for our Tribe to lose so many in this short amount of time. We all need to continue to be there to support these families because they will need us more than ever. Please keep them all in your prayers.

Tuesday, Jan. 26

I attended the opening for the National Indian Gaming Commission (NIGC) training session held at our casino. It is the first time the NIGC has held a training session here and I was pleased to give the opening and welcome speech. We had visitors from several different tribes across the East and South. Later that same morning, we held a Business Committee meeting that took up the rest of the morning and we were able to get a lot of Tribal business done. I appreciate Cherokee County – Snowbird Rep. Adam Wachacha coming up from Snowbird attending the meeting so that we would have a quorum to be able to vote on all the issues and complete the agenda.

Sadly, on Friday, Jan. 29 and Saturday Jan. 30, we lost two more members. My prayers are with Rock Burgess and her family and also Ms. Nannie Taylor and her family.

This month has been very busy, and we will continue to make the right decisions for our Tribe and our people. I want to thank all of our employees that helped through the difficult days of snow and the difficult days of sadness. Tribal Construction has done a really good job helping get all the graves dug, ready and covered and the bad weather on top of it made it difficult as well. I also want to thank all the churches, singers and Preachers in our communities! We truly have some remarkable, strong people and together we can support each other when we need it the most. Thank you so much.

And, finally I want to let you know that I have been hard at work putting together a “First 100 Days” report and will be sending that out to you in a few days, so watch for it. We have covered so much ground in a short period of time and I think you will enjoy looking back over the past 100 days and remember how far we have already come and how much more work that lies ahead. I am very proud to be a part of such a great Tribe!

God bless you and the EBCI.
The Cherokee Lady Braves (14-4, 8-0) remained unbeaten in the Big Smoky Mountain Conference by draining three-point shots all night in a home game against the Hayesville Yellow Jackets (5-12, 1-6) on Tuesday, Jan. 26. Cherokee scored 48 of its 77 points on the night with three-point shots as they rode away with a huge 77-31 win.

“I thought we played really well in the first half,” said Chris Mintz, Lady Braves head coach. “We passed the ball really well. Defensively, that’s probably as good as we’ve played in awhile.”

Coach Mintz said three Cherokee players were back from injury for this game. “It’s good to be able to get them some good minutes and get them back into the flow and get ourselves ready for what’s about to come up.”

Cherokee jumped out on top early in this game in which they never trailed. Bree Stamper, senior point guard, hit three early three-point shots as the Lady Braves moved the ball well in the first few minutes and took a 13-2 lead at the 5:04 mark of the first period. Stamper led Cherokee with 19 points including five three-pointers.

From there, they went on an 8-0 run and lead 21-2 at the 2:58 mark. Cherokee ended up taking a 24-5 lead to the second period.

The Lady Braves kept the pressure up extending their lead to 38-12 with just under three minutes left in the second, and they took a 43-16 lead into the locker room.

Shots came hard for both teams coming out for the third period and three minutes in the score was only 46-21. After that, Cherokee heated up and went on a 10-1 run to lead 56-22 with 2:28 left in the third. They went on to lead 61-26 going into the fourth.

At the 6:53 mark of the fourth, LeLe Lossiah, Cherokee senior guard, hit a three-point shot to put the Lady Braves up 67-26 thereby invoking the NCHSAA mercy rule. Lossiah was one of four Lady Braves in double figures for the game including Stamper, Tori Teesateskie 12, and Pooh King 14.

Cherokee cruised on for the big 77-31 win.

Other Cherokee scorers included: Carla Wolfe 2, Shelby Wolfe 4, Jamie Lossiah 3, Jordan Maney 5 and Timiyah Brown 6.

Hayesville scorers included: Savannah Annis 11, Emily Thurmond 1, Emma Cox 2, Emory Patton 2, Makayla Anderson 8, Megan Woody 5 and Kimonta Lloyd 2.

Braves vault into first place with win over Hayesville

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

The Cherokee Braves (15-3, 7-1) vaulted into first place in the Big Smoky Mountain Conference with a 109-80 home win over former first place holder Hayesville (13-4, 6-1) on Tuesday, Jan. 26. Cherokee, who is on a seven game winning streak, shot well from the floor (63 percent) and had four players in double digits on the night as they avenged an early season loss to the Yellow Jackets.

“It means a lot,” said Willis Tullos, Braves head coach. “If we win our next four conference games, then we'll be the Smoky Mountain Conference champions and that means a lot. This was a big ballgame for us, and our kids played great. I can't tell you how proud I am of them. They stepped up when it was time.”

Coach Tullos related that Hayesville has two college basketball prospects on their team and added that Cherokee has some as well, “If someone can't see that we've got some kids that can play college basketball after this game, they're crazy.”

The Braves were led by Justus Day, sophomore forward, with 31 points, 2 assists, 5 rebounds and 3 steals. Also in double digits were Jason McMillan, senior guard, with 24 points, 2 assists, 5 rebounds, 3 steals; Tye Mintz, sophomore forward, with 23 points, 1 assist, 10 rebounds; and Holden Straughan, sophomore guard, with 10 points, 1 assist, 2 rebounds and 1 steal.

The first period was very close. So close in fact that there were seven lead changes in the first four minutes. At the midway mark, Cherokee grabbed a 16-13 lead and would not relinquish it again. They went on a 12-8 run for the remainder of the period to lead 28-21 at the end of the first.

The Braves went on a 14-7 run in the first four minutes of the second period to lead 42-28, and they would go on to take a 53-38 lead into the locker room.

Cherokee outscored Hayesville by 10 points (30-20) in the third period and led by 25 (83-58) going into the fourth. The fourth period was a closer with both teams getting some good bench play, and Cherokee cruised on to a 109-80 victory.

Other Braves scorers included: Trace Lambert 2, Kennan Panther 6, Josiah Lossiah 2, Cory Junaluska 8 and Logan Teesateskie 3.

Hayesville was led by Braxton Cox with 28 points followed by Zach Cottrell 22 and Josh Cottrell 15.
Lady Braves stay perfect in conference

Murphy – The Cherokee Lady Braves stayed perfect (9-0) in Big Smoky Mountain Conference play with a 25-point (80-55) win at Murphy on Friday, Jan. 29. Pooh King, junior point guard, led Cherokee with 29 points with 25 of those coming in the first half.

Chris Mintz, Lady Braves head coach, said road games are never easy. “We did what we needed to do to win. We played hard. We did what we needed to do in the fourth to make sure we go the victory.”

“They’re (Murphy) so big and their center is so good and is such as hard person to keep off the boards, we just concentrated on trying to stop the offensive rebounds. They were killing us early with it. We did a little bit better job, but still not as good as we wanted to.”

The Lady Braves had four players in double digits including King, Tori Teesateskie 13, Timiyah Brown 11 and Shelby Wolfe 10.

Murphy scored first and led briefly in the first few minutes – their only lead of the game. Cherokee got going and took the lead (7-4) at the 5:37 mark and never relinquished it again. They ended up leading 23-12 at the end of the first.

Both teams were just about even for the first two minutes of the second as Cherokee led 31-17 at the 5:51 mark. They went on to take an 18-point (49-31) lead into the locker room.

The third period was also relatively close with Cherokee keeping a 20-point lead for most of the eight minutes. The Lady Braves led 67-49 at the end of the third.

Cherokee outscored Murphy 13-6 in the final period to seal the 80-55 victory.

Other Lady Braves scorers included: Macie Welch 5, Carla Wolfe 4, Jamie Lossiah 4, Brionna Jumper 2 and Jordan Maney 2.

Murphy scorers included: Hailey Thompson 5, Karyn Stiles 11, Cassie Coker 4, Ellie Martin 8, Shelby Shore 6, Aubray Clapsaddle 11 and Emma Stroup 10.
Murphy – The Cherokee Braves (16-3) remained atop the Big Smoky Mountain Conference with a big 90-41 win at Murphy (1-15) on Friday, Jan. 29. The Bulldogs, winless (0-9) in conference play, couldn’t keep up with Cherokee’s high-powered offense which saw four Braves in double digits.

“Coming off that big, emotional win we had on Tuesday (vs. Hayesville), I think we did pretty good,” said Willis Tullos, Braves head coach. “It’s hard to win a big game like we did on Tuesday against Hayesville and come and have the same intensity and the same focus, but I thought they (Braves) came back in the second half.

Justus Day, sophomore forward, led Cherokee with 26 points, 2 assists, 1 rebound and 3 steals. He was followed by Jason McMillan with 16 points, 6 assists, 4 rebounds and 6 steals; Tye Mintz 14 points, 2 assists, 8 rebounds and 2 steals; and Holden Straughan 10 points, 2 assists, 1 block and 1 steal.

The Braves jumped out to an early 5-0 lead in the first minute of the game. Neither team shot particularly well in the opening period, and both missed shots inside and outside. The Braves led 15-9 at the 3:39 mark and went on to lead 21-13 at the end of the first.

The first two minutes of the second period were relatively even, the Braves led 25-16 at the 6:19 mark. From that point, the Braves went on a 7-0 run and led 32-16 just inside the five minute mark. They went on to take a 44-23 lead into the locker room.

The third period was a blowout as the Braves led by 40 points (81-41) at the end of the third. The Braves were able to get a lot of bench play in the third and fourth periods, and they held Murphy scoreless in the fourth period as Cherokee won 90-41.

Other Braves stats include: Jeff Girty 3pts; Kennan Panther 4pts, 3 reb, 1 steal; Dez Crowe 3 pts, 2 reb; Isaiah Evans 2pts, 4 reb, 1 steal; Cory Junaluska 2 pts, 6 reb; and Logan Teesateskie 6 pts, 1 assist, 1 reb.

The Bulldogs were led by Hagan Newton with 12 points followed by Anthony Connors 7 and Hayden Hughes 6.
ROBBINSVILLE - Less than a week after a marquee victory and claiming the number-one ranking in the west by Retro Rankings, Cherokee’s Anthony Toineeta squared off against Rosman’s Tanner Whitman in a rematch to determine the top wrestler in the 145 lbs division of the Smoky Mountain Conference on Saturday, Jan. 30.

Toineeta earned a first-round bye based on his performance during the season. He pinned Robbinsville’s Brady Lovin at the 1:33 mark of the first round in the semi-finals. Then, he emerged victorious after building a 5-1 lead and held off a hard charging Whitman in the final seconds of the Smoky Mountain Conference championships. Afterwards, he was named the Most Outstanding Wrestler in the SMC Tournament.

Hyatt bringing Smile Drive to S. Dakota

Miss Native American USA Kristina Hyatt

AMBLE SMOKER
ONE FEATHER STAFF

Miss Native American USA Kristina Hyatt, an EBCI tribal member from the Big Cove community, is teaming up with America’s ToothFairy Team for the annual America’s ToothFairy Smile Drive. Hyatt, a Dental Hygienist with the EBCI Children’s Dental Program, is collecting oral care products including toothbrushes, toothpaste, and floss at locations across Cherokee to benefit underserved Native American children from the Oglala Sioux Tribe on the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota and other Native communities.

One of the Smile Drive locations will be held at the Cherokee Elementary School where students will have the opportunity to donate items for oral hygiene packs as a part of their annual Sacred Path Community Service Project. The goal is to collect enough hygiene products to make 500 oral hygiene packs which will consist of a toothbrush, toothpaste, floss, and a personal note from students at the Cherokee Elementary School.

“The reason I decided to compete for Miss Native American, USA, was because I saw it as a way to make my voice heard and raise awareness,” said Hyatt. “The crown has given me many more opportunities to educate people about the importance of oral health since access to dental care is an issue for a lot of other tribes.”

Pediatric dental disease is the leading chronic illness affecting Native American children. According to the Indian Health Service, American Indian and Alaskan Native preschoolers experience tooth decay at a rate five-times higher than other children in the United States. Hyatt’s goal is to raise awareness of oral health across Indian Country and provide the necessary tools to combat the almost completely preventable disease.

Hyatt plans to travel to the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota on Feb. 21 to deliver the packages and raise awareness on the importance of oral health. According to the WK Kellogg Foundation, 46 percent of children on the Pine Ridge Reservation suffer from moderate to urgent dental needs, including infections and other life-threatening problems. She will be visiting a local school and several Head Start programs while donating the oral hygiene packs donated by the Cherokee community.

In 2015, Hyatt held a Smile Drive for the Cherokee community which benefitted children at the Cherokee Youth Center, Snowbird Youth Center, and the Cherokee Children’s Home. During the Cherokee Smile Drive, she collected the most items by a dental hygienist with over 5,000 products donated from the community. She hopes to have the same success this year as she reaches out to more Native American students living on other reservations.

“I would like to challenge each of you to participate in this special Smile Drive effort and give the gift of a beautiful, healthy smile to a Native American child,” related Hyatt.
In Principal Chief Patrick Lambert’s first budget, he created a first-of-its-kind position in Indian Country, a Veterans Service Coordinator.

“The job of the Veterans Service Coordinator’s position is to work alongside our veteran’s community and aid them in receiving services they so rightfully deserve,” stated Chief Lambert. “Whether its health-care related, needing help going back to school, or receiving housing, our Cherokee veterans will now have someone who is fully dedicated to their success. No person who has worn the uniform of the United States should ever have to go without, and under my administration I’ll make sure they receive the honor and dignity that’s due.”

As a United States Army veteran, Chief Lambert put a priority on the creation of this new position – making this one of his major achievements in his first 100 days since taking office. The creation of this new position was a major piece in Chief Lambert’s platform this past summer, after holding a veterans roundtable where he spoke at length with local veterans on their issues and concerns.

“Too often I heard from our veterans and others that we need a dedicated professional whose sole purpose is to work alongside and advocate for these heroes,” said Chief Lambert.

The Veterans Service Coordinator will be housed under the Department of Public Health and Human Services and will work closely with the Principal Chief, Secretary of Public Health and Human Services, and other community stakeholders.

For more information on Chief Lambert and his work on behalf of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians, please visit his Facebook page: Patrick Lambert – Principal Chief.

VETERANS CORNER

Sergeant Frank J. Taylor Sr. – Part I

Sergeant Frank J. Taylor Sr. is an EBCI tribal member and an United States Army veteran from the Paint-town Community.

Sgt. Taylor was drafted into the US Army out of the Cherokee Indian Boarding School in 1945. Upon completion of both Basic Training and Infantry Training, he was assigned to the 756th Heavy Tank battalion Company “B” in Oct. of 1948 as a tank driver in M-26 pershing tanks. This unit would later be re-designated as the 73rd Heavy Tanks Battalion stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Sgt. Taylor felt the tank was the best and most secure place to be. He noted that the Tiger Face painted on the front of the 90mm M-26 Pershing Tank was designed to instill fear in the North Korean and Chinese Communists enemy forces.

Sgt. Taylor left the 73rd Heavy Tank Battalion, “B” company, 4th platoon on Nov. 15, 1951, and returned stateside to continue his military career. He was honorably discharged from the US Army in February 1956.

Check next week’s Veteran’s Corner for part-two of Sgt. Taylor’s personal recollection of his military service.

Siyo, happy New Year to everyone. I hope that everyone had a very special time with family and friends during this Christmas season, and I pray that God will bless you all in this new year we are entering.

I would like to share all the events that I was fortunate enough to attend the month of December 2015. It was a very busy month for me, but I enjoyed every minute of it. I was able to attend several Christmas parades, which were very fun to do. I also had the opportunity to visit the Cherokee Central Schools and Peach Tree Elementary school and interact with the students and read a Christmas story to them.

Friday, Dec. 4
I attended the Gatlinburg Christmas Parade where I shared a float with Teen Miss Cherokee Blake Wachacha, Junior Miss Cherokee Abigail Taylor and Little Miss Cherokee Madison Ledford. I would like to say thank you to my Royalty Board members and family who worked really hard on getting all the lights on this float and to the Royalty Board members for taking it down once the parade was over. It was beautiful and we won third place in our division.

Saturday, Dec. 5
I had a very busy day. I attended the Sylva Christmas Parade which was at 3pm, and then I had to rush back to Cherokee for their parade at 5:30pm. I had a great time at both parades. Thank you to Jordyn Thompson for the use of her car for the Sylva parade and my mom, Jordyn and Robert Harris for getting it decorated. Again, I can’t thank my Royalty Board enough. While I was attending the Christmas parade in Sylva, Keredith Owens and Deb Bradley were in Cherokee decorating the vehicle that I would be riding on in the Cherokee Parade.

Monday, Dec. 7
I had the honor of attending the flag ceremony at the new Cherokee Indian Hospital. The Steve Youngdeer American Legion Post 143 was there to present the colors, and I was honored to have been asked to sing the National Anthem. I am so grateful for all of the sacrifices that have been made and are still being made today from all of our men and women who have served and who are serving in the armed forces. Taking part in this ceremony made me feel so proud to be a Native American. I also had the honor of getting my picture made with the very first Miss Cherokee, Dorothy McCoy Smith.

On the same day, I attended the Waynesville parade that evening at 6pm. Thank you to my mother, my two Royalty Board members: Connie Huntsman and Marina Graham, my cousins: Shane and Jayan Swimmer for decorating the vehicle and getting me through the parade. I want to thank my mother who was at every parade with me and made sure that I had everything that I needed for each parade. My Royalty Board members are very creative because the vehicles that I road on in the each parade were never decorated the same but looked absolutely amazing each time.

Saturday, Dec. 12
This was the last parade that I attended, and it was in Robbinsville. Samantha Crowe-Hernandez and Irene Smoker did an awesome job decorating the vehicle and thank you to Robert Harris for driving me in this parade. I want to thank my mother who was at every parade with me and made sure that I had everything that I needed for each parade. My Royalty Board members are very creative because the vehicles that I road on in the each parade were never decorated the same but looked absolutely amazing each time.

Monday, Dec. 21
I was able to go to Peach Tree elementary school in Cherokee County. I have a cousin, Gabriel Swimmer, who just started at Peach Tree elementary, and my aunt Rina had asked if I could come and read to his class. After getting everything worked out with Principal Kimberly Worley, I was able to visit with every grade level at the school.

I enjoyed reading to the students, but I really enjoyed the question answer time that I got to do with their 3rd and 4th grade students. I spent about an hour and a half with these students and was able to share our culture, language and heritage with these young people. Everyone at the school was so nice and very welcoming to me.

I really enjoyed everything that I was so fortunate to take part in the month of December and just look forward to what comes in 2016. Thanks again to my mom, family members, Royalty Board members and friends for always being there for me. I must say that all of these events would not have been such a wonderful success without these people in my life. God has been so good to me and I pray that he will lead, guide and direct me in everything that I do.

Until next time, God bless and keep you all!

A quick search on Indeed.com, an employment research website, for “Native American Tribal Council”, “Native American Vice-Chief”, and “Native American Tribal Chief” results in annual average salary information of $92,000, $132,000 and $76,000, respectively. When I added the geographic location information of Cherokee, North Carolina, the results were similar ($86,000 for Tribal Council Representative, $123,000 for Principal Chief and $71,000 for Vice Chief). These are not necessarily actual rates of pay, only estimations based on data collected and aggregated by Indeed.com.

Government work is hard. Many people see elected officials sitting in seats elevated above floor level, looking down on a podium and gallery of people and imagine the grandeur of a kingdom. After all, the Tribal Council and Executive Office are in a position to dictate how the Cherokee people will function as a society. These are positions of great power. While the functionality of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians resembles the municipalities of our surrounding counties, the tribe is federally recognized as a nation unto itself. Tribal Council could rightfully be equated to Congress or Parliament and the Principal Chief to a President or Prime Minister.

But, there is much more to the job than sitting in a horseshoe and making decrees. Government officials are public servants. The definition of their duties is service to the constituency or the community that each has been given the opportunity to serve. They are the purveyors of the will of the people. So, off camera, they roll up their sleeves and dive into hours of law review, proposed law and public comment. They position themselves to hear their community through meetings and gatherings. They are bombarded with texts, phone messages, in-person conversations and emails about issues affecting their constituents. They dig graves, attend funerals, clean driveways and serve elder meals. It is how they stay in touch with the people they represent, and it is how they earn and maintain public trust.

Losing touch with the people and violating the public’s trust can be devastating to an elected official. Even the perception of impropriety has long lasting, negative results (losing your seat, impeachment, legal action and prosecution). Recent events concerning Tribal Council pay raises are a good example. To date, no actual finding of fact has indicated that any violation of ethical or judicial code has taken place, but because of the perception that money was inappropriately appropriated and distributed to Council members, there has been a public outcry and lawsuits filed. It is likely that voters gave some thought to who they might vote for in the 2015 tribal elections based on the issue of Tribal Council pay.

Current tribal law gives Tribal Council the authority to enact raises for itself (the Principal Chief must either approve or veto, but as with any other legislation, a veto may be overridden by a supermajority of Council). According to law, they are supposed to wait until the “off election” year to enact pay or election laws, which is at the center of the current controversy over elected official pay. An argument is being made that laws were enacted and executed during an election year and that retroactive pay has been illegally been given based on that action. The counter argument is that a previous law entitled Council to the annual increases that they had not received in the ensuing years since the law had been put in place.

Again, even the perception of impropriety can have consequences. How could this be remedied? Well, one suggestion is to move the power to enact raises for elected officials directly into the hands of the people. Create law that demands a referendum on ballots at election time. Leaving
Poll Responses

Note: The following comments were made on the Cherokee One Feather Facebook page and website to our weekly poll question:

Would it benefit the EBCI to put every entity that has to do with tribal members’ housing needs (i.e. Qualla Housing, Tribal Housing, etc.) in one centralized building?

Evan Watty: Most of it is in one building now.

Tim Rattler: All should be in two places...one in Cherokee and one in Robbinsville...stop making it hard for our families there.

Rose Long: How does one even view listings for Cherokee land/properties, foreclosures, etc.?

the decision to the elected officials creates an ethical dilemma in each individual seat. Some might think that they are being paid too much; others not nearly enough. Because of the weighted voting system that the tribe employs, it would only take five representatives to vote in a raise; seven representatives to override a veto. Ask any tribal employee, or any employee, if they would like to have the ability to decide the amount of their salary every year simply by affirmation. My guess is that the tribal budget would see a reduction in services because of a bloated payroll. In human resource departments, positions are evaluated and base pays are established. When an employee wants a raise, they have to go to the people they work for and request it. They are evaluated by their employer and the employer decides if the employee gets a raise.

Again, elected officials are public servants. Their bosses are...well...you, the Cherokee community. I think it is up to you to decide how and when our elected official are compensated.

THE CASE FOR A NEW NATURAL SCIENCES BUILDING AT WESTERN CAROLINA

Among projects included in the bond package is $110 million for Western Carolina University to replace its dilapidated Natural Sciences Building. The existing building has out-of-date equipment, lacks necessary lab space and has no capacity for needed growth in STEM training to fuel economic development in the region.

STEM DEGREE PROGRAM GROWTH

Since the 2008-09 academic year, WCU has seen significant growth in STEM degree programs:

- Biology: \( \uparrow 69\% \)
- Nursing and Pre-Nursing: \( \uparrow 95\% \)
- Emergency Medical Care: \( \uparrow 75\% \)
- Athletic Training: \( \uparrow 114\% \)
- Engineering Technology: \( \uparrow 89\% \)

NEW STEM DEGREE PROGRAMS

In recent years, WCU has added several STEM-based programs including:

- General Engineering
- Forensic Science
- Doctor of Nursing Practice
- Doctor of Physical Therapy
- Professional Science Master’s in Natural Products

FOR MORE INFORMATION

For more information or to schedule a tour of WCU’s Natural Sciences Building, please contact WCU Director of External Affairs Meredith Whitfield at 828.227.3553 or mcwhitfield@wcu.edu.

The existing Natural Sciences Building was built in the early 1970s, when WCU had only 15 nursing majors and no engineering majors. Today, WCU has roughly 2,300 students majoring in health and human science programs, almost 600 in technology and engineering programs, and approximately 500 in biological and physical science programs.
INVEST
REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT NEEDS

STEM EDUCATION = JOB GROWTH

On March 15, 2016, North Carolinians will have the opportunity to vote on a statewide bond package. If passed, that bond will support significant investment in STEM-focused higher education in Western North Carolina. Investment in science, technology, engineering and math education infrastructure would have direct, lasting impact on our region’s ability to attract and retain companies offering high-paying jobs.

GROWTH OF HIGH-TECH IN WNC

Western North Carolina is known for its tourism and service industries, but there also is significant opportunity to expand the existing presence of advanced manufacturing, health care and health informatics, naturopathic medicine and technology. Each of these industries offers high-paying, high-quality careers.

Economic developers know that a top concern of companies is the regional availability of higher education that will prepare their future workers. In fact, in the Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce’s most recent 5-year planning process, it identified an expansion of higher education as a key strategy for business recruitment. In order to maintain and expand university and community college programs that support these target industries, we must invest.

$2 BILLION INVESTMENT
Funding long-term improvements at universities, community colleges, water and sewer infrastructure, agriculture, parks and public safety

$900 MILLION TO UNIVERSITY SYSTEM
Funding high-tech STEM facilities necessary to prepare students for future jobs

NO NEW TAXES
No tax increases will result because of the retirement of older debt and the historically low interest rates

VITAL TO COMPETITIVENESS
This investment is necessary for North Carolina to compete with other states to attract high-paying jobs

NO CREDIT IMPACT
Will not jeopardize NC’s strong “AAA” credit rating
